First Fruits!

Summer Goods have vanished.
Autumnal Novelties take their place.
The past few days have seen the opening of the heaviest purchases in Fine Dress Goods, Staples, Carpets and Millinery ever made by the Golden Lion.

Only the advance guard of the season's importations has arrived—the main army is not very far behind.

We have planned for a very big season—planned to not only do more business than heretofore but to do it much better.

Stocks very much Larger and Better—that's the FIRST impression.

Prices Strikingly Lower and Values Notably Improved—that's the SECOND impression.

It is surprising how much better things can be had for the looking for them. Because of this, Robert Fair's present success has been achieved; and because of this the Golden Lion has attained a position second to none in the retail trade of Peterborough and surrounding district.

..All the Fashion Leaders.. of the world will be represented by their choicest creations. WE SHOW STYLES OF WHICH THERE WILL BE NO DUPLICATES, AT PRICES THAT WE KNOW ARE NOT MATCHED ANYWHERE.

To the Ladies, the pleasure afforded them of viewing all the popular grades as well as the ultra-fashionable styles—the certainty of saving money on every purchase—and the satisfaction of buying where quality is absolutely guaranteed to be the highest, will serve to make FAIR'S a still more attractive mart than ever during the coming era of prosperity.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery." "I like that name nothing stuck up about it." "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 3 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. Free delivery in Peterborough and Ashburnham. We invite you all to call at the People's Grocery Store, where you will be well served.

AMEER REASSURED.

British Do Not Intend to Invade His Country.

PUNISHMENT OF HADDAH MULLAH

Is the Sole Object of Present Operations—The Queen Writes to Earl Cadogan—Birmingham Trades Congress Passes Strong Resolutions—General Cable News.

London, Sept. 10.—The correspondent of The Times at Simla says:

The Government of India has written the Ameer of Afghanistan that the present operations in Afghan territory are intended solely to punish Haddah Mullah and his followers in arms; that there is no intent to interfere with tribal independence, or permanently to occupy the country, but that all who offer opposition will be punished by the troops.

This will tend to reassure the Ameer, who has been informed by mischief-mongers that the invasion of Afghanistan itself is contemplated. The contents of the Ameer's letter ordering the Mullah to cease tampering with Afghan subjects are now known, and have already had great effect in quarters where his influence was formerly strongest.

RELIGIOUS DELUSION IN RUSSIA.

A Monk Mortified the Flesh to Get Salvation and Died in the Process.

London, Sept. 10.—According to a despatch to The Standard, from Moscow, a fanatical monk has given another curious illustration of a form of religious delusion now raging in many parts of Russia. The priest in question had himself buried to the arm pits in a cave near the town of Uralsk, the capital of the Government of the same name on the Ural, a district inhabited for the most part by Cossacks. He hoped to find salvation by mortifying the flesh, and asked his friends to return to him in a week, when he expected to have found the object of his desire. They consented to the arrangement, but on returning found him dead.

THE QUEEN IS PLEASED

Because Her Grandchildren Were Kindly Treated in Ireland.

London, Sept. 9.—The Queen has written the following letter to Earl Cadogan, the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, with reference to the recent visit of the Duke and Duchess of York:

"I am greatly pleased to hear of the very loyal and kind reception which my dear grandchildren met with everywhere in Ireland, and I would ask you to let this expression of mine be generally known."

BIRMINGHAM TRADES CONGRESS.

The Intimidation Law Found Fault With—Child Labor Condemned.

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 9.—The Trades Union Congress to-day adopted a resolution recommending all societies affiliated with the Congress to by all mean possible restrict or abolish overtime in their respective trades.

The following resolution was then passed. "That this Congress is of opinion that the law as it relates to intimidating, during strikes or lockouts is unfair and unjust, as it punishes by fines or imprisonment any worker judged guilty of assaulting or preventing, through fear, another worker from working, while allowing employers to blacklist workers or to discharge or obtain the discharge of workers who may have been on strike or locked out, thus intimidating workers from pursuing their lawful employment."

The Parliamentary Committee of the Congress was instructed to at once move to extend the law in the requisite direction.

The employment of children in factories gave rise to considerable discussion. The National Union of Gas Workers and General Laborers introduced the following resolution: "Considering that the employment of children in factories and workshops, and on board river and canal craft, and their consequent exploitation by the capitalists, is injurious to the children, unjust to the parents and a crime against the human race; considering the infamous fact that the children of the working class have not the same opportunities of the class room and the playground as the children of the capitalist class; considering that in this connection Great Britain is behind other countries; considering that unhappy parents, under an unhappy system, are actually willing, and even anxious, to have their children torn from school and hurled into the factory, this Congress is of opinion that the time has come for Great Britain to cease building its Empire on children's hearts, to give up coining its wealth out of children's wasted lives, and hereby instructs the Parliamentary Committee to demand as a temporary minimum from the Government: (a) The abolition of child labor under the age of 15, and (b) of all night labor under the age of 18."

The resolution was opposed by the delegates who represented the textile workers. They declared that if the age at which a child could be legally employed was raised to 15 years, the children would never become efficient at their trades.

In spite of the opposition, the resolution was adopted by a vote of 595,000 to 274,000 of the unionists represented by their delegates at the Congress.

The Congress, later in the day, adopted a resolution in favor of the nationalization of land, mines, minerals, royalty rents, railways, waterways and docks, and in favor of the municipalization of all water, artificial light and tramway undertakings, and also adopted a resolution favoring the nationalization of the mineral royalties of the country.

THIS IS RATHER FUNNY.

A Correspondent Says There is No Written Alliance Between France and Russia.

London, Sept. 9.—The Daily News Berlin correspondent says it is alleged on reliable authority at St. Petersburg that no written alliance between France and Russia exists, and that not even a verbal treaty was made, for the military convention was of an earlier date.

The Czar used the phrase "allied nation" in response to the urgings of M. Hanotaux that unless something of the sort was said the French Ministry would be overthrown on President Faure's return to Paris.

HARD TIMES IN RUSSIA.

Hungarian Commissioners Are Buying Up All the Wheat They Can Get.

Odessa, Sept. 9.—The crisis in the grain trade in Southern Russia has been enhanced by the influx of a half-score of Hungarian commissioners, who are purchasing wheat at any price at which they can obtain it. A majority of the great grain exporters are in a precarious position, and a large number of smaller firms have collapsed. One large foreign export firm alone has lost 3,000,000 roubles on the fulfilment of contracts made by it in the expectation that there would be a middling crop. With the exception of barley, all the cereals are as light as they are scant, while the fact that the Government has made extraordinary purchases of grain for food reserve as a precaution against another famine has increased the scare.

WILL CARRY IT THROUGH.

Petersen, Tate & Co. Deny That the Fast Line Contract Has Been Transferred.

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Sept. 9.—(Telegram Cable.)—Enquiry at the offices of the Petersen-Tate firm here elicits from the principals a point-blank denial that their contract with Canada for the construction of the fast Atlantic line of steamers was or is to be transferred to another firm. The rumor, they say, is false throughout and could only have been circulated with ulterior motives. The firm has undertaken the contract and will carry it through with satisfaction to all concerned.

THE HEAT KILLED HIM.

Mr. Samuel Piper of Sunnidale Died While at Work in His Field.

Stayner, Ont., Sept. 9.—Mr. Samuel Piper, a most respected farmer, residing on the 9th concession of Sunnidale, while working in the harvest field this afternoon, was overcome by the intense heat and died before medical aid could be procured. The deceased, who was about 60 years of age, was born at Whitechurch, Markham Township, where he resided for a number of years previous to taking up his residence in Sunnidale. He leaves a widow, five sons and four daughters to mourn his sudden decease. The heat has been most intense here to-day, the thermometer registering 93 degrees in the shade.

FROM THE KLONDIKE.

Mr. Matthew Gowler Has Spent Two Years There

AND MAKES GLOOMY PREDICTIONS.

He Has Returned to His Former Home in Manitoba With Plenty of Wealth, but says There Will Be Starvation and Bloodshed There The Coming Winter.

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Matthew Gowler of Poplar Point returned on Tuesday from a two years' sojourn in the Yukon country. He did not come away empty-handed and has still interests in the Klondike that are worth more than most people even hope to accumulate in the course of a lifetime. For his half-interest in claim No. 34 on Eldorado Creek he was offered before leaving $22,000, but promptly refused.

Concerning the prospects there, he says starvation and bloodshed will be rampant this winter. They cannot possibly get enough provisions in to supply needs, food having run short last year with the population at 1,500, and now there are nearly eight times as many people in the country. Very little increase has been made in the facilities for getting in food and more than the increase has been used up for whiskey. Means for getting food there are practically nil, and he cannot see anything for it but starvation. Those that took supplies enough to last themselves will suffer with others, for on the Yukon everybody shares alike.

RAILWAY TO THE YUKON.

John Cudahy and Phil Armour Are in a Company Which is Capitalized at $5,000,000

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—A company is being organized here which has for its object the construction of a narrow gauge railway from tidewater, on Prince William Sound, up the valley of the much-talked-of Copper River, and thence across the divide to a point on the Yukon River near the boundary line. The name of the company will be the Alaska Central Railway Company, and its capital stock $5,000,000.

The promoter of the enterprise is Col. John Underwood of this city, and a former extensive railway contractor. Associated with him, he says, are Elijah Smith of New York, the controlling spirit of the Oregon Improvement Company, and John T. Cudahy and P. D. Armour, the Chicago packers, and one or two local capitalists. The proposed road will be about 322 miles long. Senator Perkins and Captain Goodall are mentioned as possible members of the Board of Directors.

Sailed With 110 Passengers.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 9.—The steamer Queen has sailed for Alaska, and carried north 110 persons bound for the Klondike via Dyea. While at her dock here the Queen was subjected to a rigorous search by the customs officials in quest of contraband intoxicants, but nothing of that character was found. All ships sailing from this port for Alaska will hereafter be carefully searched before clearing.

The Eugene Was Not Wrecked.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 9.—The stern-wheel steamer Eugene, reported three days ago as deserted and rapidly going to pieces in Alert Bay, created some surprise by steaming into port in bad condition, but far from being a wreck. When she started from Comox, B.C., to St. Michael's, she encountered rough weather and had to seek shelter in Alert Bay. As the Eugene had failed to clear at British Columbia ports, for St. Michael's in violation of the custom regulations, an attempt was made to seize her while in their waters, and she was chased 40 miles by the British customs officers in the tug Hope. It is possible that the steamer may be seized by customs officers here, as she was not cleared at an American port when she sailed for the north ten days ago.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

Dr. Guiteras, the Expert, Reports 25 Cases at Ocean Springs Two Cases at Scranton.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Dr. Guiteras, the yellow fever expert, telegraphs from Ocean Springs to Surgeon-General Wyman as follows: "Have seen to-day 25 cases of Dengue. Will withhold opinion about three other cases. There are 38 sick in town. Three new cases."

New Orleans, La., Sept. 9.—Sherry Seymour died at 1 o'clock this morning at Ocean Springs of the prevailing fever. Dr. Salomon's report as to the existence of two cases of yellow fever at Scranton is considered reliable. Dr. Salomon says the fever is Yellow Jack, but this is of a mild type. Rigid quarantine will be enforced against Scranton. The Government experts probably will be asked to go there, and also to Perkinston, to determine definitely the character of the disease.

TRAIN ROBBERS FOILED.

Deputy Sheriffs Happened to Be on Board and Scared Them Off.

Lathrop, Cal., Sept. 9.—The Southern Pacific express train No. 17, from San Francisco to Los Angeles, was held up at a switch near Merrano Tuesday evening. The train robbers had piled ties across the track and had set the pile on fire. As the train slowed up, the robbers, who were standing beside a fence, fired five shots at the train. A tramp riding on top of the baggage car was the only person wounded. Two deputy sheriffs, who happened to be on the train, tried to return the fire, but the robbers, becoming frightened, fled without making any further attempt to loot the train.

No Vote Reached

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The miners' convention remained in executive session until late this afternoon, adjourning until to-morrow morning, without having taken a vote on the proposed settlement.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1897.

A FALSE PROPHET.

Mr. Foster, late Minister of Finance in the Conservative Cabinet, is as little of a success as a prophet as he was as a financier. Last session he treated the opinion of Hon. Mr. Fielding, Premier Laurier's Finance Minister, respecting a possible deficit of $500,000, with scant respect. "Pooh !" said Mr. Foster, "the man does not know what he is talking about ! On my calculation the deficit will be $2,600,000 instead of $500,000." The returns just published show that there is a deficit, as was predicted by Mr. Fielding, of some $500,000 —$525,739—and proves that Mr. Fielding was right and Mr. Foster was all astray. The deficit, small as it is, is a deficit chargeable to the late Administration, which was in power a portion of the year, and responsible for all the main expenditure. Mr. Fielding was conscious of this, and said to Parliament : "It will not be until this fiscal year is completed, until we have paid the debts of the hon. gentlemen opposite and entered upon a new year for which we shall prepare the estimates ourselves and have full control of them, that we shall be in a position to make comparisons."

It is asked why was it that Mr. Foster anticipated a deficit of $2,000,000 ? He knew that there was an extra session of Parliament to pay for for. In the case of the interest on the public debt he knew that treasury bills to the extent of $600,000 had to be discounted to meet liabilities incurred before the Laurier Administration took office. He knew that to make a campaign cry of economy he had starved the public services for 1896. He deprived the militia of Canada of their drill money that year, and public works actually in progress were not provided for. He knew that the whole of the accounts of the Postoffice Department for three months were in arrears. Mr. Foster, therefore, estimated a deficit of $2,000,000. Now all these things have been provided for and also the extraordinary expense connected with the fire in the west block, and yet the deficit is only half a million. This is very creditable to Mr. Fielding and the Liberal Administration.

There have now been deficits in the Dominion finances for four years as follows :—

1896	4,163,000
1897	525,000

It is interesting to recall that in the closing day of the first session of the present Parliament Mr. Foster predicted confidently that the new Ministry were face to face with a deficit of $2,000,000 in their first year. That was the legacy Mr. Foster thought he had bequeathed. That it has been reduced to $525,000 is a tribute to the economy and good management exercised in the face of all the obligations incurred by the late Government, and which by law the new Government was bound to discharge. When the present Government get rid of the incubus of former maladministration, it can begin to show what really economical administration means.

A CONFESSION OF INCAPACITY.

Mr. Whitney's proposal to increase the provincial pay roll by appointing a provincial auditor-general is a confession of the incapacity of the Opposition, who have a full and free opportunity, in the Public Accounts Committee to "bunch" their great mathematical intellects and find out everything there is to be found out respecting the finances of the province. There is nothing to conceal and nothing is concealed. The Opposition has every opportunity for investigation, and their failure to find any evidences of crookedness in the administration of our affairs, accounts very largely, it is to be assumed, for the request for expert assistance. On the score of the minutest investigation, the Ontario Government will not object to the appointment of half a dozen auditors, for they, with the vigilant Opposition, would find nothing wrong. Mr. Whitney complains that the province is overofficered, yet he insists on the appointment of an expensive official, who is entirely unnecessary, especially if the Opposition is "worth its salt" in the matter of investigation before the Public Accounts Committee.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the matter of the provincial "piggery", the hon. member for West York is the "saint" and Hon. Mr. Dryden the sinner. Mr. St. John has got his bristles up in a very aggressive style.

Brantford Street Railway Company has had a verdict for $12,000 recorded against it for injuries to the spine of a farmer, who was a passenger on a trailer that left the rails. If the company has many such verdicts given its own spine will be in a very rigid condition.

Mr. Whitney's missionary tour with a view to the enlightment of a benighted province still continues. He is getting on finely, beginning to have bouquets presented to him. He will, in a figurative sense, receive super-ripe vegetables, eggs, etc., in his oratorial flights before the campaign closes.

Before the United States think of knocking out the Japs, smashing Spain and sinking the British Empire they had better begin where charity should begin, at home. The other day representatives of the class for which government virtually exists in the United States, the plutocrats, made an attempt to evict the striking employees of the Pittsburg and Chicago Gas and Coal Company, but the officers were driven from the village. About a hundred Polish women led a vigourous attack on the evictors and became the victors. When the majesty of the law in the United States succumbs to a bevy of old women, British lion tail twisting and promiscuous threats to "lick all creation" become too ridiculous for anything.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were on the live stock market yesterday over 40 carloads of stock, made up as follows: Cattle 600, sheep and lambs 400, calves 25 and hogs 300. This was a large run for a Thursday. The market was fairly active and prices ruled much the same as on Tuesday, there being no marked change, unless it was in butchers', which might be said to be a little slower on account of there being more cattle than were expected.

Choice export cattle sold from $4.50 to $4.70 per cwt. for a few select cattle, and medium shippers brought $4.12 to $4.35 per cwt., but the bulk of the cattle sold at $4.25 to $4.30 per cwt.

J. Eakins bought one load of export cattle at $4.50 per cwt. and one load of export cows and steers, weighing 1175 lbs. each, at $4.25 per cwt.

Mr. Brown of Brown & Snell was buying export cattle and we saw one load of good cattle, weighing 1300 lbs. each, for which he paid $4.65 per cwt.

Crawford & Hunnisett bought one load of exporters, choice cattle, weighing 1300 lbs. each, at $4.65 per cwt., and one load, weighing 1200 lbs., at $4.30 per cwt.

Choice butchers' cattle sold from $3.70 to $4. This was for picked lots. Medium worth $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt., and common $2.90 to $3.25 per cwt.

William Levack bought 140 mixed cattle at prices ranging from $2.90 to $4.35 per cwt.

Crawford & Co. bought one load of butchers' cattle, weighing 850 lbs. each, at $3.25 per cwt.

One load of butchers' cattle, averaging 960 lbs. each, sold at $3.25 per cwt.

Choice export bulls sold well. Mr. Brown of Brown & Snell bought 2 choice bulls, weighing 1500 and 1800 respectively. Prices ranged from $3.50 to $3.80 per cwt. for heavy and $3 to $3.50 for light export bulls.

S. Halligan is still buying stock bulls for the byres at Walkerville at prices ranging from $2.25 to $2.90 per cwt.

Trade in stockers and feeders is as brisk as ever at Tuesday's quotations.

William Crealock bought 99 stockers at prices ranging all the way from $2.50 to $3.25 per cwt.

A. M. Ruch was buying for the Buffalo market, paying from $3 to $3.15 per cwt. for cattle weighing about 70 lbs., and we saw him purchase three nice young steers, weighing 930 each, at $3.50 per cwt.

There were about 10 milk cows on the market, which sold at prices ranging from $35 to $45.

Calves still keep at about the same prices, selling at $3 to $6 each and $7 and $8 for something choice; two of such sold for $17 to-day, but they were choice.

Sheep sold at Tuesday's quotations; export ewes $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; bucks $3 per cwt., and lambs at $4.50 to $4 per cwt.

The hog market remains firm at quotations of $5.75 to $5.87½ for best quality of hogs.

Crawford & Hunnisett bought some stock heifers, weighing 700 each, at $2.50 per cwt.

Shipments per C.P.R.: J. & J. W. Dunn shipped four double-decked cars and one single containing 715 sheep and 10 cattle, William Levack two cars of cattle, all for export.

DIED WHILE PRAYING

A Sensational Episode at a Prayer Meeting in Oswego

THE CITY LIGHTS ALL WENT OUT

And People Fled from the Church in Terror Breaking of a Belt in the Electric Power House Caused the Trouble The Santa Fe Railroad Accident.

Oswego, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Jesse A. Hathaway, a prominent lawyer, in company with his wife, attended the prayer meeting last night at Grace Presbyterian Church and arose to pray. At that moment a belt at the electric company's power house broke, extinguishing all city lights, those of the church included. Mr. Hathaway fell to the floor. When the gas was lighted a moment later, he was discovered to be dead. The several hundred persons present were horror-stricken. Many fled from the edifice and physicians who were summoned claim that the death was due to apoplexy.

Electric Shock Killed Him.

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 9.—George Aiken, 24 years old, was instantly killed here last night by an electric shock. He was dared to climb up and take hold of a racket on an electric light pole, and he went up the pole. He no sooner grasped the racket with both hands than he fell dead.

Woman Burned to Death.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—A number of small frame residences on Belmont-avenue were burned yesterday and Mrs. Herman Lesman was burned to death. Her daughter Dora, 11 years of age, was severely burned while endeavoring to save her mother. Several firemen were injured in extinguishing the fire.

The Parachute Didn't Work.

Chillicothe, Mo., Sept. 9.—Prof. Baird, the aeronaut, who made the balloon ascension at the fair grounds, was fatally injured by the failure of his parachute to open readily when he made his descent. He was about 300 feet in the air when he cut loose, and before his parachute opened he was less than 50 feet from the ground. His injuries are such that his recovery is considered impossible.

THE SANTA FE WRECK.

A Miscarriage of Train Despatchers' Orders Caused the Calamity.

Emporia, Kan., Sept. 9.—Last night's head-end collision on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe proves the most disastrous that has occurred on that system in many years. Ten people were killed outright, or soon died of their injuries, and fifteen others were more or less seriously injured. One or two of the wounded may succumb.

The wreck was caused by a miscarriage of orders by the train despatcher. The conductor of the eastbound train was ordered at Emporia to meet and pass the California Flyer at Lang, seven miles east. An order sent to Lang to the conductor of the westbound to wait there was not delivered, and he supposed he was to pass at Emporia. Each train was hurrying—one to Emporia; the other to Lang—and met at full speed on the main line.

The California train was almost an hour late, and, owing to Mr. Bryan's lecture engagement at Burlingame, was crowded with excursionists, returning home.

The westbound train carried eight passenger coaches, and all were crowded.

The conductor and brakeman were getting their lanterns ready for Emporia, only three miles away. There was no warning signal. The westbound train was going around a slight curve and met the fast mail, probably within 200 feet. There was a shock as if the trains had bumped up against a stone wall. Then there was an explosion, a crushing sound, an uncertain movement of the coaches, and all the lights went out. Those who were in the first coach in the westbound train were left in total darkness, and they very soon realized the peril of their position, for the coaches were filled with steam and smoke. The westbound train was drawn by two locomotives, and when they struck the fast mail, all the [illegible] engine [illegible] jumped and tore a hole in the track so deep that the smoking car of the westbound train went on top of the wreck of the three engines and two mail cars and balanced there without turning over. Those in this car who escaped through the windows came very near turning the car over, in which event the mortality would have been much greater, as this car soon caught fire from the exploded engines underneath it, and burned to ashes in a short time.

William J. Bryan was interviewed by a reporter as to his experience in the collision.

"I have traveled thousands upon thousands of miles on railroads and I never was in a wreck before. I did not feel the shock very severely where I was, but from the way things looked, I cannot for the life of me see why we were not all killed. The scene here presented is the most terrible I have ever seen. It has made an impression on me that cannot leave me during my lifetime."

Following is the list of killed and injured, as announced by the railroad officials:

Killed—Joseph Brahham, engineer; Nate Hollister, engineer; Ben Walters, fireman; James Hurley, fireman; Edward Yonselvi, fireman; unknown boy.

Missing—Joe Sauers, baggageman.

Injured—William Frisbie, engineer; F. B. Jones, postal clerk; W. C. McGleed, postal clerk; C. J. Holliday, postal clerk; S. O. McGee, postal clerk; R. A. Doran, postal clerk; John Patrick, brakeman; C. A. Vancleever, brakeman; T. J. Button, passenger, Cottonwood Falls; F. B. Wallack, passenger, Atchison.

Many acts of bravery and nerve were displayed.

Claude Hollister of Topeka had both his legs broken and shattered in half a dozen places. When his rescuers laid him on the grass beside the track he turned to one of the group and asked if he would pull through. When assured that he would live if he was brave he said: "Am I not brave? Look at my legs dangling and then ask me to be brave! I suppose they will have to be amputated, but I will bear the operation and live through it. I do not propose to die for lack of nerve and courage. My God, what has become of my comrades?"

William Frisbie, engineer of the fast mail, whose residence is in Topeka, was conscious until he died. He said: "I did not see the other train until I came upon it. I turned on the air and jumped. I presume I cannot recover, but I will die as bravely as I can. I want you men to leave me and help victims that are more unfortunate than I am."

A. B. Adams, who is among the injured, is on his way to Mexico from New Jersey, with registered bonds amounting to $80,000 and a great deal of other valuables. They were all burned in the fire afterwards.

The Magistrate is Dead.

Cygnet, O., Sept. 9—Fred. Taylor, Justice of the Peace, died from injuries received at the explosion Tuesday night. This makes six deaths, and three others—Carl Gibbons, Lafayette Sutton and Herbert Stevens—are dying. Harry Stevens had both legs crushed so that amputation was necessary.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Evidence Given in the Chicago Murder Case Yesterday Did Not Amount to Much.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The prisoner Luetgert plainly showed the effect of confinement and warm weather and his features were more wan than usual in court to-day.

The first witness called was H. F. Kruger, the druggist, who sold Watchman Frank Bialk the medicine which Luetgert ordered his employe to purchase. The testimony was intended merely as corroborative of the watchman's statement as to the time for the purpose of showing the hours between which the alleged murder was supposed to have been committed.

Prof. Gibson's testimony proved to be of little value to the state. Although the witness freely admitted that the bits of fleshy substance and organic matter taken from the solution were similar to human flesh, he was equally candid in his admission, upon cross-examination by Attorney Vincent, chief counsel for the defence, that the flesh was as similar to the flesh of any other animal as it was to human. Prof. Gibson testified that a body could be disintegrated in the manner charged by the prosecution, but denied that the bones would be affected in the manner that the state has endeavored to establish. The witness testified that the bones would be merely softened at the ends, but would not be dissolved.

The bits of bone which the police gathered from the refuse pile where the ashes of the furnace were said to have been dumped were submitted to the scrutiny of Prof. Delafontaine, who readily answered yes, when questioned as to whether they resembled human bones. The chemist gave it as his opinion that a body could be dissolved in caustic potash, heated to the boiling point, in the space of three or four hours, nothing but the bones and some ligaments and cartilages remaining.

A RICH MEXICAN

Was the Owner of That Valise With All the Diamonds in It.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 9.—Dom Pedro Trueba, the owner of a valise which was seized by the customs officers here, arrived yesterday from his hacienda in the State of San Luis Potosi. The contents of the valise, according to his statement, are worth nearly $300,000. Trueba says that when he arrived at his station he handed the valise to one whom he believed to be his servant.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou—Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

Montreal Produces Its Share.

What a Wonderful lot of People there are who Suffer from Backache.

From the Millionaire Sitting in His Office Clipping Coupons Down to the Humble Citizen who Swings a Pick for a Dollar a Day, Nobody is Free from it, and it all Comes From the Same Cause—The Kidneys are to Blame.

Backache is really nothing but kidney ache.

You can be perfectly sure that it means a disordered condition of the kidneys.

Here is some Montreal proof worth reading:—

Mrs. Laby, says: "My uncle, Mr. John Hughes, has been a very great sufferer from kidney disease, pain across the back, frightful headaches and dizziness, as well as severe urinary difficulties.

He was in a fearful state, could not rest, and often had to walk the floor half the night so great were the pains. We gave him a great many kinds of medicine, but they did him no good. He then went to the hospital, but the doctors there said that he had a complication of diseases, and only afforded him temporary relief. On coming back home he was soon as bad as ever.

Well, we saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and thought he might as well try them, as they could do him no harm, so he started to use them and got better in a very short time. In fact, he only used them for six weeks.

He is all right now, the pains have disappeared entirely, he eats well, sleeps well and works right along every day. We can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly. 126

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tire, feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

The Season Closing.

The North Star will discontinue its regular daily trips down the river at the end of the present week. The regularity with which the Star ran over this route during the season won for the steamer a big patronage, as no excursions were allowed to interfere with the trip. Through this means the North Star worked into the favour of the campers down the river, as well as into that of the farmers who use the river as a method of getting up to the Peterborough markets. The season for the Star has been a most successful one and this is owing in no small degree to the popularity of Captain Jack Martin and Captain Eden, who are general favourites amongst the travel loving public of Peterborough. Until navigation closes the Star will be busy towing.

Making Things go Easy.

Mr. G. Walter Green, of the Peterborough Pump Works, has been attending the Toronto Exhibition this week and has had his eyes upon a number of new ideas in pumps, washing machines and other labour saving novelties. He secured the right for several new patents, the most important being the wonderful automatic cattle pump, which has attracted a great deal of the attention of farmers at the fair. The wonderful part of this new device is that the cattle pump the water for themselves. "It's a fact, all the same," Mr. Green affirmed, "and we'll show it to you in full working order on the market square." The ladies will also have to thank Mr. Green for having secured the right to manufacture a high grade washing machine, which not only saves a lot of time and trouble, but you don't have to stand over the washing and inhale the soapsuds and steam. Mr. Green is not only a hustler but a public benefactor.

A WICKED RUNAWAY.

The Team on the National Hotel Bus Creates a Panic.

The team attached to the National hotel bus was left standing at the C.P.R. station last night without being watched and suddenly started off at a terrific rate of speed.

The bus struck the big telephone pole just at the entrance to the station yard, and upset. The horses speedily freed themselves and ran madly up George street with the tongue hanging down between them. The runaway was entirely too wicked a one to allow of any one taking the risk of trying to stop it and those who were on George street at about one o'clock saw a sight which they will not soon forget as the maddened team dashed by.

The horses ran as far as Nassau where they stopped of their own accord being completely played out. They were brought in this morning. The bus is a total wreck, both sides being smashed in.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

It is now Incorporated and the Old Society was Merged into the New Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the unincorporated and the corporated Historical Society were formally merged into one and the memberships of the old society transferred to that of the new. By resolution the papers and effects of the old organization were handed over to the corporate society and accepted by it. As the unincorporated society could not hold property, etc., it was deemed advisable to incorporate it, and as this is the first time the society has met since the charter has been secured, the opportunity was taken to merge the old organization into the new. A general meeting for the election of officers and the receiving of reports has been called for Thursday evening next at Inverlea House.

SOME OLD DOCUMENTS.

Which Have Just Been Presented to the Historical Society.

Through Miss Ferguson, the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society has come into possession of three very valuable and interesting documents connected with the early settlement of the present site of the town.

The first is a charter signed by Sir Richard Downes Jackson, Administrator of the Government of the Dominion of Canada and Commander of the forces in British North America. It is dated Dec. 20th, 1841, and appoints as member of the first school board Rev. J. C. Taylor, Rev. John M. Roger, Rev. John Butler, Dr. John Gilchrist and Burrage Y. McKeyes.

The second document is a petition addressed to Sir Francis Bond Head, asking for the appointment of Rev. Robert J. C. Taylor as master of the Grammar School.

The third document is also a petition. It is addressed to the supporters of the Church in Great Britain, and solicits aid for St. John's church, which has just been erected.

The papers were forwarded to Miss Ferguson for the society by Mrs. Ollard, of Australia, who is a daughter of the late Rev. J. C. Taylor, who was rector of Peterborough in the thirties.

At the Opera House.

Not a very large house witnessed an excellent presentation of "Fabio Romani" last night. The play is generally attractive, and abounds with many thrilling situations. It is vividly dramatic, and excellent acting makes it a very enjoyable entertainment—above the average of travelling representations. Mr. Aiden Benedict, as Fabio Romani and Count Cassaria Oliva, acted with great fidelity to nature, and Miss Olive West's personation of the faithless wife and hard, relentless woman of pleasure, was very satisfactory. The entr'acte fire and serpentine dances of Miss Grace Hunter were splendidly done, and her Spanish dances incidental to the play, were also unusually excellent—wonders of graceful agility.

THE THOMPSONS WILL HAVE TO STAND TRIAL.

For Killing William Sawyers at Maple Lake on September 1st—Medical and Other Evidence Strong Against Them.

Haliburton, Sept. 9.—At the resumed inquest on the cause of death of W. H. Sawyer, Hiram Sawyer, father of the dead man, continued his evidence. He said that Matt Thompson had jumped past him while defending his son, and had kicked William Sawyer twice on the head. The witness then sprung at Thompson and was attacked by both the brothers, who kicked and struck him several times. Sawyer was driven home after the fight and became unconscious. In half an hour he revived, but remained stupid all night, only saying that Thompson kicked him twice in the head. Friday morning Sawyer again became unconscious and on Saturday died.

Dr. Frost told of having visited William Sawyer on Saturday afternoon and found bruises on the forehead, the right side of the neck, and on both sides of the body. He thought his patient's condition resulted from the abuse received in the fight. Dr. Curry swore he thought the injuries to the body sufficient to have caused death, though those to the brain might not have been sufficient. Dr. Frost corroborated this opinion.

The evidence of Hiram Sawyer was corroborated by James Barry, who said he saw Matt Thompson kick deceased once and T. Thompson twice.

Thomas Archer swore to having seen M. Thompson on top of H. Sawyer. Thompson got off and went and kicked deceased twice, when lying with his head on his hand. He then turned and knocked down the witness and kicked him several times. At Clarke's the witness met the Thompsons and Matt said he guessed the Sawyers came for fight and got it.

Clara Clarke told of having heard M. Thompson say that anyone having quarrels with Tom would have to deal with him. After the fight the Thompsons came to where the witness was standing with her sister, and said there were four against them, but they could thrash a dozen like them. When they went to Clarke's Tom Thompson told his wife that she might yet die with a sorry heart.

Mrs. John Archer said she saw Mr. Sawyer at his house on Thursday, Sept. 2. He was stupid all day, vomited blood and had pains in his stomach and left side. Sawyer told her he had Thomas Thompson on the ground and Matt Thompson kicked him under the right ear. After that he remembered nothing.

Hamilton Boyce was at W. Thompson's the day after the fight. Matt Thompson told him he kicked, and kicked — good.

The jury's verdict was that deceased came to his death from kicks and blows administered by Matt and Thomas Thompson on Sept. 1, 1897.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. EDWARD CLANCY.

It was very Largely Attended this Morning—Ven. Archdeacon Casey Sang the Mass.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Edward Clancy took place this morning at nine o'clock, from the family residence, Stewart street, Ashburnham, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey sang the mass at the Cathedral. The pall-bears were the sons of the deceased. The funeral was one of the largest that has ever taken place from Ashburnham, the family connection throughout the county being very large.

THE STOLEN BANK BILLS.

The Numbers of the Incomplete Ten Dollar Notes Recently Stolen From the Dominion Bank at Napanee.

The following notice has been sent out to the banks and their branches by the Dominion Bank:

THE DOMINION BANK,

The numbers of our unsigned Ten Dollar Notes, which were stolen from our Napanee Agency, runs from

NO. 46001 to 47000—SERIES A—

Dated 2nd January, 1888,

and were not countersigned by E. H. Baines as pro-cashier.

If any of these bills are presented at your office, you are kindly requested to trace them back as far as possible and communicate at once with this office.

R. D. GAMBLE,
General Manager.

Toronto, Sept. 2nd, 1897.

The delicate question now is—will the Dominion Bank redeem these stolen bills if Mr. Raine's signature is forged and the circulated? The bank may not be legally responsible for its forged bills, but whether it is better to pay them and be done with the business, or to refuse them and have the public become so suspicious of the bills that they fight shy of all its circulation, is the question for the Dominion Bank to decide.

About the year 1872 a somewhat similar case occurred in Montreal when the now defunct Consolidated Bank had a quantity of its unsigned circulation stolen, when moving from one office to another. The Consolidated Bank refused payment of them. But the Dominion Bank may prefer to pay the $10,000 of stolen and forged notes rather than repudiate them and suffer a bad moral effect of such a course. The written signature on a bank bill varies so much that the ordinary business man and the general public have really no safeguard against a peculiar case like this. One of the burglars, for instance, might sign his own genuine signature on the stolen bills instead of that of Mr. Raines, and to the vast majority this would appear all right.—Brockville Times.

A LIGHT SENTENCE.

Wm. Ross, the Forger, Gets off With Two Months' Imprisonment.

Before Judge Weller, yesterday, Wm. Ross pleaded guilty to uttering a forged cheque in signing the name of the Hamilton Bridge Company to a cheque on the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, counsel for the prisoner, made a strong plea for mercy on the ground that the family would be left completely destitute during his imprisonment, being even now dependent on the charity organizations for assistance in Port Hope. In view of these representations the light sentence of two months' imprisonment was imposed.

BAPTISING A BELL.

The Ceremony Takes Place at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Hastings.

A most interesting ceremony took place at Hastings on Sunday, the occasion being the baptizing of a bell for the church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel by Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough. The ceremony took place out of doors and was witnessed by a very large concourse of interested spectators. The bell, which was the gift of Miss Ellen Coughlin, was placed on a raised platform, the whole being prettily festooned with evergreens and flowers and forming the apex was a large floral cross. Silk ribbons, eleven in number, representing the Coughlin family, fluttered from the top, and towards the close of the ceremony a ribbon was held by each relative of the donor, who acted as sponsors, the bell receiving the baptismal name of "Ellen."

At the conclusion the Bishop struck the bell three times, and all who felt disposed had the privilege of striking the bell by making a small offering. The bell, with its attachments, weighs 2,000 pounds, and will cost when placed in position, about $500.—Hastings Star.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The freight department of the Grand Trunk Railway has issued a circular which will be of considerable interest to merchants, as it limits a privilege which has hitherto been enjoyed, that of having a through car stopped at way stations to have the load completed. Many instances have occurred recently where shippers have only partially loaded the car at point of shipment, and then have the railway company hold the car at another point for further merchandise, while only paying the through carload rate. This will no longer be permitted. The circular issued by the Grand Trunk is as follows:

The practice of stopping off cars in transit for completion of load or other reason is an objectionable one. It will only be permitted under exceptional circumstances, and for lumber, grain or live-stock only. In each instance special permission must be obtained from this office, or from the division freight agent, before it is done; and, in case the car from any cause goes through to destination without being stopped off, the company will not assume any responsibility for the omission. Shippers must be given to distinctly understaud that the company will not guarantee that the car will be stopped off, and agents at original shipping point are under no circumstances to sign a receipt embodying such a privilege or for a greater quantity of freight or number of live-stock than is loaded at that station. When special permission has been given, the cars to be stopped will be subject to additional charge as authorized for that service; they must be labelled to the stop-off point only, and way-bills must also show the point at which they are to be stopped off directly under the place of destination on back as well as on face of way-bill.

EASTERN CHEESE MEN.

October Cheese Making—Next Meeting in Lindsay.

The Directors of the Eastern Butter and Cheese Association, including President D. Derbyshire, of Brockville, and Secretary G. F. Murphy, of Elgin, met at the Rossin House Wednesday. A resolution was passed that all factories making cheese should be asked not to manufacture after the last day of October in each year in order to provide against a deterioration of quality, such as is sometimes found in winter products. It was also resolved to meet in Lindsay on January 11-13 next year. This was in response to a deputation from that town, and in the face of representations from delegations from two or three other tows.

LACROSSE.

The following is clipped from the Barrie Gazette regarding the Peterborough-Orillia game:—The second match in the junior final series of the C. L. A., between Peterborough and Orillia, was played in Orillia on Monday. On the previous Tuesday the Orillia club visited Peterborough and suffered defeat. Orillia won the match on Monday by a score of four to three, but Peterborough are the winners of the series, having scored more games than Orillia in the two matches. The game was rough—very rough—and confined to just a few of the wearers of purple and white. It was a common occurrence to see a Peterborough man knocked out. Peterborough played several ringers, so Orillia says, and that may have been why they were slugged. Angus Cameron, Beaverton, was asked to act as umpire, and now wishes he had not. Peterborough had two games and Orillia had one. By a neat piece of combination work Peterborough again scored. Umpire Cameron's hand went up, and down came Barney Quinn's stick on the umpire's head, breaking the umbrella which he held. Quinn's action was backed up by the hoodlums outside the fence, and they opened the gate and transferred Mr. Cameron to the street. James and Richard Henderson went after him and brought him back, threatening anyone who showed violence with arrest. The game was in dispute, but two Orillia gentlemen standing behind the goal assured Dr. Heggie that the umpire was right in his decision, and the game was allowed. Mr. Cameron resumed his position at the goal for the balance of the game.

ANOTHER VERSION.

The Orillia Times publishes the following account of the match: The crowd at the lacrosse match was a record one for this season—fully a thousand people being on the grounds, nearly one half of whom were ladies. The game was advertised for 1.30, but it was nearly two o'clock when the teams lined up to commence. Both teams were the same as played in Peterborough last Tuesday. Dr. Heggie, of Brampton, was referee, and Messrs. A. Cameron, Beaverton, and E. Beattie, of Fergus, umpires.

With three games against them the Orillia's started to play from the drop of the bat, and in about four minutes Dunn shot the ball between the flags, but the umpire in endeavouring to get out of the way, failed to see it go through, and refused to allow the game. The Orillia's went to pieces for a few minutes and the play was all around their flags. Quinn was sent to the fence for tripping, and shortly afterwards Peterborough scored. Time 14½ min. The second game was hardly started until it was all over. Blaindrew the ball out to Curran, who ran in, and dodging the point, scored in 10 seconds. Quinn went to the fence again in the third game, and after an uphill fight of over a quarter of an hour, Peterborough again scored. Nothing daunted the home players went out to win, and shot after shot was rained on the Peterborough flags, but the visitors' defence were staying right in front of the flags and stopping the shots. The play was fast and furious, and several stops for repairs had to be made. Finally after 17 minutes play the Peterborough home worked the ball down and Phelan got a shot. Hanley stopped it and turned it out. The umpire had seen the ball coming, and dropping the umbrella he was holding in order apparently to save himself from being hit, shoved his hand up because the Peterborough home called "game." Following his refusal to give Orillia the first game, because he could not see it for the umbrella, the decision was so palpably unfair, that the players could be pardoned for smashing the umbrella, which they did. Only the interference of the cooler heads kept some of the spectators from smashing the umpire. As it was, he was told enough about umpiring, in a short time, to keep him from ever again accepting the position. The referee refused to reverse the decision and put the umpire off, and the game had to stand. From this out the Peterborough team made no attempt to score, but did everything they could to kill time, and although Orillia scored three more games they were unable to get enough to win.

A protest was lodged against Peterborough for playing Jim. McCabe, a notorious ringer, who is said to have played with Berlin and Waterloo under a different name in the early part of the season.

The laugh was on ex-mayor Jupp. He lent his umbrella to the umpire, and as he gathered up the fragments he was heard to remark to that gentleman, "Served you dashed well right." Then he remembered it was his own shoot.

THE WHEEL.

The much talked of bicycle race between Mr. Fred Logan, of LeBrun & Co., and Mr. Jack McFadden, of Gough Bros., is taking place this afternoon at the Nicholls Park track, at five o'clock.

The Victoria Club Committee in charge of the Road Race which takes place on Friday next, met last evening and decided that the race should start at 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon from a point about midway on Water street between Brock and Murray streets. The members who have been canvassing for prizes reported having met with great encouragement from the merchants. All entries must be filed with Mr. J. Herbert Hall at the club rooms, Hunter street, by Wednesday evening next. The smoking concert will take place the same evening as the race, when orders for the prizes will be given to the winners.

FOOTBALL.

Rugby football practice on P.A.A.A. grounds to-morrow at 4 o'clock.

Gore's Landing footballists will not come up to town to-morrow to again try conclusions with the Electrics, but a week from Saturday the Bewdley team will give the Edison men a match on the P.A.A.A. grounds.

THE TURF.

"Master Fred," the Peterborough running horse, has won seven first prizes and one second in the last three weeks. He is owned by Messrs. McWilliams & Jones, who now have four horses in their string. Master Fred is earning his oats all right. He will probably be shipped home to-night after winning three first prizes at the Toronto Exposition.

CRICKET.

The university graduates have taken up the glove thrown down by the cricket eleven, representing the ordinary mortals of the town, and the game will be played out at the Nicholl's Park oval on Saturday afternoon. Wickets pitched at 2.30. This contest will be a battle of the Titans of the crease, to which the Olympic games will be as child's play. One enthusiast proposes that no score under double figures shall count, but as the match is to be finished this ceatury, his proposition was not entertained.

THE PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

THE INDICATIONS ARE FOR A GRAND SUCCESS.

Opened by Sir Wilfrid Laurier—The Grand Prize List—The Splendid Special Attractions—Everything in Good Shape.

The Peterborough Central Exhibition this year, Sept. 21 22 23, promises to be ahead, contradictory, as it may seem, of its predecessors. The thirteenth annual exhibition is to be worthy of the great Jubilee year. Everything points that way.

The exhibits promise to be of a very superior character. The $5,000 offered in prizes will attract a tremendous entry list in all departments.

The grand opening day will be distinguished by the presence of the most popular Premier Canada has ever had—Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G. C. M. G., fresh from his Jubilee triumphs. He will formally open the exhibition.

The events, in addition to the special attractions, will consist of:

Speeding in the ring, for big prizes;
Running and pacing contests;
Drawing contests in two classes—light and heavy;
Big baby show;
Tug of war.

Also a host of interesting special attractions, for which Messrs. G. E. Elliott and W. J. Green went to Toronto on Wednesday to select the best of those who furnished such grand entertainment at the Industrial Exhibition.

To encourage horse breeding the Directors of the Exhibition have decided to give a handsome diploma to the best stallion and five of his get in all classes of horses specified in the prize list.

There will be special rates on all railways for the accommodation of the crowd. One and a third fares on all the days of the exhibition and single fare on the 22nd, good to return on the 23rd.

The new horses and cattle sheds are in process of erection and are to be ready by the 15th.

Get your work in shape, so that you can attend the best exhibition ever held in this district, Sept. 21, 22, 23. The Jubilee exhibition of the Central will be by all odds the best of the series. Be sure to pay it a visit. The directors are working hard and, with the help of the public, the Central of 1897 will be a magnificent success.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. —G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

THE ILL-FATED WAUBUNO.

Engine and Boiler of the Steamer Found by Fishermen While Grappling for Nets.

Toronto, Sept. 9.

On November 22, 1879, the side-wheel steamer Waubuno was wrecked in Georgian Bay and not a soul escaped. The news of the disaster did not reach Toronto until several days afterwards, and later on the hull of the ill-fated steamer was discovered drifting in the bay. Not until a few days ago, however, was the spot where the disaster took place discovered. Mr. J. J. Anderson of the Anderson Fish Company and a number of fishermen were grappling for nets about five miles north of Moose Point, which is about 20 miles south of Parry Sound. They found the boiler, engine, anchor and chain and a hand truck belonging to the Waubuno. They were lying in about 10 fathoms of water. Mr. Anderson got about 15 fathoms of the anchor chain. This discovery fixes the place of the disaster and clears up a mystery that few thought would ever be solved.

The area of the colony is estimated at 903,690 square miles; population in 1891, 320,431. Adelaide, the capital, and its suburbs, has a population of 144,352.

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

TWELVE MEN KILLED.

A Most Disastrous Head-on Collision on the Santa Fe Road Near Emporia, Kas.

Emporia, Kas., Sept. 8.—Twelve men were killed and as many more badly hurt in a collision on the Santa Fe Road near here this evening. The Santa Fe fast mail coming east and the Mexico & California train going west collided head on. All three of the locomotives exploded. W. J. Bryan was on the westbound train, but was not hurt.

The Mexico & California express was pulled by two locomotives, and when they struck the engine drawing the fast mail the boilers of all three engines exploded and tore a hole in the ground so deep that the smoking car of the westbound train went in on top of the three engines, and two mail cars and balanced there without turning over. The passengers in the smoking car escaped through the windows. The front end of this car was enveloped in a volume of sliding smoke and steam rushing up from the wreck below, and the car door was jammed tight in the wreck of the car behind.

The wreck caught fire from the engines and the cars in the hole and the smoking car were quickly burned to ashes. In clambing out of the smoking car several men fell through the rifts in the wreck below, and it is impossible to tell whether they escaped or were burned to death. The westbound train carried seven or eight coaches, and its passengers included many excursionists who had been to hear Hon. Burlingame. He was riding in the rear Pullman train, but was riding in the rear Pullman. He states that nothing but a heavy jolt was experienced by the passengers in his car.

Mr. Bryan was one of the most energetic men in the crowd of rescuers. He helped to carry out the dead and wounded, and gave the greatest attention to their cases.

It is feared that nearly all of the seven mail clerks perished in the disaster, but so far only six bodies have been taken from the wreck.

The dead include: Jim Brennan, engineer, Topeka; Nate Hollister, fireman, Topeka; J. F. Sounders, Kansas City, express messenger, body almost consumed by fire; William Frisbee, engineer; R. A. Doran, Emporia, postal clerk; —— Gonzales, fireman, westbound train; —— Bingham, Topeka; unknown tramp; Ben Walters, a fireman on the westbound train, is missing.

The engineer of the westbound train had received orders to meet the fast mail at Emporia, and was making up lost time. These two are the fastest trains on the Santa Fe system, and the westbound train must have been running at a speed of at least 40 miles an hour. The westbound express was going around a slight curve when the collision occurred.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

They Do Good Work.

The following letter tells what people think about Laxa Liver Pills:

Dear Sirs,—I gladly testify to the virtues of Laxa Liver Pills. I used to be troubled with severe headaches and constipation for a long time, and took these pills hoping for a cure, and my hopes were rapidly fulfilled. I have found them a never failing remedy and heartily recommend them.

THE MAPLE LAKE TRAGEDY.

Hiram Sawyer Describes the Fight Between His Son and the Thompson Brothers.

Haliburton, Ont., Sept. 8.—The inquiry into the killing of W. H. Sawyer at Maple Lake was continued here today. Hiram Sawyer, father of the deceased, was the first witness, and on being sworn said:

"Me and William Henry Sawyer drove from my farm to Maple Lake postoffice, in the Township of Stanhope, on Sept. 1, about 7 o'clock p.m. While we were at the postoffice Matthew and Thomas Thompson came for their mail and went away. After they were gone some little time we started for home and overtook the Thompsons about half a mile from the postoffice. When we overtook them we stopped our buggy and said 'Good evening.' William Henry Sawyer said to Thomas Thompson that he understood that Thomas Thompson had misused his (Thompson's) wife on account of her being picking berries with him. W. H. Sawyer said: 'If anyone told you such he is a —— liar.'

"Thompson replied: 'Can you back it?' He said yes. Thompson said: 'Come out of the buggy.'

"W. H. Sawyer jumped out of the buggy and said: 'I'll tie the horse,' and took the horse by the head, and Thompson sprung and kicked Sawyer on the hip. Then Sawyer sprung from the horse and Thompson struck him about the shoulder. Then Sawyer faced Thompson and knocked him down. Sawyer went to get on Thompson, when Thompson threw up his feet into his face. Then Sawyer caught Thompson by the legs and threw him to one side and got on top of Thompson. With that Matthew Thompson grabbed Sawyer by the back and pulled him back, helping his brother at the same time to get up. Sawyer told Thompson to keep back and give him fair play. Sawyer jumped to his feet, and T. Thompson kicked him in the stomach while he was rising to his feet. Sawyer again faced him (Thomas Thompson), and knocked him down."

The inquest was continued this evening.

This Looks the Other Way.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 8 (Midnight).—The Interstate Miners' Convention adjourned this evening until to-morrow without having taken a vote on the question of accepting or rejecting the proposed settlement of the strike. The prospects for the acceptance of the settlement are somewhat doubtful. In fact a canvass of the situation shows that a majority of the votes, unless some change should be brought about, would be cast against it.

QUICKCURE

Oh! how it does ache.

A change of Expression

But Quickcure did its work.

Children's teeth are often sacrificed by neglect—too often extracted before their successors appear—too often cause needless suffering. Every mother should have in the house

"Quickcure"

Dr. S. J. Andres, Montreal, says; "'Quickcure' overcomes the pain quickly; gives relief for a long time; is especially valuable for children's teeth which should not be extracted until their successors appear. It is perfectly safe to use at all ages, and does not injure the teeth as many other remedies used for toothache do." Ask your druggist for it.

* 1871 *

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

When love knocks at a woman's heart he usually comes in disguise. Doesn't want it known what he's up to. If she knew all about the little rascal, would she let him in? That's a question.

Women are apt to look upon love and marriage as purely a matter of sentiment and affection. That is pretty nearly right; yet there is a practical side to it too; and the best way to preserve the ideal aspect of marriage and maternity is not to forget the practical part of it. A woman cannot be a thoroughly happy wife and mother unless the distinctive physical organism of her sex is in a healthy and vigorous condition. The best friend that woman ever had is the "Favorite Prescription," of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Chief Consulting Physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Prescription," is a perfect and infallible remedy for every form of "female weakness." It cures by restoring health and strength to the internal organism, which cannot be reached by 'local applications;" thus the cure is radical, complete and constitutional.

Dr Pierce's eminent reputation as a physician of wide learning; and his special knowledge of the delicate and intricate organism of women, accounts for the unparalleled confidence, which women place in his "Favorite Prescription," over every other remedy. Its use obviates the necessity of dreaded "examinations" and the stereotyped "local treatments."

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Dear Sir:—I suffered fourteen years with female weakness, nervousness, and general debility, trying everything I could find to help me—all to no avail. I then heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines and although I was thoroughly discouraged, I thought I would try once more to find relief. I took your "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription," and too great praise cannot be given for the rapid relief they gave me. I am now free from the former troubles. Very sincerely yours, (Mrs.) Mary J. Stewart.

OLD TIME SWEETNESS GONE

Molasses Is Now Made Into Rum and Brown Sugar Can't Be Bought.

"The old fashioned molasses is rapidly disappearing as an article of commerce," said a prominent grocer, "and in its place have come a number of sirups which are more costly and by no means as satisfactory, especially to the little ones, who delight, as we did when we were young, in having 'lasses on their bread. Most of the molasses goes into the distilleries, where it is made into rum, for which, notwithstanding the efforts of our temperance workers, the demand is constantly on the increase, especially in the New England states and for the export trade. The regular drinker of rum will take no other liquor in its place if he can help it. It seems to reach the spot more directly than any other dram.

"The darker brown sugars have also disappeared, and they are not likely to return, owing to the methods of boiling and the manufacture. Granulated sugar is of the same composition, as far as saccharine qualities are concerned, as loaf, cut loaf cube and crushed and differs from them only in that its crystals do not cohere. This is because it is constantly stirred during the process of crystallization. The lighter brown sugars taste sweeter than the white, for the reason that there is some molasses in them. Housekeepers have difficulty these days in finding coarse, dark sugars, which are always preferred for use in putting up sweet pickles, making cakes and similar uses. As they cannot get brown sugar any more, it may be well for them to remember that they can simulate brown sugar by adding a teaspoonful of molasses to each quarter of a pound of the white granulated sugar. This combination does as well in all household recipes that call for brown sugar as the article itself, and besides it saves them a great deal of hunting for brown sugar, which, as said before, has disappeared from the market."—Eastport Sentinel.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold I had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAY, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

And all SUMMER COMPLAINTS of Children or Adults.

PRICE, 35c. Beware of Imitations

DRESS PARADE.

A gray feather boa is one of the necessities of a fashionable outfit just at present.

A homespun wool material in a new weave, very loose and thin, like grenadine, is in the market. It comes in stripes, and is made up over the inevitable taffeta silk lining.

Swiss embroidered muslin of the finest kind is made up into dainty summer gowns over silk linings, and pretty figured lawns are tucked from the knee to the deep hem as they were years ago.

Transparent effects play a large part in summer millinery, and mull, chiffon, net and tulle are shirred into the prettiest shaped hats, with both lightness in color and weight to recommend them to favor.

Chiffon dresses, once worn exclusively for evening, have appeared among the day gowns, and pink, yellow, green, mauve and white chiffon is made up with gathered or accordion plaited flounces to the waist.

Ribbon belts made of two lengths of ribbon folded and crossed on the hips, so that they form points back and front, are a useful accessory of dress, since they are boned and hooked in front, and consequently are always in place.

Lace is more in demand than ever, and the woman who has a lot of old real lace is to be envied. Yet the imitations are exquisitely fine, and the art of producing pretty effects with inexpensive lace is well known to the dressmakers.

The latest sleeve is cut in one piece, small gigot shape. Two plaits are folded at the elbow on the underside, and the seam is arranged well under the arm, while plaits in front at the top throw up a little fullness, which forms the puff.—New York Sun.

UNCLE PETER'S RECIPES.

First.—To keep your feet dry on rainy days: Stand on your head.

Second.—The best way to mind a baby: Do everything he tells you to.

Third.—The safest way to gather chestnuts: Take a pair of scissors and cut them out of the comic papers.

Fourth.—How to get soda water or candy for nothing: Persuade somebody else to buy it for you.

Fifth.—How to make a dollar go a long ways: Put it in an envelope addressed to somebody in the Sandwich Islands and mail it.

Sixth.—How to go west at no expense whatever: Turn your back on the east and walk straight ahead.

Seventh.—To avoid stammering, whispering and impudence: Don't talk.

Eighth.—To avoid swallowing water melon seeds and cherry stones: Eat no fruit but bananas or apples.

Ninth.—To learn to dance in one lesson: Walk on the hot sand at the seashore a midday in midsummer barefooted.

Tenth.—The surest method of remembering dates: Fix them firmly in your mind and don't forget them.

All children following these rules, which are the result of many years of experience on Uncle Peter's part, will find that they can accomplish the special objects for which the rules are made without any added effort.—Harper's Bazar.

TAKING MEDICINE.

Acids, as a rule, should be given between meals. Acids given before meals check the excessive secretion of the acids of the gastric juice.

Iodine or the iodides should be given on an empty stomach. If given during digestion, the acids and starch alter and weaken their action.

Irritating and poisonous drugs, such as salts of arsenic, copper, zinc and iron, should be given directly after meals.

Oxide and nitrate of silver should be given after the process of digestion is ended. If given during or close after meals, the chemicals destroy or impair their action. Potassium permanganate also should not be given until the process of digestion is ended, as organic matter decomposes it and renders it inert.

The active principle of the gastric juice is impaired and rendered inert by tannin and pure alcohol; hence they should never be given until after the close of digestion.

Malt extracts, cod liver oil, the phosphates, etc., should be given with or directly after food.

A recent writer gives these hints on medicine taking. Of course no drug should be taken without advice of a physician but when a special tonic has been prescribed these rules are useful as to the best time for administering it.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The irresistible with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

VICTORIA CHEESE BOARD.

1672 Boxes Offered for Sale—Mr. Whitton Cleared the Whole Board cut at 9 5-8c.—The Eastern Dairymen's Association's Winter Meeting in Lindsay in January.

Lindsay Post.

The council chamber was well-filled this morning with salesmen from the different cheese factories, who had come somewhat interested as to how the bidding would go.

Before Mr. N. L. Campbell, the salesman, called for bids, the president, Mr. Robertson, called on Mr. Whitton t. report as to how he had succeeded as a delegate to the convention at Toronto. Mr. Whitton responded by stating that he had much pleasure in announcing that he, along with other delegates, had succeeded in inducing the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association to hold their winter meeting in Lindsay, which he thought would be held on the 11th to the 13th of January next. He further stated, as this was an advantage to have such a meeting here, he would suggest that steps be taken to establish a good local membership. President Robertson then spoke for a few moments, stating he was pleased that the efforts of our representatives were successful, and he urged that all parties interested put their heads together and try to get new members before the meeting takes place, and he had no doubt but that they would be successful, and such a meeting would prove a great benefit to our farmers also.

The following factories boarded the number of boxes placed opposite their names:

Star	100
Lorneville	57
Cameron	125
Dunsford
Mariposa	96
Derryville	71
Cambray	103
Janetville	88

Pine Grove	31
Reaboro	145
Bobcaygeon	77
Maple Leaf	14½
Palestine	90
Ingoldsby	50

Mr. Whitton started the bidding going by offering 9c. for the board. Mr. Flavelle then went an eighth better. Mr. Whitton made it 9¼c. Mr. Flavelle kept the bidding up by going 9 4 16. Mr. Fitzgerald then jumped to 9⅜, and finally Mr. Whitton made it 9⅜, and as the other buyers refused to go higher his offer was accepted. He then selected fifteen factories, all of which accepted. Five factories still remained unsold, the salesmen, Mr. Campbell, again asked for bids. Mr. Flavelle offered 9 9 16, Mr. Fitzgerald 9⅜ and Mr. Whitton 9⅜. As the latter gentleman's offer was the highest he took the remainder of factories on board. The next meeting of cheese board will be held on Friday, Sept. 24th, the second day of the Lindsay fair.

Don't draw a check unless you have the money in the bank or in your possession to deposit.

Don't test the courage and generosity of your bank by presenting or allowing to be presented your check for a larger sum than your balance.

Don't draw a check and send it to a person out of the city, expecting to make it good before it can possibly get back. Sometimes telegraphic advice is asked about such checks.

Don't exchange checks with anybody. This is called "kiting" and is soon discovered by your bank. It does your friend no good and discredits you.

Don't quarrel with the teller because he does not pay you in money exactly as you wish. As a rule, he does the best he can. In all your intercourse with the bank officers treat them with the same courtesy and candor that you would expect and desire if the situations were reversed.

Don't give your check to a stranger. This is an open door to fraud, and if the bank loses through you it will not feel kindly toward you. When you send your checks out of the city to pay bills, write the name and residence of your payee thus: "Pay to John Jones & Co. of Boston." This will put your bank on guard if presented at the counter.

Don't commit the folly of supposing that because you trust the bank with money the bank ought to trust you by paying your overdrafts.

Don't suppose you can behave badly in one bank and stand well with the others. Remember there is a clearing house.

Don't think it is unreasonable if your bank declines to discount an accommodation note. If you want an accommodation note discounted, tell your bank frankly that it is not in their definition a business note.

The wonder of the Age.

Dear Sir,—I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B.B.B. for the disease called prairie itch and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured. I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, Sept. 10.

Toronto has finished the championship season as far as Syracuse, Buffalo and Springfield are concerned. Yesterday wound up the season with the Ponies, in a double-header, before another large crowd, each team winning a game. Toronto beat Springfield in the series 10 to 7, and finished also ahead of Buffalo, 11 to 8. The result with Syracuse was a tie, 11 each. Providence has been Toronto's hoodoo all year, and has won 10 games to the Irwinites' 5, and with no better article of ball than was served up yesterday at the Island, the Grays are likely to take two out of three here next week.

Springfield	4	0	1	2	0	2	0	0	1	1—10

The least said about the second game the better. The artists on both sides played like overworked hired men. The Torontos fielded miserably, and Williams was off all over the lot. The result was a hollow victory for the Ponies in five innings.

Toronto	1 4 0 0 0—5
Springfield	2 5 1 0 3 0—20

SYRACUSE AND BUFFALO.

Syracuse, Sept. 9.—The last game of the final series between Syracuse and Scranton was a pitchers' battle, in which Willis had slightly the best of it. Harper started in to pitch for the visitors, but was disabled in the first inning by being struck in the head by a hard batted ball from Eagan's bat. Gillon became wild in the eighth innings, allowing the home team to score the two runs which won the game. Score:

									R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Willis and Ryan; Harper, Gillon and Boyd.

At Buffalo—The game was a pitchers' battle and Farmer Brown won. Both pitchers did great work. Brown kept the Wilkes-Barres from scoring until the last innings. Score:

									R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Brown and Urquhart; Patton and Diggins.

MONTREAL IS GOOD.

Montreal, Sept. 9. Montreal captured the series from Providence today by making it three straight. Yerrick had all the Providence hitters at his mercy, while Hudson was knocked all over the lot by the locals. Attendance 800. Score:

Montreal	2	0	0	0	4	0	1	4	1	1—	12

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York, Sept. 9.—The New Yorks and Pittsburgs broke even in a double-header this afternoon. The Giants could only hit Hawley four times in the first game, two hits of which were scratch, while the Pirates found Meekin often.

New York	0	0	2	1	1	0	0	0	0—	4	4	1

Pittsburg	0	0	0	1	0	1	0		2—	5	8

Batteries—Seymour and Warner; Hughey and Sugden.

At Boston—Sudhoff, who pitched for St. Louis, made an excellent impression, but had wretched support.

St. Louis	0	3	0	0	0	1	2	0	0—	6	10	2

Batteries—Dunkle and Boyle; Thornton and Kittridge.

At Brooklyn—Both Kennedy and Rhines pitched good ball. The former, however, had a shade the better of the argument.

Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0—	1	4	3

FISH YARNS.

It is as hard for some men to stop fishing as it is for others to stop drinking.—Atchison Globe.

Fishermen who take their bait in a jug may be induced to take out new rods, but they will come back with the same old reels.—New Orleans Picayune.

Things will have come to such a pass by and by that a man will have to show a civil service certificate before he can tell a fish story.—Forest and Stream.

The report that the state fisheries, game and forest commission planted 219,144,217 fishes last year sounds like a pretty big fish story, but wait until fishermen come in later and hear their stories.—Buffalo News.

The Baby.

As soon as the baby reaches its fourth month take off the long, cumbersome skirts and put on skirts that come just about three inches below the feet. Then put on light, soft stockings and soft morocco shoes. When the baby is 6 months old, shorten the skirts still more, thus giving the child more freedom of limb. At the age of 7 months put a baby on the floor and let it reach about as much as it likes. This will give it the strength required for creeping and walking, which will soon follow. In these days it seems to be the habit and practice to carry children about in the arms and never allow them to go on the floor till they are big and old enough to walk. It is a great mistake to be eternally handling a child.

Puny and Fretful Baby.

This is now quite unnecessary! Like others, you may have your baby fat, laughing and happy, if you give it Scott's Emulsion Babies take it like cream.

Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 3 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. Mrs. Sternaman's Examination at Cayuga.

ARSENIC ENOUGH TO CAUSE DEATH

Was Found by Dr. Ellis in His Analysis—Dr. Harrison Gave Testimony in Detail—Mr. German Made a Strong Appeal for His Client's Discharge.

Cayuga, Ont., Sept. 10.—Public interest is evidently reviving in the magisterial investigation into the charge against Mrs. Olive Adelia Sternaman of murdering her husband, George H. Sternaman, in August of last year, by the administering of arsenic poison, and when the proceedings re-opened this morning the portion of the Court House given over to the accommodation of the general public was fairly well filled, though by no means crowded. At least half the audience were ladies, including many of the leaders of Cayuga society, and they followed the evidence attentively throughout the session.

The weather is intensely hot, and Cayuga Court House is not the one spot on earth that one would select to cool off in the presence of so many spectators, under such adverse conditions; therefore, it is an indication of the interest the village is taking in the case. The coolest person in the sweltering crowd, both mentally and physically, during the first two hours of the morning's session, apparently, was the prisoner herself. With marvelous self-possession she sat through the tedious hours, never once showing signs of fatigue, and giving little indication of special concern in the testimony being offered.

A Sudden Breakdown.

A few minutes before adjournment, however, a sudden change became apparent without any previous warning. She gave a little start and shuddering, burst into tears, at the same time burying her face in the black-bordered handkerchief which she had carried in her hands throughout the morning. The fit of weeping was unaccountable just at that moment as no special point of interest or importance, nothing particularly harrowing or pathetic, was being elicited. Neither did it last long. Five minutes later she dried her eyes again and sat motionless as before, the only remaining indication of the passing wave of feeling being the reddening of the lids and moistened lash. The evidence of the morning session developed no new points, though the testimony of Dr. Harrison entirely corroborated that given previously by Dr. Park, that death was due to arsenical poisoning, and to that extent developed and strengthened the Crown's case.

The presiding magistrate, as on the previous occasion, was Mr. Adam Davis, J.P., and Crown Attorney C. W. Colter conducted the examination of the witnesses. Detective Inspector Murray and Inspector Roberts of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. were also on hand. Mr. William Cowan appeared in the interest of the accused woman.

Alfred Cox, a brakeman on the G.T.R., was the first witness called. He deposed that he remembered bringing George H. Sternaman from Canfield Junction to Cayuga on his train one day in August, 1896. He believed the prisoner was the lady who was with him. Deceased was lying on a cot and perfectly helpless; witness assisted in getting him on and off the baggage car.

The Doctor's Testimony.

Dr. T. T. S. Harrison of St. Clark swore that he was called Aug. 1st last year to Widow Sternaman's house in Rainham Centre, where deceased was. Witness examined the sick man and noted the exceedingly dark hue of his skin though the eyes were bright and the general appearance of the face would not indicate anything much wrong. The pulse was small and the tongue coated. From the patient and prisoner, who was present during the entire visit, witness learned the history of the case as it has been so often given in the course of the proceedings. At that time Sternaman had been ill nine weeks. He had not been able to take any nourishment for the first four weeks of that period and they had changed doctors then, with the result that he could retain food and medicine on his stomach, and when witness first saw him he was taking a fair amount of nourishment. Prescribing, Dr. Harrison gave certain reasons on account of his minute examination of the patient and stated several that might account for many of the symptoms. Then he showed the reasons he had for striking these one by one off the list till only arsenical poisoning remained. Next day witness held a consultation with Dr. Park and they agreed that the trouble was arsenical poisoning. Witness told the prisoner that her husband was a very sick man and might not get over it. "Why," exclaimed the prisoner, "you don't think that he is going to die? The doctor in Buffalo said he would get better." This was the last time witness saw him alive. On Wednesday, Aug. 19, witness assisted in the postmortem and at that time no trace of arsenic was found. Witness, however, was not satisfied with the test, as it was hastily made. The body was buried, but some five or six weeks after it was exhumed and another examination made, which resulted in the finding of poison. Witness was satisfied that the body had not been tampered with between the two examinations. It was just as they had left it. From the indication witness believed the poison had been administered a short time before death. Just how long he could not say.

Suspicions From the First.

To Mr. German witness said he suspected arsenical poisoning from the first and he believed the poison had been present in such large quantities that it must have been administered feloniously, but after consultation with Dr. Park, they concluded that the patient was not then taking the poison and for that reason they said nothing about it at that time. This startling admission from Dr. Harrison was the sensational incident of the session.

The examination was resumed at 2 o'clock, with Avery C. Sternaman, brother of the deceased, on the stand as a witness for the Crown. He detailed the state of Sternaman when he was brought home from Buffalo, and other minor details of the case.

Dr. Ellis on the Stand.

The Crown strengthened its case materially when Dr. Ellis, Government analyst, Toronto, was put on the stand and produced jars containing the various organs of the body of George H. Sternaman, submitted to him for analysis. He stated that he had examined part of them, and found enough arsenic to cause death, but had not analyzed the whole of the viscera, only went far enough to produce the above result, and had reserved the rest for further investigation. The jars containing the viscera came by express sealed, and the seals unbroken. They were consigned to him by Dr. Thompson, coroner for Haldimand. As far as he went the stomach contained sulphide of arsenic, half a grain of white arsenic. The liver contained half a grain. A portion of the contents of the bottle marked "Organs" contained more than a grain of arsenic. The brain contained a very small quantity. The intestines also contained arsenic. I have not ascertained the quantity; I have reserved them. There was sufficient arsenic in the body to cause death. I don't think the Marsh test, as related by Dr. Harrison and Dr. Park, would give satisfactory results one way or the other. It is possible for arsenic to enter the stomach and ligatures at each end from the body, but not likely in the quantity I found it, unless a large quantity was introduced in a soluble form. In view of the quantity of arsenic I found in the parts I analyzed I think it improbable that it got into the stomach by absorption. Assuming that this arsenic was administered before death, I think it was given shortly before death, not more than a few days. The system will retain arsenic for some time; two or three weeks is sufficient to get rid of it. The Marsh test is a very good test when properly applied. If the body had been embalmed it would give all the results I found if the embalming fluid had contained arsenic, which they all generally do. If all the arsenic I found by my test had been given in one dose it was given some time—probably twenty-four hours—before death.

Coroner Thompson here identified the jars and seals produced by Dr. Ellis.

Charles R. Roberts, representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York, was then put on the stand, and identified the policy of life insurance in his company on the life of the late George H. Sternaman for $1000. The application was issued April 27, 1896. Saw prisoner on Sept. 26, 1896, at her residence in Buffalo, and she said her husband was also insured in the John Hancock Insurance Co. at Boston for $770, and $200 in the Carpenters' Union. When I spoke about the large amount her husband carried for a man in his circumstances she said she had felt the need of sufficient insurance when her first husband, Chipman, had died, and did not intend to be left in the lurch if her second husband died. The agent who wrote the insurance was J. Dewe of Buffalo. There is a law of registering for persons buying arsenic in the States. I did not find that Mrs. Sternaman had purchased arsenic in three or four drug stores I was in in Buffalo. I made no enquiry as to whether she had purchased arsenic or not; I enquired if arsenic had been a part of the medicine she had got under prescription.

The Crown then closed its case, and Mr. German made an impassioned appeal to the magistrate to discharge the prisoner, on the ground that there was only a suspicion that she was guilty. He pointed strongly to the fact that if she had poisoned Sternaman it was in the United States, out of the jurisdiction of Canadian law; that it was very unlikely she would administer arsenic in such a quantity as stated by Dr. Ellis, twenty-four hours before death, at his home in Rainham Centre, when it was expected by all that he could not live, and came home to die.

The prisoner wept when Mr. German referred to her being taken away from her two little children, and that there were no grounds for her committal for trial.

Mr. Davis stated that the evidence as submitted, and the grave suspicion compelled him to commit her for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction, which will be on Nov. 16 next.

Not Simultaneous.

When you pinch your finger you think you feel pain the very same instant, but really the hurt and the pain are not quite simultaneous, although they seem to be so. If a person had an arm long enough to reach the sun, it would be 132 years before he would feel the pain of the burn.

A DEADLY VOLLEY.

Fifteen or Twenty Striking Miners Killed.

DOUBLE THAT NUMBER WOUNDED

The Men Listened in Sullen Silence to the Riot Act, Then One of Them Struck the Sheriff and the Deputies Were Ordered to Fire Upon Them.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 10.—The strike situation reached a terrible crisis on the outskirts of Latimer to-day, when a band of deputy sheriffs fired into an infuriated mob of miners. The men fell like so many sheep, and the excitement since has been so intense that no accurate figures of the dead and wounded can be obtained. Reports run from 15 to 20 odd killed and 40 or more wounded. Many of these will die. One man who reached the scene to-night counted 13 corpses. Four other dead lie in the mountains between Latimer and Tracyton. Those who were not injured carried their dead and wounded friends into the woods. Three bodies were found to-night on the road near Latimer.

Deputies Followed by Trolley.

The strikers left Hazelton at 3.30 p.m., announcing their intention to go to Latimer. As soon as this became known a band of deputies got on a trolley car and went across the mountain to the scene, where the conflict followed. After reaching Latimer they left the car and formed into three companies. They drew up in line at the edge of the village, with a fence and a line of houses in their rear.

Sheriff Martin was in command, and he walked up and down in front of the line until the rioters approached. They were seen coming across the ridge, and Martin went out to meet them.

The men drew up solidly and listened in silence until he had once more read the riot act. This pacified, a low muttering arose among the foreigners, and there was a slight movement forward. Perceiving this, the sheriff stepped toward them, and, in a determined tone, forbade the advance.

A Terrible Volley.

Someone struck the sheriff, and the next moment there was a command to the deputies to fire. The guns of the deputies instantly belched forth a terrible volley. The report seemed to shake the very mountains, and a roar of dismay went up from the people. The strikers were taken entirely by surprise, and as the men toppled and fell over each other those who remained unhurt stampeded. The men went down before the storm of bullets like tenpins, and the groans of the dying and of the wounded filled the air. The excitement that followed was simply indescribable. The deputies seemed to be terror stricken at the deadly execution of their guns, and, seeing the living strikers fleeing like wild men and others dropping to the earth, they went to the aid of the unfortunates whom they had brought down.

The people of Latimer rushed pell-mell to the scene, but the screams of the wounded drowned the cries of the sympathizing and half-crazed inhabitants.

A reporter who soon afterwards reached the scene found the road leading to Latimer filled with groups of frightened Hungarians. Some surrounded dying companions, and others, fearful of pursuit, clung to the newcomer and begged his protection.

WHAT THE SHERIFF SAYS.

He Had to Act Promptly or He Would Have Been Killed.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 10.—Sheriff Martin, who ordered the deputies to fire on the mob at Hazelton, arrived here on the 7 o'clock train this evening. He was cool and collected. The sheriff was at first reluctant to say whether he had given the command to fire, but afterwards admitted that he had. He said:

"The trouble began at 3 o'clock. I met the marching column, halted it and read the proclamation. The miners refused to pay any attention, and started to resume their march. Then I called the leader to stop. He ignored my order. I then attempted to arrest him. The strikers closed in on me, knocking me down and trampling upon me. I called upon my deputies to aid me, and they did so, but they were unable to accomplish much. I realized that something had to be done at once or I would be killed. I called to the deputies to discharge their firearms into the air, over the heads of the strikers, as it might probably frighten them. It was done at once, but it had no effect whatever on the infuriated foreigners, who used me so much the rougher and became fiercer and fiercer, more like wild beasts than human beings. The strikers then made a still bolder move and endeavored to surround my entire force of deputies. I fully realized that the foreigners were a desperate lot and valued life at a very small figure. I also saw that parleying with such a gang of infuriated men was entirely out of the question, as they were too excited to listen to reason, and that myself and deputies would be killed if we were not rescued or if we did not defend ourselves. I then called upon the deputies to defend themselves and shoot if they must to protect their lives, or to protect the property that they had been sent to guard from being demolished. I hated to give the command to shoot, and was awful sorry that I was compelled to do so, but I was there to do my duty, and I did it as best I knew how and as my conscience dictated."

Troops Ordered Out.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—The Third Brigade, National Guard, has been ordered out to quell the riots at Hazelton.

TWO KILLED, THREE INJURED.

An Accident With Fatal Results at Willett's Point, Long Island.

New York, Sept. 10.—Two men were killed and three injured, perhaps fatally, by an accident today at the United States military post at Willett's Point, L.I. Seven laborers were engaged in setting up a huge derrick, which was to be used in placing in position some new guns which have recently arrived at the fort. In some manner the support gave way and the derrick fell on the entire gang of workmen. John Brogh and William Benheimer, both residents of Whitestone, L.I., were instantly killed, and three others, whose names have not yet been learned, were badly injured.

Spain Wants an Explanation.

Madrid, Sept. 10.—The Minister of War has cabled Captain-General Weyler, asking for an explanation regarding the capture by the insurgents of Victoria de Las Tunas, Province of Santiago de Cuba, which is defended by seven forts, having two Krupp guns among their armament. It is stated here that the object of the insurgents is to establish their Government there and then obtain the recognition of their belligerency by the United States.

THE SUCCESSION DUTIES.

The Ontario Opposition, in their desperate search for argument against the Ontario Government, are sometimes led in its excess of zeal into rather inconsiderate treatment of the truth. Mr. Whitney, the gallant leader of the Opposition, in one of his preliminary canter campaign speeches, stated, as reported by the Mail and Empire, that the Ontario Government "had devised the Succession Duties Act." This is not true; Parliament passed the Act, but the Government did not "devise" the principle of the succession duty.

The Succession Duty is not a new idea, nor yet a novelty in practice. This form of duty has long been advocated by thoughtful writers, and has been adopted by some countries many years ago. If Mr. Whitney had charged the Government with being rather tardy in applying the principle of this defensable form of contributing to revenue, he would have been much nearer the mark than when he insinuated, or at least sought to create the impression, that the Ontario Government had invented the succession duty.

There is nothing unjust in the succession duty as collected by the Ontario government. The greatest care has been exercised in arranging the incidence of the duties. Small estates escape altogether, direct heirs have special privileges, and the remoter heirs of large estates to who the money comes, as compared with their natural expectations, like a windfall, have only to pay; and it is only fair play, that money accumulated under the protection of the state, should, through those least directly interested, contribute to the expense involved in such protection.

As to the principle of the succession duty, it is self-evidently fair that every citizen pay a reasonable share of the cost of government. From the strict administration of justice in Ontario, arises the extremely favourable conditions for operations for the making of money. The justice and security thus accruing represent large expenditures. For these the great mass of the people pay as they go. But there is a class of money making by which large fortunes are accumulated, in which the operators cannot be, or are not, at least reached by the direct visits of the tax collector. The ordinary citizen, who pays taxes for his personal and real estate regularly from year to year and realizes a small competence in case of death, if his estate is under $10,000, is not subject to the succession duty. But the speculative operator in stocks, mortgages, etc., manages to very largely evade the tax collector during his life, and therefore the Government, through Parliament, as a matter of simple justice, enacts that at least post mortem justice must be done, and that the rich man's hoard shall at last pay its fair share into the coffers of the state.

It will, therefore, be evident that only a very small portion of estates pay a succession duty. Since the Act came into operation over 20,000—20,330—estates have been reported to the Government, and of these only 285, or one out of 72, have paid the duty, and in the year 1896 fifty-one out of fifty-two estates escaped the act altogether.

The succession duties act provides means whereby estates, that have by the peculiarities of the conditions under which they were created, largely escaped municipal taxation, shall contribute their share to the state. In this way a sum of $648,000 has been collected since 1892, an average addition to the provincial revenue of $162,000, which, but for the act, would be entirely lost to the latter, as well as largely to the municipal revenue. The average revenue from succession duties is enough to pay the cost of legislation with over $20,000 to the good; it contributes a fifth os the expense of the maintenance of our hospitals and charities, and public institutions to which it is specially devoted.

Mr. Whitney denounces the succession duty for political purposes, but it is quite certain that if some misfortunate chance should place him in power to-morrow, he would take no steps to repeal the act. It is then improper to a degree, if not dishonest, for the leader of the Opposition to seek to delude the electors, both as to the desirability of the duty and also in respect of ascribing to the present Government the invention of a device, which the public are led to believe is unjust and uncalled for.

But Mr. Whitney and his friends are not so much to be blamed; they have so few grounds to attack the Government's administration upon, that they follow the principle of the sailor, "any port in a storm."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Every section of the province "seems ready to extend the glad hand" to Mr. Whitney, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. Probably, suggests the Ottawa Free Press, the "sections" are eager to say "good-bye."

The Conservative leaders may not be "sawing wood" these days, but they are certainly "saying nothing" very laboriously, remarks the Montreal Star, and they had better keep to it if they can't say something more creditable than some of the Conservative organs.

In case of a war with Canada, suppose one of Uncle Sam's battle ships in skirmishing round in the bottom of the sea should strike a rock and have to be docked for repairs, would Brother Jonathan expect to borrow the Halifax dry dock as he has done for the crippled battleship "Indiana?" He would have to do so or let his submarine terror stay on the bottom. He has no dry dock of his own.

The Opposition papers keep their knives whetted for Mr. Tarte. He is denounced as everything that is bad, and especially an unsafe man to be entrusted with the "largest spending department" of the government. Just so. Mr. Tarte as Minister of Public Works received a liberal appropriation from Parliament. If he had been the spendthrift minister he is credited with being, would he have, as he now has, the large sum of $800,000 still unspent? A minister that saves such a large amount out of the money at his disposal cannot very properly be called extravagant. Mr. Tarte was once a member of the Conservative party and objected to and exposed a great crooked deal for which the late Conservative Government or at least some members of the late government were responsible and since hasn't been on very intimate terms with his quondam political friends; that is why "Tarte must go." It's revenge not solicitude for the country's welfare that prompts the extraordinary hostility of the Opposition organs of the baser sort to the Minister of Public Works. "Tarte must go"—something like that has been heard before. For many years the cry was "Mowat must go," and we know the result, which will be the same in the case of the revised and revived edition of the battle cry of the disappointed and despondent Opposition politicians and journals.

A Clinching Statement.

A CURE THAT WAS PERMANENT

The Medicine Used Was Paine's Celery Compound.

Day after day home and foreign cures are heralded as the result of using this or that medicine. It is safe to assert that many of the published letters are bogus, are others will hardly bear the light of investigation.

The cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound, and noted in the press of the country, have all the ring of genuineness and honesty about them, and the original letters can be seen at any time by an interested public.

It has also been proven in numberless instances that the cures made by Paine's Celery Compound are permanont. Another letter has just been received, this time from Mr. P. J. Kilbride, Postmaster, Inverness, P.E.I., testifying to the permanency of his cure. His case was one of the most serious and critical ever given to the public, and his complete cure astonished his many friends and the residents of his town.

Mr. Kilbride says: "Over three years ago I gave you a testimonial for Paine's Celery Compound after it had cured me.

"To-day I am in splendid condition, and have not been sick a single day since I used the famous Paine's Celery Compound.

"I certainly owe my present health and strength to your medicine, and I am fully convinced it saved me from a condition bordering on insanity. I can now sleep and eat well, and I thank God for Paine's Celery Compound and the great change.

"I have received and answered 250 letters since my testimonial was published. These letters came from all parts of Canada and the United States. It has been a pleasure answering these letters from sufferers, and I trust my recommendation of Paine's Celery Compound will help suffering humanity.

A THRESHER'S LIFE.

ONE OF EXPOSURE TO INCLEMENT AND CHANGEABLE WEATHER.

He Easily Falls a Prey to Disease—Rheumatism one of the Natural Results—One who Suffered for Upwards of Nine Years Gives His Experience.

From the Intelligencer, Belleville, Ont.

It is doubtful if there is any other occupation more trying to the constitution than that of the thresher. Exposed to the rains and the storms of the autumn season, and at the same time choked with the dust consequent upon threshing, he easily falls a prey to disease. Mr. Jos. H. Davis, a resident of the township of Wicklow, Hastings county, follows the threshing machine for some months every fall. For eight or nine years he was subject to attacks of inflammatory rheumatism. The disease usually made its appearance in the fall, and continued throughout the winter, causing not only much suffering but great inconvenience. Mr. Davis' most serious attack occurred during the winter of 1893. It first made itself manifest by the swelling of the right hand, and before twenty-four hours had passed the disease appeared to have gone through the whole system, and the legs were swollen to an abnormal size, so much so that the joints were not visible through the swellings. For ten months the trouble continued and during that period Mr. Davis was unable to put on his own clothes, and the pain he endured almost passed comprehension. One doctor after another was tried but without any beneficial results. Then advertised medicines were tried but with no better success. "I can hardly say," said Mr. Davis, "how much money I spent on doctors and medicine, but it amounted to a considerable sum, and yet I would most willingly have given my farm to be rid of the terrible pain I was forced to endure. But all my expenditures seemed of no avail, and I began to despair of a cure. At this juncture, acting on the advice of a friend, I began using Dr. Williams's Pink Pills. The first six boxes I used seemed from outward appearances to have had no effect and I felt almost like giving up in despair. I thought, however, that possibly that was not a fair trial for one in my condition and I procured a further supply. By the time I had used three boxes more there was a considerable improvement noticeable, and from that out each day found me growing better. I continued using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills until I had taken eighteen boxes by which time every vestige of the pain had left me, and I was feeling in every respect a new man. I believe, too, that the cure is permanent for I have not known what it is to suffer with rheumatism since.

It will thus be seen that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills released Mr. Davis from the painful thraldom of roeumatism at a comparatively small expense after doctors and other medicines had utterly failed to give him even a fair measure of relief. It is obvious therefore that if Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are given a fair trial they are sure to bring relief and a cure. Every box of the genuine Pink Pills has the trade mark on the wrapper around the box and the purchaser can protect himself from imposition by refusing all others. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50.

DISTRESS AND DISASTER.

The Steamer Cleveland Brings a Dismal Story From the Yukon Gambling is Rampant.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—The Examiner prints an extra edition containing the following news from Dawson City:

Otter Point, B. C., Sept. 10.—The steamer Cleveland has arrived from St. Michael, bringing with her from the Yukon gold fields a story of distress and disaster. The miners she has on board and officers in charge of the ship tell the story of disaster and distress at Dawson. The winter has set in at the mining city of the frozen north, and two great stores of the place have closed their doors, for they have nothing to sell. Those who have been seeking gold, now, must seek for food or starve.

While there may be a tendency to exaggerate the actual condition of affairs there can be no question that famine threatens the adventurous men and women who make their way to the Klondike. Hundreds of unruly spirits are flocking to Dawson. Threats of violence are being made on every side.

Indignation meetings, heavy with uttered threats of vengeance, are held at St. Michael by those who have little hopes of advancing up the river and less of getting back to civilization.

The first signs of winter are apparent on the River Yukon, which is beginning to freeze and in a few weeks will be closed. Enormous prices are now being paid for food at Dawson and it is impossible that more than four vessels with provisions can reach Dawson before the river is a mass of ice.

On the Cleveland there are 38 passengers, men, women and children, who have come from Dawson City. There are few miners in this party that are able to tell of prosperity. Most of them wish to exaggerate their possessions, and if one were to believe the stories they tell, he would say the treasureship in which they come carries $5,000,000.

Captain Hall, master of the Cleveland, says that he has $10,000 in his safe. The purser believes that he can account for $150,000 on board.

The Cleveland has some of the passengers of the P. B. Weare on board. The Weare left Dawson City in time to connect with the Portland, had she not met with a mishap and struck on the flats above Circle City. They report that on July 25 the stores of the Alaska Commercial Company and of the North American Trading and Transportation Company announced that they had no more food to sell.

Three weeks before that the same companies were unable to furnish outfits, and when the announcement was made that no more goods were available consternation resulted on the part of the people of Dawson, with gold seekers piling in at the rate of 20 to 40 a day. Drunkenness, gambling and disorder were rampant and conservative observers predict the most serious consequences.

There is gold everywhere, but the people of Dawson want food more than they want gold now. At St. Michael there are not enough structures to accommodate the crowd, and scores of people are living in tents.

The President Has Arrived.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—The steamer President has arrived from Cook's Inlet, Alaska. She has on board William P. Lindley, chief engineer of the steamer, said that Mount Shishaldin, a volcano on the Alaskan peninsula, near Aunimak Pass, was blazing fiercely on the night of Aug. 28.

Dore Made His Pile.

Quebec, Sept. 10.—Mr. H. Dore of this city, who has lately returned from the Klondike, gives a report of his experience, similar to that of other miners. He was fairly successful, and, being the owner of several good claims, he intends to return in March next to resume work. He strongly advises adventurers not to start for the diggings before that time, as winter travel is almost an impossibility.

VICTORY FOR EAST SIMCOE.

Of one Thing Mr. W. H. Bennett, the Conservative Standard Bearer in East Simcoe, is Sure—He Suffered from Catarrhal Trouble and Found Speedy and Fixed Relief in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

In the coming bye-election it will not be settled until the votes are counted whether Mr. W. H. Bennett, who has represented the constituency with ability for years, will again be the successful candidate. One thing, however, Mr. Bennett is perfectly certain of, whatever turn the election may take: When attending to his duties in Ottawa two sessions ago he was taken down with catarrhal trouble in the head. He used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and over his own signature says that it worked like a charm, and quickly removed the trouble and made him fit for his parliamentary duties. Sold by H. S. Resolutions Passed at the Trades Congress.

NATIONAL FEDERATION WANTED

So the Delegates at Birmingham Declared—Congo Natives Making Trouble for Themselves—Terrible Explosion of Dynamite Near Johannesburg, South Africa.

Birmingham, England, Sept. 10.—The Trades Union Congress to-day passed a resolution instructing the Parliamentary Committee to collect and distribute a special fund to assist the striking engineers.

Later the congress suspended "standing orders," in order to discuss a resolution on "National Federation," introduced by the National Plate Glass Bevelers' Trade Union. It read: This congress is of opinion that nothing short of national federation of all trades and industries will relieve the workers in their present unsatisfactory condition, and instructs the Parliamentary Committee to issue a circular, based on this national system of federation, with a view to enlist the co-operation of all organized workers throughout Great Britain.

The resolution was eventually passed with enthusiasm, on the urgings of one speaker, who claimed that if a single union was not strong enough to defeat capital, the time had come to form such an union.

Delegates Chosen.

Later in the day the congress appointed E. Harford a delegate of the Amalgamated Railway Servants' Union, and J. Havelock Wilson, M.P., delegate of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, as delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

ATTACKED THE BRITISH.

The Mutinous Troops on the Congo are Making Trouble for Themselves.

Brussels, Sept. 10. Later mail advices from the Congo show that the revolt in the Buddu territory is connected with the mutinous Congolese troops in the Torro district, who are said to have killed 59 Belgian officers and men, to have destroyed all the forts and to be committing depredations right and left.

An army, commanded by Mugwania, the Roman Catholic Premier of Buddu, and one of the few loyal Buddus, was despatched to the Torro district in June, in order to fight the mutinous Congolese troops on the frontier, and the disloyal Buddus, having availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by the absence of Mugwania, yesterday attacked the British. The Congolese mutineers in the Torro district have eight Maxim guns and a large supply of breech-loading rifles.

THIRTY MEN KILLED.

Explosion of Dynamite Caused Terrible Havoc Near Johannesburg.

Johannesburg, Sept. 10.—An explosion of dynamite has taken place in the magazine of the George Goch Deep Level Mine, causing terrible havoc. Five white men and 25 Kaffirs are known to have been killed.

Financial Situation Critical.

Cape Town, Sept. 10.—The financial situation at Johannesburg is critical, and the local authorities are urging the Government to adopt prompt measures of relief. One of the leading German firms has resolved to suspend all developments outside of its mining properties.

The Government of the Transvaal has consented to receive a commercial deputation, which will set forth the situation in detail.

Afridis are Concentrating.

Simla, Sept. 10.—It is reported that the Afridis are collecting in the Bazan Valley, intending to attack Bara or Jamrud. The Afridis were seen by Colonel Richardson's flying column returning from the Khyber Pass with 150 dead. They left 300 dead behind them. The Isakhel and Burukhel tribes have informed the Haddah Mullah that he must send them assistance or they cannot oppose the British advance.

Thirty Lives Lost.

Dunkirk, Sept. 10.—The fishing fleet returned here to-day from Iceland and reported that out of 98 boats six foundered during the season, resulting in the drowning of 30 men and boys.

Great Excitement at Madrid.

Madrid, Sept. 10.—The news received here of capture by the Cuban insurgents of the town of Victoria de Las Tunas, Province of Santiago de Cuba, has caused great excitement here. The Cabinet Ministers have been summoned to meet this evening in order to consider the situation.

The Imparcial says that General Jovellar was removed from his command for a similar disaster in 1876.

It is pointed out that the strategical position of Victoria de Las Tunas is important, and the Government has decided to act vigorously and to immediately send further reinforcements to Cuba if necessary.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou—Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

ROUGH TIME IN MAURITIUS.

Sergt.-Major Birtles, a Canadian From the R. M. C., Does Not Like it There.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 10.—Writing from Fort George, Island of Mauritius, one of the Shelly group, Harry G. Birtles, son of Sergt.-Maj. Birtles of the Royal Military College, tells of some of the hardships experienced during the campaign preceding the siege of Fort Salisbury. Mr. Birtles is a sergeant in the Royal Engineers and during the campaign acted as quartermaster sergeant and had charge of supplies. He says his duties were light, as provisions were scarce. The commandant of the engineers was killed and the British troops lost a great number of men. Sergt. Birtles does not like living at Mauritius and will be glad when ordered to return to England.

Will Hasten the Reforms.

Madrid, Sept. 10. The Minister for the Colonies, Senor Castellano, has decided to hasten the application of the Cuban reforms. The law providing for the election of the Commission for Cuban Administration will shortly appear. The municipal elections have been fixed for Oct. 10, the application of the provincial law will follow and, finally, the application of the necessary laws and regulations for the Council of Administration, which will commence work on March 1, when the reforms are generally applied, will be next in order.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 ST. PATRICK STREET,
OTTAWA, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phreneline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

People passing along Aylmer street, north of Smith, notice a lot of small flags on stakes—on each stake the number of the lot it stands in. These are the lots to be had at $250 each with the chance of getting the big prizes by estimating the number of beans in a jar. My attention being drawn to the lots I looked around—away to the far south were the Rice Lake plains or height of land beyond Rice Lake and just 20 miles distant before me lay the fine fields and woods of Otonabee, while nearer lay the town with its broken outline, the spires and towers of the churches and public buildings, making a beautiful broken skyline; on the east lay Armour's Hill with the fields of Douro to the north, while in the west is that beautiful landscape in Monaghan which one never tires looking at. This street is destined to be the finest residence street in the town and they will be fortunate who secure homes there at this opportune time. The low price of the lots will justify one in building, for a fair home can thus be obtained at rates lower than rental and with much more satisfaction. To own one's own home is indeed a comfort and the little self denial and effort to pay for a home is often the making of a young man.

IT COST HIM THIRTY DOLLARS.

For Getting Into a Drunken Row and Throwing a Stone Through a Window by Mistake.

A week ago Friday night a couple of young fellows got into a row on Hunter street, near the corner of Chambers street. After scuffling around for a while they separated and one of them went up Chambers street the other standing on the corner. Presently a big stone came whirling down the alley way and bounding across Hunter street went crashing against W. G. Fowler's big plate glass window.

In the course of a day or so the offender called on Mr. Fowler and asked what it would cost to settle the matter and Mr. Fowler placed his damages at $12, the window being insured for its cost. The young man thought this too much and the case went into the police court, when the defendant was fined $10 and costs, and ordered to pay $10 to Mr. Fowler, and $10 more to Cox & Davis, for the insurance company.

STILL AT LARGE.

The Local Officers do not Know How to Deal With the Case of Wesley Allen.

Young Wesley Allen, the eight year old burglar, who was sent to the Children's Aid Society in Toronto, and escaped on Tuesday last, is still at large and is enjoying himself around the town, having came directly home after obtaining his freedom.

The officers in Toronto have been notified of his presence in Peterborough but do not seem inclined to come after him. Mr. F. W. Miller has been notified to have the lad rearrested by the police, but as he has already been dealt with on the previous charges he is beyond the reach of the police unless he offends again.

OBJECT LESSON FOR BOYS.

A Young Lad is Fined Two Dollars in the Police Court this Morning for Hitting a Girl with a Tomato.

The police court was crowded with small boys this morning and they received an object lesson when David O'Brien was fined two dollars and costs for throwing a tomato through Margaret Stewart's umbrella, when she was on her way to school the other day.

It seems that the little girl's dress was badly soiled at the same time and the magistrate dealt severely with the lad for the wanton assault. He declined to hear any evidence in extenuation, after the lad had entered a plea of guilty.

The Next Congressman.

Manager W. H. Bradburn is to be congratulated on securing such a strong attraction for Wednesday, Sept. 15th, in "The Next Congressman," and it is safe to say that a more satisfied audience will never leave the opera house, than those that witness "The Next Congressman." From the rise of the curtain to the conclusion the play is brimful of brilliant repartees and fun. The company as a whole are the cleverest of farce comedy people, and each character is a strong foil to the other. The dry, natural comedy of Mr. Fenelton is as mirth-proking as the rich unctiousness of Mr. Clarke. The support is numerically large, and are all excellent, Miss Maud Myring's artistic talents being far in advance of what is usually seen in farce comedy of this character.

Albert Duncan, who drives Knox's soda water delivery waggon, met with a bad accident yesterday. When engaged in filling some bottles in in the factory one of the bottles suddenly burst under the pressure, and a flying piece of glass embeded itself in his left arm, severing an artery and four cords.

Dr. Burnham put five stitches in the wound after uniting the artery and cords. Mr. Duncan is back at work again to-day, but is carrying his arm in a sling.

LACROSSE.

After all its complaints to the Toronto papers about Peterborough's notorious ringer, the Orillia lacrosse club, after spending a great deal of money in hunting up evidence, has decided that there is no ground for a protest and have allowed the time to lapse in which to lay one. The Berlin boys write that Sec. Bolton R. Kean of the Orillias, was up there all week trying to ferret out evidence to the effect that Jimmy McCabe was playing lacrosse up there in the spring, but the mission failed, as a matter of fact Jim has never been west of Toronto in his life. President Craig, of the C. L. A., told Orillia that there was no use in laying a protest, as he was satisfied the man was all right, but the players in the northern town determined to push the matter with the result that it has cost them a pretty penny and not a bit of evidence has been secured.

The first game of the second series of the semi-finals will be played here against Madoc next week and the return game will come off in Madoc a week later. If Peterborough wins against Madoc the local team will be pitted against the winners of the Twin City-Wiarton games for the C. L. A. championship. As the whole matter will be settled in a couple of weeks the boys should not lose a single practice, as a single man being out of shape might imperil the chances of the team.

THE WHEEL.

The English crack track racing man Stocks rode the fastest mile ever ridden on a track on Wednesday at London, bringing the record down to 1 35 2-5. The great running horse Salvator, on a straight-away track against time, ran the distance in 1.35¼, so that honours now rest with the bicyclist.

THE TURF.

The trotting mare, Maggie M., bred by John Hudson, Seeley's Bay, was sold last week for $1,200, and resold yesterday to Mr. Gillett, a Gananoque lawyer for $3,000. Though only six weeks in training the mare jogged a mile in 2.10.

Master Fred again won in the running race at the Toronto exhibition.

YESTERDAY'S BICYCLE RACE.

Fred Logan Rides a Strong Race and Has an Easy Victory — Good Time Made.

Challenges have been flying freely between the firms of Gough Bros. and LeBrun & Co. ever since the wheeling season began. At first a team race was to take place between four riders from each establishment, but although this idea fell through, the rivalry did not by any means die out, sundry little dashes on the back streets, when a rider from one establishment overtook one from the other, serving to fan the blaze.

The matter finally culminated in a formal challenge from one store to the other to pick out the best rider in each establishment, and let them try conclusions at the track in a five mile brush.

On account of his recent victory over Roadhouse, McFadden was chosen to carry Gough Bros.' standard, whilst Fred Logan was unanimously chosen to represent LeBrun & Co., as his long rides into the north country were supposed to have kept his muscles in good condition.

A big crowd gathered at the Nicholls Park track at about five o'clock to see the event pulled off, and it was hard to say which was the favourites, as each man had plenty of backers in the crowd.

The five mile course was measured out and the riders had to cross the tape sixteen times. Logan got the pole at the start and set a hot pace which was kept up throughout the race. In the eleventh lap McFadden began to visibly flag and in the twelfth Logan shook him off and began to pull steadily away increasing his lead until the finish and riding the last lap very strong, with his opponent half a lap in the rear.

The time for the five miles was 13 min. 49 sec., which is considered very fast for men who have not had the advantage of training. It is a pity the time of Logan's last mile was not taken, as it was ridden out very strong.

In justice to the loser it might be stated that he rode a road wheel with only 68 gear, which was far too low with which to follow pace.

Mr. Alex. Gibson officiated as timer, Mr. R. H. Kells as scorer and Mr. Alf. Terrill as starter and referee.

It is understood that Mr. Peter Corkery has challenged Mr. Jimmy Tully to ride five miles next Friday afternoon.

A TALK ABOUT FURS.

Interview With a Practical Furrier.

The following from the Globe is associated with a prominent fur business in Peterborough :

It is not necessary to speak of Canada as the "Lady of the Snows" to recognize the fact that with all the beautiful weather that comes to our people, the wearing of furs must nevertheless occupy an important position in the dress of men and women.

"It is not alone that furs are comfortable at certain seasons of the year," said Mr. Fairweather head of the firm of J. & J. Lugsdin, the well-known Toronto furriers, "but there is a style in furs that during long years has never allowed them to go out of fashion. Furs, sometimes in one way, and again in another, have always been fashionable. They seem this year likely to be more fashionable than ever. Plainly put, the decree has gone forth that whatever other garment may be worn, articles of fur must accompany them."

"Your experience in the fur business," it was remarked to Mr. Fairweather, "goes many years back."

"Yes," said Mr. Fairweather, "I have been in the business really from boyhood days, whilst the firm of J. & J. Lugsdin rank among the best known and most reliable of Toronto furriers. It is not simply a case of buying furs and selling them again, as one might buy one of a thousand articles and put them into stock in a store. We are manufacturers. We go direct to the trappers and buy the skins from them, and from these manufacture our own garments, and can therefore speak with knowledge of quality and material and character of workmanship."

"There is a difference," said Mr. Fairweather, "in buying garments that are simply made up to sell and buying those into which the skill of the experienced furrier has entered. Expert knowledge is required to know the different qualities of furs, and this is why, despite the growth of business in the ready-made way in other lines, the trade of the furrier goes on increasing. There is too much money to be invested in a seal jacket, for example, to buy at chance. Besides, the lady who buys an article of fur, like buying a piece of jewellery, wants to know just what she has bought, and feels like consulting those who have experience in the work."

The new premises of J. & J. Lugsdin, which were taken possession of by the firm at the close of last year are situated conveniently on Yonge street, immediately next door to Ryrie Bros., fine jewellers, and are not only large and roomy, but handsomely fitted up. The elegant in furs, and apparently everything in furs, would seem to be seen in these showrooms.

Mr. Fairweather reports trade opening out much earlier this season, and business during Exhibition week to have been especially satisfactory."

The same remarks as to trade prospects apply equally well to the business of Messrs. Fairweather & Co. in Peterborough. The local firm is prepared for a large trade, and the splendid new catalogue they are issuing will be looked for with impatience by those interested in first-class fur goods.

Boils, pimples, and eruptions, scrofula, salt rheum and all other manifestations of impure blood, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MR. TREVOR KINCAID IS WINNING RENOWN.

AN OLD PETERBOROUGH BOY ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST NATURALISTS.

He is in Constant Communication With all the Great Naturalists of the Day and Although but Twenty one Years of Age, has Made Great Discoveries.

Mr. Edwin Stephen Meany writes to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer concerning the career of Trevor Kincaid, son of Dr. Kincaid, formerly of Peterborough, and a nephew of Mr. John Kincaid, Harvey street. Trevor's many friends in town will read with interest the following account of his researches, which are winning for him such a name amongst the prominent naturalists of the world :

Every intelligent being possesses a love of nature, which is developed in some to a much greater degree than in others. It remains for a very few, however, to trace nature through her various windings to her most concealed recesses. He who undertakes this task in the present day of socialization must needs divide his great undertaking and devote his life to investigations in one of nature's fields. He does not need to abandon his love or interest in the other fields of nature. From his increased strength and experience he may even lend a helping hand to the workers in the other fields, but his greatest measure of success comes from the persistent effort in the one chosen field. Such is the present day naturalist, and it is of such an one that these few paragraphs are being written.

TREVOR CHARLES DIGBY KINCAID

is a born naturalist, who is developing so rapidly along the lines most appreciated by the science of to-day that although his years are few and he is still pursuing the work of an under-graduate in the University of Washington, his name is already known favourably in more than one country of the civilized world.

He is the most modest and retiring young man I know, and it has taken three years of companionship to glean the few facts I know of his work, his methods and his successes. I value his friendship, and I would therefore not write so much about him personally if he were not at this moment far away on the Pribilof islands, with kindred spirits, engaged on work of science.

Kincaid is a native of Canada, and his mother has told me of two incidents of his Canadian boyhood that indicate something of his ceaseless energy now being directed into important channels. There were three brothers at home. One of them was not disposed to personal exertion, and was most frequently found enacting the role of captain. The boys and their companions were one day engaged in building a running track. The mother offered some prizes for the first races. The captain sat on a large rock and directed the work, Trevor and the other brother worked like Trojans on the track. When the track was done the captain, fresh from his seat of authority, came out upon the track and proceeded to win every prize from the others, tired out by their labours.

The mother then bought her boys a printing press and some type. The captain again showed his authority, for he at once became the editor of the proposed paper. Young Trevor became typesetter, because he kept everlastingly at whatever he undertook, and the other brother ran the press. As the years have rolled on the editor has become a pharmaceutical chemist, the pressman has become a mechanic, and Trevor, the boy typesetter, has become an entomologist.

ABOUT SEVEN YEARS AGO

the family removed to Olympia. Trevor, the youngest, was the only one of the boys to come to the new home on Puget Sound. He had long been interested in the objects of nature, and very soon discovered that he had been transplanted into a field rich with all kinds of things new to his experience. He developed into such a vigorous collector that the people of Olympia even now never tire of telling of his youthful labours. At the last session of the State Teachers' Association Mr. and Mrs. Brintnall, of Olympia, told me of two interesting anecdotes. A prominent citizen of Olympia once engaged young Kincaid in conversation about his favourite bug: when the boy informed the man that a certain species of ants kept a species of beetle in their nest to act as a scavenger. The man seeming incredulous was invited by the boy on an excursion of investigation. The invitation was accepted, and the boy promptly led the way to a large ant's nest. Dropping on his hands and knees he began digging with his hands and was soon covered with the rebellious ants.

"Don't they bite you, Trevor?" asked the man.

"Oh, yes," replied the boy heedlessly, as he plunged into the mysteries of the nest.

"Why don't you get a shovel?"

"Oh, I don't mind their bites very much. A little formic acid. It is good for rheumatism."

The man was convinced, the boy triumphed, and Olympia's history was enriched by another interesting incident.

Mrs. Brintnall says that last spring one of the Olympia boys asked Zoe Kincaid when her brother was coming home. The reply was not very definite for most folks, but

IT WAS CHARACTERISTIC :

"I am to watch for a certain plant on the bank of the river, near a big rock. When the plant is in bloom Trevor will come home, for there are lots of bugs that visit the blossoms of that plant."

Soon after arriving in Olympia, Trevor got possession of an old microscope. He made his own slides of window glass, collected balsam from the native fir trees and began the student of insect morphology. He joined a society of young workers who pursued a novel plan. One member would write out an article giving particulars of his work, and putting it into a cambric bag mail it to the nearest member, who would read it, make notes, and forward it to the next, until it had passed to every young member in different parts of the country, when it would finally lodge at headquarters for preservation.

The young man soon learned who were the experts in the different groups of insects, and promptly began sending the strange specimens from Puget sound. He needed thin layers of cork to put in the collecting and mailing boxes. He could not always afford the cork, so he contrived an ingenious substitute by collecting the pith of elder branches. Splitting this pith and glueing the half round strips into the box, the result was neat and perfectly satisfactory.

As one evidence of his success it is only necessary to say that he discovered twenty-seven new species of saw flies. He sent off one bottle containing 100 spiders. The expert made the inspiring return that fifty of the spiders were discoveries new to science. Other groups of the insect world yielded him further discoveries, and soon there were a large number of different insects bearing the name of Kincaidii in honour of the young investigator. The experts did not realize the youthfulness of their correspondent, and he began to receive letters addressed to him as "Professor," and better still, the experts began to send him of their books and monographs, until now nearly every mail brings him something of value from the members of that large group of workers for the advancement of the world's knowledge, who are generally designated by the common title of scientists.

Realizing that he needed more general education, young Kincaid came to Seattle to attend the University of Washington. He had very little money. His first year here was one of trial and some suffering. His extreme modesty prevented his letting his few friends know anything of his needs. He found a room free of rent in old "North Hall," on the old university grounds, and prowling around found a cast-away bedstead, across which, in lieu of a mattress, he stretched some boards, and on these he slept. Charles L. Denny, of the Young Naturalists' Society, learning of Kincaid's quiet struggles, persuaded the young man to go to his home, and he soon became as one of the family. Prof. Charles Hill, of the department of biology, discovered the young man's worth and persuaded the Board of Regents to hire him as laboratory assistant, and from that moment Kincaid's future was secure, for he was placed in a position to permit his beloved science to afford him work, pleasure and a livelihood.

During the summer of 1895 the Young Naturalists' Society undertook a dredging expedition near Port Orchard, during which it was discovered that Kincaid was thoroughly wide-awake in branches of natural history other than entomology. This expedition was followed by another in the summer of 1896. During the intervening winter he had read about the experiments of who had found that epsom salts acted on sea life the same as opium on land life, putting the animals to sleep and then to death. Following up these hints and experiments on his own account with formalin, he obtained some remarkable results. For the first time the delicate forms of jelly fishes were preserved, sea anemones and cucumbers were preserved with their tentacles all expanded, worms were preserved perfectly for subsequent study in the laboratory, star fishes were cured in splendid form without the usual repulsive odors. Many other important results flowed from that summer's work.

Prof. D'Arcy Thompson, the British Commissioner to investigate with President David Starr Jordan the life and condition of the fur seals, saw the work Kincaid was doing and offered him a position similar to the one he had here if he would go with him to the University of Dundee, Scotland. Some of the representatives of Columbia University, New York, also were surprised at the character of Kincaid's work, and he was invited there under favourable terms. Prof. Kellogg, of Stanford University, was about to sail for a vacation in Europe and Kincaid was invited to go to Stanford as curator of entomology at an increase of salary. The board of regents of the University of Washington saw their way clear to keep him here, and he again plunged still more deeply into the mysteries of the Puget sound fauna and flora.

This summer he was at work in Olympia collecting insects and plants when he received an invitation from to go with him as a voluntary assistant to the Pribilof islands. In this connection I am reminded of another characteristic incident. President Jordan in his lecture on the fur seal on July 7 last, showed among other fine illustrations a field of beautiful flowers. After the lecture he jokingly told Kincaid that he would find on those islands just two beetles and one butterfly.

"Well, we will need many specimens of those," was the only reply.

In walking from the theatre Kincaid remarked in his quiet way "That is too thin. It is impossible for all those flowers to exist without lots of bugs." Thus he makes of botany a hand-maiden for his favourite entomology.

Many specimens of plants, birds, animals, fishes and insects have been discovered in Washington territory and state from time to time, but, for lack of literature, hardly any of them have been described or named by local naturalists. They have always been sent away to experts, the only credit coming to the discoverer being that usually given to the collector. So far as insects are concerned a new departure has been taken by Kincaid. The Entomological News for June, 1897, publishes an article by him on the psychodidae of Washington, in which there are described and named three new species of flies heretofore unknown to science. One species is called Psychoda Pacifica; another, Psychoda Elegans; the third, Psychoda Olympia. The last name was chosen in honour of the capital city of the state where Mr. Kincaid obtained the first specimens of this new species. The descriptions are very technical and cover every minute characteristic. Over a page of printed matter is given in addition to the descriptions, showing a most careful microscopic study of the little flies. The article was prepared only for scientists. Its publication in the above-named journal stamps it with authority, as that is the official publication of the entomological section of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, and is accepted by entomologists as the best paper on the subject in America.

MR. KINCAID'S FRIENDS

are very proud of his achievements, and the Young Naturalists' Society of Seatle at its last meeting passed a vote of congratulations upon the appearance of the publication above referred to.

Just before leaving for the seal islands Mr. Kincaid received a letter from Albert P. Morse, of the zoological laboratory of Wellesley College, and another from Prof. W. A. Herdman, F. R. S., of University College, Liverpool, both of whom asked him to direct them to the best collecting grounds in the State of Washington. The former wants insects, the latter holothurians, nudibranchs and tunicates.

For four years Kincaid collected with other specimens, a quantity of Washington bees, but he was too much occupied to classify them. He finally entered into correspondence with the American bee expert, Theodore D. A Cockerell, now of Mesilla, N. M. That gentleman informed him that he had about a month's time on hand, and would gladly name his bees. Kincaid promptly sent him the accumulated bees, about 1300 specimens. Mr. Cockerell was evidently surprised, for when he had worked up one box he sent it back with this underscored injunction—"Don't send me any more bees until I ask for them, as I have now more than I can handle for a long time to come.

The boxes contained twenty-two species of the genus Osmiae, of which thirteen are new to science. One he named Kincaidii, another Trevoris, both in honour of the discoverer; another he named Pascoensis, in honour of the place of its discovery. Colorado is the only other place in the Union with so many Osmiae recorded from it, and there are but twenty-five recorded from that state, so Washington is a close second.

Mr. Cockerell then proceeds to send Kincaid some literature and instructions so that he can begin himself to work and classify the bee fauna of Washington.

It is always a treat to watch Kincaid rush from the University out into the campus with his big net, and once in a long time to follow him, for he soon tires the green hand. Then to follow him into the laboratories and watch him at work over the roaring cases where he studies the different stages from the egg through its various metamorphoses to the egg again. Verily, so far as insects are concerned, he is tracing nature through her various windings to her most concealed recesses.

TWENTY-FIVE LIVES LOST.

The Most Disastrous Railway Wreck That Ever Happened in the State of Colorado.

Denver, Col., Sept. 10.—A head end collision occurred at 1 o'clock this morning a mile west of Newcastle, Col., between a Denver and Rio Grande passenger-train and a freight of the Colorado Mid. Details of the wreck are very hard to obtain. It is known that A. Hartman, wife and two children of Harsher, Ill., are among the dead. Engineer Gordon of the passenger train, R. H. Beckley, postal clerk, and Robert Howlett, passenger fireman, are fatally injured. Engineer Ostrander and Fireman Sutliffe of the freight are missing and are believed to be buried in the wreck.

The following are injured: Pearl Corness, leg broken; John H. Standard, Blackfoot, Idaho, badly cut and bruised; J. H. Sheet, badly cut; Charles Lepper, badly bruised.

So thoroughly are the trains demolished that but few of those caught escaped alive, those not killed by the shock of the collision being burned to death in the ruins of the cars.

A Rio Grande special has arrived from Glenwood, bringing a doctor and comforts for the wounded.

The wreck occurred on what is called the Rio Grande Junction Road. This runs from Newcastle to Grand Junction. It belongs jointly to the Denver and Rio Grande and the Colorado Midland, being used by both roads.

Two cars of stock were completely demolished and the right of way is strewn with dead stock and debris.

Conductor Burbank's explanation of the wreck is that, in looking at the passenger's leaving time since, on the card, he looked at the wrong column of figures.

Two Italians were caught in the act of robbing a trunk, and were placed under arrest.

Latest information from the wreck makes it almost certain that 25 persons are dead and a dozen badly injured, fully half of whom will die.

Whole Family Killed

Newcastle, Col., Sept. 10.—Alexander Hartman of Harsher, Ill., has both legs broken and cannot live. His wife and two children were the first of the dead to be removed from the wreckage.

T. F. Daniels, the passenger brakeman, who was unhurt, came back to this place and notified the railway officials of the accident. A special train was sent out with physicians and nurses, and a relief train started from Glenwood Springs. The express car and its contents of the wrecked passenger train was entirely consumed by fire.

Frank P. Mannix, editor of The Victor-Record, was a passenger on the Denver & Rio Grande train. He is of the opinion that at least forty are dead and burned.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

ENGLAND TO FINISH THE JOB.

Panama Canal Construction Work Passes from French to British Hands and Washington is Excited.

New York, Sept. 9.—A special to The World from Colon, Colombia, says it is announced that a concession for the purpose of completing the Panama Canal has been granted to England.

New York, Sept. 9.—A despatch to The World from Washington says: The World's special cable advice from Colon, to the effect that the franchise heretofore held by a French company for the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Panama has been transferred to the Government of Great Britain, has created a sensation here.

Officials and those closely interested in the Nicaraguan canal project frankly admit that, if this transference has really been done, it will effectually prevent the United States from controlling the proposed great inter-oceanic waterway and render the building of the Nicaraguan canal useless. At the same time it is not generally believed here that the concession held by the French company has been transferred to the Government of Great Britain. It is considered possible that an English company has purchased the rights of the French company, and may continue the work now in progress, but that the British Government has assumed control of the project is not credited.

The concession originally granted by the United States of Colombia for the construction of the isthmian canal to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans to De Lesseps and his syndicate of French capitalists, subsequently passed into the hands of another French company.

Notwithstanding all the scandals and difficulties connected with the work much headway has recently been made. A force of two or three thousand men has been steadily employed. But the uncertainty of final success has proved a perpetual source of discouragement, and the concession of the French company has for some time been offered for sale. The United States and other Governments have had an opportunity of purchasing it and continuing the work.

Civil engineers and those familiar with canal construction are not of the opinion that a company of English capitalists would meet with better success than their French predecessors. The only source of worriment lies in the possibility that the concession has passed under the control of the British Government, in which event unlimited capital and engineering science might obviate existing difficulties. This would prevent any further efforts towards building the Nicaraguan canal.

DR. ELLIS WILL TESTIFY.

The Toronto Analyst Will Be on the Stand To-Day in the Sternaman Case.

Cayuga, Ont., Sept. 9.—The Sternaman case will be of greater interest tomorrow than heretofore. Dr. Ellis, Government analyst, of Toronto, will testify as to the presence of arsenic found in the body. Dr. Ellis arrived in Cayuga this evening.

Source of Heat In the Body.

An important source of heat in the body is due to the friction of the blood as it circulates in its vessels. All of this resistance, which is overcome by the heart, is transformed directly into heat. We may calculate the amount approximately. It is supposed that .6192 kilogram meters of blood is expelled from the left ventricle at each stroke, and at 72 strokes a minute this would give 44.8124 kilogram meters per minute. If we suppose that the right heart does one-quarter the work of the left, or about 10 kilogram meters per minute, we have for the total work per minute 54.812 kilogram meters, which corresponds to 128 calories per minute.

This is perhaps a rather high estimate for ordinary conditions, but where the heart is forced to pump a much larger quantity of blood in order to maintain the normal temperature this estimate is probably much exceeded at times. Since this friction takes place largely in the most constricted portions of the circulation, it would be natural to expect that the blood which had been driven through the capillary system of a gland would issue much warmer than it entered, and such we find to be the case. Thus the blood of the hepatic vein has been observed to be 40.78, while that in the right heart was 37.7. In the muscles no contraction can take place without an increased flow of blood through them, with a simultaneous constriction of the capillaries, which would naturally give grise to a considerable production of heat, a fact constantly observed.—Sanitarian.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

One's physical feelings, like the faithful setter, search and point out plainly the fact of disease or health.

If a man is not feeling well and vigorous—if he is losing flesh and vitality, if he is listless, nervous, sleepless, he certainly is not well. The down hill road from health to sickness is smooth and declines rapidly.

At the first intimation of disease, the wise man takes a pure, simple vegetable tonic. It puts his digestion into good active order and that puts the rest of his body in order. The medicine that will do this is a medicine that is good to take in any trouble of the blood, the digestion, or the respiration, no matter how serious it may have become.

The medicine to take is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a remarkable remedy. It cures diseases in a perfectly natural way, without the use of strong drugs. It cures by helping Nature. It has a peculiar tonic effect on the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels. By putting these membranes into healthy condition, stimulating the secretion of the various digestive juices and furnishing to the blood the proper purifying properties, it reaches out over the whole body and drives disease-germs before it into the usual excretory channels. It builds up firm muscular flesh, makes the skin and the eyes bright.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been found wonderfully efficacious in the treatment of skin diseases—eczema, tetter, erysipelas, salt rheum—from common pimples or blotches to the worst case of scrofula.

HORSES AND HORSEMEN.

Castleton, by Wilton, has reduced his record to 2:10¼.

Milton S, 2:08¼, is a 4-year-old. As a 2-year-old he took a record of 2:24¼.

It is stated that at the Detroit meeting an offer of $10,000 was refused for Ellores.

Princeway, a full brother to Derby Princess, recently showed a mile for John Splan in 2:16.

Axwood, by Axtell, recently trotted a mile in 2:20. He is owned by Mr. Cyrus Motter, Marion, Ind.

Creole, 2:15, the sire of Monroe Salisbury's fast pacing mare Javelin, 2:08¼, is owned in Honolulu.

Luxon, 2:11¼, is a horse standing about 15.2 hands and is said to be an ungainly appearing animal.

George Starr's Director colt, for which he paid $4,500, is reported to be lame and has been turned out.

Joe Pilot, a green 4-year-old, recently showed three miles in 2:16, 2:18¾, 2:15, over the Indianapolis track.

The New Jersey horse Legene, 2:14¼, is proving himself one of the best half mile track campaigners of the year.

AS a laxative, one pill acts perfectly, and if a stronger action is desired a cathartic effect is produced by two pills. In obstinate cases, where a purgative is necessary, three pills will be found sufficient. These pills leave no unpleasant after effect.

One pill taken each night during thirty days will cure constipation.

WHEN SPRINGTIME COMES.

When springtime strews my path
With sunshine and with flowers,
With what anxiety I watch
The passing of the hours.
'Tis then my daughter gets a hat
To match the time of year;
My son gets a brand new wheel,
With most expensive gear;
My wife she gets malaria,
And entertains the chills,
While her husband gets the doctor,
And also gets the bills.

HOW HE WON HER.

Truly All Things Are Yet Fair to Love and Lovers.

"No, Jack, I cannot be your wife."

The tone in which sweet Kittie Charmynge uttered the above sad and solemn verblage was replete with firmness and finality. It was plainly evident to the most superficial observer that she had issued an ultimatum and that she had secretly harbored no intention whatever of making a single alteration or amendment to the purpose of her stern decree. What mattered it if the fond heart palpitating so incessantly beneath its snow-white covering did become a fitting candidate for the repair shop because of this uncompromising determination? What mattered it if the future did lume up before her mind's eye painted o'er with dark and sombre colors? In short, what mattered it if she did love the man who had just asked her to be his? Such trifles as these were not to be considered for a moment when placed in juxtaposition with that high ideatic principle which had become the guiding star of her life from the very moment when she had read the first line of her first love story years ago. No, Kitty Charmynge was not the girl to sacrifice a sacred tenet for a mere craving of the flesh, and when the crucial hour had come she hesitated not a second to immolate her happiness on the altar of principle.

To the young man kneeling before her the words came as the death knell of cherished hopes. Only a few brief minutes had sprinkled their own ashes on the towering ash heap of the past since he had felt his bosom swell with tumultuous joy at the bright dreams of future bliss. Now all those phantom pictures had vanished, and life had suddenly become a drear and worthless waste.

He slowly arose, and turned to her a haggard face, on which the grim goddess of despair and set her seal.

"You have pronounced my sentence, Miss Charmynge," he said in broken accents, "and I will not ask you to revoke it, for I feel that such an appeal would be useless. But won't you tell me before we part, perhaps forever, why it is that you refuse me?"

"Certainly I will, Jack," responded the happy girl. "It is for the simple reason that I vowed years ago to wed none but a man who was brave and clever. I consider it my duty to remain true to my solemn vow."

A gleam of hope shot athwart his sorrow-laden soul.

"But surely you have not forgotten," he cried, "how I saved you from drowning when our boat upset last summer?"

Her sweet face grew strangely white as she recalled this circumstance, and the sublime heorism that the man before her had then displayed.

"No," she replied slowly and painfully, "I have not forgotten. That deed of yours was a truly brave one, Jack; but it was by no means what I would call clever."

He moved a step nearer the lovely maid, then bent his head and whispered in a low, ecstatic tone:

"But I upset the boat on purpose!"

"Jack! My darling!"

DEATH'S COLD SWEAT.

Stood out in Great Beads upon His Face—A Victim of Heart Disease Snatched from the Grave by the Prompt Use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—Relief in all Cases in 30 Minutes.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart positively gives relief within 30 minutes after the first dose is taken. James J. Whitney, of Williamsport, Pa., says:—"Cold sweat would stand out in great beads upon my face, and I indeed thought that my end had come. But relief was found in Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. After using it for a short time I feel now that the trouble is altogether removed." Its effects are magical. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The Antiquity of the Thimble.

Somebody wrote: "To the Dutch the ladies of all nations are indebted for the invention of the thimble. The Dutch achieved this great invention about the year 1690."

How can this stupid error have arisen? The thimble is probably prehistoric. Thimbles in some form or other must have been used by the women who executed the rich embroideries of the mediæval time. The late Professor J. E. Thorold Rogers, in his "History of Agriculture and Prices In England," mentions, under the year 1494, one dozen thimbles which cost 4 shillings. What is, however, more to the purpose, they are frequently alluded to by our old dramatists. Here are two examples from the greatest of them.

In "The Taming of the Shrew" Grumio says:

"I commanded the sleeves should be cut out and sewed up again, and that I'll prove upon thee, though thy little finger be armed in a thimble."—IV, 3, 149.

In the early days of the civil war between Charles I and the parliament, when the citizens of London were called on to send in their plate to be coined into money, the royalist jesters made fun of the puritan dames who were said to have given even their silver thimbles to the cause.—Notes and Queries.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

Mrs. T S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent 399 George Street.

THE DESERTER.

You must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear,
For I understand that you're about to start housecleaning here;
That you're going to rip things up, mother, that there'll be the deuce to pay;
So I want to get out of the way, mother, I want to get out of the way!

I sleep so sound all night, mother, that I shall never wake
If you don't come in and call me ere the things begin to break,
Oh, I know how you will work, mother, and the things that pa will say;
So I want to be far away mother I want to be in, away!

I know how pa will kick when things are all turned upside down;
Oh, a crosser man than he will not be abroad in all the town!
You know how he will "balance all," and do the grand "sashay,"
Oh, I want to get out of the way, mother I want to get out of the way!

So you must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear,
For I know that you will just raise Ned when you get a-going here!
To-morrow'll be of all the year the maddest worst old day,
And I want to get out of the way, mother—I want to get out of the way!

COULDN'T GO NEAR THE STOVE.

Treated by Different Doctors.

CURED BY DR. CHASE.

The most intractable and distressing skin diseases which defy all manner of treatment—even the best medical skill—are readily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

MRS. JOS. QUERIN, hotelkeeper's wife, at Ethel, Ont., was troubled with Eczema of the Head and Face for about 9 years, and was so bad at times she could not go near the hot stove to do her cooking. Her head was one mass of scabs, and although she treated with doctors it kept getting worse. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment, she got some, and was delighted to find the first application do her good. She used two more boxes of the Ointment, is now free from disease, can do her own cooking, and would not begrudge $200 for the good it has done her.

Price 60 cents a box, at all Dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Bright's Disease.

He is now a cured man, feeling strong, well and in good spirits.

AN EXCITING RACE

Between the Steamers Majestic and Sunbeam During the Week

On Labour Day an exciting race took place between the steamers Sunbeam and Majestic from Three Islands to Young's Point. The Lakefield News says that the Sunbeam left the dock a few minutes before the Majestic, she having the Foresters' excursion on board, while the Majestic had quite a number going up the lakes. At Moody's Island both boats were alongside each other, and from there to the Point it was neck and neck. When the Sunbeam would strike a shallow place it would stop her speed quite a bit, but in deep water the Sunbeam would make up up what was lost. When the boats struck the wharf they were both about even, but the Sunbeam slowed down and allowed the Majestic to pass, as both boats could not lock through at once. The speed of the Sunbeam was a surprise to all on board both boats, as nobody thought she could come near the Majestic, which is a fast boat and built for speed. The proprietors of the Sunbeam intend strengthening the boat this winter, as she is not now able to put full power on. Next season see will be able to run faster than ever.

THE OLD SYSTEM GONE.

Better and Easier Work Done by Diamond Dyes.

The dyeing of cotton rags for the making of carpets, mats and rugs was for a long time a tedious, difficult and unsatisfactory operation owing to the crude and old fashioned dyestuffs that home dyers were obliged to use.

Of late years all this has been changed for the advantage and benefit of every home. Science has given the world the Diamond Dyes that have brought joy and comfort to millions of housewives.

The makers of the celebrated Diamond Dyes prepare special cotton colours such as Fast Pink, Fast Orange, Fast Purple, Fast Garnet, Fast Navy Blue, Fast Crimson, Fast Seal Brown, Fast Yellow, Fast Scarlet, Fast Cardinal, Fast Black and other colours that are unfading in washing and fast in rain or sun. No other dyes in the world can give such wonderful results on cotton goods, and no others but the Diamond Dyes are fully guaranteed.

Horse Thieves in Lindsay.

On Wednesday evening last, says the Lindsay Post, a horse belonging to Mr. Chas. Christian was deliberately stolen from the stable of Mr. Richard Vanstone, who lives a little north of the sand pits, and employed as night watchman at Robson's tannery. In the afternoon Mr. Christian drove in from his home at Glenarm, met Mr. Vanstone at his residence and drove to the G.P.R. station. Mr. Christian left on the evening train for Toronto, giving Mr. Vanstone charge of the horse during his absence. The next morning when he went to feed the horse he discovered that it was gone, along with its halter; the carriage and other articles were left untouched. He immediately sent word to Glenarm to enquire if it had broken loose during the night and went home, but no trace of the horse had been seen. It answers to the following description: Bay mare, well bred, weighing about 850 pounds and four years old, with one front shoe off.

THIS HITS LUETGERT HARD.

Prof. Delafontaine Identified Several Bits of Bone, and swore Positively That They Were Human

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Shortly before the Luetgert trial opened two muscular officers brought in the dry-goods box, with its gruesome contents of bone, flesh, slime and reeking canvas, by examination of which the expert witnesses for the State were expected to establish both the possibility and the fact of a human body having been disintegrated in the long wooden vat in the basement of the sausage factory.

Prof. Delafontaine, whose examination was begun yesterday, was the first witness placed on the stand by the State. The witness identified several bits of bone which he had received from Inspector Schaack, asserting that the particles were taken from the slime which was designated as being the residue taken from the sluice leading from the vat. After a few minutes of questioning, the witness positively identified the bits of bone as human, asserting that they were portions of joints from fingers and toes. This is one of the most important facts which the State expected to establish.

There was considerable progress in the Luetgert trial to-day, particularly during the afternoon session. The day was devoted to hearing expert testimony. It was shown that matter collected in the crevice of the pocket knife given by Luetgert to his former sweetheart, Mrs. Feldt, on the evening of his arrest, consisted of blood and particles of muscular tissue. One fact the State continuously attempted to establish, namely, that the particles, bones and flesh and organic matter taken from the vat and connecting sluice, had at one time been portions of a human body, but though their experts readily assented to the proposition that the stuff resembled the flesh and bone of the human animal, they refused to deny, upon cross-examination, that they bore an equal resemblance to the flesh and bone of any other warm-blooded animal who eats similar food.

The three experts who testified were Prof. Mark Delafontaine, teacher of chemistry in a Chicago High school; Prof. Walter S. Haines, professor of chemistry in the Rush Medical College, and Georgia Vincent Bailey, ostologist of the Field Columbian Museum.

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS

Afflicting a Whole Family. Speedily Cured by CUTICURA.

Statements Sworn to Before the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

My wife had appear on her limbs, just above the ankles, five small pimples that began to enlarge, and soon developed into eating ulcers of the indolent type, which, despite all remedies and our efforts to cure them, grew worse and worse, and at the end of three months had become very bad, two of them having eaten to the bone. At that time we began to use CUTICURA remedies, and with two bottles of RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, they were cured sound and well in about two months. The scars are there to-day as living witnesses of the severity and extent of the ulcers.

I also was afflicted the same winter with papular rash, from which I could not rest day or night. My skin became in a very bad fix when I began using CUTICURA remedies. I used them for about one month and was cured.

My little baby girl, when about ten months old, was afflicted with Eczema, her limbs from her knees down were one solid sore from which she suffered greatly. We tried several remedies which only aggravated them, before we began the use of the CUTICURA remedies, in which case there was a complete cure with no return of the disease.

Clubbed by a Woman.

Pittsburg, Sept. 10.—Two miners named John Hogan and Murray Sutton, employed by the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Company, attempted to interfere with a squad of women, wives of strikers, who were marching to-day at Plum Creek. Hogan tried to oust Annie Fiela, the leader, off the road, when she knocked him down with a club, inflicting a painful wound on the head. The women then continued their march. A short time later a body of strikers were stopped near Centre by a party of deputies and ordered back to camp. Rudolph Lizy, who was leading the marchers, refused to stop and was arrested. Three others were also arrested. The marchers finally turned back, and the four men under arrest were sent to Pittsburg Jail.

Miners still Talking.

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—The miners are still talking in national convention about a settlement of the strike, although every proposition made by the officers who have proposed the settlement has been promptly resolved.

A prominent man, one who has been instrumental in raising a large amount of aid for the starving miners in Ohio, says the convention had better accept the proposition, as it would in the future be almost an impossibility to secure further contributions.

Making Antiques.

In a case before a London magistrate the question was as to the ownership of some antique ormolu articles, and two workmen, who stoutly claimed the articles, said that they "made" them. To prove their assertion they set to work in court and showed how ormolu was made "antique" with pumice powder.

Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 3 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. THE TRICKY MULLAH

Inciting His Followers by Distorting the Ameer's Book.

APPEALS TO NATIVE FANATICISM

They are Promised All Manner of Privileges in the Next World if They Die Fighting the "Infidels"—British Posts in Danger of Attack—Bravery of Sepoys.

Peshawur, Punjab, Sept. 11.—The general impression on the frontier that the upheaval is owing to the native belief in the sacredness of the ground, which is due to tribal antipathy to the occupation of the Swat Valley by the British forces, has started up the so-called Mad Mullah, or fanatical priest, into distorting the meaning of the book of the Ameer of Afghanistan on the jehad, or holy war, from which the Mullah has suggestively circulated the following:

When you meet a party of infidels, stand firm. When you meet unbelievers marching in great numbers against you, turn not your backs upon them, for whoso shall turn his back under them, that day unless he turneth aside to fight or retreat to another party of the faithful, shall draw on himself the indignation of God, and his abode shall be in hell.

The book of the Ameer is a small quarto, less than half an inch thick, and bound in rough, dead-gold boards. The sheets are printed from engraved plates, compiled under the Ameer's direction by two Moulvies, Mirma Hammed and Aziz Khan, a sergeant-major, and Abdul Razzak of Delni. It is written partly in Arabic and partly in Persian, and is divided into a preface, three dissertations and a peroration. The first dissertation explains that a jehad may be performed by a few individuals in behalf of a whole community. But it is added if the Mohammedans are hemmed in on all sides by idolators the jehad is obligatory on all who are ordered to fight, so long as the infidels are not reduced to submission. Those who are slaying, those who return, those who leave home for the purpose of the jehad and die otherwise than in battle, enjoy six privileges—all their sins will be forgiven; they are exempted from punishment in the grave; they are freed from the anxieties of the judgment day; they are crowned with a diadem of glory; they are married to 70 black eyed houris, and the intercession for 70 of their relatives is granted.

The second dissertation explains that it is obligatory on Mohammedans to appoint an adult male Mohammedan, of free condition, and intelligent, to be the ruler and guardian of the faith, and a protector of the people, who will have three duties—to exterminate renegades, atheists, innovators, rebels, traitors and thieves; to acquire diplomatic qualifications and to cultivate intellect, bravery and generosity, and be kind as the guardian of the subjects. The latter, besides rendering loyalty, are particularly ordered not to criticize their rulers' dress or outward appearance. The third dissertation is a detailed refutation of the heterodoxy of the Wahabis.

Several Moulvies append their seals or signatures to the work, in the shape of the tree of Afghanistan, and the Ameer, Abdurrahman Khan, also signs his name to it.

It is expected that the Mohamends will make but little opposition to the columns of troops under Gens. Elles and Blood, which are advancing from either end of their country, but that they will attempt to fly to Laipera, in Afghanistan. Events must thus force the Ameer's hand. If the Mohamends are taken in the rear by his forces their punishment will be heavy and the effect will be immediate.

The unexpected instructions sent to Gen. Elles, to delay the advance, for political reasons, for 48 hours, of his column from Shabkadr, are thought possibly to be because the Mohamends have already submitted without fighting.

The enthusiasm of the Imperial service troops from the various native princes is immense, and the news that Gen. Lockhardt, the well-known Indian fighter, is coming to the front, has already had an electrical effect upon the tribes.

The centre of the insurrectionary activity is now on the Samana range, where the British have a number of posts, which are liable to be attacked at any moment. Their garrisons have been having an anxious time recently, owing to the shortage of their supplies and the news received to-day that a column of troops under Gen. Yeatman-Biggs, from Hangu has succeeded in penetrating into the Samana territory and has replenished the supplies of the outlying posts without fighting, has caused considerable satisfaction.

Details of a severe attack upon Fort Cavagnari have arrived here from Fort Lockhardt. The fighting began at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Sept. 3, when the enemy crept close to the fort under cover and within a few yards of the barricade around the fence. The main body of the enemy then opened a heavy fire on the place at 200 yards range, while others of the attacking party set fire to the outbuildings and then set fire to the thorn hedge, which had been placed there to prevent the enemy's rushes. Six Sepoys of the garrison immediately volunteered to make an attempt to extinguish the fire, and they ran out, in broad daylight, under a hail of bullets, and quenched the flames.

It was then discovered that fire had broken out in another place, and the same six men gallantly sallied out once more and extinguished the second fire. Four Sikhs arrived at Cavagnar from Fort Lockhardt. A furious onslaught of the tribesmen continued until midnight, masses of the enemy approaching the place, yelling and waving flags, but when bonfires were lighted they seemed disinclined to charge home, and were repulsed at every point with heavy losses.

Col. Houghton returned to Fort Lockhardt with the Sikhs on the following day, and the enemy renewed the attack the same evening. But upon this occasion the tribesmen were easily repulsed, as, in spite of the fact that they numbered many thousands and displayed eight standards, they lost their courage at close quarters, and finally withdrew on Sept. 5, when a heavy rain began to fall. The defences of Fort Cavagnari have now been strengthened.

Runners who have reached Hangu from Fort Gulistan have brought the news that the Afrid-Lashkars, with 14 standards, have arrived in the Klangdoockhanki Valley, below Fort Gulistan, and that they have been joined by the Orakzai-Lashkars, making a formidable force, headed by the famous Mullah of Saidakha.

Spies report that they intend to make a general attack upon the Samana forts, but they may threaten Hangu. The British authorities hope this is true, as both places are now well prepared to deliver a crushing defeat.

THE BONES ARE HUMAN.

Evidence at the Luetgert Trial on Saturday Was Pretty Strong Against the Prisoner.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—Five bones from the Luetgert sausage vat were identified to-day as parts of a human body, and were added to the chain of circumstances which the prosecution believes will show beyond reasonable doubt that a human body was destroyed in the vat on the night of May 1. The five bones identified were part of a third rib, a part of the humerus, the great bone of the arm, a bone from the palm of the hand and a bone from the fourth toe of the right foot. The sesamoid bone from the human foot was re-identified.

Two witnesses swore to the identity of the bones, each identifying part, and in one or two instances confirming the other identification. Charles Vincent Bailey, paleontologist at the Field Columbian Museum, and Dr. Robert A. Howes of the Chicago Dental College, an expert osteologist, were the witnesses.

Prof. Bailey identified the metacarpal, phalange, sesamoid and head of the humerus, and Dr. Howes identified the piece of rib, sesamoid, metacarpal and phalange.

The last bone which Mr. Bailey examined and identified was a fragment with one edge as round and hard as a billiard ball, and almost as white. It was full of small holes eaten in it by the alkali. The witness identified the fragment as part of the head of a human humerus, the great bone of the arm.

This bone he also stated had belonged to a small person. The defence, however, thinks the bone shows the marks of a saw, and will try to prove that it is manufactured evidence. Expert Howes, however, refused to identify the bone as part of the humerus. He thought that it might be part of the femur.

Inspector Schack was the last witness of the day, relating scenes at the vat when the liquid was let out and telling of the discovery of the rings. In describing how the alleged rings of Mrs. Luetgert were found, he said:

"I told Officer Dean to jump into the vat. He did so. In the meantime, I took the gunny sacks over to the window and examined them. I found upon them bits of bone. As I was looking at these pieces I heard Dean shout: 'Here are some rings.' I went to the vat and saw he had found two rings which were covered with slime."

SEVEN DEAD—SIX HURT.

Disastrous Wreck on the Iron Mountain Road The Dead Men Were Stealing Transportation.

Vanburen, Ark., Sept. 12.—A most disastrous freight wreck occurred to-day on the Iron Mountain Road at Hanson, a small station 20 miles west of Vanburen, resulting in the death of several men and the serious injury of six others, two of whom will die.

In the middle of the train was a car loaded with heavy machinery, and it was in this car that 13 men were stealing a ride, and from which seven dead and six seriously wounded were taken by the trainmen shortly afterward.

A TERRIBLE AFFAIR

The Deadly Work of Deputies With Winchesters.

TWENTY-ONE CORPSES AT HAZELTON

Several Among the Wounded Expected to Die—Warrants Issued for the Arrest of Sheriff Martin and His Deputies—Columbus Convention Settles the Strike.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 11.—Twenty-one corpses lie to-night in ramshackle frame shanties about this hill-top town. Forty maimed, wounded and broken figures toss on the narrow cots of the Hazelton Hospital. Of these it is almost a certainty that five will be added to the death list before another day dawns. Such was the execution done yesterday afternoon by 102 deputy sheriffs armed to the teeth upon about 150 ignorant foreigners, whose total armament consisted of two little penknives. These facts are undisputed.

Mine foremen who came in contact with the Italians, Hungarians and Poles in the mines are of the opinion that if the strikers in the Hazelton region spoke English there would have been no bloodshed. The trouble was that each side to the conflict yesterday misunderstood the other. Sheriff Martin knew the character of the men he had to deal with. Before he was elected sheriff he was a mine foreman at Mill Creek. Quite a number of Slavs and Poles worked under him, and he was a frequent eye-witness to their fights and brawls. When he heard yesterday morning before the march on Latimer began that the strikers were drinking heavily, he said then to his deputies: "Boys, this means trouble. I know these people."

The owners of the coal properties were also continually at the sheriff's heels. They reminded him that the big breakers were in danger, and that one striker with a match could cause untold damage to property. What the operators impressed on the sheriff was that it was clearly against the law for any armed body of men to mobilize and march. The sheriff took that view of the matter, too, and, although he had no positive information that the marchers were armed, he had reason to believe they were. Acting on his own judgment, he decided to halt the marching column, and, if possible, disperse the strikers.

The situation to-night is intense, as the day was full of events and incidents.

First and foremost the purpose these men had in view when their march received its tragic end was consummated. The 1500 workers at the Latimer mines, to whom they were bound in an effort to induce them to join the strikers' ranks, have laid down their picks and sworn to do no more work until all the demands of the men at all the mines in the district have been conceded.

Next in importance was the issuance of warrants this afternoon for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and the 102 deputies. These were issued at the instance of the United Hungarian Societies. They were made out in the name of Joseph Mahalte, president of the St. George Society, of which nearly all the dead miners were members. Robert P. Ililey, manager of the Anthracite Detective Agency, took charge of the documents, but up to a late hour to-night they had not been executed.

Sheriff Martin, who spent last night at his Wilkes-Barre home under a strong guard, came to Hazelton this morning with the Ninth Regiment of the Third Brigade. His presence in the town was not known until late in the day. Then it was found that he was still under the guardianship of the soldiers and could not be reached.

This afternoon Constables Airey and Gallagher made an effort to arrest A. E. Hess, who led one company of the deputies last night, but he had sought shelter within the military lines kept by the Ninth Regiment, and they refused to permit the constables to pass the guard. The warrants charge murder, assault and battery and threatening to kill.

Throughout the day the city has been given up to excitement, which, by its suppressed character, has been more ominous than turbulence would have been. The incoming of the State troops, which began at an early hour this morning, served to cow the strikers and their sympathizers, and no further demonstration was made than the gathering about street corners of knots of men and women, in muttered but intense discussions of the shooting. To-night there are fully 2500 soldiers camping in town.

WARRANTS ARE OUT

For the Arrest of Sheriff Martin and 102 of His Deputies.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 11.—Warrants were issued this afternoon for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and 102 deputy sheriffs. They were sworn out by the United Hungarian Societies.

The warrants were placed in the hands of Robert P. Riley, manager of the Anthracite Detective Agency. The prosecutor named was Joseph Mahelate, president of the St. George Society, of which most of the dead miners were members. A number of prominent citizens of Hazelton who served as deputies are named in the warrants.

Detective Riley stated that some prominent men of the city have subscribed money to assist in securing evidence against the deputies who fired on the miners.

Mr. Riley also states that some of the dead and wounded were treated brutally while lying on the ground at Latimer. A searching party has been securing the country between Latimer and Harleigh, a distance of two miles, in search of eight miners who have not been accounted for.

CATECHETICALLY PUT.

The subject of preferential trade is very neatly and forcibly dealt with by the Halifax Chronicle in a series of questions and answers:—

"Q.—What was it that sharply drew the attention of the British Government to the incompatibility of the German and Belgian treaties with the fiscal independence of the colonies?

"A.—Canada's preferential tariff.

"Q.—Who enacted that preferential tariff?

"A.—The Liberal Government and Parliament of Canada.

"Q.—Who presented and defended Canada's case and policy in England?

"A.—Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davis.

"Q.—Who backed them up in demanding the denunciation of those obnoxious treaties?

"A.—The Premiers of the other colonies, and notably the free trade Premier of New South Wales. Right Hon. Geo. H. Reid.

"Q.—What effect did their representations have upon the British Government?

"A.—Convinced them that they must either accede to the demands of the colonies and thus give a strong impulse to the dominating idea, unification of the Empire, or chill the loyal aspirations of the colonies and block the wheels of the Imperial unification chariot by allowing those treaties to remain in force. They chose the former course, denounced the treaties, made the colonies fiscally independent in fact as well as in name, and have thus drawn the colonies and mother country into closer commercial and political relations than ever before.

"Q.—To whom should the chief credit of this achievemen be given?

"A.—To the colony, the Government and the party which boldly and courageously inaugurated the preferential tariff policy—to Canada and her Liberal statesmen and Liberal Government and party.

"In point of statesmanship and courageous political policy, as well as in area, population and wealth, Canada thus becomes the leading colony of the empire?

"A.—Undoubtedly so.

"Q.—To what is this policy mainly due?

"A.—To the wise policy of her Liberal statesmen, which not only powerfully and favourably impressed the statesmen of the mother country, but also secured the approval, sympathy and active support of the leading statesmen of the other colonies.

"Q.—Then Canada has a Government composed of statesmen who have the courage of their convictions, and are ready to act with promptness and decision when prompt and courageous action becomes necessary?

"A.—That is the fact, and it gives increased hope for the political and commercial future of 'this Canada of Ours.'"

A SERIES OF POSTS

Between Dyea and the Klondike Region.

THAT IS MAJOR WALSH'S SCHEME

Plenty of Money and Men Will be Necessary to Carry it Out. Mr. Gowler Says—Alaska Travel Falling Off—Steamers Arriving at Juneau—Famine Talk.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—It is said to be Major Walsh's scheme to establish a series of posts 30 miles apart from Dyea to Klondike. Mr. Gowler, who has just returned from two years' residence at Dawson City, says this will be impracticable, unless he has almost unlimited means and any number of men at his disposal. He questions very much whether Major Walsh will be able to get in himself before it freezes up.

Albert Cavalier of Pembina and A. Marion of St. Joseph have left for the Pacific coast to carry mails between Dyea and Klondike by dogs and snowshoes. Marion was with Buffalo Bill in Europe.

KLONDIKE BOAT LOST.

Steamer Eliza Anderson Reported to Have Gone Down With 60 Passengers.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12.—The steamship Cleveland brought news of the first Klondike disaster. Passengers on the Cleveland declare that the side-wheel steamer Eliza Anderson, which started north from here with sixty passengers and a cargo of freight for St. Michael, has been lost with all on board.

It is known that she left Unalaska to cross Behring Sea to St. Michael on Sept. 2. The last seen of her was off Kadiac, where a wind storm was raging and she was flying signals that she was short of coal. No assistance could be given her, and she disappeared down the gale and has not been seen or heard of since.

Most of the Yukon men on the Cleveland agree that it is about a toss-up whether the steamer Eliza Anderson will ever reach any port other than the locker of Davy Jones.

"I believe she is lost," said A. P. Hudson of Seattle. "The tug Holyoke was in Dutch Harbor when we were there on Sept. 2. She had just arrived from the Sound with a schooner and a steam-wheel steamer in tow.

"The master of the tug told me that he had been through a frightful blow down off Kadiac three days before. He said that he had seen the Eliza Anderson during the storm, apparently in great distress. After the storm he did not see her. He said that it was possible that she put into Kadiac, but no word there had been received as to her safety when he left Dutch Harbor."

J. H. Ordgan of Ballard, Wash., who has been at St. Michael since July 1, shipbuilding, says that all the reports that he heard from both St. Michael and Dutch Harbor, and at Unalaska, considered the loss of the Anderson a foregone conclusion. Still, in his judgment, that conclusion may be simply a result of gossiping over what would be a great but terrible piece of news.

The Holyoke was to put out from Dutch Harbor within a few days from the time of the sailing of the Cleveland to search for the Anderson. She will proceed to Kadiac and make a thorough search in those waters for the missing steamer. The Anderson is a side-wheel steamer, which was fitted out at Seattle, and had aboard a full complement of passengers, only from Puget Sound points.

On the way up through the inside passage she was encountered by down-coming steamers several times, and all the masters of seaworthy vessels expressed grave fears as to the possibility of the steamer ever reaching her destination.

ALASKA TRAVEL IS FALLING OFF.

Five Steamers at Juneau—Majority of the Newcomers Will Remain at That Place Until Spring.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 11.—The steamer Topeka arrived from Alaska at 4 o'clock this morning, and brings the following letter to the Associated Press:

Juneau, Alaska.—Among the recent arrivals at this port are the steamers Rosalie, Mayflower, Detroit, Willamette and Topeka, and the falling off in the volume of travel is very noticeable. The majority of new-comers will remain at Juneau until spring. An effort will be made next year to turn the tide of travel by way of Sitka, going from there to Yukontal and Disenchantment Bay and up the White River, the distance being only 425 miles from Sitka to Dawson, as against 700 miles from Juneau over the present trail.

The building of a railroad from Juneau to Lake Teslin is now assured. Thorough examination by interested parties has decided them to commence work at the earliest possible moment next year. The road will go by way of the Taku.

No doubt this will be the first railroad established, but it probably will be quickly followed by others, two prospective roads in particular, having the same terminus as the Juneau Road. In going into the Yukon country, the White Horse Rapids and many other dangerous places will be avoided. As there will be suitable boats plying on Lake Teslin and Hootalinqua River, the trip will be one of pleasure rather than otherwise.

Rapid progress is being made on the cable tramway now constructing at Chilkoot Pass, and when finished, everything can go over more cheaply and quickly than heretofore. Everyone is now mapping out arrangements for winter quarters, as it will soon be out of the question to enter the Klondike before February or March.

Little Made His Pile.

Belleville, Sept. 11.—Harvey Little of Glenora is returning from the Klondike with $83,000 in gold.

Floating Klondike Schemes.

London, Sept. 11.—Since the announcement of the discoveries of gold in the Klondike region, the promoters of London have been busy taking advantage of the newspaper boom given to that part of the world. Fifteen Klondike (Limited) companies, which have recently been started, have brought out capital to the amount of £2,046,583, of which £1,137,621 is offered to the public. In the meanwhile, there is an immense demand for anything Klondikian in order to float further companies in the spring of 1898.

Brought Down More Gold.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 11.—The steamer South Coast which left St. Michael on Sept. 1, arrived here to-day, bringing 27 passengers from Dawson City. The exact amount of gold brought down could not be learned, but it is believed to be about $350,000. The returned miners were not disposed to talk of their fortunes, but J. P. Light of Chicago admitted having accumulated $18,000 in dust and nuggets during two years' stay in the gold fields.

TORONTO MARKETS

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou—Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

Hallucinations!

Heart and Nerve Troubles Cause Morbid Fancies, Sleeplessness, Disturbing Dreams, Restlessness, Excitability and other distressing symptoms.

A TORONTO LADY TELLS ABOUT THE PROPER TREATMENT.

Mrs. Jas. Astleford, 228 Robert Street, Toronto, says:—"When I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a short time ago I was so excessively nervous that I was almost afraid of my shadow. Such things as the closing of a door or unexpectedly meeting any person would make me jump and completly upset me.

"I felt fatigued and worn out nearly all the time. My heart would palpitate violently, and my physical strength was at a low ebb. These pills have strengthened my nerves, restored healthy action of the heart and removed all the troubles from which I suffered so severly.

"I have been invigorated and built up in a remarkable manner by their use. You have no idea what a comfort it is to have regular healthy action of the heart when one has experienced the torture of heart trouble.

"I can only say that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a magnificent medicine, for they proved so in my case."

Florida Philosophy.

No man of much brains ever gets the "big head."

A rich woman is a crown of glory to her dressmaker.

There is a moral in a great many things that are immoral.

The darky and the watermelon are two souls with but a single thought.

If the sheep had the courage of its size it could whip most dogs. Some men are like sheep.

If men could become birds at will, there would be a great many more buzzards than there are now.

A man wouldn't mind so much his hair dropping out if his teeth didn't drop out at about the same time.

Life differs from a basket of peaches, because very often the largest and best fruit is very often found at the bottom.

If you know anything good of a neighbor, tell it to the world. If you know anything bad, keep it to yourself.

If you have all the good time in your youth, you must not growl if only the memory remains in your old age.—Florida Times-Union.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when sick; if it makes wonderful cures everywhere, then beyond all question that medicine possesses merit.

Made

That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. We know it possesses merit because it cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently, when all others fail to do any good whatever. We repeat

All the fittings are portable including a neat little cabin and the canoe can be lightened for portaging at a moment's notice. It is built to carry a ton and a half and is on the model of a great many which have been built previously for the Inspector as well as his predecessor in office. It will be shipped to the North West this afternoon after being photographed.

A BULLET IN HIS ARM.

A Revolver Discharges Itself and Inflicts a Dangerous Wound.

A tragedy with a fatal ending was nearly enacted in Ashburnham last week, and a young lad by the name of Delaire hardly realizes yet just how close his call was.

Young Louis Doris of the village came across an old revolver and had a friend in the Lock Works put it into repair for him. He had one cartridge, and on the way home with the weapon he loaded it. Coming across Delaire, Doris drew the revolver from his pocket to show his prize, which Delaire wanted to examine more closely. Doris wouldn't allow this, and went to slip the weapon back into his pocket when Delaire grabbed it.

The revolver at the time was cocked, and the owner was just in the act of letting the hammer down, when the pistol was seized and partially pulled from his hand, causing the hammer to slip from his thumb and explode the cartridge. The ball lodged in Delaire's arm just below the elbow, but cannot be found by probing, and an operation will probably be performed by Dr. Moher at St. Joseph's Hospital this afternoon.

When the boys were scuffling in fun for the weapon, it might just as easily have discharged itself into a more vital spot.

LOST A COUPLE OF TOES.

William Morton Dropped a Coverplate for a Girder on His Foot.

On Saturday afternoon at about five o'clock, William Morton, met with a most painful accident at the Central Bridge Works, where he is employed.

Whilst engaged in putting a coverplate on a girder, the coverplate suddenly slipped and falling on his right foot severed a couple of the toes completely. He was taken to Bowman's hotel, where Dr. Clarke dressed the wounds, which though of course very painful are not of a serious nature, although the injured man will not be able to work for a couple of weeks.

Miss E. C. Johnston, of St. Catherines, has arrived in town to-day to take charge of the dress making department of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son.

The Cobourg World speaks in terms of high praise of the sermon preached in Cobourg on Flower Sunday by Rev. W. R. Young, of Port Hope, formerly the popular pastor of the George street Methodist church here.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says:—Mr. Fred. Yelland of Peterborough, the invalid brother of Mrs. Dr. Graham, was driven to the Falls by his attendant, Mr. William McWha, on Wednesday of last week, and will remain a few days longer.

Mr. James McCabe, his daughter Margaret and his son John, of Peterborough; Mr. John Shanahan, Mr. Daniel Shanahan, and Miss Margaret Shanahan of Ops; Mr. Geo. Jones or Midland; Mr. Thos. Jones and Mr. Robt. Jones of Peterborough, were all at Fenelan Falls on Tuesday attending the funeral of their relative, Mrs. John Jones.

The friends of Miss Williamson, a professional nurse, previously of Peterborough, and a graduate of the Nicholls Hospital, who was married about ten months ago to Mr. A. A. P. McDowell, of Cass City, Michigan, will be glad to learn of her welfare. A rumour has been current that she was dead, but a friend received a letter from her to-day, announcing "a bright baby boy," on the 4th Sept.

The Lindsay Post says:—Mr. W. J. Green, secretary of the Peterborough Agricultural Society, was in town last evening. While here he witnessed a private performance consisting of wire walking, tumbling, and other acrobatic feates by Messrs. Mallory, Walker and Forbet, three of our young townsmen who have, by ardent practice, reached the "acme of perfection" in their chosen profession. Mr. Green has booked them as a special attraction for the fair. They have engagements for many of the best country fairs in Eastern Ontario.

Inspector of Agencies.

Messrs. R. S. Williams & Son, piano manufacturers, of Toronto, have secured the services of Mr. W. E. Green, of No. 81 London street, town, as inspector of agencies for their branches in Ontario. Mr. Green has just closed a successful engagement with Messrs. Heintzman & Co., and had been at the Toronto Exhibition assisting at the piano exhibit of Messrs. Williams & Son when he received his present appointment.

The Next Congressman.

Manager W. H. Bradburn is to be congratulated on securing such a strong attraction for Wednesday, Sept. 15th, in "The Next Congressman," and it is safe to say that a more satisfied audience will never leave the opera house, than those that witness "The Next Congressman." From the rise of the curtain to the conclusion the play is brimful of brilliant repartees and fun. The company as a whole are the cleverest of farce comedy people, and each character is a strong foil to the other. The dry, natural comedy of Mr. Fenelton is as mirth-proking as the rich unctiousness of Mr. Clarke. The support is numerically large, and are all excellent. Miss Maud Myring's artistic talents being far in advance of what is usually seen in farce comedy of this character.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

Magistrate Edmison Disposed of a Number of Cases on Saturday.

A session of the County Police Court was held on Saturday last when four cases were adjudicated upon by County Police Magistrate Edmison.

James Duffus brought two charges against Samuel Redmond. First of cruelly whipping and illtreating his horses on August 29th, and secondly of refusing to allow him to pass on the high road.

Both plaintiff and defendant reside in Otonabee and were driving into church on Sunday, August 29th. The Duffus carriage overtook that occupied by Mr. Redmond's family and attempted to pass. The plaintiff testified that Mr. Redmond refused to allow him to pass and kept to the left hand side of the road to such an extent as to force plaintiff to try and pass on the right. When his horse came up on the right the defendant, he stated, whipped up his horses and drove ahead of him. He testified further that he again caught up to Mr. Redmond about half a mile further on and on drawing up to him again the defendant lashed his horses across the face, keeping them from passing and causing them to run into the ditch.

Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defence and submitted a number of points, which caused the magistrate to reserve his decision in the case.

Sentence having been reserved in Havelock in the assault case of Sampson vs. Sampson, Magistrate Edmison imposed a fine of $5.00 and costs, amounting to about $20.00, on young Sampson, who was charged with throwing stones at his grandfather. The lad is only eleven years of age, and as he had already been in goal a week, he was allowed to go with only a fine being imposed.

A disorderly conduct case from Keene was settled before the opening of Court.

SENT TO THE REFORMATORY.

A Little Girl of Fifteen Years of Age Tells a Pitiful Story.

The police authorities are uniting with the Childrens Aid Society in the endeavor to suppress the spread of crime amongst the young girls of Peterborough and on Saturday at a special session of the Police Court a child of fifteen years of age was before the Magistrate and told a pitiful tale of a life of shame led for the past four or five years and in which the names of a number of well known young men of the town were mentioned.

The girl was sentenced to three years in the Reformatory, and it is understood that three or four more children of about the same age are to be dealt with this week.

THE HIGH WATER QUESTION.

Evidence being Taken To-day by a Commissioner from Ottawa.

Over fifty farmers who own land along the Otonabee river, and reside in North or South Monaghan or Otonabee townships, assembled in the Town Council Chambers this morning, and gave evidence before Mr. George H. Pope, Dominion Commissioner, concerning the damage done to their property by the raising of the water in the river.

Mr. Pope was accompanied by his secretary, and the evidence was all taken in shorthand, the entire day being occupied in this manner.

All the witnesses were agreed upon the statement that the first rise in the water had been caused by the erection of the Hastings dam some fifty years ago. Since that time the water has risen at intervals until it is estimated that about 2000 acres of cleared arable pasture land has been flooded along the river banks. The evidence taken as to the reason of the raising of the water in recent years, differs materially. Some of the witnesses attribute it to the placing of additional stoplogs in the river at the Hastings dam; others again attribute it to the way in which the water is being controlled in the back lakes, whilst many think it is caused through the sawdust which used to be thrown into the river in such quantities.

LACROSSE.

Markham has been reinstated in the C. L. A., which means that Peterborough will probably have to play against that team on Friday next. The boys will have to be in the best kind of shape for this match, and although it is getting dark rather to early in the evenings to allow of much practice at stickhandling, still considerable running will have to be done. Every player is expected to be out on the field to-night.

FOOTBALL.

The Rugby football club meets this evening at the Oriental Hotel to organize for the season. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of intending members, as the season is looked forward to most hopefully. On Saturday last there were sixteen players out for practice, and as this was the first of the season, the boys think that it augurs well.

THE WHEEL.

The Victorias are getting a grand list of prizes for their road race on Friday next and the list will be published to-morrow or the day after, as the final details will be settled this evening when the committee will meet in the club rooms for that purpose. Entries are coming in fast to Mr. Herb. Hall. He will be at the club rooms Wednesday evening, after which the entry list closes, as the handicaps have to be made out that night. They will be published in Thursday's papers.

BACK FROM TORONTO.

Mayor Yelland and Councillor Best Attended a Convention in the Queen City.

The Mayor and Councillor Best have returned from Toronto where they have been attending a convention called for the purpose of considering the question of the granting of exemptions to manufacturers and on church lands. The local delegates think the question was one which was entirely too large to be handled by a convention with such a limited amount of time on its hands.

A number of the delegates in attendance were in favour of having a plebiscite taken on these questions but Councillor Best is inclined to think that a popular vote taken at the time of the municipal elections would be the best way of feeling the pulse of the ratepayers on the subject.

TEMPERANCE PRIZES.

They Will be Awarded to the Winners of Them on Thursday Evening Next.

The W.C.T.U. will hold an open meeting in the Murray street Baptist church on Thursday evening, Sept. 16th at 8 o'clock.

The prizes will be awarded to those pupils who took the highest number of marks in physiology and temperance at the entrance examinations.

The names of the winners are: Mary Ellen Crowley, Hubert McBain, Myrta Emmerson and Muriel Fessenden.

A programme will be provided and a silver collection taken up.

ADOPTING

The Cash System.

PETERBOROUGH, 1897.

At a meeting of the proprietors of the I. X. L. Steam Laundry and the Peterborough Steam Laundry and Dye Works, it was decided to make a Cash Business of the above firms, commencing September 15th, 1897.

Our customers will therefore please bear in mind that on and after the above date the drivers of our wagons have orders not to leave any parcels unless they receive the money for them.

We trust your sense of honour will not allow you to take this as a personal matter, but look upon the change as a business principle which is consistent with any firm having a good reputation.

Thanking you for past favours and trusting to further merit your patronage under the new rule, we remain,

Yours Respectfully,

ANOTHER LIVELY WEEK!

HOW WE KEEP BUSY! One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain. Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

We are making this an unusual week for folks who are looking for New Fall Window Blinds, Wall Paper and Cornice Poles.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

1400 Window Shades
8000 Rolls of Wall Paper
600 Cornice Poles.

Having bought all the Blinds in the Wholesale House of Menzies, Turner & Co., of Toronto, at our own figure, early Fall Buyers will get remarkable bargains to begin the Season. We cannot make you understand the values that will be offered in these three lines until you see them.

Get your expectations up as high as you can—You will be pleasantly surprised, no matter how much you expected.

OVER THE EMBANKEMENT.

Mr. H. Fordham and his Daughter, of Havelock, Have a Narrow Escape.

When driving into Marmora, Friday morning, Mr. H. Fordham, of Havelock had a rather undesirable experience with his horse. He was accompanied by his daughter and had a democrat load of fruit.

He was just breaking the hill which leads into the town when the horse became unmanageable and shied sidewise precipitating itself, the driver and the rig with the entire load down an embankment some ten or fifteen feet.

Fortunately Miss Fordham alighted from the rig before it left the road and therefore escaped injury. Mr. Fordham went headlong amongst the rocks and it is a mystery how he escaped serious injury. He was slightly cut about the hands and the horse was also bruised about the legs. The rig was a total wreck.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

St Luke's Bible class will resume its meeting on Sunday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. A series of studies of the Gospels under the general title of "The Kingdom of God" will be given. Any persons who wish to attend these classes will receive a cordial welcome.

Rev. H. Symonds will be away during the greater part of the present week on a visit to Rev. Mr. Lord, of Apsley. He will lecture on the Reformation of the Church of England, at Apsley, the Hawley Settlement and Coe Hill, returning on Friday evening.

St. Luke's Harvest Festival will be held on Thursday, Sept. 30th, when the sermon will be preached by Rt. Rev. Bishop Sullivan, of St. James Cathedral, Toronto.

Yesterday morning the Rector said he was sure the congregation would feel encouraged to know that the financial position of the church was at the present time $100 better than at the corresponding time last year. There was, however, still a deficit, and in accordance with the suggestion of last Easter vestry meeting, it was decided to ask for a harvest festival offering of $100. In view of the good harvest and the improved prices he felt sure that all the members of the church would feel disposed to manifest their gratitude to God by making a liberal offering to the church.

OBITUARY.

The Late Rev. James Kines—Funeral Services at Cobourg.

The following particulars have been learned concerning the life of Rev. James Kines, who died on Wednesday last at Cobourg.

The deceased was born of English parents in the State of New York. He came to Canada when a youth, entered the Methodist ministry in 1863, his first circuit being Mulford; then Hungerford, Sidney; one year at Victoria College, Cobourg. Then the First church, Hamilton city; three years at Keene; then agent for Victoria College one year; then to Odessa two years; Wilton, two years; Sherbrooke, Que., three years; then to Montreal City; was President of the Montreal Conference in 1890, which year he dedicated the St. James street church. He was transferred to the Bay of Quinte Conference three years ago. Was in Oshawa two years. This is the second year he has had charge of the Division street church, Cobourg. Failing health caused him to have Rev. H. T. Lewis, B.A., for an assistant. Some three or four weeks ago he went to Clifton Springs, N.Y., for his health, and the daily reports given said he was improving; therefore his death on Wednesday last was a complete surprise to his friends.

The funeral took place Friday. After a short service at the parsonage the body was taken to the church, which was filled by the friends and sympathizers of the deceased gentleman. The Oddfellows turned out in regalia to show their regard for a beloved brother. Rev. Dr. McDairmid, Whitby, President of the Conference, had charge of the services. After singing an appropriate hymn he lead in prayer, and read the 14th chapter of John. He then gave way to Rev. W. R. Young, Port Hope, who appeared not only in his official capacity, but as a mourner—one who has lost a sincere friend—for, in 1867, when he first entered the ministry on the Wilton circuit, Mr. Kines was his Superintendent, and his kindness to him at that period of his life he had never forgotten.

Rev. S. T. Bartlett, of Madoc, said that his relations with Mr. Kines during last year were most pleasant. He also paid a high eulogy to the sterling worth of the deceased gentlemen.

Among the ministers present, with those named above, we noticed Revs. A. H. Reyner, M.A., LL.D; Dr. M. E. Wilson, Newtonville; T. R. Hull, Port Hope; John English, Cobourg; T. F. Mears, Baltimore; John Hay, B.D., Cobourg; H. T. Lewis, Cobourg; and most of the leading men of the town.

W. A. Morehouse, editor of the Examiner, Sherbrooke, an old friend, was present as a representative of the Oddfellows of that town.

Dr. Reyner and Mr. Webb, Recording Steward, were appointed by the Quarterly Board to accompany the remains to Kingston. Rev. W. R. Young also went down to conduct service at the cemetery.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

Rattling Sales of Remnants at LeBrun & Co's.

No trouble selling them. Jump for them, if your boys want a suit, or your husband a pair of trousers. Prices radically reduced for a quick clearance—as low as 20, 25, 35, 50 cts. per yard. We are giving you pure wool for the price of shoddy. H. LeBrun & Co., City Clothing Store, George street. d-w

G. T. R. TRANS-NIAGARA SINGLE ARCH STEEL BRIDGE

FORMAL OPENING OF THE NEW STEEL SINGLE ARCH BRIDGE.

Splendid Illumination of Niagara Falls and Whirlpool—Grand Opening September 23rd, 24th and 25th

At the present time the eyes of the whole world are directed towards Canada. The remarkable successes which have attended the visit to England of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of the Dominion, and the denunciation by Great Britain of important commercial treaties with such powerful neighbours as Germany and Belgium in order to meet the overtures of the colony, have caused the politicians of the old world to regard with a novel interest that portion of the new, which Voltaire once sneeringly gibed at as "a few acres of snow and ice." Nor has the interest been confined to countries of the old world, the people of the republic to the south having been startled by the announcement of the discovery of large quantities of gold within the confines of the Dominion.

Scientists and members of the learned professions have flocked to the country to hold their annual conventions and examine for themselves their resources.

Among the many corporations which have done much to retain the interest thus aroused, the Grand Trunk Railway system, under its takes a foremost place. The work undertaken in connection with the substitution of a modern structure for the old Victoria tubular bridge over the St. Lawrence, has excited the utmost interest among civil engineers the world over, while the completion of the Grand Trunk new single arch steel bridge over the Niagara River, which replaces the historic Suspension Bridge, is the talk of railway officials from one end of the continent to the other. That the latter structure, which, at the time of its erection in 1855, was considered—and justly—a marvel of engineering skill, should have been entirely replaced upon exactly the same spot without an interruption of even five minutes to the constant stream of traffic which passes over it, is, without doubt, a remarkable tribute to the advances which have been made by the engineering profession within the last quarter of a century. The new bridge is a single steel arch of 550 feet in length, suplemented by a trussed span at either end, of 115 feet in length, so that with the approaches, its total length is a little more than 1100 feet, while the railway tracks are 250 feet above the water. It has two decks or floors, the upper being used while the lower contains a wide central carriage way, double electric car tracks, and passage way for pedestrians.

NEW AND ENERGETIC MANAGEMENT,

FOR RAILWAY PURPOSES EXCLUSIVELY

Beautiful as it is in appearance, the bridge is of enormous strength, it having been designed to carry on each railway track a load of two locomotives with four pairs of drivers each and 40,000 pounds on each pair, followed by a train of 3,500 pounds per running foot, while the lower deck is designed to carry a live load of 3,000 pounds per running foot. In a word, it will sustain a weight of over six times the sustaining capacity of the old bridge.

The opening celebrations in connection with this great engineering feat will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 23rd, 24th, and 25th, and the management of the Grand Trunk Railway system has determined to give a carnival at the Falls which will long be talked of by those who take advantage of the remarkably low rates which are being put in force for this occasion.

This carnival, which will be held for the whole three days, September 23rd, 24th and 25th, will consist of open air variety entertainments from two large elevated platforms, one of which will be on the American, and the other on the Canadian side of the river, open air dancing to the strains of the best bands obtainable in the country, old English sports, climbing the greasy pole, sack race and egg races, etc., for which cash prizes will be offered; and on Thursday evening of the Falls and Whirlpool rapids will take place, being the first time this gigantic enterprise has been undertaken. On Friday and Saturday evenings an elaborate display of fireworks from the new bridge will be given, and will be without doubt the grandest display ever witnessed with possibly the exception of that given at the World's Fair at Chicago. The illuminations and fireworks are under the personal direction of Mr. Henry J. Pain, the leading pyrotechnic contractor of the world.

The artists who have been engaged for the variety entertainment are all well known, and four of the most famous military bands of the continent have been engaged to give concerts in the afternoon and evening of each day. During the three days' carnival the bridge will be open for the free passage of the public to and fro as they please.

To those who have never visited that greatest of Nature's many marvels—Niagara—the extremely low rates which are being made from every point on their lines by the Grand Trunk system, should prove a temptation too strong to be resisted, while to those who have visited the great falls by day, the prospect of seeing them one blaze of electricity and coloured light will appeal, without doubt, successfully.—Montreal Herald.

PEACHES AND PLUMS.

Circular from J. B. Oke & Co.

The following interesting circular to the ladies has been sent out by Messrs. J. B. Oke & Co., Fruit and Commission Merchants, 418 George street, Peterborough:

Peterborough, Sept. 4th, 1897.

We desire to call your attention to the choice lines of Crawford Peaches, and a large variety of the finest Plums which we are now receiving daily.

The early cling stone varieties of peaches are, as you are no doubt aware, now nearly over, and the well-known and reliable preserving peach, the Crawford, is now arriving in prime condition.

We have known a number of the most reliable growers in the Niagara district for a number of years, and have received their consignments of plums and peaches regularly during that time. We have always found their fruit to be the choicest and the quality uniform from the top layer to the bottom of the basket.

We are again this year receiving fruit from these growers and can therefore promise you the choicest fruit at the lowest price, consistent with first-class quality.

Being in the business the year round, we make it our constant aim to keep watch of the outside markets and secure for our customers the best that these markets afford in both foreign and domestic fruits, fish and oysters.

By centralizing the trade our facilities for accomplishing this are greatly increased, and both our customers and ourselves are benefitted.

OYSTERS.

We desire also to say a few words regarding Oysters, the season for which is now beginning. The H. F. Hemingway & Co. Oysters, which we have handled since first opening business, are too well known to need any introduction. They are put up by one of the oldest and most reliable firms on the continent and never fail to give satisfaction, as they are equal in quality to any and superior to most Oysters. We believe we are the only dealers in this part of the country who handle these Oysters, and, handling them in as large quantities as we do, we can supply them at as low a price as others can a much inferior grade.

We expect to receive our first consignment of Oysters on September 17th, and will continue to receive them regularly after that date.

J. B. OKE.

A Curious Find.

A day or two ago, Mr. R. Brown, employed on the Trent Valley Canal — Corry & Laverdure's contract (M. Coughlin, foreman) was wheeling rip-rap stone. A grayish stone of irregular shape about 3 x 4 inches, on being thrown into the barrow split open, a piece about half an inch in thickness scaling off. Mr. Brown noticed that in the lighter gray of the stone in the centre was an exact picture of a horse's head, neck and chest, the ears even being clearly defined. The picture, which was in silhouette, showed about the colour of a dark lead pencil on the lighter gray of the body of the stone. It is a great curiosity.

BETTING WITH A GIRL.

It Does Not Always Turn Out as Expected.

"Why do you seem to try to avoid Miss Sweet?" asked the man with the cigar. "Only a week ago you were devoted to her."

The man with the cigarette scowled.

"Don't speak of her," he said. "She is the most aggravating, underhanded and designing girl that ever walked the earth."

"What has she done?"

"Oh, she hasn't done a thing but play a regular confidence game on me," returned the man with the cigarette. "You see, we made a bet."

"Yes."

"I bet a box of candy against a kiss on what was practically a certainty in my favor and she knew that there wasn't one chance in a thousand of my losing."

"I see. The inference being—"

"The inference being," said the man with the cigarette, with emphasis, "that she would a little rather lose the bet than win it. Naturally, I was considerably elated, but to avoid any possible mistake I made her promise that she would surely pay if she lost and not try to get out of it on any technicality."

"And she agreed?"

"Promised faithfully; in fact, seemed offended to think that I had deemed it necessary to exact such a promise; said she was a girl of her word, and whatever she promised she would do. And then I won the bet."

"Yes—and she?"

"Well, she kept out of my way for a while, so that I had no chance to collect, but finally I caught her and asked her if she intended to pay the bet."

"'Pay it,' she cried. 'Why, I've already paid it.'

"'I've never received that kiss,' I asserted.

"'Then, you've no one but your sister to blame,' she answered. 'I gave it to her to give to you.'"

The man with the cigar gave a low whistle.

"That was a mean trick," he admitted.

"But that wasn't the worst of it," continued the man with the cigarette. "It knocked me out so that I hadn't a word to say, and the next day she told my sister that she didn't think much of a man who hadn't the gumption to collect a kiss that he had fairly won. I tell you, a woman is the most aggravating and contradictory thing that was ever sent to torture man."—Chicago Post.

Singular and Plural.

Tommy was told that "couple" was singular, and, to make him remember it, he had to write an essay about "A Couple." Tommy went into his study corner, was quite a half hour, except once, when he demanded the proper orthography of one or two big words, and this is what he handed his mother when it was all done:

A COUPLE.

There was a couple that went fishing. One-half of it was a man; the second half was a woman. It went in a rowboat with a pair of oars, which was also a couple. The woman half of the first couple caught a couple of fish. Then there was three couples. Said the man part of the first couple:

"We has caught enough fish."

Then it sat down together, and it put its arms around it and said:

"Oh, my, don't."

But it didn't act as if it cared much. Just then the boat ran into a stump and stopped. This couple was very singular for awhile, but finally she said to it:

"George, my dear, doesn't it think it is time to go home?"

It looked at its watch, and said: "Yes, dearie. It is."

Then this couple was plural while one of it rowed home.

So a couple is both plural and singular, just the same.—Detroit Free Press.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Prices for export cattle remained about the same although the dealers seemed to be waiting and considering a good deal before purchasing.

Prices ranged all the way from $4 to $4.65 per cwt., but the bulk of the export cattle sold between $4.25 and $4.50 per cwt.

J. Eakins purchased two loads of good cattle, weighing 1325 lbs., at $4.60 per cwt.

Crawford & Co. bought one load of 21 cattle, averaging 1250 lbs. each, at $4.40 per cwt., also one load, weighing 1280 lbs., at $4.40 per cwt.

The quality of the export cattle generally speaking, was not as good as usual.

Stockers and feeders were in good demand, and prices remained about the same.

Light stockers, weighing 600 to 700 each, brought from $2.90 to $3.15 per cwt.

A large number of farmers from different parts of Ontario were there to purchase stockers and feeders to turn on the grass, which is said to be abundant.

D. D. Graham from Western Ontario bought one load of stockers, averaging 750 lbs. each, at $3.25 per cwt.

J. McDonald sold 20 feeders, weighing 900 lbs. each, at $3.40 per cwt.

Milk cows sold at prices ranging all the way from $25 to $45, and only a limited number were offered, and more are wanted.

Sheep sold well, and export ewes were worth from $3 to $3.60 per cwt., and bucks brought $3 per cwt.

Lambs, of which there were too many offered to-day, were somewhat slow from $3.50 to $4 per cwt. and from $2.25 to $4 each, and an extra good lot sold at $3.25.

The hog market still remains firm at the same quotations, viz., $5.75 to $5.87½ for the best qualities.

TRUE EDUCATION.

Report of a Friendly Discussion With a Kernel in It.

We were discussing education and public schools on Sunday evening. The lady of the house, who has four children of school age, said that parents did not help the teachers as much as they should. If the homes did their part by the children as well as the schools do their part education would be on a higher level. And then, turning from abstract education to her very concrete, not to say adamantine—boy Harry, this wise woman told a story.

"One day," she said, "I received the usual printed notice from Harry's teacher, asking me if there was any reason or excuse for Henry's absence from school on the previous afternoon. 'Irregular attendance interferes with the progress of children's studies, etc.' Now, my boy is as truthful as Mr. Froude says the ancient Persians used to be, and when I spoke to him he promptly admitted that he had not been to school at the time specified. He had gone off with a crowd of his friends to see the ostriches.

"Accordingly, I wrote to the teacher that I knew of no valid excuse for my boy's absence, but the reason seemed to be that he feared it difficult to appear in two places at exactly the same time. In fact, he had gone off to see the ostriches without any preliminary consultation with his parents or those set in authority over him. I ventured to suggest that 'the natural punishment,' according to Herbert Spencer's well-known theory of education, for such an offense as his ostrich expedition, was to keep him in after school for a certain time each day until he should have written a satisfactory composition on ostriches.

"After a couple of days the boy came home in such a palpably exultant mood that I said: 'Well, my son, is the composition finished?' He replied with, 'Yes, ma.' 'Well, what did she say about it?' 'Oh not much. She only said it was the best composition she ever got from me.'

"So, you see, my boy has made a beginning in natural history. The teacher is pleased, I'm pleased and the ostriches cannot be quite dissatisfied. It is hard to say whether Harry and his father think victory is all on the side of the teacher and the mother. There's just one danger. I have a premonition that the younger boys will make this a precedent for a surreptitious visit to the next circus."—Viator, in Chicago Times-Herald.

Well, perhaps it was my fault, but never mind, I have a pot of "Quickcure" in my kit and it will cure our bruises before we get home. You never saw anything like the way it will heal a cut or a bruise of any kind, and for sprains and strains it is—well, it is just "out of sight."

HENRY IEVERS, L.D.S., Quebec, writes: "One of my children sprained her ankle, which became much swollen and discoloured. Some 'Quickcure' was spread on linen, and applied; the pain ceased at once, the swelling was gone the next day, and on the fourth day she walked to school as usual. I have also proved it to be a wonderful remedy for cuts and bruises.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD
Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporising measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

The trouble with us nowadays is, that we do not lead natural lives. The feminine portion of our society is especially culpable in this way. It is really a wonder that women are as healthy as they are. Very few women get any outdoor exercise. Very many get no exercise at all. Modes of dressing interfere with the proper muscular action and with the circulation of the blood. All the hygienic laws are broken. It is little wonder that nine women in ten are troubled with some derangement or irregularity in the action of the organs distinctly feminine. Neglect and wrong living will show themselves first in the most delicate organs of the whole body. With such weakness and sickness so prevalent, it is to be expected that the bearing of children would be fraught with dread and danger. It should not be so, of course. Nature never meant it to be so. The performance of the highest function of which a woman is capable should not be accompanied by pain. If perfectly natural living were the rule, it would not be so. As lives are lived, something else must be done. A remedy must be found. For over thirty years, Dr Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During that time he has treated thousands of women. He has found in his "Favorite Prescription" a never-failing specific for female complaints. It strengthens the whole body and when taken during gestation, shortens the period of labor and makes childbirth well-nigh painless. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child.

PUBLIC EXPENDITURE IN EUROPE.

Growth of the Enormous Sums Levied Traced by Periods of Two Decades.

The French Government in 1820 levied taxes of 959,000,000f.; in 1840 this sum had risen to 1,235,000,000f.; in 1860, to 1,962,000,000f.; in 1880, to 3,130,000,000f.; and in 1895 the sum reached 3,375,000,000f. It has been calculated how much government in France has cost per hour at various periods in this century. Under Napoleon I. the hourly expenditure was 150,000f.; under Louis XVIII., 119,000f.; under Louis Philippe, 150,000f.; under Napoleon III., 239,000f., and in 1882, 463,000f.

Evidently we are far distant from the time of Charlemagne, that great and powerful sovereign who met the expenses of his vast empire by selling the grain crops of his domains. It is a curious phenomenon; never did public expenditure increase so prodigiously and reach such colossal sums as when taxes could be imposed only with the consent of the taxpayer himself. Still more striking has this become, now that the people's representatives themselves discuss and propose the need of new outlays. In our modern Parliaments it seems more and more true that the progressive increase of public expenditure has no limits.

It is not possible to make close calculations. The political organization of the various European States varies greatly. But adding the annual expenses of local, national and federal governments in Europe, the result is about 25,000,000,000f. That is to say, a sum which the human mind, in spite of every effort, cannot comprehend. Increase it further and we shall enter more and more into the realm of the inconceivable. But it appears that neither the politicians nor the economists of our time stand in fear of the inconceivable. This, in fact, is how the matter stands: the politicians prefer to discuss as little as possible this phenomenon of a public expenditure steadily and irresistibly growing. The so-called Liberals call it fatal; the Radicals describe it complacently as democratic.—Yale Review.

DON CARLOS.

Sketch of the Present Pretender to the Throne of Spain.

Don Carlos, whose adherents are now openly advocating his cause, seriously embarrassing Alfonso's Government, is the nephew of Charles VI. and son of Don Juan, who succeeded Charles and married the Archduchess Maria Therese of Austria. The present Carlos was born in 1848, and was educated principally in Austria. He married in 1867 Margaret de Bourbon of Bourbon, sister of Comte de Chambord. In 1868 Juan abdicted in favor of his son, whose standard was raised in France by his partisans in 1872. In that year Carlos issued a proclamation to the people of Catalonia, Aragon and Valencia, urging them to come to his aide, and in the following December his brother, Don Alfonso, took command of the Carlist band in Catalonia. Carlos himself entered Spain in 1873 "to save his country," and for a year or more the war raged. In 1876 the last stronghold of his party was broken down. Carlos, from Paris, issued a manifesto saying he would retire to stop bloodshed, and would come forth again at the moment fixed for redemption. France expelled the pretender in 1881 on the ground that he had allied himself with De Chambord. He claims there are 1000 clubs in Spain devoted to his cause. He seems, likewise, to have a few bold, easy friends in the chamber, and the Government, what with Cuba and the Philippines, is not overcomfortable at present.

DON CARLOS.

Unconventional Dress in Java.

When one has driven about the old town and seen its crowded bazaars and streets he is driven into the long garden court of the Hotel Nederlanden, and there has presented a spectacle of social life and customs that nothing in all travel can equal for distinct shock and sensation. We had seen some queer things in the streets—women toiling barefooted and in startling dishabille in splendid equipage—but concluded them to be servants of half castes; but there in the hotel was an undress parade that beggars description, and was astonishing on the last as on the first day in the country. Woman's vanity and man's conventional ideas evidently wilt at the line, and no formalities pass the equator, when distinguished citizens and officials can roam and lounge about hotel courts in pajamas and bath slippers, and bare-ankled women, clad only in the native sarong, or skirt, and a white dressing jacket, go unconcernedly about their affairs in streets and public places until afternoon. It is a dishabille beyond all burlesque pantomime, and only shipwreck on a desert island would seem sufficient excuse for women being seen in such an ungraceful, unbecoming attire—an undress that reveals every defect, while concealing beauty that no loveliness can overcome, and that has neither color, nor grace, nor picturesqueness to recommend it in itself.—The Century.

Plant Culture by Amateurs.

"Amateur florists should study the habits of the plants in their collections in order to give the special care needed by each variety," writes Eben E. Rexford in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Not only does this advice apply pertinently to watering, but to the position in the window. Your plant window may be a southern one which will admit a great deal of sunshine. This will exactly suit geraniums, heliotropes, roses and plants of that class, but begonias, primroses and many other plants adapted to house culture are not particularly fond of strong sunshine—in fact, are often injured by full exposure to it. It is possible to find out exactly what course to pursue and to effect a compromise between these two classes of plants without a change of windows. Find out what plants like partial shade and give them positions in the rear of the sun loving plants. In this way the plants which require sunshine will not be robbed of it, and those which do not require sunshine will not be harmed by having an excess of it."

precaution all day. Several of the men killed by the deputies on Friday were buried this afternoon.

THEY HAVE ACCEPTED

The Columbus Convention Agrees to the Proposition of the Operators for 65 Cents a Ton.

Columbus, O., Sept. 11.—The great miners' strike, which was declared on July 4, was brought to an end this evening, so far, at least, as Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia are concerned, by the action of the interstate convention of miners, which has been in session here since Wednesday. After a day of voting and wrangling, the convention adopted a resolution accepting the proposition of the Pittsburg operators. The vote was 497 for and 337 against accepting the terms of settlement. The delegates from Illinois, who had 250 votes, were unanimously against a settlement. The resolution accepted is as follows:

"Resolved, that we, the miners of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Illinois, in convention assembled, do hereby agree to accept the proposition recommended by our National Executive Committee, viz.: 65 cents in Pittsburg district, all places in above named States where a relative price can be determined to resume work and continue liberally to the miners who do not receive the advance, where the fight must be continued to a better finish.

While the call says a proviso for the miners to resume work, it is probable that many of the Ohio and Pittsburg miners will be at work Monday.

The Illinois miners will be called in convention at Springfield, Sept. 20, to determine what shall be done in that State. Some of the Illinois delegates are very bitter in their denunciation of the action of the convention, since they claim their interests have not been given due consideration.

A resolution was adopted denouncing the action of the deputies in firing into the crowd of strikers at Hazleton, Pa.

It will now be necessary for the operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to get together and agree to pay the wage scales demanded if they wish the miners to get to work at the end of ten days. If they do not they will be obliged to sit idle and see the Pennsylvania mines supplying the empty markets. The ten days' limit was allowed for this purpose. All the Pittsburg operators but De Armitt are ready to pay the 65-cent rate. Thomas Johnson and J. S. Morten, two of the largest operators, said to-night that all Ohio operators would readily pay the 65-cent rate demanded. P. H. Penna, formerly national president of the miners, now an operator in Indiana, says the Indiana miners will readily pay the price called for by the new scale. President Carson of the Illinois operators did not look with favor on the new scale, and would probably object to it, but he believed they could be brought to time. "It will ultimately be equivalent to a settlement in our State," said he. President Dolan thinks it will not take long to bring De Armitt to time. All the other Pennsylvania operators would pay 65 cents readily.

President Ratchford expressed himself as well pleased with the outcome. While he favored the original unconditional ratification of the agreement, he was perfectly willing to concede the conditions asked by the convention for the reason given.

"It is in effect a National settlement," said he, "and that was very desirable."

FEARS OF CONFLICT.

The Situation Graver Than at Any Time Since Friday Afternoon.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 12.—The situation here to-night is graver than it has been since the bloody affray of Friday afternoon. There is strong reason to fear a conflict between the strikers and the military to-morrow, and there is an indication that from 5000 to 7000 more miners will join the malcontents. Feeling continues high against Sheriff Martin and his deputies, and the intensity of the situation is such that a sudden turn of the head or a word spoken above the ordinary tone brings a running crowd. The soldiers are watchful and ready for an emergency, and the people of the town are in a state which may easily become panic.

Trouble is in the air, and if it is to come the time will be to-morrow morning. This is clear from the words used to-night by Gen. Gobin, commander of the Third Brigade. The striking miners have made elaborate preparations for demonstrations at the funeral of ten of the victims, which is fixed for 10.30 o'clock in the morning. The military authorities are determined that nothing of the kind shall be permitted, and from this time on there shall be no marching of any character whatsoever, whether during funerals or otherwise. This resolution is not generally known, and the miners are going on with their arrangements.

To all intents and purposes Hazelton is under martial law. General Gobin declared to-night that in spite of the warrants issued no constables nor any civic authorities will be permitted to arrest deputies. He said that the sheriff is an executive officer, whose duty is to preserve the peace and that he, Gobin, and the troops are really subordinate to the sheriff at this time, being engaged in helping him to perform that duty. Under the circumstances, he will not permit interference with the sheriff's officials so long as the military is here. In spite of this fine distinction, the commander's decision on this point is accepted as superseding the civil authorities by the military power.

The events of to-day were the death of another of the wounded, the announcement this afternoon by the hospital doctors that six more will die, and the funeral of four of the victims. Ten more will be buried to-morrow, and here the trouble is likely to occur. It has been arranged that the ten coffins shall be carried on the shoulders of the strikers from the undertaker's shop to the front of St. Joseph's Church. In front of the church a platform is to be erected, upon which it is the purpose to place the ten coffins so that they can be viewed by the crowd.

Then addresses in Polish, Lithuanian and English are to be made by priests and others.

REV. S. J. SHOREY SPEAKS

On the Power of Circumstances in the Formation of Character.

The congregation in the George street Methodist church on Sunday night was very large, and the sermon by Mr. Shorey was in a high degree masterly and impressive. His text was taken from II Kings viii, 13, "And Hazael said, but what and is thy servant a dog that he should do this great thing?"

After a brief but luminous statement of the circumstances in connection with which the words were uttered, Mr. Shorey launched out in what was the main thought of the discourse—The power of circumstances in the formation of character.

This thought was grappled with, illustrated and applied with great ability. Among other things he said, How many false estimates are formed every day, simply because we do not take circumstances into account! When the public mind is filled with the horrors of some tragedy, or when men see one who has been universally trusted and respected, convicted of some base crime, the tendency is to deny to the criminal the common feelings of humanity, and to attribute to a momentary impulse what has been the outcome of long-formed habits of thought and settled purpose. Life grows not by sudden freaks of this kind but like the plant or tree derives its nourishment from its surroundings and assimilates these to itself. We may here learn a lesson from the teachings of geology. Go to the rock and learn from its formation that it was once loose sand, blown about by every wind. Behold in that rock, now fossilized, the print of the tiny foot, the ripple mark left by the wave, or the falling leaf, even the mark of the rain drop as it fell ages before. Now all is solid it is stone, but once it was far otherwise. So do we find character and life daily forming itself by the slow action of outward circumstances.

Circumstances bring men into new temptations never felt before. Had Hazael remained in private life it is probable he never would have been guilty of the crimes he subsequently committed. Mr. Shorey then put the question, was Hazael sincere when he affected such horror at the possibility of his committing such crimes as the prophet predicted he would commit? Was this man a base and guilty hypocrite? Was he a man who hid under the cloak of pretended affection for his master and reverence for humanity, his fiendish designs? The preacher was willing to accept the man's own estimate of himself as on the whole the truest and best. Mr. Shorey believed that for the moment Hazael was really appalled at the description of his future life. No! Hazael's language must not be regarded as hypocritical but as one who had not sounded the depths of his own character, and who knew nothing of the changes that altered circumstances would bring to him.

Indeed if we could in one sentance point the moral lesson of the history of crime in all ages and in all countries, it would be this for us all. Is they servant a dog? No! Thy servant is no dog. He is a man. He has in him two natures struggling for the mastery. He is not without his good impulses—perhaps he often resolves to give himself up to their sway, but he yields to readily to the passions which war against his soul. He gives himself to the circumstances that surround him. The man who trifles with convictions, and who temporises with sin is not safe. He is on the sliding scale not a dog yet, but fitting himself for any crime however base.

Had you told many of the men who fill our goals and penitentiaries of their terrible fall years before they would have been amazed and incredulous, and would have said as did Hazael. What and is they servant a dog that he should do this great thing? There is nothing so deceitful as the human heart, nothing so hardening is the deceitfulness of sin. There is a downward progression in wrong doing, and it is invariably gradual. No man becomes at once entirely bad. The depths of moral pollution to which he will at last descend are concealed from his view. Could he but clearly see the consummation he would shrink back with horror, but the downward progression, may be compared to the descent from the summit of a tower. The stairway is always circular or winding.

You descend a few steps and you see nothing beneath you. Could you but get a glimpse of the great precipice you would instantly shrink back with alarm, but this is concealed, and you will take a few more steps, and yet a few more and more, until the final step is taken.

It is much the same in moral descent, and the man sometimes wakes up with astonishment to find himself where he is. Mr. Shorey was careful to show that no man is absolutely the slave of his circumstances. By God's grace he may rise above them and triumph over them, making his very passions minister to his successes and making his enemies his benefactors.

Whatever may be a man's surroundings or circumstances it is possible for him to rise superior to them. But in order to do this there is only one safe path for him, and that is the path of holiness, the path of humility and obedience to the divine word. He only is perfectly safe who is conscious of his own weakness and who yields himself to the guidance divine. He only is safe who has been delivered from himself, and who is being kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

The wonder of the Age.

Dear Sir,—I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B.B.B. for the disease called prairie itch and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured. I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

HAZELTON TRAGEDY.

Funeral of Ten of the Victims of the Shooting.

THERE WAS SOME FEAR OF TROUBLE

But the Day Passed Without Disorder—Troops Were Ready for Any Emergency—Four Women Arrested—Miners Going to Work—London Times Defends Sheriff.

Hazelton, Sept. 13.—This ominous date stood out on the calendar with conspicuous meaning when those who had managed to steal any sleep awoke this morning. All the indications last night pointed to danger, and that the military authorities realized that the aspect was threatening became apparent at an early hour to-day. The troops were so assigned as to cover every territory where there was prospect of action, however remote.

During the entire night the street in the front and the rear of brigade headquarters at the Valley Hotel was guarded by sentries, and no person was permitted to pass the lines under any pretext.

The first official action of the day was the closing of all the liquor saloons until 4 o'clock this afternoon. This was done after a conference between Mayor Altmiller and Gen. Gobin.

This was done because of the funerals of the ten victims fixed for this morning and the fear of what might follow if the strikers had access to liquor when so wrought up with grief and rage, for such are feelings which prevail among them, however silent and subdued they may be.

The strictest discipline prevailed at the camps of all the regiments.

Gen. Gobin is very much displeased at the parade of uniformed men during yesterday's funeral, and especially because some of the men carried heavy sabres. This will not be allowed again.

All along the line of the funeral procession and in front of the church, where the services are to be held, and at the undertaker's establishment, crowds of miners and their wives began to gather at an early hour. They came into town from all mining suburbs in the region and taxed the capacity of the trolley cars, while inside the edifice there was not an inch of space.

Eight of the bodies lay in the shop of Undertaker Bonin, in Hazelton, where they were viewed by a great crowd for a couple of hours before the procession started. Meantime the other two lines were toiling over the rugged mountain roads leading from Harwood. The bands which led the line beat a mournful tattoo, and following the hearses trudged a double file of miners. When the start from the shop to the cemetery was made the coffins containing the bodies of the eight Poles were carried by ten miners in the regalia of St. Joseph's Society, and the line proceeded to the church. A crowd of fully 5000 people jammed the streets in the immediate neighborhood, but there was no disorder of any kind. The platform, originally intended for the street in front of the building, had been erected before the altar, and here the ten coffins were laid, while Father Aust and a number of Polish priests celebrated Pontific High Mass.

In the meantime a gang of miners in the cemetery were blasting rock to make space for a large circular grave, in which all the bodies were interred. There were brief services at the grave, and several of the clergymen made addresses, urging the miners to maintain order and remain quietly at their homes.

Trouble at Coxe Bros.' Colliery.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 13.—Trouble has broken out at Coxe Bros.' colliery at Eckley. Two hundred miners at Buck Mountain, which is about three miles from Eckley, went on strike to-day and marched to the Eckley mines and forced the miners to quit work. It was stated that the miners had been roughly handled by the strikers. General Gobin has ordered the city troop of Philadelphia to go to the scene of the disturbance.

The situation to-night in the Hazelton district is one of unrest. All of the collieries in this district are apprehensive of danger. Requests have been pouring in to General Gobin from the various mines, asking that he send troops to the places in order to prevent any possible outbreak.

General Gobin said this afternoon that the withdrawal of the troops has not yet been considered. They will remain on the ground until the sheriff is convinced that he will be fully able to cope with any emergency that may arise.

WOMEN ARRESTED.

Emma Haas and Three Other Marching Females in the Law's Clutches.

Pittsburg, Sept. 13.—Emma Haas, the miners' Joan of Arc, and three other women, were arrested for marching at Plum Creek this morning by sheriff's deputies. The attempt to make the arrests precipitated an incipient riot, in which the deputies fared badly. No one was seriously hurt, but scarcely a deputy escaped a clubbing, and Superintendent Sam De Armit was cut on the head. Two of the women arrested carried babies.

The riot was the result of a carefully planned attempt to prevent the men at work at Plum Creek from entering the mines. There were 25 women and about 50 strikers concerned in it. The plan was to have the women march in front with their babies, with the design of working on the sentiments of the men who would be going to work, and to act as a shield for the rest of the party. The women were to crowd round each man as he attempted to go into the mines, taking his dinner bucket from him and then throw it into the ditch. After daylight the party started out, headed by Emma Haas. Those not having a baby carried a pick handle or a club. On the Murrayville road they encountered a posse of deputies, and were ordered back to camp. No attention was paid to the order, and the party tried to force their way through the lines of deputies. A scuffle followed, and Emma Haas and three other women were arrested. A scene of wild excitement then ensued. The moment a deputy laid hands on a woman he was surrounded by others, waving clubs in the air and using them on the head of a deputy when the opportunity offered.

Deputy Walker was severely clubbed and S. C. De Armitt was cut in the head. The deputies finally got their prisoners into the company stable, and later brought them to this city, where they were lodged in the county jail. After the removal of the prisoners from Plum Creek the excitement subsided and the women and the strikers returned to camp.

Will Go to Work To-Morrow.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 13.—The miners at nearly all the mines along the Wheeling division of the B. & O. Railroad with a revolver at Odessa in a fit of repentance.

He was a member of the German Lutheran body. His religious connections excited the suspicions of his superiors and they ordered him to resign or to in the Russian Church. He chose the latter course and then killed himself in remorse.

TAYLOR OUT, WOODFORD IN.

President McKinley Sends Greetings to the Queen o Spain.

San Sebastian, Sept. 13.—The retiring United States Minister to Spain, Mr. Hannis O. Taylor, was received in audience by the Queen Regent to-day, and presented his letters of recall. Soon afterwards the new United States Minister, General Stewart L. Woodford, was received by Her Majesty and presented his credentials.

General Woodford transmitted to Her Majesty the following letter from President McKinley:

"William McKinley, President of the United States, to Her Majesty Maria Christiana, Queen Regent of Spain:

"Great and Good Friend,—I have chosen Stewart Woodford, one of our most distinguished citizens, to reside near the Government of your Majesty, in the quality of Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States. He is well informed on the subject of the interests of the two countries and of our sincere desire to cultivate and maintain the friendship so long existing between the two Governments."

We are Not So Wicked as Others.

London, Sept. 13.—(Telegram Cable.)—The Times publishes to-day a column letter concerning the drink rate and death rate in Sweden, Norway and Canada.

The consumption of liquors in Canada is, in proportion to population, the smallest of any nation in Christendom. The death rate in Canada is also shown to be lighter than that of any other nation.

Locust Plague in Buenos Ayres.

London, Sept. 13.—The Times' correspondent at Buenos Ayres says it is feared there that the harvest will be almost entirely destroyed by locusts.

Forty Persons Killed.

Madras, Sept. 13.—A most serious accident has occurred at the Champion Reefs mine. Forty persons are known to have been killed.

No Necessity to Fight.

London, Sept. 13.—The Daily Mail says editorially this morning: "There is no necessity for America to fight Spain after all. An outlet for her fighting energy is provided by the indifference of a Pennsylvania sheriff."

THE MAPLE LAKE HOMICIDE.

The Thompson Brothers Sent to the Assizes Without Further Evidence.

Minden, Ont., Sept. 13.—No new evidence was given to-day at the Police Magistrate's investigation into the Sawyer homicide. At the close the Thompson brothers were committed to the jail at Lindsay to await their trial at the Fall Assizes. Much sympathy is felt for the aged parents of the prisoners, as well as for the family of the unfortunate victim.

DESERVED TRIBUTE

To the Worth of Sir Oliver and Hon. David Mills.

THEY ARE HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM

An Independent Paper's Remarks Concerning the Rumor That Sir Oliver Mowat Will Accept the Lieut.-Governorship and Mr. Mills the Portfolio of Justice

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Evening Journal to-night has a leading article headed "Mowat and Mills." It is as follows.

"Sir Oliver Mowat, who is evidently to be the next Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will be probably the most popular on record. Even Conservatives, respecting his personality and long and faithful public service, admiring his patriotism and realizing that, as politics go, the next occupant of the office must be a Liberal, will applaud the appointment of the ex-Premier. They would prefer him to any other Liberal, and they have generosity enough in their politics to think it not an unwelcome development, that a man who has served his province and country with the best of his life for nearly half a century, as small recompense as compared with what his brains and industry could have earned in private occupation, should end his career in what is nominally the office of highest dignity in the gift of his countrymen, an office also of honorable ease and fairly well paid.

"The entry into the Cabinet of Hon. David Mills will not be unwelcome, either, to most people. The old ex-Minister of the Interior is a man of personal integrity, wide political experience and sturdy Canadianism. He ought to make a good Minister of Justice, and anyway he will be good Cabinet ballast."

Hon. Clifford Sifton has delayed his departure for Dyea until about the end of next week. The Minister of the Interior has decided to do this on account of another telegram received from Superintendent McIllree of the Mounted Police, who is at Skaguay. The telegram is dated Sept. 2 inst., and states that it is still raining there very heavily and that some 3000 horses are crowded along the White Pass, making very little headway. It is said that the Mounted Police party only made 18 miles in 10 days. It is understood that Major Walsh will also postpone his trip until such time as Mr. Sifton goes. To leave at present would only mean a delay on the Pacific coast until such time as the rivers were frozen over, so as to permit of the party going to the interior by dog train. Mr. Sifton does not yet know whether or not he will make the trip to the interior of the country. If he finds out that he can get back all right, after spending a couple of weeks around Dawson and Fort Cudahy, he will do so.

M. O'Gara, Police Magistrate, has been appointed by the Dominion Government a commissioner to enquire into certain charges made in connection with the administration of the railway mail clerks' branch of the city postoffice.

Sergt.-Major Hogan of the city police force will be appointed to the position of Inspector of the Dominion Police, made vacant by the appointment of Dan O'Leary to the Deputy Wardenship of Kingston Penitentiary. Sergt.-Major Hogan has been for years one of the most popular officers of the Ottawa police department, and his appointment will give pleasure to a great number.

CANADIANS BUYING APPLES

New York Sun's Topeka Despatch Says They are After the Big Surplus in Kansas.

New York, Sept. 13.—The Sun prints the following despatch from Topeka, Kansas, to-day:

"Representatives of Canadian fruit companies are now in Eastern Kansas contracting for the big surplus of the apple crop. The cities of Winnipeg, Ottawa and Toronto have men here who, when they have contracted for the surplus, will go to South Missouri, famous as the land of big red apples, and continue their purchases. P. J. Miller, representing a big Manitoba concern, says the failure of the Canadian apple crop will cost the people of that country an enormous sum, as the Canadian tariff on American apples is 40 cents per barrel. Judge Wellhouse, the apple king of the world, who owns 2500 acres of orchard in Eastern Kansas, will contract his entire crop to the Canadian buyers."

A STARVING ARMENIAN.

He Walked About the streets of Newmarket and Devoured Garbage.

Newmarket, Ont., Sept. 13.—On Saturday last a stranger attracted much attention by his queer behavior. He walked up and down the street, always on the middle thereof, and around the market, picking up and devouring all the garbage he could find. His coat and long boots were slung over the shoulder, and his feet were bare. Inspector Anderson finally took him in charge, but could make nothing of him. The Medical Health Officer examined him, and thought him demented. On being brought before Magistrates Jackson and Woodcock this morning, Father Guinane of St. Michael's College, Toronto, was asked to speak to him. The man could speak a little French, and turned out to be an Armenian. He was sent to Toronto Jail for 30 days as a vagrant.

SHOOTING CASE AT GANANOQUE.

The Wounded Man is in a Critical Condition Investigation Postponed.

Gananoque, Sept. 13.—The preliminary investigation in the Hill-Kenney shooting case, in which a man named Hill is charged with shooting at Benjamin Kenney on Saturday last, when the latter attempted to cross a portion of Hill's property after being forbidden to do so, took place at Rosley's Bay before Justices of the Peace Moulton and Chapman to-day. Kenney is reported to be in a serious condition, and the case was adjourned for a week to await the result of his injuries. Hill was admitted to bail, his father and his brother being his bondsmen.

So thoroughly related is the nervous system to disease that some physicians prescribe Hypophosphites alone in the early stages of Consumption. A PLEA FOR FAIR PLAY.

Mr. Tarte has written to the Montreal Witness defending himself from charges of extravagance. He points out that Parliament voted for his department $2,439,920, of which only $1,748,439 was expended, and that he economized $60,000 in the administrative work of his office. It is worth noting that none of the large undertakings decided upon last session have any connection with Mr. Tart's branch of the public service. There was the fast line, there were the two railway projects, and there was the cold storage plan, and Mr. Tarte has no control over any of them. He is responsible for them just as any other member of the Ministry is, no more and no less. If they are thought to be against the public interest it is the Ministry as a whole, not Mr. Tarte, that ought to be blamed.

The controversy with the Witness is as to the location of certain harbour works at Montreal; and the Minister's contention is that he is basing his judgment on the general interest of the Dominion, while his opponents are thinking of certain local interests at Montreal. He may be right or wrong, but he is surely entitled to have position fairly stated. The fact is that th persistent and unfair attacks made upon him, the attempt to single him out for everything that is supposed to go wrong at Ottawa, the attempt to treat every accusation made against him as if it were proved, and generally the attempt to deny him common British fair play, are beginning to look more like petty spite and persecution than public spirit. Parliament and its committees are open to those who have charges to make against him. Till someone is ready to do this in a decent way it might be well to cease hounding im.—Globe.

UNFOUNDED CHARGES.

A despatch from Ottawa, headquarters of information on Dominion matters, and a lively competitor with some Conservative organs in Toronto for the dissemination of political lies, says: The assertion made on several past occasions in the Mail and Empire, that loyal volunteers who served in the rebellion of 1885, have been dismissed and their places given to rebels, is repeated in an editorial in Saturday's issue of that journal, which adds: "Mr. Sifton perpetrated this outrage with alacrity and without a murmur." The reason that more has not been heard of the "outrage," which has been confined to the editorial columns in question, is that the charge is false. Indignation is feigned over the appointment to an office of Maxime Lepine, a member of Riel's column in 1885, who was sentenced to serve seven years in penitentiary for treason-felony on his own plea of guilty. The reply is that Lepine has not been appointed to any office. He was appointed to the Winnipeg land office by the then Conservative Government shortly after 1885. The present Government has given Maxime Lepine no appointment, and as Mr. Sifton abolished the Winnipeg land office, Mr. Lepine must be patiently waiting somewhere until his friends and patrons, the late Conservative Government, return to power, and give him another job. These are the kind of "outrages" which are daily laid at Mr. Sifton's door. Maxime Lepine, ex-rebel and felon, has received no appointment or place, good, bad or indifferent, since the Laurier administration obtained power. He did receive as a reward for rebellion an office from the late Conservative Government, but holds none now. The loyal volunteer whom Mr. Sifton dismissed to make room for him is a myth of the editorial sanctum. While on this subject it is possible to give the Government's opponents more than they bargained for. Louis Schmidt attended Riel's second convention, acted as one of the secretaries, and subsequently became Riel's Secretary of State in 1899. This same arch-rebel was rewarded by the Conservative Government at Ottawa with the office of land agent at Battleford. Other appointments equally creditable, were made. An outlaw was appointed officer of the Inland Revenue Department at Prince Albert, and as the police were after him he hired an Indian boy to go to town and get his salary and bring it to the woods, where this official of the truly loyal party was in hiding.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Mail and Empire says "newspapers are not published to hide truth." No, merely to skin it.

WHEN you find anything in the Mail and Empire foreshadowing changes in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet, you may count on it being untrue. The latest freak of the newsmonger of the junior Conservative organ is to retire Sir Oliver Mowat as Minister of Justice and appoint "Sir Adolphe Chapleau, a Bleu of the Bleus, in his place." Beware of the Mail and Empire's Montreal "information."

AND now the small-wit cynics of the agnostic school will declare ironically that it pays to carry the Bible. A porter in New York proved his identity and thereby his claim to a fortune of $117,000 by a pocket Bible on whose fly-leaf his mother's name was written. A man who shows such reverence for Holy Scriptures and for his mother's memory is deserving of good fortune, and the winning of a fortune will not be the least of his reward.

WHEN miners in the United States who are working underground and earning $3.00 a week to keep a big family object, they are shot. The other day 105 unarmed miners—or so near unarmed that their whole offensive armament consisted of two pen-knives—were attacked by 102 well-armed deputy sheriffs and shot down to the number of a score or more. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the sheriff who ordered the shooting, but he is protected by the "State" militia. Shoot down the miners by the score, but protect the millionaire coal anarchists. We are sometimes asked to envy the great push and increase of population of the United States. But when we remember that the one represents the cruelest form of oppression and the other the riff raff of Europe, we are quite content to grow steadily, if slowly.

THE "spoils system" which the Opposition organs claim is the motif of the Liberal Government works in the interests of the people anyway. The Belleville Sun says that "Arrangements by which the post office at Belleville is to be placed back to its original system, effecting a very substantial saving for the people, have been completed, and what will be received as an exceedingly business-like plan has been adopted. Mr. Thos. Duncan, late assistant, has been given the postmastership a salary of $1,400 a year. He will be allowed to employ six assistants, for whose salaries the Government will provide the sum of $2,400. The postmaster will be responsible to the Government for the proper management of the office. It is understood that these arrangements include a provision whereby some of the old staff are to be retained, but at less salary than formerly." We must have economy in public expenditure, no matter what individual interests are affected.

EXPERT ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS AND DIAMOND DYES.

Some of the most expert chemists in Europe and America have thoroughly analyzed the various ingredients employed in the manufacture of the celebrated Diamond Dyes. In every analysis made it was found that only the purest materials were used, and the dyes produced—known as Diamond Dyes—were the truest to colour, the first in strength, and the most lasting as far as durability of colour is concerned.

This report of experts, dealing with package dyes for home dyeing, should convince every lady in Canada that it is not only safe, but profitable as well, to use only the Diamond Dyes when home dyeing is done. Some merchants for the sake of a little extra profit sell common imitation dyes. The ladies will do well to shun these inferior dyes, and in every case insist upon being supplied with the Diamond Dyes, the only warranted colours in the world.

The wonder of the Age.

Dear Sir,—I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B.B.B. for the disease called prairie itch and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured. I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

The Complex Physical System.

When Disturbed or Broken Down Paine's Celery Compound Builds it Up.

It is all important that nervous, run-down and sleepless people should know that Paine's Celery Compound completely builds up the whole physical system by perfecting the digestive powers, regulating the nerves, and giving sweet, refreshing sleep. Poor sleep and imperfect digestion in the majority of cases lead to prostration, and frequently to insanity.

There are thousands in Canada who are victims of nervous diseases and often laid low by attacks of nervous prostration; indeed, many are on the verge of awful insanity. For such people Paine's Celery Compound is the only safe deliverer, the only medicine that can restore to perfect health.

In the past thousands of Canadians have written sincere and hearty words of praise because of their deliverance from disease and death by Paine's Celery Compound. Try the virtues of one bottle, dear reader; you will be astonished with the truly wonderful results.

THE SAMANA FORTS

Attacked in Strong Force by the Afridis.

BRITISH FORCES CONCENTRATING.

Three Detachments Will Make a Simultaneous Move Forward To-Morrow - Failure of the Potato Crop Will Cause Great Distress in Ireland News by Cable.

Simla, Sept. 13.—At daybreak yesterday, following the repulses of the insurgents by General Yeatman-Biggs, who was attacked in the rear while moving along the Samana Ridge to prevent an attack on Fort Shahukhel, the British commander despatched a small column to recover some stores. This body of troops found the enemy in force, with 13 standards, but the tribesmen did not venture to attack the column.

The Afridis are reported to be attacking all the Samana posts. General Elles is concentrating his forces at Shahkadar to-day, preliminary to making a final advance into the Mohmand country.

The insurgents this morning captured the Sarhargarti police force. Information from the front received this afternoon shows the Afridis are attacking the Samana forts in force.

The post was attacked by a thousand Orakzais. A gallant defence was made by the garrison of 21 Sikhs, who for six and a half hours sustained three furious assaults. In the third assault the Orakzais forced the door. The garrison left the walls to expel the invaders, and the enemy was thus able to escalade the fort with the ladder.

One Sikh defended the guard room, killing 20 of the foe. He was finally burnt alive at his post. The signaller kept up communication until the fort fell at half past four. It is reported that he was the only Sikh who was spared.

General Yeatman-Biggs will relieve Fort Gulistan to-night, and the simultaneous advance of Generals Blood and Giles against the Mohmands will commence on Wednesday next.

Fort Lockhart and Fort Gulistan are still heavily attacked. The relieving force which has been sent forward consists of four guns and squadrons. The startling news comes from Fort Lockhart that the combined bodies of Afridis and Orakzais number 47,000 men. They are now all collected near Khan-Ki Valley, and will advance on the fortifications at Samana for an attack to-night.

A reconnaissance in force from Jamrud to All-Musjid has shown the Khyber Pass entirely deserted. The Afridis have evidently withdrawn into the hills.

A Storm of Protest.

London, Sept. 13.—The announcement that the Bank of England has decided to hold one-fifth of its reserve in silver has greatly astonished financial circles and aroused a storm of protest. Therefore little attention has been given in England to the reports of Senator Wolcott's work, and the present rumor would not be believed unless The Times had given it currency. As a matter of fact, the low tide of silver makes the opposition stronger.

PAINTING WORTH $120,000.

A Genuine Murillo Said to Have Been Discovered at Copenhagen.

London, Sept. 13.—The discovery of a valuable Murillo is reported from Copenhagen. Dubois De La Rue, a French connoisseur, found it in a dealer's possession, and has no doubt of its genuineness. He estimates its value at $120,000. The owner, however, fixes the price at $325,000. It is believed that the picture was painted by Murillo for the Jesuit monastery of San Ignacio De Loyola in San Sebastian. The middle portion is well preserved, and is distinguished by the freshness and warmth of the colors. The upper part, apparently, has been somewhat unskilfully restored. It is thought that it was removed from the monastery during the French invasion. Subsequently it was taken to England. It was sold to a Norwegian by an Englishman, on condition that it should not be offered for sale. This seems to indicate that it was stolen. It probably came to Denmark about 1820.

Anarchists Going to America.

Paris, Sept. 13.—Louise Michel, the notorious French Anarchist, is going to the United States in October. She will be accompanied by prominent English Anarchists, and they will undertake a speech-making tour in America, for the purpose of advancing the Anarchist propaganda. The State Department at Washington has instructed all the Ministers and Consuls of the United States promptly to notify the Home Government of the departure of Anarchists for the United States.

Doubts are expressed here as to whether Michel will be allowed to land.

REDMOND ON THE FAMINE.

Failure of the Potato Crop Means That There Will be Much Hunger.

London, Sept. 13.—Mr. John E. Redmond, the Parnellite leader, in an interview on the prospects of famine in Ireland, is quoted as saying:

"The failure of the crops, especially the potato crops, means that a large section of the people of Ireland will shortly be on the verge of starvation. It is already reported that the inhabitants of many places in Connaught are eating bread, which in ordinary times is regarded as a luxury and is not used except when potatoes are unobtainable.

"Agricultural experts have information to the effect that the present harvest is the worst since 1879, which was the most distressing recorded during the present generation."

It is reported that the Duchess of York will shortly issue an appeal in behalf of the Irish, who are threatened with famine, similar to the appeal which the Princess of Wales made in behalf of the London poor at the time of the preparations for the Queen's Jubilee celebrations.

The Circassia Is Safe.

Glasgow, Sept. 13.—Capt. Park of the Allan Line steamer State of Nebraska, which passed Tory Island to-day, after leaving New York for this port, on Sept. 3, reports having sighted the Anchor Line steamer Circassia, Capt. Boothby, which, on Sept. 10 last, was reported by the Thingvalla Line steamer Island to be in a disabled condition. The Circassia, when sighted, was not in tow. No apprehension is experienced regarding her safety.

Schack Changed His Creed and Suicided.

London, Sept. 13.—According to a despatch from Moscow to The Daily Mail, Lieut.-Gen. Baron Von Schack has committed suicide by shooting himself. He met to-day and decided to go to work on Wednesday, despite the ten days' clause adopted at Columbus. The Darmine at West Newton and the Jumbo, on the Panhandle road, resumed to-day.

A general resumption in the district is expected by Thursday.

They Condemned the Sheriff.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 13.—A mass meeting of about 4000 Lithuanians, Poles, Hungarians and Slavonians was held on the grounds of the Lithuanian Church here last night, to take action in the Latimer shooting. Rev. Peter Abromailis of the Lithuanian Church presided, and M. M. Burke was present as counsel to operate in behalf of the local organizations in the prosecution of Sheriff Martin and his deputies. Resolutions were adopted condemning the course of Sheriff Martin and his deputies, sympathizing with the families of the victims, and also pledging financial support in the prosecution of Sheriff Martin and his deputies. It was also decided that special high mass requiem should be celebrated to-day for the souls of the victims.

Social Democrats Talk Fiercely.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Meetings of the various branches of the newly organized Social Democracy were held last night to discuss the recent Hazelton tragedy, and some decidedly lurid language was indulged in by the speakers. Resolutions were passed by Branch No. 2, which contained the following: 'The blood of an idle and useless aristocracy is the most convenient medium for nourishing the tree of liberty. "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. For every miner killed and wounded a millionaire should be treated in the same manner. The millionaire class is responsible for the slaughter of Sept. 10, and we regard the torch as the most successful weapon to wield against them."

The Thunderer Defends It.

London, Sept. 13.—The Times, in a special article this morning on the Hazelton catastrophe, asks whether history is going to repeat itself in a duplication of the Pittsburg riots of 1877. It recounts the horrible "Molly Maguire" scenes witnessed in that year, and gives a general history of the strikes that have taken place in that region, testifying to the besotted brutality and ignorance of the miners.

The Times says: "Had the sheriff shown a moment of weakness the miners would probably have hammered him and his posse to death in ten minutes, and would then have begun murdering and pillaging right and left."

They Call It Murder.

St. Louis, Sept. 13.—At the regular monthly meeting of the St. Louis Trades and Labor Unions resolutions were adopted reviewing the strike and condemning as murder the wholesale shooting of miners at Latimer, Pa., recommending the Chicago Labor Convention, to be held Sept. 27, to take such action in this matter as to them might seem wise, and pledging support to any movement tending to do away with a system that makes such slaughter of human beings possible.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION BUILDING.

The Progress of Work on the Chancel Extension - New Seats to be Provided.

Last night a conference of those interested in the chancel extension and other improvements in St. John's South Ward Mission building, met in conference. The Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, the Building Committee, members of the congregation interested, and Rev. W. L. Armitage, who occupied the chair, were present.

Mr. Bamford, chairman of the Building Committee, reported as to what had been done, and stated that one half of the amount required to defray the cost of the chancel extension and incidental improvements, had been paid in.

Upon consultation, it was decided to add to the original scheme of improvement, which included the new chancel and the fitting up of the basement, the seating of the church proper.

The enlarged and beautified church will, it is expected, be ready for the formal opening about the first or second Sunday in October. The rector, curate, Rev. W. L. Armitage, Building Committee, and all actively associated with the work, deserve credit for the progress made.

MARRIAGE IN LINDSAY.

Matthews-Whiteside Nuptials.

Mr. Albert E. Matthews, of Ottawa, fifth son of Mr. George Matthews, of Lindsay, and a member of the George Matthews Company, Peterborough, Lindsay and Hull, was united in marriage this afternoon, the bride being Miss Maud Whiteside, of Lindsay.

The ceremony took place in the Baptist church, Lindsay, and was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hughson. The bridesmaids were Miss Matthews, sister of the groom, and Miss R. Whiteside, niece of the bride. Mr. Joseph Matthews, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. Two little girls, nieces of the bride, filled the places of maids of honour.

After the marriage the happy couple, with their friends, partook of an elaborate wedding dejeuner and left on the evening train for New York and Boston. Upon their return they will take residence in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews' numerous friends in Peterborough join friends elsewhere in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. J. J. Grievson, of Rochester, N.Y., and Miss B. Roche.

A very pretty wedding took place at 7 o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral when Mr. J. J. Grievson, of Rochester, N.Y., was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss B. Roche, daughter of Mrs. P. Roche, No. 849 George street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and many relatives and friends were present to witness the event.

The members of the Sodality, to which the bride belonged, greatly beautified the altar by lavish floral decorations.

As the bridal party entered the church an enchanting wedding march was played by Miss McCabe, and the Sodality sang in excellent style.

The bride was charmingly gowned in dove poplin, with trimmings of French brocaded silk and chiffon, and wore an elegant white hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Lizzie, daintily attired in cloud gray with garniture of brilliants and chiffon, wearing a handsome picture hat and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. D. J. Roche, of Brantford, Ont.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Only the intimate friends of the contracting parties were present.

The bride was the recipient of many costly presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Grievson left on the noon train for their home, Lake Avenue, Rochester, N.Y.

ARRESTED AT HAVELOCK.

Robert Burris in Gaol Charged With Horse Stealing.

County Constable Cochrane yesterday arrested Mr. Robert Burris, a farmer who resides east of Havelock, charged by Mr. Robert Bertrand, a farmer of Campbellford with having disposed of a pair of horses, the property of the latter.

It appears that Mr. Burris purchased a team of horses from Mr. Bertrand, giving in payment a lien note. As soon as the note became due Burris sent word to Bertrand to come and take his horses away as he could not pay for them. This Bertrand refused to do and Burris disposed of them to gypsies. Mr. Burris is now charged technically with stealing the horses under the Dominion Criminal Code and will be tried on Friday before County Police Magistrate Edmison, when Mr. F. D. Kerr will appear for him. In the meantime he will have a few days leisure time in charge of Gaoler Nesbitt, where he was placed to-day.

THIS IS DRILL NIGHT.

And It Behooves Every Member of the Battalion to Turn Out in Uniform.

The regular weekly drill of the 57th Battalion will be held this evening and it is to be sincerely hoped that the attendance will be larger than at the two previous turnouts this fall.

All the members of the Battalion participated in the enjoyable trip to Montreal and it is manifestly unfair for the men to expect to participate in the pleasures of the annual outing of the Rangers and afterwards try to evade turning out for the fall drill preparatory to inspection.

At the close of the drill before dismissing the men last Tuesday evening the Commanding Officer expressed his disappointment in very pithy terms, announcing his intention of stirring up a sense of honour in the delinquints by having them brought before the Police Magistrate and subjected to a fine, if they persisted in ignoring the orders which had been issued relative to the fall drill. It is to be hoped that such extreme measures will not have to be resorted to, but it appears that only the greatest firmness in such matters will answer the purpose of getting the men to put in an appearance on Tuesday evenings. Inspection is announced to take place early next month.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION.

Bishop O'Connor Will go to Sturgeon Falls Early in October.

His Lordship Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough, will make a pastoral visit to Sturgeon Falls on the first Sunday in October next, when the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered to a large number of children, who have been preparing for the joyous event for several months past.

His Lordship will remain in the parish for a week or more, during which missions will be held in Badgerow and Smoky Falls.

The Congregation of the Sacred Heart will tender His Lordship a reception in keeping with his high and holy calling.—Sturgeon Falls Colonization.

ANOTHER LIVELY WEEK!

HOW WE KEEP BUSY! One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain. Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

We are making this an unusual week for folks who are looking for New Fall Window Blinds, Wall Paper and Cornice Poles.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

1400 Window Shades
8000 Rolls of Wall Paper
600 Cornice Poles.

Having bought all the Blinds in the Wholesale House of Menzies, Turner & Co., of Toronto, at our own figure, early Fall Buyers will get remarkable bargains to begin the Season. We cannot make you understand the values that will be offered in these three lines until you see them.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

At the evening service the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, took as his text Jeremiah 6, 16. His subject was "The old time Religion." Life is a journey from the cradle to the grave. There comes a time when the path divides, and one must chose between right and wrong. People do not stop to consider. If they did, many a heartache and headache would be prevented. As travellers we should stop to inquire, "Which is the better road." With proper direction, mistakes may be avoided, and one would not incur the displeasure of God. It is easy to accuse others, but often we ourselves are guilty of the same kind of fault. It is one thing to do wrong, but it is worse to keep on doing wrong.

God calls the way of life an old path because it was ordained from eternity. It is well to consult those who are older and more informed than we are. The youth of to day should not treat with disrespect those older persons who have been less highly favoured than they.

The way of holiness is called an old path because in it have walked Adam, Enoch, Abraham, and many other saint-like men of bygone days, together with the martyrs of every age.

This path is not only old but good. A way is good when it is safe, direct, straight.

The way of holiness is a frequented way. The faithful do not walk alone.

It is a pleasant way—a way of still waters and green pastures.

The directions are: stand, see, ask, walk. Be cautious lest you get on the wrong track.

"An highway shall be there, and it shall be called the Way of Holiness. A wayfaring man, though a fool, shall not err therein, and the ransomed of the Lord shall walk there."

The sermon was excellent. Rev. Mr. Moore also gave a splendid discourse at the morning service, based on Gal. 5: 1, "Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty, wherewith Christ has made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

He spoke of freedom from the bondage of bad temper, an uncontrollable tongue, dancing, card playing, drinking and other evils.

Large congregations listened with pleasure and profit to both discourses.

In the evening Mrs. Hunter of Harrowsmith, sang in excellent style a pleasing solo, "Happy Day."

The trustees of the church are to meet at the close of the Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held this week at Mr. Jas. Tighe's, Stewart street, on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Joy will conduct it.

Can Rheumatism be Cured?

The application of Nerviline—nerve pain cure—which possesses such marvellous power over all nerve pain, goes greatly to prove that it can. Nerviline acts on the nerves, soothes them, drives pain out, and in this way gives relief. Try it and be convinced.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 25 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

Newsy Items From Peterborough's Big Electric Works—Big Orders Received.

An idea of the enormous amount of work under contract at the Canadian General Electric Works may be gained from the following paragraphs in the current issue of the Canadian Engineer:

The new electric locomotive recently shipped from the works of the Canadian General Electric Co., to the Hull Electric Co., is the largest machine of the kind so far constructed in Canada. The motive power will be furnished by a four-motor equipment of G.E. 51 motors, having at normal current input a capacity of 80 horse power each. The trucks are of the McGuire "L" pattern, with steel rim wheels. The body, which differs in operation and detail from the first locomotive supplied to the Hull Electric Co., was built for the Canadian General Electric Co. by the Crossen Car Co., of Cobourg.

The corporation of Magog, Que., has awarded the Canadian General Electric Company the contract for a 1,000 light single phase alternator and other apparatus for their new incandescent lighting plant. The street lighting will be done by 64 50 c.p. incandescent lamps, which are expected to furnish a much more satisfactory street lighting service than their equivalent of arc lamps.

The Exeter, Ont., Electric Light and Power Co., recently organized to take over the lighting business in Exeter, has placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for a 1,000 light single phase alternator, of the standard iron-clad armature compound-wound type.

The Doherty Organ Co., Clinton, requiring an increased dynamo capacity, has placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co., for a 200 light incandescent machine of the Edison type.

The Aylmer Electric Light and Mfg. Company, Aylmer, Ont., is installing an extensive incandescent lighting system. It has awarded the contract for the apparatus required for the plant to the Canadian General Electric Company. The generator will consist of a 80 kilowatt, 1,000 light standard single phase alternator of the revolving ironclad armature type, compounded to secure automatic regulation.

The Canadian General Electric Company is installing a 75 kilowatt monocyclic generator for Kilmer, Cowan & Co., of Southampton, Ont. NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The interior of St. Peter's Cathedral was photographed this morning.

—Court Forest Queen, Canadian Order of Foresters, meets to-morrow evening.

—The Bridge Works are working over time to complete certain contracts.

—Cobourg golf club has purchased 50 acres of land for their links for $1500. They will erect a club house.

—Frank Kelly and Joseph Calnan, two tramps, were given a month's work on the county gaol stone pile this morning.

—Last evening's trains from Toronto brought a large number home who had been in Toronto during the exhibition.

—The Charlotte street Ladies' Aid will give their annual Thanksgiving dinner on the evening of the coming Thanksgiving Day.

—In yesterday's EXAMINER tenders were asked for the erection of a new driving shed and stable in connection with the Mark street church parsonage, Ashburnham.

—Mr. Taylor, of Wellsman's Corners, Northumberland, has sold two Ayrshire bulls to the Nova Scotia Government, a practical tribute to his standing as a stock breeder.

—A number of bags of potatoes were confiscated by the Kingston market clerk last week, the weight of each bag being 76, instead of 90 pounds, which latter is the legal weight.

—Don't miss seeing "The Next Congressman" at the Opera House to-morrow night. Lots of good singing and dancing and loads of fun guaranteed for those who attend. Prices 25c, 35 and 50c. Secure your seats early.

—A beautifully mounted sea gull is attracting general attention in the window of Mr. Jas. Sutherland, George street. It was picked up dead on the shore of Rice Lake by Mr. Robt. Dixon, of Keene, and was mounted by Taxidermist Hudson.

—The men employed by Mr. J. B. McWilliams in opening a gold mine at Burleigh, and a copper mine in Dummer, have ceased work until Mr. McWilliams returns to town. They speak in good terms of the prospects of both.

—In the accident by which young Delaire was injured last week, it seems that the boys deny scuffling for the possession of the revolver and state that the weapon was at half cock, and when the hammer was being let down it slipped and exploded the cartridge.

—This is evidently a good year for the peach, but not particularly so for the grower, as they have become a glut on the market. Last Saturday evening in the city two baskets of peaches were offered for 25 cents in order to dispose of the supply on hand.

—The San Jose scale is causing much loss in Eastern Indiana, where it is devastating the orchards. The pest's enormous capacity for reproduction, one female producing about 3,000,000 offspring annually, makes it a terror to horticulturists. Our Governments are doing well to diligently search for its beginnings, and to combat it before it gets a good start.

—The other afternoon while a son of Mr. William Nichol of Burnt river, Somerville, was examining the nipple of his gun to see whether there was a cap on it, the hammer slipped from his fingers, the charge exploded and part of the load of pigeon shot went through his left boot, smashing the second toe and slightly grazing the sides of the first and third.

—The shipment of oysters from New York westward will average 20,000 bushels a day for the next two months, and after that 10,000 bushels a day; that is the present estimate. They are sent to England at the rate of 6,000 barrels a week. It is said this is going to be a good oyster year, and as our own waters are prolific of good bivalves, Canadians should be selfish enough to prefer them to any other.

—The present outlook is that good winter apples will be scarce, the buyers offering $2 75 to $3 per barrel for selections to the farmers around the front, and even at that price they are unable to pick up any great quantity, owing to the farmers holding them for their own consumption. Other fruits are abundant. Taking a general survey of the yield in fruit and vegetables the prospect is fairly encouraging. The potato blight, however, will cause a scarcity in that most desirable article.—Port Hope Guide.

—Cobourg issues the following challenge in respect of the members of its town council:—"If there ever was a number of men who delighted to hear themselves talk on anything and everything and nothing, we are willing to bet dollars to doughnuts that our civic fathers can effervesce more nonsense in two hours than the said number of men can spin out in a day and a night." Cobourg had better be careful in issuing such challenges. Peterborough's civic fathers will easily lower their colours.

Numberless anecdotes are related of eccentricities and characteristic acts of Rev. Lorenzo Dow, the famous itinerant Methodist preacher. Mr. Collins relates that when he was a widower, he said to the congregation one day at the close of his sermon: "I am a candidate for matrimony; and if there is any woman in this audience who is willing to marry me, I would thank her to rise." A woman rose very near the pulpit, and another in a distant part of the house. Mr. Dow paused a moment, then said: "There are two; I think this one near me rose first; at any rate I will have her for my wife." This woman was in good standing and possessed of considerable property. Very soon after this eccentric wooing she became Mrs. Dow.

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Heys, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

MARK STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE

A Friendly Visit Received from the Charlotte Street League.

On Monday evening the Charlotte street E. L. of C. E. had full charge of the Mark street League service.

After a few words of welcome from the Mark street League, Mr. Tovey, president of the Charlotte street League, took the chair, and conducted the exercises.

The hymn "Tell me the Old, Old Story," was sung, after which three members of each society led briefly in prayer. Miss Thomas then read the evening Scripture reading, Eph. vi, 1–9, the audience reading alternate verses. A selection by the choir was next in order, and Mr. Tovey briefly introduced the topic—"Bible Directions for Practical Life,"—and then called upon Miss E. Thomas, who read an excellent paper on that subject. Mr. H. Froude then gave a short, pointed address, and Miss Maggie Sherlock read a thoughtful paper.

After singing another hymn the meeting was thrown open to allow all to take part briefly.

Then followed a short but very pleasing and practical address by Rev. Mr. Smith, after which the choir gave another selection.

Five minutes intermission then gave a chance for conversation and introductions.

The closing hymn was sung, and Rev. Mr. Moore pronounced the benediction.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Mark street Social Committee, and a very enjoyable half-hour was spent in social intercourse, after which the happy gathering dispersed, regretting that such occasions are not more frequent.

Our customers will therefore please bear in mind that on and after the above date the drivers of our wagons have orders not to leave any parcels unless they receive the money for them.

Thanking you for past favours and trusting to further merit your patronage under the new rule, we remain,

Yours Respectfully,

DELIVERIES OF WHEAT.

One Million Bushels Already Marketed in Manitoba Prices 80 to 83 Cents Winnipeg Notes.

Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—The total deliveries of wheat at country points will aggregate for the last week 1,000,000 bushels. Yesterday's deliveries along the C.P.R. amounted to 270,000 bushels, of which 10,000 were delivered at Griswold alone. Eighty to eighty-three cents was paid.

Up to last night over four times as much grain was marketed in the province as ever before at the same period. Threshers' returns indicate that the crop will be fully up to the Government estimate of 17,000,000 bushels.

Mrs. James Ashdown, wife of Winnipeg's millionaire hardware merchant, was thrown from her wheel on Saturday and run over by a heavy wagon, sustaining a very severe fracture of the leg.

Col. F. Bailey, lecturer on forestry in the University of Edinburgh, specially of British Columbia forests, says: "I was exceedingly sorry to observe great devastation by fire. It would be a wise provision on the part of the Government to make a reservation of selected areas and protect them from the ravages of forest fire.

The C.P.R. will establish a line of steamers to carry on the Yukon trade.

The mistress of a Winnipeg young man, prominent in sporting circles, died at St. Boniface Hospital Friday under suspicious circumstances. She had been perfectly well three days before. A post mortem examination will be held.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Montreal, Sept. 12. (Special.)—Three foolhardy men, named Lassier, Ball and Tessier, were out in a small boat near Lachine yesterday, and, having been drinking, they decided to shoot the rapids. The result was that Lassier was drowned and the other two rescued by Constable Martin, who, in a boat, was near the scene of the accident.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou —Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

HIS HORRIBLE DEATH.

Showman Windell H. Ordway, Manager of the Noah's Ark show, Cut in Two by a Freight Train.

Toronto, Sept. 12.

Windell H. Ordway, who for the past two weeks has been the manager and lecturer of the Noah's Ark attraction at the Exhibition, met with a horrible death on the Grand Trunk track near the foot of Bathurst-street on Saturday afternoon. He was run over by a train, and his body was frightfully mangled.

After the last show at the Exhibition on Friday night, the animals in the Noah's Ark were packed up to be removed to London fair. Saturday morning they were placed aboard a freight train between the foot of Strachan-avenue and Bathurst-street. After all of the animals had been loaded up, Ordway got aboard the train to bid goodbye to some of his friends, as he was leaving for his home in Boston. He stood on the back end of one of the cars when the train suddenly started, and the jolt threw him between the buffers. The wheels of several cars passed over him before the train was stopped by the shouting of those who witnessed the terrible tragedy.

Ordway's body was literally cut in two at the abdomen, and presented a most horrible and appalling spectacle. Death must have been instantaneous. The mangled remains were picked up by deceased's comrades and removed in the police patrol wagon from No. 3 station to the Morgue, where Coroner Johnson will hold an inquest on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Ordway's friends, when they recovered from their horrors, were furiously indignant at what they considered gross negligence on the part of the trainmen, as they claimed that no signal was given that the train was going to start. A lively altercation took place between the show men and the train hands.

Ordway was the man who wore glasses at the Noah's Ark show, and who did the lecturing. He was about 35 years of age, and was well liked by his confreres. He was going to Boston, where he lived on Chamber-street, to meet his wife, who is an actress. He had no children.

An eye-witness of the fatality, was Harry Talbot, an attache of the show. "I was standing on one of the flat cars under the Bathurst-street bridge when the engine left the cars standing, and after it had been away about five minutes it returned and coupled to the cars. Then the train started suddenly without any warning from any one. I was busying tying a rope to one of the lion cages at the front of the car, while Ordway was at the back end of the car next to me. He was lighting his pipe, when suddenly he was thrown against me, thus preventing me from falling between the cars where he himself fell. Just a moment before the accident occurred, Ordway said to me: 'Harry, don't step between the cars, for they start up quick sometimes.' There were several standing around, but I don't know their names. After Ordway fell, there must have been five or six cars pass over him, for he was terribly cut up. The train was stopped by the shouting of those around, after going a short distance. I am sure no warning was given of the return of the engine, which had only been away from the train about five minutes, and being around trains as much as we are we are always looking for signals from the engine before our train moves."

Walter Ordwell of Boston, brother of deceased, wired the police yesterday that he would be in town to-day.

Undertaker Harry Ellis has been engaged by some of deceased's friends to look after the remains and prepare them for burial after the inquest.

Miss Murphy of 102 Gerrard-street east was a very intimate friend of deceased, and she is almost prostrated with grief owing to his untimely death.

FORTY-TWO LIVES LOST.

The Steam Whaler Nevach Caught in an Ice Pack in the Arctic Ocean With Terrible Results.

Otter Point, B.C., Sept. 12.—Shortly before the Cleveland left St. Michael for Seattle, the United States revenue cutter Bear put into St. Michael with Captain Whiteside, his wife, the first and fourth officers and four seamen of the steam whaler Nevach. They are all that remain to tell a terrible story of death in the Arctic. The Nevach was caught in an ice pack in the Arctic Ocean. Of her crew, 42 were lost; 31 were crushed in the ice or frozen to death. The bear saw the vessel's signals of distress near Point Barrow and lost no time in going to her assistance. The captain, his wife, two officers and four sailors were glad to leave the dismantled, crippled ship, but nine refused positively to go. They were lost in the desolate field of ice, and it is feared they have perished with their comrades.

REBELS STILL ACTIVE

Fort Shabkadar is Now Threatened Rear Guard of Col. Biggs Attacked Fiercely.

Simla, Sept. 12. News has been received from the front that Fort Shabkadar is now closely surrounded, and that any attempt to reconnoitre beyond a five-mile radius is opposed by a determined rebel fire.

The rebels are still gathering at Hangu. Yesterday while the column of Col. Biggs was moving along Samana Ridge to prevent an attack on Shabkadar Fort the commander found that position secure, but his rear guard was attacked by the rebels at nightfall and a fierce conflict ensued. The enemy was repulsed with heavy loss. The official despatch adds: "Our losses are six natives killed and several wounded. Firing can be heard in the direction of the Mohmand country."

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered. Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

"Down Brakes, and Reverse!"

When a driver is discovered rushing on to a frightful collision it is a thrilling instant as the engineer whistles "Down brakes!" and reverses his lever. Brakes alone are not enough; the whole propelling power of the engine must be reversed and made to work in the opposite direction. That is how it is sometimes with disease.

There are times when the system is flying along the track of disease at such a frightful pace that no ordinary methods will prevent disaster. There are plenty of medicines which act merely as brakes to "slow up" the disease and put off disaster for a little while; but that isn't enough. What is needed is a medicine that will instantly reverse the entire wasting, degenerating process.

When people are losing flesh and strength and vitality, with the life oozing out of them day after day, they need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which acts directly upon the vital forces, completely transforms the entire nutritive organism and totally reverses the wasting, debilitating process which is at the root of all diseases.

It enables the digestive and blood-making organs to supply the circulation with an abundance of pure, healthy, red blood. It stops the wasting of tissue, builds up solid muscular flesh and healthy nerve-force.

Miss Mary Whitman, of East Dickinson, Franklin Co., N. Y., writes: "For nearly ten months I have had a bad cough and instead of getting better, it grew worse, until I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I hesitated at first, for it seemed to me nothing would give relief only death. My parents were anxious about me, and I was said to have consumption. I tried your medicines, and before I had taken many doses there was a great change. When the second bottle was empty I had no cough and was a great deal stronger."

GERM OF MALARIA.

SCIENCE HAS AT LAST FOUND THE HITHERTO ELUSIVE DANGER.

Success Has Crowned the Efforts Made to Isolate the Cause of One of the Most Common and Troublesome Diseases—What Malaria Germs Look Like.

Science has at last caught and imprisoned on glass slides, for the benefit of humanity, the germ of malaria. For many years medical men have labored in vain to isolate this tiny cause of human misery. Colorless, finer than a needle's point, and yet productive of a vast amount of anguish, it has eluded, up to a short time since, the most delicate and vigorous experiments which savants could plan out. Now, however, it has been captured, and through the aid of Dr. Patrick Manson, physician of the Seaman's Hospital and lecturer at St. George's and Charing Cross Hospitals, in London, has been stained so that the lens of the camera might faithfully picture it.

The photographs which are herewith reproduced show this little horror just as it looks when it enters the system and carry the reader's eye through the various stages of development until the final point is reached. It is impossible to overestimate the importance of the discovery of the malarial organism, a discovery which ranks second only in modern medical achievement to the finding by Professor Koch of the bacillus of consumption. It is impossible to doubt the relationship of the germ of malaria photographed to the disease, for experimental inoculation of human beings with blood known to contain the parasite has invariably been followed by symptoms in the one inoculated corresponding to the symptoms of the person from whom the infected blood was taken.

1. 2. 3.

SOME MALARIA GERMS.

Experiment has also demonstrated that the one great destroyer of this malarial parasite is quinine. To this extent has the theory of modern medicine been proved correct. But Dr. Manson shows that there has been woeful ignorance of the proper method of administering the medicine, and that we have in a measure been doing ourselves at random. It is a fact that many physicians have scoffed at the idea of quinine being the best remedy for malaria. Dr. Manson's experiments, however, seem to prove that the hitherto accepted belief of these gentlemen is incorrect. It has been decided that each clinical type of the disease, the tertian, the quartan, and the estivo-autumnal, depends upon a particular species.

Irregular cases are supposed to be due to the invasion of the body by more than one variety at a time. If Dr. Manson is correct in his conclusions, the different types are only different stages in the evolution of the one parasite which at each stage produces different symptoms. In the end all reach the flagellated state, unless their career is cut short by quinine or some other drug of equal power.

Dr. Manson says that by following the methods he describes a large number of preparations of the flagellate body can be procured.

Thirty or forty strips (three inches by one and one-half inches) of thick blotting paper, each having an oblong hole one inch by two-thirds of an inch cut lengthways in its center are prepared; they are then slightly but sufficiently moistened with water and laid in rows on a sheet of window glass.

A patient in yellow blood the crescent form of the malarin parasite abounds is selected. His finger is pricked and a minute droplet of blood the size of a large pin's head is expressed.

A clean microscope slip is then breathed on once and, the droplet of blood immediately taken up by lightly touching it with the center of the breathed on surface of the slip. The blood is now rapidly spread out with a needle. Immediately the slip is inverted over the blotting paper cell, thus forming a perfect moist chamber. In about half an hour the slips are removed, gently dried and fixed with alcohol, then stained. Most of the slides will show numbers of spheres and many well-stained flagellated bodies.

Very few crescents remain untransformed. In the crescents (Fig. 1), in the ovals (Fig. 2) and in the early stages of the sphere (Fig. 3) it can be seen that the melanin pigment is in or on a central body, which takes the fuchsine stain less intensely than does the peripheral portion of the organism. It is also evident that at a later stage the lightly staining central mass expands considerably and that subsequently (Fig. 4) the flagella are formed at the expense of this central mass, and that for a time these flagella lie inside the delicate cyst wall which forms the outer covering of the parasite. Later still (Fig. 5) these preformed flagella are projected through the cyst wall and ex-flagellation is completed.

It will be observed that in some of the

4. 5. 6.

OTHER MALARIA GERMS.

flagellated bodies (Fig. 6) the central mass of the organism is of considerable bulk, larger, apparently, than the crescent bodies from which they originated. In contemplating in fresh preparations the evolution of the living crescent-derived sphere into the flagellated body one sometimes fancies that one can see these flagella, like those of an octopus, wriggling about inside the membrane of the parasite. Heretofore this has been only a fancy, for the unstained living specimen is so transparent that one could never be sure.

It is now evident that the fancy is well founded. Every crescent-shaped malarial parasite in the course of evolution becomes this ferocious creature, rushing through the blood, attacking with its whirling arms the red blood corpuscle and only too often destroying it.

The anemia of malaria is well known, the pallid face and strengthless body consequent upon the blood deprived of its red corpuscles. It is fortunate, indeed, for the human being thus attacked that there is a drug which causes the death of the parasite—quinine.

A Brave Man.

"Nicolas, Chevalier d'Assas, a French captain in the Auvergne Regiment, born at Vigan in the Languedoc, while making a reconnaissance during the night of Oct. 15, 1760, at Klostercamp in Westphalia, met a column of the enemy which was advancing in silence to surprise the French army. He was ordered to keep silent or else they would kill him. D'Assas at once cried out, 'A moi Auvergne—the enemy is here!' He was killed on the spot."—Bouillet's Dictionary of History.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

A Father's Assurance.

Mr. Cumrox's son was studying his Latin lesson. There was the tremolo of discouragement in his voice as he remarked:

"I don't seem to get along with this lesson very well, father."

"Can't you say any of it?"

"Yes; I can say 'amo, amas, amat'; and then I always forget what comes next.

"What does those words mean, Johnny?" asked Mr. Cumrox, who deserves credit for being always ready to add to a somewhat deficient early education.

"They mean 'I love, thou lovest, he loves.'"

"It does seem too bad to see you starting in so soon," the old gentleman mused, "with the difficulties that has always surrounded that verb. But you might as well commence young to learn that them words in one way or another cause two-thirds of the botheration that occurs in this life."

"Please, can I quit school, then?"

"No; it wouldn't be any use. You couldn't dodge 'em, and you might as well go right along and get as familiar with them as possible. You'll find that learnin' 'em ain't half the worry that handlin' 'em is after ye know 'em. Cheer up, Johnny, and remember that most of your trouble is still ahead of you."—Washington Star.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

When you pinch your finger you think you feel pain the very same instant, but really the hurt and the pain are not quite simultaneous, although they seem to be so. If a person had an arm long enough to reach the sun, it would be 132 years before he would feel the pain of the burn.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Autumn Hats——

The coming of Autumn is foreshadowed in the rapid accumulation of New Styles in Headwear, for Men's, Boys' and Children's use.

If you have a new suit you can only make your outfit complete with a stylish Hat.

If your suit is old you can brighten up your whole appearance with a new Hat.

Common sense is to get a good Hat. A poor Hat is shabby in no time and is an expensive investment. A good Hat is a necessity to every man's dress. Goodness in Hats here and at prices to suit the purse of the average man.

If you want your Furs Renovated, Re-dyed, Remodelled or Repaired, send them in early as convenient. Must meet the hurried, pressing demand later on. We'll quote you lower prices now.

REGISTRATION AND BRANDING OF CHEESE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I find that the new regulations for the registration and branding of cheese are by no means well understood. In the interest of factory men, therefore, I ould ask you to publish in your paper the essential sections of the "Act to Provide for the registration of Cheese Factories and Creameries, and the Branding of Dairy Products, etc.," passed at the last session of Parliament:

Sections four and five read as follows:—

4. No person shall sell, offer, expose, or have in his possession for sale, any butter or cheese made in Canada, and destined for export therefrom, unless the word "Canadian," "Canadien," or "Canada," is printed, stamped or marked in a legible and indelible manner, in letters not less than three-eighths of an inch high, and one-quarter of an inch wide, upon—

(a) The box or package containing the butter or cheese, and—

(b) Moreover, in the case of cheese, upon the cheese itself, before it is taken from the factory where it was made.

5. No person, with intent to misrepresent, shall remove or in any way efface, obliterate or alter the world "Canadian," "Canadien," or "Canada," or the registration number on any cheese, or on any box or package which contains cheese or butter.

In procuring brands it is very important that factory men should get proper and legitimate brands, as I am informed that there are brands offered for sale which do not meet the requirements of the law, and their use would be, therefore, contrary to law. Would you kindly publish also the schedules giving information as to how to apply for registration of a factory?

Witness.....P. O. Address.

SCHEDULE B.

Form of brand for registered number to be allotted to cheese factories and creameries:

REGISTERED
No.
DAIRY ACT 1897.

The figure or figures of registration to be inserted, and the letters and figures, as provided by section 4, must not be less than three-eighths of an inch high and not more than one-quarter of an inch wide.

I would advise all factory men before purchasing a new brand to apply to Prof. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner for blank form according to "Schedule A," and they will be cheerfully furnished with blanks and all needed information.

Yours in the interests of the industry.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

W.C. McCrea, of the Peterborough Business College, was in the village on Monday.

Visitors to the Toronto Exhibition have returned home and report it the best for many years.

Ducks are very scarce and hard to get. The sports report empty game bags.

The fishing is very fair. A nineteen pound lunge was brought into the village this week.

Mrs. P. McNeil is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Geo. McCartney, of Bethany.

Master Gordon Moffat, of Norwood, passed through the village Sunday.

Daniel McCarthy has quite a pleasant smile for everyone now. It's a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McCrea, of Campbellford, spent a few days here last week.

Mr. R. J. McCamus has the contract of painting the outside of the Town Hall.

Apples are very scarce in this section.

Mr. E. G. Porter leaves for the Toronto University in a few weeks.

Mr. T. J. Wallace will have charge of the Lang school for the remainder of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. John McFarlane and family are spending a few weeks with friends in the east.

Mr. James Yourex has had an offer for his mill property and it may change hands.

David West and his two sisters, Mrs. Joe. Elmhirst and Mrs. R. J. H. Short, are visiting their parents in Oregon.

On Wednesday, the 8th inst., the Methodist church of this village was beautifully decorated with flowers, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Alice Chapman to Mr. Robert Brown. A large number of friends and well-wishers assembled at five o'clock to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Liddy, under a beautiful arch of evergreens and a floral bell which was erected for the occasion. The bride looked very attractive in cream muslin, trimmed with ribbon and lace. She wore a white leghorn hat and carried a bouquet of flowers. She was assisted in the ceremony by Miss Adeline Eson, a close friend. The groom was supported by Mr. W. Chapman, brother of the bride. Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison played the wedding march. After partaking of an elaborate wedding breakfast, the young couple were accompanied to the station by a number of friends and young people and were greeted with the customary showers of rice and old boots on their departure to Toronto, where they spent several days. The young couple have now taken up their abode in our midst. We wish them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Mr. William Pullyblank, our veterinary surgeon, very skilfully performed an operation on a horse belonging to Mr. John Dickson. He removed an ulcer from the shoulder of the horse, which weighed three pounds. The operation was performed on Saturday last and the animal is doing nicely.

Patato rot is reported by many in this vicinity. We hope that the crop, which is above the average, will not be damaged by the disease.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

Bright's Disease.

"They done me any amount of good," were the words of Mr. Nelson Green, Galt, Ont., in speaking of his rescue from kidney and urinary difficulty by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Green says that he only tried them out of curiosity, but it was a lucky experiment, for Doan's Pills made a complete cure in his case. He is now a cured man, feeling strong, well and in good spirits.

THE HARVEST MOON.

When the Queen of Night is So Called

September's notable astronomical features is the harvest moon and the crossing of the equinoctial by the sun. The full moon, which occurs nearest the autumnal equinox, is popularly termed the harvest moon. On Sept. 10th the moon was full. That is, twelve days before the equinox, which occurs this year on the 22nd, and as it is nearer the equinox than the following full moon, we are clearly entitled to give it the honour of being called harvest moon. The peculiarity of the full moon which comes nearer the autumnal equinox is that it rises at nearly the same time for several nights in succession.

A full moon always rises about the time the sun sets; but on the evening following the day on which the moon reaches its full stages it rises after sunset at periods ranging from a few minutes to more than an an hour, depending on season and latitude. The intervals are shorter with September moons than with those of the other months. The difference of time between successive risings of the moon after sunset, comparing September with March, the month when the vernal equinox occurs, practically disappears around the equator and increases with the distance from that time.

Around the time of the autumnal equinox the angle between the plane of the horizon and that of the ecliptic, or of the path which the earth traverses in its yearly journey around the sun, is smaller than it is at other times during the year. This is why the moon of that period seems to rise about the same time for three successive nights. In England most of the crops are gathered in September, and the full moon of that time, which comes up for several evenings just after sunset, leaving only a brief interval of darkness, was once deemed to be a special provision of Providence to enable the farmers to continue their work onward into the night without interruption, and thus it popularly became known as the harvest moon.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (80 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

An Ingenious Swindle.

The Kingston News tells us that the other day a young man arrived in the city and purchased a lot of brown paper at a wholesale grocer's. He bought a cheap pair of scissors and went out to the City Park, where he clipped the paper into small slips. He then stamped "celebrated fly paper" on the back and went from one house to another selling the stuff. He gave three sheets for ten cents and got rid of a large quantity of paper. The people found afterwards that the supposed poison had no effect on the flies. The young man left town with over $40 in good money after one day's work. A great many merchants and even druggists bit.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER? Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery." "I like that name nothing stuck up about it." "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C.P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "Yes I am" "Well die up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. PLENTY OF TROOPS

To Crush the Rebellion on the Indian Frontier.

FORCE OF 59,000 MEN AND 90 GUNS

Ready to Advance Against the Fanatical Hosts of the Mad Mullah—Fort Gulistan is Hard Pressed But Relief is Near at Hand—General News by Cable.

Simla, Sept. 14.—There are now 59,000 men and 90 guns, including Maxims, mobilized on the frontier and in the garrisons. Everything is ready for the advance from Shabkadr. The men are in splendid condition.

The lower Mohmands on the border are anxious to submit on any terms, but the main body is still determined to fight. It is reported that the Mullah of Huddah has failed to raise the gathering he expected, and will retire to Tirah.

Fort Gulistan is still hard pressed by the enemy. In a sortie the garrison succeeded in capturing three standards. The column of Gen. Yeatman Biggs was due to arrive there this morning. The principal difficulty which the Mohmands punitive expedition has encountered thus far is in getting stores and transport animals to the front. The entire railway between Peshawur and Meerut is practically blocked from lack of engines. Long lines of loaded trucks are waiting to be forwarded. All the available trains are being used to hurry the troops to the front. Sir Perath Hingh, Maharajah of Patiala, has arrived at Peshawur.

Gen. Biggs' Advance.

Simla, Sept. 14.—General Yeatman-Biggs, advancing along the Samana Ridge to the relief of Fort Gulistan, found the enemy entrenched in considerable force in the Ghoza Hills. The 3rd Gourkha Regiment stormed the position. One Sepoy was killed and five were wounded. General Yeatman-Biggs has relieved Sangar, one of the posts on the Samana Ridge which had been hotly attacked. The garrison had made a sortie and captured a standard. A mounted messenger was sent on by General Yeatman-Biggs to inform the garrison at Fort Gulistan that relief was coming. The commander also sent guns to the foot of the hills near Fort Gulistan, which shelled the enemy, and to some extent diverted attention from the fort.

The enemy is visibly strong in force at Saraghari, and it is feared that, flushed with their success in the capture of that police post, they may attack Fort Gulistan so fiercely that the small garrison will be unable to hold out until General Yeatman-Biggs arrives.

FAST LINE CONTRACT.

Difficulty Experienced by Petersen, Tate & Co. in Making Arrangements.

London, Sept. 14.—(Telegram Cable.)—Despite the statement that the Petersen-Tate syndicate have not abandoned the fast steamship contract, it is believed here that the present attempt to construct the line will fail. The greatest difficulty has been experienced in obtaining definite information from the contracting firm whether the deposit to bind the contract has been paid, one partner referring the enquirer to the other. Many here believe that Lord Strathcona and other directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway are behind the contracting firm. One of the largest shippers to Canada expresses the opinion that it would be difficult to make the line pay.

BRITISH MANUFACTURES

Are Still Leading in the Colonies, So Say the Colonial Governors.

London, Sept. 14.—A blue book has been issued giving the replies of the Colonial Governors to the despatch of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, in 1895, sent with the view of ascertaining the extent of the displacement of British goods by foreign goods. The main conclusions arrived at are that the British manufacturer is still supreme in the best classes of goods, with the exception of machinery and tools of certain patterns, in supplying which the United States is most successful, although Canada is often a successful competitor in these lines.

PROGRESS ON THE NILE.

Four Gunboats and Egyptian Troops Have Reached Berber

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 14.—Major-Gen. Hunter, with four gunboats and the Egyptian troops, has reached Berber, which was occupied about ten days ago by the Soudanese, who are friendly to the British, on the evacuation by the Dervishes, who retired in the direction of Metemmeh.

THEY CAN SETTLE NOW.

Ambassadors Authorized to Accept Lord Salisbury's Proposals.

London, Sept. 14. The morning papers contain despatches from Constantinople asserting that all the Ambassadors are now in receipt of instructions enabling them to come to a full agreement on the basis of Lord Salisbury's proposals for the constitution of an international commission representing the six powers, to assume control of the revenues with which Greece will guarantee the payment of interest to the holders of old bonds, as well as payment of the indemnity loan.

Beating a Boarding House.

London, Sept. 14.—There were many spectators present in the Marylebone Police Court this morning, when Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Serge de Niel, otherwise known as the "Duke and Duchess of Rio Grande," the female prisoner being an American, claiming relationship to ex-Senator Conger of Michigan, were brought up on remand, charged with defrauding hotels and boarding houses. Counsel for the prisoners announced that he was ready to pay the claims against his clients, adding that there was no evidence of criminal intent, and that, therefore, he asked that the proceedings be discontinued. The magistrate, however, denied the request. Both prisoners were formally committed for trial, and were subsequently released on bail furnished by the friends they had in court.

WANT A STRONG NAVY.

Herr Kusserow Says Germany Could Not Prevent a Blockade.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of the Colonial Society last night, Herr Kusserow, formerly Prussian Minister at Hamburg, delivered an address advocating a strong navy for Germany. He said:

"The present navy could not prevent a blockade of German harbors, and the destruction of important seaports. German diplomacy will always try to avert a quarrel with England; but if such a conflict ever occurs, Germany would be obliged to seek allies among powers who would estimate the value of the alliance with reference to Germany's strength as a naval power."

Without advocating precipitate measures of competition with England or France, he urged the necessity of the steady development of the fleet to meet the needs of the second commercial power in the world.

The society unanimously adopted a resolution in accordance with the views of Herr Kusserow, which will be forwarded to the Emperor.

The papers to-day comment upon the meeting and upon the attitude of Prince Bismarck in throwing his influence on the success of the Radicals rather than encouraging the Conservatives in their inclination to support the Emperor's naval plans.

The Vossische Zeitung is satisfied to regard Bismarck as a greater statesman than Kusserow, even in naval matters, and adds:

"We can assure the Herrn't of Friedrichsruhe that the Radicals will not lag behind him in the fight against the Conservatives, and that the result will be shown at the approaching general elections."

Got Vigorous Imprisonment.

Bombay, Sept. 14.—Gangadhar Tilak, the native member of the Legislative Council and partner of Dr. Bao Madow Bal, publishing the newspaper Kesari who was arrested with Bal on July 27, on the charge of inciting the natives to disaffection, was sentenced to-day to 18 months' vigorous imprisonment. Bal, who was the printer of the paper, was discharged.

Von Hahnke's Funeral.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—The funeral of Captain von Hahnke, son of the chief of Emperor William's Military Cabinet, who met his death by drowning in July last, while accompanying His Majesty on his trip to the Northland, took place to-day with full military honors and in the presence of large numbers of military and naval officers. The ceremony, which was most impressive, was witnessed by an immense concourse of people. Beautiful wreaths were sent by the Emperor and the Empress and by Prince Leopold of Prussia.

Famine Imminent in Ireland.

London, Sept. 14.—Mr. Harold Frederic, the London correspondent of The New York Times, has an article in The Daily Chronicle to-day, describing the prospects of famine in the County of Cork, and testifies to the "universal alarm lest the famine of 1847 be repeated."

CONVICTS ARE WILD

Because Their Tobacco Supply Has Been Cut Off.

THEY HOWLED ALL THE DAY LONG

People in the Village Feared an Outbreak and General Jail Delivery, But the Authorities Say There is No Danger Other News Notes From Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 14. (Special.)—The Village of St. Vincent de Paul is in terror to-night, fearing a revolt and general jail delivery in the penitentiary. The convicts have been howling in chorus all day, and at latest reports are keeping it up. The authorities are reticent, but I learn that the shutting off of the tobacco supply was the immediate cause of the outbreak, which the acting warden and his staff are powerless to quell. They claim, however, that there is no danger of a revolt. It seems that a few years ago it was decided to do away with tobacco gradually, convicts coming in after May, 1895, to receive none. Since July 1, 1897, there have been no funds available for purchasing the weed, and the old-timers feel this as a hardship. Besides, of late, the authorities have refused to allow friends to send any in, hence the present howls and sounds from the walls of the prison. It is an open secret here that discipline has been lax since the commission began to enquire into the administration of the prison, as the convicts were summoned as witnesses against the authorities. On Sept. 3 a sensational break for liberty was made by seven convicts confined to the hospital. They had gagged and bound all the trustees and cut a hole through the ceiling, when a falling piece of wood gave the alarm to the guards. These men are to be tried in the Court of Queen's Bench.

Later—The convicts ceased their outcries about 10 o'clock.

Archbishop Bruchesi held his first reception to-night at the Palace, which was attended by a large number of the most prominent citizens, both French and English. He was assisted by Vicar-General Racicot and the members of his household. Many Protestants attended, among them His Worship Mayor Wilson Smith.

The noted Provencher gang of burglars, James Farley, Albert Douglas and Joseph Clarke, were to-day given five years each in St. Vincent de Paul by Mr. Justice Ouimet, the charge being having dynamite and burglars' tools in their possession. These are the men who committed many burglaries at Highgate Springs last July and fired at train hands at Lacolle. The two first came from New York. They conducted their own cases.

He Was Determined to Die

New York, Sept. 14.—Paul Depierre, the ex-Vice Consul from the French Government in New Orleans, who lived in a fine flat at 106 East 67th street, and whose daughter succeeded in getting him not to commit suicide the night before last, could not overcome his despondency, caused by his domestic troubles, and this morning he ended his life by inhaling illuminating gas in the kitchen of the flat.

Siam's King in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 14.—President Faure and the King of Siam reviewed the Northern army at St. Quentin, Department of the Aisne, to-day. Later, the President conferred decorations upon several foreign officers, including Lieut. Williams of the United States army, who received the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

NEWS FROM DAWSON CITY.

A Winnipeg Man's Letter From the Gold Fields Dated Five Weeks Ago—The Prices Paid.

Winnipeg, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—A letter from Mr. McKenzie, one of the Winnipeg party that left for Klondyke in July last, was received here to-day, dated five weeks ago at Dawson City, at which point the party had arrived safely on July 31. On Dawson he says: "There are dance-houses, gambling of all kinds, saloons, barbers, bakers, shoemakers and all kinds of shops and notorious women in abundance. Saloons are wide open, and you can get anything you want except fresh meat. Butter is 75c, tea $1, bacon 40c, sugar 25c, oatmeal 25c, cornmeal 25c, bread, three loaves $1, meat $1.50, drinks 50c. Everything in the shape of mining claims in all the region was staked when they arrived. Some of the claims are now turning out $1000 per day and all the way down to small amounts. They pay $1.50 per hour, but the miner has to pack his living and outfit for 15 miles over the worst trail ever known, through muskegs, over hills and rocks that would puzzle a rat, and it takes the cream out of the miners' wages. I cannot advise anyone to come here expecting to get gold lying around in chunks. There are any amount of men here, and they are coming all the time. Old-timers say that if there are no new finds made, we had better be prepared to get out after this winter, for the largest part of the present find will be worked out this winter."

Chicken-shooting commences to-morrow, and everybody that can get away is now in the field waiting for daybreak of the 15th.

YELLOW JACK'S RAVAGES.

People Are Leaving Jackson and Mobile as Fast as They Can.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 14.—The people here have continued to be greatly excited over the fever outlook. During last night and to-day people continue to leave the city. The chief interest centred in Edwards, twenty miles distant, where Dr. Purnell, the fever expert, last night reported three suspicious cases out of a total of thirty.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1897.

VISIBLE ABSURDITY.

The cartoon in the Globe of Tuesday is a visual reductio ad absurdum. It is labelled, "The Model Farm of the Ontario Opposition; with a grand display of the 'stock' arguments that have been 'raised' thereon." An enclosure is represented with a label on the fence reading, "This farm will be exchanged for office; apply to Whitney & Co." Leaning over the fence, looking on the scene with indulgent interest, is Hon. Premier Hardy. The prominent figures are Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, and his hay rake, rather subordinated by the stalwart and defiant figures of Mr. St. John, of West York, standing in front of a trough representing the provincial "piggery" that he insists costs $30,000. Feeding at this and well-fattened by Mr. St. John's hyperbole, is a pig labelled "the great piggery issue." In the background, behind the pig, is shown the "calf with a cough," which in spite of Dr. Ryerson's distinguished medical services is "given up." In the background and respectively "superannuated" and "for the bone yard" stand on their crippled, spavined pins, which seem hardly able to support even their hyper-osseous anatomies, two discarded steeds — the "Protestant horse"—(Green Eye Opener)—and the "Catholic horse," (Facts for Irish Electors). At Mr. Whitney's feet is an absurdly small cock of "Hay—made in September." The value of the various products of the Opposition model farm as depicted consists in their representing (ridiculous as they seem) the chief "stock" of arguments with which the Opposition are fighting the present campaign, as well as those used in half-a-dozen previous campaigns. "The calf with a cough," that was to compass the destruction of the Agricultural College, is apparently turned out to die, and serves as a type of the only kind of fatted calf the Opposition will be called upon to kill to celebrate the return of the wayward prodigal, office, to the Opposition model farm. The "Protestant" and "Catholic" horses, though badly crippled, may be again put in training for the general election races, though which will be selected will depend—not on facts—but upon circumstances—whichever is the likelier to travel the faster and achieve the strongest backing. The "piggery issue" seems to be the only live issue upon which dependence is placed—a case of "root hog or die."

The cartoon mentioned is a graphic expose of the weakness of the position of the Opposition. Instead of dealing like statesmen with the record of the Government, and in a statesmanlike manner suggesting some improvement of what they assume to condemn; they content themselves with picayune picking of flaws anxious only to attain power even if they have to crawl through a pigstye in the process. Either the record of the Ontario Government is a good one, or the Opposition isn't worth its salt in their capacity of critics; for in the cruise of twenty years they have been unable to find a ground of complaint against the government that was of a higher level then the petty issues of a ward contest. So far the Opposition has signally failed to show a single bona fide reason why the present government should be relieved of its trust and has even more signally failed to show themselves in the slightest degree capable of carrying on the government of the province.

THE PESSIMISTS DISAPPOINTED.

Before and after the present Liberal Government came into power the croakers of the Conservative party predicted universal industrial and commercial smash and ruin. Manufacturing establishments that are now running overtime, at the times mentioned were told that they would have to shut down owing to the incompetent mismanagement and ruinous fiscal policy of the government, and amongst the "faithful" there was nothing but gloom and a fearful looking out for trouble. In connection with these bilious predictions contrast the following remarks of Toronto wholesale merchants in evidence of the fact that good times are at hand:—

I have been in business in Toronto for the past twenty-seven years, and never sold so much goods in the same length of time as during the past two weeks.—W. R. Brock, dry goods.

Our orders received during the past two weeks necessitate the shipment of more packages of goods than at any time since we began business. — Andrew Darling, dry goods.

The sales made in the house during the past two weeks to the people from all parts of the province were the largest in quantity and value in our experience in fifteen years in business in Toronto.—Caldecott, Burton & Spence, dry goods.

Business has not been so lively for at least ten years. — Donald Mackay, dry oods.

These two weeks have been with us the best in ten years.—John Macdonald, dry goods.

The improvement over former years was quite remarkable.—S. F. McKinnon, dry goods.

The millinery opening sales were the best for many years.—Reid, Taylor & Bayne, millinery, etc.

The millinery opening sales were the most successful for ten years—D. McCall & Co., millinery, etc.

Stationery orders doubling.—The Barber & Ellis Company.

Rather better feeling in business generally.—H. S. Howland, Sons & Co., hardware.

More business than usual—W. H. Hamilton, boots and shoes.

Every one talking of good times.—Eby, Blain & Co., wholesale grocers.

THE reports that Hon. William Harty would retire from the Department of Public Works, is not well founded. True, Hon. Mr. Hardy is in ill-health, but is rapidly regaining strength, and expects soon to be in harness again. This will be pleasant information to the honourable gentleman's many friends in Ontario.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Our charming, healthful and invigorating summer resort during the season is a gay and animated little place. Mrs. R. Pope, of Peterborough, has returned home after visiting Miss Maggie Young.

Miss Lizzie Collins, of Chicago, is the guest of Miss Maggie Kearney.

Rev. Father Scollard, of North Bay, paid our village a visit last week.

Miss Jennie Kearney is visiting with friends in Peterborough.

Two of Rochester's phenomenal fishermen, Messrs. T. F. Farber and G. Atchinson, who have been spending their vacation here, returned home Monday with a large catch of fish. Mr. Farber, your correspondent can say, is an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton and was very successful one day, he having landed a seventeen pounder on a light rod.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto picked up yesterday's game on a fumble and handed it over to Scranton. Dineen was in winning form, but it was no use. He was in front of bad business. The men behind him made errors just when most useful to the Minors, and as Yerkes' deceptive delivery was fairly well supported the Islanders had little trouble in dropping the game. It would have been a pitchers' battle, in favor of Dineen, had both men received similar support. The home twirler kept the hits perfectly scattered, while McHale's single and Freeman's homer over the fence earned two in the eighth for Toronto. Yerkes pitched a great game and Scranton deserved the victory. He is now to Toronto, having spent the season with Cortland of the New York State League. Further details, other than the score, would perhaps be superfluous:

Toronto	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 2 0—3

FRENCHMEN BEAT THE BARONS.

Montreal, Sept. 14. Montreal took the first of the series from Wilkes-Barre this evening. Both pitchers were batted hard, but Yerrick had more control of the ball than Keenan. Bannon's work in left was a feature of the game. Score:

Montreal	1 1 1 5 2 2 0 0 9—12
Wilkes-Barre	1 4 1 1 1 0 0 1 0—9

STARS AND BISONS BEATEN.

Buffalo, Sept. 14. Providence walloped Buffalo hard in the opening game of the last series. The Grays liked their namesakes' pitching, while Buffalo's few hits off Eagan were kept well scattered. Score:

Providence	2 0 1 0 0 2 4 2 *—11	14	3

Batteries—Gray and Urquhart; Eagan and Coogan.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 14. There was a pitchers' battle at Star Park and Woods had a shade the best of it. Springfield's three runs were scored after Jud Smith's error lost a chance to retire the side. Score:

Batteries—Lampe and Shaw; Woods and Nichols.

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston, Sept. 14. Philadelphia played good ball to-day, but Boston played better. The game abounded in brilliant plays. Nichols pitched magnificently and only in the second inning was he batted to any extent. The visitors' outfielding was remarkably fine and Cooley and Dowd killed several long hits by their splendid handling of bats. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	2 0 2 0 0 2 0 0 *—6	11	1
Philadelphia	0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—4	6	3

Batteries—Nichols and Berger; Taylor and Clements.

At Baltimore. The champions won from Chicago in a game characterized by heavy batting on both sides. Thornton's pitching was poor and he rarely found the plate; when he did, however, the home team had no difficulty in hitting safely. Dr. Pond was also batted freely, but managed to keep the visitors' hits more scattered. Fast double plays and scientific base running were the features. Attendance 2803. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	3 5 2 1 0 5 0 0 *—15	18	3
Chicago	0 3 0 0 1 0 2 1 1—8	15	4

Batteries—Pond and Robinson; Thornton and Donohue.

At Washington. The last game of the season on the Washington grounds was poorly played by both teams, but full of the uncertainty which keeps up interest. The finish when four singles and a base on balls brought in the winning run was one of wild excitement. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness. Miller hurt his hand in sliding and could not play. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	0 5 0 0 1 4	10	1 5 3
Cincinnati	5 0 0 4 0 0—	9	7 3

Batteries—Mercer and Farrell; Breitenstein, Dwyer and Schriver.

At Brooklyn. Brooklyn won a well-played game from New York. It was Seymour against Dunn, and, although the New Yorkers made one more hit than their opponents, Dunn pitched the best game. Both teams will play off a postponed game Wednesday. Shepard, formerly of Brockton, Mass., played his first game with Brooklyn and did well. Score:

Brooklyn	1 2 0 0 0 3 0 1 *	7	8 4
New York	1 0 0 0 2 2 0 0 0—	5	9 5

Batteries—Dunn and Smith; Seymour and Warner.

At Louisville—Two games were played, Pittsburg capturing the first game by hard hitting. Hill was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning. Umpire Kelley was struck on the ankle by a foul tip in the third inning and had to retire. The second game was called on account of darkness, at the end of the fifth inning, with the score a tie. Two games will be played to-morrow. Scores:

First game—

Louisville	0 0 1 0 4 0 3 0 0—	8	13 3
Pittsburg	0 0 1 0 6 3 0 0 0—	10	16 3

Batteries—Hill, W. H. Clark and Dexter; Gardner and Sugden.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Louisville	2 0 0 0 0—	2	5 2
Pittsburg	0 1 0 1 0—	2	4 1

Batteries—Magee and Wilson; Killen and Sugden.

At Cleveland—The game, played before a small crowd, was full of snap from start to finish, but the visitors were outplayed at every point. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	1 0 4 0 1 0 2 0 *—	8	13 1
St. Louis	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—	1	8 1

Batteries—Young and Criger; Donahue and Douglass.

PREMIER AT ST. JOHN

Sir Wilfrid Had an Enthusiastic Welcome.

AN IMMENSE CROWD IN THE CITY

Messrs. Tarte and Fielding Were Also Present Opening of the Provincial Exhibition - Sir Wilfrid Says There is No Country on Earth Like This Canada of Ours.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 14.—The city is in holiday attire to-day in honor of a visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Tarte.

Fully ten thousand people were present at the Intercolonial train shed when the Montreal express pulled in, and the cheering lasted some minutes. As soon as Sir Wilfrid stepped from his car to the platform, erected for the purpose, Mayor Robertson extended his greetings in behalf of the city, and received addresses, at the conclusion of which the Fusiliers' band played "My Own Canadian Home."

The Premier was given rousing cheers as he started to reply to the addresses. He heartily thanked the Mayor and corporation for the address and the citizens generally for the reception tendered him.

At the conclusion, on the call of Mayor Robertson, three cheers were given for Sir Wilfrid. After this the Premier entered a brouche with Messrs. Tarte and Fielding, the Mayor, aldermen and others following, and, headed by the Fusiliers' band, all proceeded to the Dufferin Hotel.

The city is gaily decorated with bunting, and all the shipping in the harbor displays its full set of flags. The weather is bright, with warm sun. It is estimated that there are at least 20,000 visitors in the city to-day.

It was 3 o'clock before Sir Wilfrid had completed his lunch and was ready to proceed to open the Exhibition. On arrival at the grounds he was received by a guard of honor from the Fusiliers. After inspecting the guard the Premier and Messrs. Fielding and Tarte were conducted to the grand stand by W. C. Pitfield, W. H. Thorne, Col. Tucker and J. Vellis. President Pitfield delivered an address, speaking of Sir Wilfrid's visit to England and his great reception as the leading statesman of Canada.

The Premier made a very happy reply, and completely captured the ten to twelve thousand people on the ground. He spoke at some length of his Jubilee trip. He recognized in England the greatest country on earth, and was proud to live under her flag. He visited sunny Italy and France, but in all his travels he saw no country to compare with Canada. He loved England and he loved France, the home of his ancestors, but above all he loved Canada best. He referred to the enterprise and push of St. John in seeking to secure the winter trade of Canada, and said his aim would be to never rest until he had so arranged affairs that every pound of freight imported and exported to and from Europe would go through Quebec and Montreal in summer and St. John and Halifax in the winter. This declarntion was cheered again and again. Continuing, he said that, having accomplished that, he would seek to have as much American freight brought to Canadian seaports as possible.

The crowd called on Fielding and Tarte, but they declined. The Premier then, under the guidance of President Pitfield, inspected the Exhibition.

Mr. Tarte, with Chief Engineer Coste and Mr. Fielding, went on an inspection of the harbor improvements.

The levee held by Premier Laurier in the Exhibition building this evening was attended by thousands of people. It was in every respect successful. Hon. Mr. Fielding, Sir Louis Davies and Mr. Tarte were also in attendance.

To-morrow the Premier and Ministers go for a drive around the city, later for a sail about the harbor, and afterwards a trip on the St. John River on the new steamer Victoria, in which luncheon will be served.

Massacre on the Congo.

Marseilles, Sept. 13. The mails which arrived to-day from the French Congo bring news of the massacre of a trading convoy in Cameos, Upper Congo. The Pahouin tribe on July 20 fell upon the convoy near the town of Njole, on the Congo River, killing about 40 natives. The two white men who were in command are believed to have escaped.

Italian Wheat Harvest Very Short.

Rome, Sept. 13.—According to the official statistics the wheat harvest in Italy is estimated at 30,000,000 hectolitres, against 51,000,000 hectolitres in 1896.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

IS IT A CORNER SCHEME?

Grain Operators at Winnipeg Have Withdrawn Many Buyers and Give No Reason for the Step.

Winnipeg, Sept. 14. (Special.)—A number of prominent grain operators have withdrawn their buyers from the markets of the Province. What may be the cause of this is only conjecture. Some attribute it to the competition of milling companies, and that the amount of wheat, being far below the amount estimated, it will be so largely bought up by millers as to leave little for exporters. Another reason given is that grain men have formed a combine which will allow them to dispense with many buyers and give them complete control of the market at many points. On Saturday prices paid at many points were below what could have been given, still allowing the grain men a good margin. The Tribune calls upon the Government to step into the market and arrange to send farmers' grain to Fort William if necessary.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

The Wm. Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

THE X RAYS.

The Bullet in Young Delaire's Arm Easily Located Yesterday Through This Wonderful Invention.

The presence in town yesterday of a couple of gentlemen exhibiting an x rays machine excited a good deal of interest in town, both amongst the medical practioners and those inclined to foster the location of new industries in the town.

Mr. D. M. Seely, president of the Fessenden Mfg. Co., which has the exclusive right of placing the instrument on the market, and the Chicago agent, Mr. E. S. Lee, were in charge of the instrument, and yesterday afternoon it was set up at the Light and Power House on the Dickson dam.

A local interest was lent to the experiments conducted, through the fact that the machine on exhibition is the invention of Prof. Fessenden, a nephew of Principal Fessenden, of the Collegiate Institute.

The medical men of the town were all in attendance to see the demonstration, and quite a few capitalists conferred with the management during the day, as the company is willing to dispose of the Canadian rights to the patent, and Peterborough has been selected as the most likely location in Canada for the manufacture of the instruments.

This is the first time the X Rays have been exhibited in town, and although the effect which they were supposed to have in rendering flesh, etc., transparent, was generally known, yet the marvellous accuracy with which a bullet, which the doctor's could not find in young Delaire's arm, was instantaneously located as soon as the arm was subjected to the rays, was astonishing. The arm was swathed in bandages, and yet when the rays were turned on it, swathing bandages, sleeves and flesh disappeared, and the bullet laying against the bone was as plainly discernible as a blot of ink on a piece of white paper. Mr. Lee placed himself between the audience and the light, which shone through his body showing the pulsations of the heart quite distinctly, as well as the ribs and bones of the body.

When only fourteen years of age Dr. Boucher fractured his arm and when that member was exposed to the influence of the rays the spot where the union was effected could easily be detected.

Local practitioners are very anxious to see one of the instruments ordered, as it would be invaluable for the setting of fractures, etc., and as photographs can be taken of any of the transparencies created, an additional value is lent to the instrument.

Messrs. Seely and Lee are just on the way to Chicago from Ottawa where they were attending the meeting of the British Medical Association and where a large number of sales were made.

A PECULIAR CASE.

A Man is Sure he Recognised his Trousers on a Prisoner but yet Cannot Swear to Them.

Daniel McCarthy was in the police court this morning charged with the theft of a pair of trousers from James Vance.

McCarthy and Vance, together with a number of other Trent Valley Canal employees, slept in a shanty out on the line of the canal, and one day someone "went through" the place and a number of things were missed on the return of the men.

McCarthy went railroading immediately afterwards, and Vance having his suspicions that he was the thief laid information against him, resulting in his appearance before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

The prisoner had on a pair of trousers and a hat exactly similar to those which were missed, but as there was no particular distinctive mark on either of them and as, of course, there were other like patterns obtainable, the charge fell to the ground for lack of evidence, and the case was dismissed.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown, and Mr. F. D. Kerr, for the defence.

Watch for These.

Wait until next week for upsetting prices in new fall window shades and wall paper. We skip the story that led to this special purchase of 1,400 blinds, and 8,000 rolls of wall paper. A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Nuptials, Last Evening, of Mr. John Duignan and Miss Marguerite Morgan.

St. Peter's Cathedral was crowded to the doors last evening by the many friends of the participants in a wedding ceremony which was performed at seven o'clock by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

The bride was Miss Marguerite Ethel Morgan, daughter of the late Wm. Morgan, of Otonabee, who has been living in Detroit for the last several years, and returned to town to be married from the house of her brother, Mr. W. J. Morgan, No. 142 London street. The groom was Mr. John Duignan, the popular superintendent for the Dickson Lumber company.

Mr. W. J. Morgan gave the bride away. She was attired in a rich cornflower blue broadcloth, with hand embroidered silk front, and wore a blue chenille hat to match, with tam crown and trimming of birds. The bridesmaid was Miss Sylvia Morgan, who was charmingly gowned in green organdy with garniture of chiffon and green ribbons. She wore a hat to match.

The groom was assisted by Mr. P. Simons, jr.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party drove to the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. W. J. Morgan, London street, where a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served. Miss McCabe playing the wedding march as the bride and groom entered the house.

Later on in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Duignan drove to their future residence, No. 35 Homewood avenue.

The bride and groom were unusually fortunate in the large number of most beautiful presents which were received. Most conspicuous amongst these were two very handsome easy chairs, presented by the employees of the Dickson Company, accompanied by the following address:

Mr. John Duignan, Peterborough:

DEAR MR. DUIGNAN—We, the undersigned co-workers with you in the employ of the Dickson Company, of Peterborough, (Limited) desire upon this, your wedding day, to tender to you our congratulations, and to wish you, with her who is to become your partner, all best wishes for a long life of much joy and happiness. We ask you to accept of the pair of chairs which accompany this, as a small token of our good will, and we trust you may long be spared to enjoy a rest in them as you read your paper by your own fireside in the evening after your daily duties are over.

Mrs. R. Pope has returned from Young's Point, where she has been visiting Miss Maggie Young.

Rev. D. O. Crossley and family have gone to Stony Lake to-day for a week or more, and will occupy the cottage of Mr. W. H. Hamilton.

Miss Annie Craig and her brother Wallace, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Ashburnham, returned to their home last evening.

Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Hastings, passed through town yesterday on his way to Bobcaygeon, where he will address the Sabbath school convention now in session.

We are pleased to note that Mr. J. Byrne, George street, has been appointed agent for the R. S. Williams Piano Co., of Toronto, by W. E. Green, inspector of agencies for the said firm.

Mr. Wm. Caldwell, the nomadic representative of Brown Bros., wholesale stationers, Toronto, is paying the town his first visit since his tour in the Northwest and on the Pacific slope, from which he has just returned. Mr. Caldwell reports things booming in the districts mentioned and the business he has done far exceeds that of any of his previous visits. He has taken orders more easily, simply because business men feel faith in the future and are inclined to buy goods they have good hopes of selling. The magnificent crops of the Northwest this year, Mr. Caldwell thinks, are the making of the country. Mr. Caldwell travels with his eyes open, not only to the interests of his firm, but to the general conditions that should concern every true Canadian.

RUN OFF ON THE G. T. R.

A Locomotive and Three Cars Derailed.

The mixed train from Lindsay did not arrive to-day until noon instead of at seven o'clock this morning on account of a special freight leaving the rails at Resboro at about four o'clock in the morning.

The freight was in charge of Conductor Russell and when passing through Resboro struck a horse, derailing the engine and three cars. The locomotive was thrown completely over on its side and a car load of hogs and two of lumber ditched at the same time.

The auxiliary was sent out and although the mixed had to remain over in Lindsay, the track was cleared in time for the 8.10 a. m. Toronto Express to be able to leave Peterborough on time as usual.

ANOTHER LIVELY WEEK!

HOW WE KEEP BUSY! One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain. Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

We are making this an unusual week for folks who are looking for New Fall Window Blinds, Wall Paper and Cornice Poles.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

The annual exhibition of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society will be held at Centreville on Thursday and Friday, October 7th and 8th.

Railway to Minden.

Last week a deputation of which Mr. J. Austin, the Liberal candidate for East Victoria was a member, waited upon the Ontario Cabinet with a verbal petition for government aid to a projected railway from Irondale Junction to Minden, and the ultimate terminus of which is to be at some point on the Georgian Bay. The Government promised to consider the project, and it is thought likely that Hon. E. J. Davis, the provincial secretary, will visit the chief points on the route, and obtain information upon which to base an opinion as to the advisability of granting the request.

RE-ORGANIZED FOR THE YEAR.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

There was a large and representative meeting of ladies at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon when the Auxiliary connected with that work was re-organized.

The object of this department is to cooperate in the work of the association and in all ways to assist in the furtherance of its mission, subject to the supervision of the board of directors.

The work that the ladies of the various churches have lately accomplished in assisting in the furnishing of the new building and opening up the work in the same, may be regarded as an indication of the interest that will be take in the newly-organized Auxiliary.

Mrs. Frank Mason occupied the chair and Mrs. R. S. Davidson acted as secretary pro tem.

The first business was the presentation of the report of the treasurer of the Furnishing Committee, by Mrs. Davidson.

The following is the statement of contributions from the various churches and the manner in which the funds were expended by the committee:—

RECEIPTS.

St. Paul's Presbyterian church	$122 35
St. Andrew's church	25 00
Charlotte street church	55 00
George street church	99 33
Mrs. Wm. Spiers' Bible Class	85 00
Proceeds of Ladies Day at opening—
St. John's, St. Luke's and St. John's Mission Episcopal churches (high tea)	104 00
Charlotte street (lemonade)	7 65
St. Paul's (flowers)	6 31
St. Andrew's (candy)	13 71
	$449 26

DISBURSEMENTS.

Mrs. Wm. Spiers' class, furnishing of reading room	$ 55 00
Charlotte street church, office and cosey corner	55 00
Carpets, blinds and curtains	122 07
P. Alexander, electric fixtures account	59 45
Chairs and furniture	66 50
Sundry accounts	37 59
	$396 21

This shows a balance of $53 on hand, but there is an account for electric light fixtures of $110 unpaid, which leaves the committee $57 in debt. The report was adopted.

The General Secretary then submitted a constitution, which was also adopted provisionally, and the meeting proceeded to organize on the lines as laid down by the same.

A general committee was elected, composed of representatives from each church. This committee will be the auxiliary's executive. The first work for those who are on the general committee is to meet and elect a president, two vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer; also to nominate the various committees and then convenors.

The following ladies compose the general committee:

George street—Mesdames Kennedy, F. Mason, Nugent.

St. Paul's—Mesdames A. Lech, R. S. Davidson, J. Dennistoun.

St. John's—Mesdames Best, Greenwood and P. Campbell.

St. Andrew's—Mrs. VanEvery and Miss Lundy.

Charlotte street—Mesdames Hamilton and Campbell.

Baptist church—Mesdames (Dr.) Scott, Hunter and Misses Mann and Hunter.

Mark street—Mrs. Wand and Miss Smith.

St. Luke's—Mrs. Peck and Miss Mills.

St. John's Mission—Miss Chamberlain and Miss Lundy.

The ladies elected are requested to meet next Tuesday, Sept. 21st, at the building to complete organization.

EXPLANATORY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—You will do me a just favour if you kindly insert the following explanation to "Explanatory" in your next daily issue:

I beg to state for the honour of all concerned, and for the satisfaction of our "Headmaster," that in my budget of Sept. 1st a typographical error, which quite misconstrued the meaning of my manuscript, occurred in the paragraph relating to Mr. Dundas. It should have read:

"Mr. Arthur A. Dundas, B.A., of Deer Park, Ont., ONE OF THE TEACHERS who pulled up such a high percentage of passes in our High School, etc.

The correspondent regrets having conveyed an unintentional slight on anyone's ability, or to have misplaced the honours due to any of the teachers, and am sorry to have called forth from our Headmaster the unnecessary statements regarding Mr. Dundas' work in the school during the year just closed. The result of the examinations under his department speaks for itself.

Yours,
CORRESPONDENT.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S CONFERENCE.

The meeting of male citizens to be held in the council chamber on Thursday night is nominally to consider the relations of the Children's Aid Society to the neglected and dependent children of the town and county. But it is certain that the discussion will broaden out considerably beyond this point. The Society has come to a stage where its powers are limited and fall short of adequately coping with the conditions met. This is especially the case in relation to the young girls of the town, whose peril of ruin of the saddest kind is sufficiently grave to appeal to the practical philanthrophy of every person possessing an interest in maintaining the high social standard of the town. It may be claimed that the young girls of Peterborough are no worse than those of other places of a similar size. They are doubtless pretty much alike. That's the gist of the case. We wish to keep our girls good and pure and there is sadly abundant evidence that they will not remain so if the conditions that beset them with such terrible temptations are not speedily removed or at least greatly mitigated. When we see scores of young girls, scarcely more than children, permitted to roam abroad at night, unattended and without restraint, we cannot hope for any better fate than either utter moral ruin or a contamination of mind, coarseness of character and blunting of the finer sensibilities and maidenly modesty that constitute the chief charm of the sex.

The danger to our young girls does not arise from themselves alone; nor from their ill-regulated passions of which careful home training and virtuous example have not taught the lesson of control; but the great and chief danger comes from the bestial heartlessness of men, who hold nothing too sacred for destruction, who, for the gratification of their coarser natures, will risk, nay, certainly compass, the ruin of both the bodies and souls of tender girls, whose helplessness appeals, like a call from heaven, to every manly heart.

Young girls who are allowed to be abroad at night, with, by nature, the social instinct abnormally developed, are sure to form companionship with the depraved of the opposite sex, who make it a business to lie in wait for the unwary.

Any persons who have no daughters, or parents whose daughters are safe in the home nest every night, gaurded as the apple of the eye from the very appearance of evil, cannot comprehend, without investigation and inquiry, the danger that comes to girls left to their own devices and untrained wills, and cannot truly sympathize with those parents whose girls come to harm worse than death itself. We do not and cannot feel the physical pain suffered by others; we can only sympathize in a general way, but only when the agony twists and grinds our own shrinking nerves, do we know what pain is, and it is only then that we can sympathize with the physical sufferings of others. When another's daughter goes astray, we may have a certain feeling of sympathy, but it will be only when the nameless evil of shame may enter one's own home and blight, perhaps, the flower of the flock, that we can feel the shame and degradation to its bitter fullness, and it is only such an experience that can give a capacity for real sympathy with those similarly afflicted. In such an event we would take an intense interest in doing something to protect our girls from the numberless evils that threaten them nightly on our streets.

Any remarks that have been made above have only touched the skirt of the evil—a moment's consideration, a single night's observation on almost any of our streets, where the devil's school is in constant session, will convince any anxious to know the truth, that the materials for many a tragedy and the conditions for the wreck of many a life, earthly and eternal, confront us at every turning, and call for the interposition of all good citizens; of all who, by virtue of being Christians, are charged with responsibility in respect of their neighbour.

It is therefore to be hoped that the conference on Thursday night will produce results of so practical a nature as to be the means of a state of things that is pregnant of peril to many of the young girls of the town, as well as in practical steps in the direction of an improvement in proper parental training, whose lack lies behind the lack of reverence, impatience of restraint, disrespect for authority and rudeness of demeanour—the promises of future vice—which too generally characterize the rising generation of the present day.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The C. P. R. to be Required to Reduce the Approaches to their Road in the Village to the Proper Grade.

The postponed meeting of the Ashburnham council was held last evening, with Councillor Rutherford presiding in the absence of Reeve Adams. The other members present were Councillors Morgan, Smith and Johnston. Treasurer Peck was also in attendance.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read by Clerk Wood and confirmed, the following were received and ordered to be paid, on motion of Councillors Johnston and Morgan:—

Councillor Smith brought up the matter of the steep grade of the approaches to the Concession street railway crossing, remarking that it would take a couple of teams to get a load over it at present. The grade of the road had been raised to that of the bridge, and unless something was done about the matter immediately the approach would be left as it now was.

Councillor Rutherford also spoke on the matter, as did Street Inspector Fitzgerald.

It was moved by Councillors Smith and Johnston, that this council hereby instructs the clerk to notify the Canadian Pacific Railway authorities to make all the approaches to railway crossings on the streets of the village of Ashburnham the proper grade."—The motion was carried.

The Cash System.

PETERBOROUGH, 1897.

At a meeting of the proprietors of the I. X.. L. Steam Laundry and the Peterborough Steam Laundry and Dye Works, it was decided to make a Cash Business of the above firms, commencing September 15th, 1897.

Our customers will therefore please bear in mind that on and after the above date the drivers of our wagons have orders not to leave any parcels unless they receive the money for them.

We trust your sense of honour will not allow you to take this as a personal matter, but look upon the change as a business principle which is consistent with any firm having a good reputation.

Thanking you for past favours and trusting to further merit your patronage under the new rule, we remain,

Yours Respectfully,

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Cincinnati's two runs in to-day's game were secured by a force in on bases on balls in the seventh and a triple and a single in the eighth. At Baltimore: The champions easily took both games from Chicago. The feature of the first game was Hoffer's pitching, he holding the Colts down to five hits. In the second game Nops was batted freely in the first innings, but settled down after that, and the visitors could not touch him. Briggs fared so badly that he was replaced by Griffith in the third. Umpire McDonald called the game on account of darkness at the end of the first half of the fifth. Attendance, 6349. Score:

Before the innings ended Padden was ordered off the grounds for using insulting language to Kelly, and Hoffner was fined $25 for throwing a ball at the umpire's head. Score:

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

HUNDREDS OF DEAD HORSES.

The Trail From Skaguay Beach Strewn With Carcasses Saloons and Dance Halls Doing Big Business.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 13.—The steamer City of Seattle arrived today, five days from Skaguay. Among the passengers are twelve men who started for the Klondike, but failed to cross the pass. A. C. Warner of Seattle, an artist, who has been getting views on both the Dyea and Skaguay Passes for the past week, was a returning passenger on the Seattle. He says the Skaguay Pass is closed for the season, but that many are still floundering around in the mud in a vain attempt to get through. The first fourteen miles of the trail from Skaguay Beach is strewn with the carcasses of six hundred horses. Eleven saloons and three dance halls are doing business there, but Warner says there is no trouble, there being no fighting or thieving.

GOT OVER SKAGUAY.

Rough and Very Cold Weather Has set in on the Upper Yukon River.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 13. From Telegraph Creek word was received today that the Alaskan Yukon boats steamer has been got off the beach and is again in service, while in a letter from Bennett Lake James L. Sherbrook writes:

"This is my last chance for a line. To-morrow we set sail for God knows where. The weather has been very rough and cold, and after one of the most dangerous and hazardous trips ever undertaken we and two other outfits only have got through over the Skaguay trail.

"From the Dyea trail they average eight boats a day. Many of them have only 400 or 500 pounds to the man, and out of 1500 horses only 20 have reached the lakes by the Skaguay route. I gave the mail man a dollar to take this, and I'm writing on my knee with the rain pouring off my hat on the paper."

Portland Goes North.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—The treasure ship Portland got away from St. Michael at noon today with a big cargo, consisting principally of machinery for four steamers which are to be constructed by Moran Bros. at St. Michael this winter. One steel steamer, the John G. Barr, was complete. On the Portland's deck was a Maxim rapid-firing gun. Inside the captain's cabin are a dozen new rifles, which will be used effectively, if need be, to protect the treasure which the Portland will bring from the Yukon mines.

Another Marvelous Strike.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—Sulphur Creek, a branch of Dominion Creek, which is tributary to the Indian River, is the scene of the latest gold excitement in the Klondike. From accounts of the new district brought down on the schooner South Coast, it seems that the new diggings will rival even the famous Bonanza and Eldorado. Gold was found just below the surface, running $34 to the pan. Two men took out $300 in a day by simply prospecting their claims. A stampede followed the reports of the new finds, which reached Dawson City Aug. 15. In a week five hundred men had crossed the mountains between Eldorado Creek and Dominion Creek. They traveled day and night, and in two weeks the whole stream was staked out.

The Eliza Anderson Not Lost.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—The steamer Humboldt arrived this morning from St. Michael. She brings fourteen passengers and about $15,000 in gold. The Humboldt also brings news that the side-wheel steamer Eliza Anderson, from Seattle, which was reported lost, is safe in Dutch Harbor.

MICHIPICOTEN GOLD BOOM.

Dickinson Said to Have Sold His Interest to North Bay Men.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 13.—The gold excitement here still continues. A large party left for Michipicoten this afternoon on the steamer Telegram. Among the party are J. J. Mackie and J. L. Caverhill of North Bay, Ont., two of the owners of the original find at Lake Wawa. It is reported they have bought the interest of Mr. Dickinson, the third partner, and that the latter, who has been an invalid for many years, has become prostrated by the excitement over the gold mine. Mr. Mackie is still confident that the mine is a good one. He says it is worth at least two hundred thousand dollars, and if it proves as rich as assays indicate it will be one of the best mines in Canada or the Northwest Territory. Mr. Mackie says the mine will be developed soon and a stamp mill installed as soon as possible. Among others are Brooks, a well-known New York promoter of mining companies, and L. A. Armstrong of Montreal.

FIRE SWEPT SOUTH MARCH.

The Village Was Almost Entirely Wiped Out Yesterday Morning.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The village of South March, 12 miles up the line of the O.A. & P.S. Railway, was almost totally wiped out by fire at an early hour this morning. The extent of the fire was an acre and a half, almost entirely built up, and the estimated loss is between $40,000 and $50,000. There was about $8000 insurance. The fire broke out between 1 and 2 o'clock in a vacant house owned by Mrs. Crabtree, next to George Armstrong's shop. Before it burned itself out, John Turner's big frame and brick hotel, with sheds, stables, and outbuildings, rigs, etc., William Gow's dwelling, blacksmith shop and contents, David O'Neill's blacksmith shop, contents and outbuildings, a vacant house owned by Philip Orchard and George Armstrong's general store, were totally destroyed. This includes almost the entire village. The village had no fire protection and was unable to render any assistance, but had to stand by and see the buildings burn. In many instances they helped to take out the contents of the buildings, but a great deal was also destroyed.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou —Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

A Juror Took Sick and the Case Was Postponed Till Wednesday.

Chicago, Sept. 13. Adolph J. Luetgert this morning appeared before Judge Tuthill to begin the fourth week of his trial for alleged wife murder. The court proceedings began with the cross-examination of Prof. George Bailey. A small piece of bone was handed to the witness and he was asked to name it.

"That is a sesamoid," promptly asserted the Professor.

"Has it ever been boiled?" queried Attorney Vincent.

"It has."

"Might not alkali water poured on a bone produce the same effect?"

"It might in time."

The question seemed to worry the witness, who was warm and nervous. He admitted that a bruise or injury might produce a sesamoid, and said he had seen sesamoid bones on the toes of animals.

At 11:30 this morning Juror John E. Fowler was taken suddenly ill and court adjourned until 1 o'clock this afternoon. Juror Fowler is suffering from malaria and a fever.

Later Fowler's physician said he will not be able to appear in court until Wednesday morning. As a result, Judge Tuthill adjourned court this morning until 9:30 o'clock Wednesday.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and body worse than usual. I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Love has a long way to go to reach the heart of the modern up-to-date young man. When he looks for a wife, he expects a good deal. Probably he expects more than he deserves. He wants good looks, good sense, good nature, good health. They usually go together.

An observing man learns that a woman who is physically weak and nervous and incapable, is likely to be ill-natured too. The sweetest temper is ruined by continual sickness.

A woman whose nerves are constantly racked and dragged by debilitating drains and inflammation, cannot be a genial companion or happy wife; and she is totally unfitted to be a mother.

These troubles prevail almost universally among women largely because of carelessness and neglect. There is no real need of them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for the weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organism.

It cures them radically and completely. It heals, strengthens and purifies. It is the only scientific remedy devised for this special purpose by an educated, skilled physician. It is the only medicine that makes motherhood easy and absolutely safe.

Miss Lauretta McNees, of Reno (P. O. Box 723), Washoe Co., Nev., writes; "I have discontinued taking the 'Prescription' and will not take any more (at present). Last month I had no pain at all and worked every day without any inconvenience whatever. It was the first time I never had pain during that period. I cannot say too much for your medicines, especially the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I know of a lady who took one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' and she says she was not sick like she was with her first baby. This was her second baby. She thinks it a grand medicine. So do I."

Dr. Pierce has had a life-time of experience in this particular field. BLACKLEG VACCINE.

The U.S. Agricultural Department Has a Cure For the Disease.

The United States Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Animal Industry, has just prepared vaccine for the cattle disease known as "blackleg." It has also issued a circular containing facts about the disease itself and full directions for using the vaccine. Frequent reports have come to the bureau for several years in reference to the great mortality from "blackleg" among young stock in many widely-separated districts of the United States.

The animal losses in certain badly-infested districts in Europe, where the disease long prevailed, became so disastrous that cattle raising had to be abandoned. Three French scientists 12 or 15 years ago succeeded in producing a "blackleg" vaccine. This is used extensively now in a number of centers where the disease prevails. The method used is that of injecting into each calf two doses of highly attenuated "blackleg" virus, with an interval of 10 days between the two inoculations.

A very mild vaccine is used for the first, which is called "the first lymph." The subsequent one, with a stronger virus, is "the second lymph." In each case the vaccine was introduced by means of a hypodermic syringe under the skin. Later, this method, which is very inconvenient, and especially where a large number of animals are to be treated, was modified by a German scientist. He reduced the process to a single injection with less attenuated virus and chose the loose skin just behind the shoulder for the point of the inoculation.

This method was adopted very extensively and satisfactorily in Eastern Europe and Northern Africa. For that reason it has, on account of its simplicity, been taken as the foundation for the investigation made by the bureau.

What is known as a "single vaccine" was prepared in the pathological laboratory. Subsequently it was tested on a large number of calves in Texas, both of high grade stock and common. The result warranted the conclusion that the vaccine is satisfactory in every manner. It is hoped that by the vaccine method "blackleg" will be effectually stamped out.

Bee Drones.

It is quite a loss to allow a colony of bees to become overstocked with drones. If the bees are allowed to build their own comb they are almost certain to do this. Using foundation overcomes this tendency.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

MILCH COWS IN JUNE.

Successful Dairying Demands Especial Care This Season.

In successful dairying every point will have to be watched carefully to keep the cows up to their milk. After a cow has been milked for nine days and it she is again breeding, any failure of the best of care in feeding and milking fast and clean has a tendency to dry up her milk. Exceptional animals may keep on giving milk to such an extent that they cannot be dried up, but that really is an abnormal condition.

The next query is, How shall we manage to keep the cows up to their milk? Let me say here, first, that there is a natural tendency to shrink in the milk a little; that must be expected from the condition of the animal. Naturally the milk is the food of a calf, so that to keep the cow in milk is to make her feed or sustain the calf, viz.: The milk which you draw and also the foetus; two calves as it were.

The ordinary pasturess in the month of August and later cease to give the quantity of succulent food they yielded in the fore part of the season. Succulent food must be furnished.

Cattle, no matter how well fed, will eat quite a lot of hay when they come into their stalls. They should have it, too, because just so much feed is needed to keep up the weight of the carcass, so much is burned up for fuel, so to speak, and the remainder is by the cow manufactured into milk, which contains a due proportion of butter fat, casein, sugar and water. Water, pure, easily accessible and abundant, is a prime necessity in the pastures. The argument that salt makes the cow drink and of course makes the milk thin does not hold good. It doubtless makes it easier for the cow to generate milk, but it does not to any extent dilute the milk itself.

When dairying years ago it was my custom to raise pumpkins between the corn, not here and there a vine, but rows that would run right parallel with the corn rows. These were skipped when the corn was laid by at its third or fourth plowing. The yellow pumpkins are very sweet and give to both milk and butter an excellent flavor. Break them in clean places in the pasture, and give, or rather leave, as few of the seeds as possible in the rinds. The seeds when eaten freely work unduly upon the urinary organs.

It is often the case on a farm that cows are pastured in the orchard, because it is easier to allow the cattle to eat the half ripe and often half rotten apples than to pick them up and boil them. Even ripe apples are not always good for milk cows, because much or rather many sorts of them are acid. If sweet apples, like the Tolman, are plenty they may be fed and will do good rather than harm. Turnips may be given in the morning immediately after milking and will not give flavor to either milk or butter. Beets and mangolds are always in order when fed in moderation. The fact is, cattle like a change of diet as much as mankind, and the change, when made consistent with common sense, is alike beneficial to each.

A caution is here inserted concerning cows coming fresh at this time of year. Parturition fever is always present, but while it is produced and made violent by giving such rations as are hinted at in this paper, it can be reduced to the minimum by withdrawing all millfeed and the cars on the corn stalks. By allowing only grass or the corn stalks, garget is not likely to set in. And if hard lumps are felt in the udder a large compress and hot water applied for 20 minutes and between milking time will soon scatter the lumps. After the cow has cleaned, if she is lively and ready to eat, she may gradually be brought up to the usual ration. Do not do it with a rush, or you may yet lose the animal.

Trouble About S and F.

Two instances of various readings, possibly from confusing s and f, may be worth giving.

In the Rev. A. B. Grosart's edition of Giles Fletcher's poem "Christ's Victory and Triumph," the reading in Part III., Stanza 44, is "And as he fought, * * * to fly from his own heart." The editor remarks on this: "I read fought; but I am not sure that sought is no; intended." In Griffith & Farran's "Ancient and Modern Library" the reading is sought.

In the Wesleyan Methodist Hymn Book (Hymn No. 126, v. 2) the present reading stands:

In nature's strength I sought in vain
For what my God refused to give;
I could not then the mastery gain,
Or lord of all my passion live.

This reading appears to have been adopted by John Wesley in 1780. But what Charles Wesley wrote was quite different:

In nature's strength I fought in vain,
For what my God refused to give,
I could not then, etc.

A Good Idea

A new idea in road maps for cyclers and drivers consists in printing the outline of a road on a long strip of paper, which is wound on two drums in front of the rider and may be operated by a thumb wheel on one of the drums to show the route as the driver passes.

THE CHILD WAS DEAD.

Fell Into the Cistern In the Absence of Its Mother and Was Drowned.

Lucan, Ont., Sept. 13.—The youngest child, aged 17 months, of Mr Fred Fitzgerald of this place, fell into an open cistern and was drowned this afternoon, while her mother was at a neighbor's house. She was away about 15 minutes, and left the child at home with two other children, who apparently knew nothing of the accident until the child was discovered by its mother, who was frantic with grief, and unable to rescue the unfortunate babe from the cistern. Her screams brought James Stanley, a neighbor, to the spot, but his assistance was too late; the child was dead.

LACROSSE.

President Craig, of the C. L. A., telephoned yesterday to the effect that he thought Madoc would drop out of the championship series and that therefore Markham would be drawn against Peterborough and the first game might be expected to be ordered for Monday or Tuesday next.

Markham telephoned this morning to ascertain what arrangements had been made for the two matches in order to be in a position to begin their advertising at once. It is not known for sure whether the first game will be played in Markham or in Peterborough, but it will most probably be here.

A full turnout of the team is requested for this evening and for every night until the match.

THE WHEEL.

Lamps are always troublesome. The perfect lamp has not yet been invented, but a gas lamp for cyclists has just been placed on the market by an Englishman, which is unique. The inventor proposes to carry enough liquified acetyline and carbide gas in a compressed form inside the tubes of the cycle frame to supply the lamp with the necessary illuminant. It is not probable that the present style of lamp will disappear in consequence of this novelty for some time yet.

If you would be a good violin player don't ride a bicycle. At least that is what one alarmist, who says he is also a violinist, advises. He claims riding a bicycle is apt to spoil the hands for piano or violin playing, and says:

"I am acquainted with a young man, a violinist, whose hands are covered with callosities, the result of his method of grasping the handle bars of the bicycle. Now, hard, stiff skin means inflexible joints and inadequate touch."

Cycling has gained absolute sway in Scandinavia. In Norway, Sweeden and Danmark the household that has not one member devotee to the pastime of cycling is rare, says an English cycle trade paper. The city of Copenhagen swarms with cyclists during all hours of the day. An observer is surprised to see the general use which the bicycle has found among the mechanics in that northern country. It is made to serve as a valuable tool in furtherance of various trades, and masons, bricklayers, carpenters, and such can be seen speeding along the streets in their working clothes and with pots slung across their backs. If for nothing else the bicycle is blessed in Scandinavia because it saves time.

An English publication devoted to women, has three articles on cycling by ladies of title. The author of one is Susan, Countess of Malmesbury, another is by Lady Fairlie Cunningham, and the third by Lady Jeune. Lady Malmesbury accompanies the article with a portrait of herself and her bike. She is a very clever woman, but she certainly is not distinguished for her good looks. She was the widow of the third earl of Malmesbury, (pronounced as if spelled Maumsey), but was recently married again to a gentleman whose name I forget. She still retains her title, however, as her second husband is a commoner. Lady Malmesbury takes the bicycle very seriously in her article, and evidently considers that "biking" and mental, as well as bodily improvement, are synonymous terms. She says among other interesting things that "perhaps nothing—not even golf—has done so much as the bicycle to bring about the camaraderie and good fellowship which charms men and women alike, the mutual help, the readiness to give and take without cavilling at trifle, that make the path of everyday life smooth, and prevents one feeling the edges of the little stones that constantly crop up. Self-reliance is another quality fostered by riding, and though this attribute is often despised we realise its value on occasion. To whom do we turn in all emergencies in times of trouble but to the self-reliant woman, possessed of capabilities and nerve—not nerves—to find a way out of difficulty?" Having paid this tribute to cycling women, Lady Malmesbury goes on to say that the "bird of steel has done much toward leveling all classes. Beauty is not afraid of exercise nowadays. It is not given to us all to look pretty and graceful, but we can mostly avoid being repulsive. Plain women do not look worse when cycling than they do when sitting at home doing fancy work in the drawing room, and no one can be really plain whose face is lighted up by health and good temper. The Countess also considers the wheel a source of domestic happiness, and says she has known cases where peace has been restored to households where it has long been a stranger, simply from the entry of this new interest or recreation into the life of one or more of it members. She also says:—"We always hear that we are not so strong as our fathers and mothers, whose parents sat in high-backed chairs, never permitted their children to be seated in their presence and generally administered discipline of the strictest kind. This may be so, but I myself have always doubted it, when I observe the race of fine, well-set-up young women, athletic and blooming, whom I meet in my walks abroad. There is much idle talk of decadence, of the century's end, of degeneration, but I have the highest medical authority for stating the exact contrary, and for saying that our organization is learning, surely, if slowly, to bear the increased strain of modern life."

Cycling is rapidly increasing in Paris. The Touring Club of France has now been six years in existence, and while in 1895 it numbered 25,000 members, it has increased to 47,000, and before the Exposition opens, it is claimed, the number of wheelmen in the capital city will be 100,000.

A Massachusetts man has found a new use for air on a bicycle, his device consisting of a pneumatic handle formed of a double rubber casing or pad to surround the ordinary handle and have a valve for inflating.

To prevent a bicycle skirt from blowing up in the wind or getting caught in the wheel, a simple device recently patented consists of a rubber cord, to which two safety pins are attached.

One of the latest canopy tops of bicycles is made so that it can be folded up and strapped to the upper side of the bottom bar of the bicycle frame when not in use.

A new bicycle tire, which the inventor claims cannot be punctured, has an outside metal shoe or rim surrounding the rubber tire, the flange of the outer rim projecting around the tire to prevent its coming off.

A general revision of the prize list for the Victoria Club road race is to take place this evening and the first time prize will be a twenty dollar payment on an 1898 model Evans & Dodge wheel, donated by the firm through their local agent, Mr. O. B. Shortly. Messrs. LeBrun & Felcher have given nine very handsome panel pictures. J. J. Turner & Sons have kindly loaned a tent as a dressing room for the racers. The entry list is a big one and closes to-night at the club rooms.

FOOTBALL.

The Electrics are in great shape for their football match against the unbeaten Bewdley team on the P. A. A. Grounds on Saturday next and as the game is becoming very popular in Peterborough the attendance should be large. The admission fee is placed at ten cts.

A week from Saturday will see two games played. Young's Point will try conclusions with the Electrics and Gore's Landing will play the Inverleas.

CRICKET.

A cricket match has been arranged to take place to-morrow between the University graduates and the town players. It will begin at 2.30 o'clock and all players are requested to be in attendance sharp on time.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (with illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

Ablest Physicians Signally Failed. Was Absolutely Disheartened. Had Lost All Hope.

Gave CUTICURA a Trial Which Resulted in Absolute and Perfect Cure.

For ten years I suffered untold agonies from that dread disease Eczema, my lower limbs most of the time being so swollen and broken out that I could hardly go about. I had to wear slippers so that I could move about at all. My brother, a physician of thirty years' practice and extensive experience, had tried in vain to effect a cure and signally failed. I tried other physicians of splendid ability with like results, and had reached that point where I became absolutely disheartened, and in fact had lost all hope, when a friend (after long and continued persuasion) succeeded in inducing me to at least give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. I shall never regret that I did so, and until my dying day I shall sing the praises of them. I used two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and two boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), and it resulted in an absolute and permanent cure. I feel that I owe suffering humanity the debt of at least, in my feeble way, calling their attention to my case and absolute cure. I am now, I feel, perfectly cured, sound as a dollar, and the sweets of life are still mine, thank God, and to CUTICURA REMEDIES I attribute my almost miraculous cure. I refer all interested to the Postmaster of this place, any of the ministers, the prominent business men, and all of the citizens of our vicinity indiscriminately, and especially to my friend, John A. B. Shippey, attorney at law, who succeeded in persuading me to give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. With profound gratitude, I remain your most enthusiastic admirer, DAVID M. SAPP, Plymouth, Ill.

BACK IN THE BIG STORE BRIGHTER AND BETTER THAN EVER.

Come to our Re-Opening on SATURDAY, SEPT. 18th.

We've made a clearance of the masons and plasterers and the painters and decorators are hurrying up the finishing touches. All will be in readiness for Saturday morning. Everything new and bright, roomy and comfortable. There's a light in the store that never was there before. We've put up with the trouble to get it. Now it's here we'll use it. Visitors to the Central Fair are invited to call and view the improvements. Come and see us whether you want to buy or not.

In other columns the papers will tell what we've done. We can't spare advertising space to tell you, at least enough space to tell you all about it at once.

NEW THINGS FOR THE NEW STORE.

Forty cases new stock rolled in on the floors and opening up. These include ten cases of Imported English and Scotch Goods—very fine lines of Scotch Tweeds, English Pantings, Serges and Fine Trimmings. All the talk in the world won't make fine goods out of low grades, but the goods need no talk. Their appearance speaks their worth.

It takes vigilance and cash to win battles in the field of commerce. We are about to serve our customers and have secured cases on cases of fine Clothing, and you'll get bigger bundles of good stuff here than anywhere else in the district.

We want a sort of "house-warming." We want to see a couple of thousand people standing around our store and taking it in. Don't be afraid that you'll be in the way. Your look at our place will convince that WE are the people to serve you. If you don't buy at once you will again.

Our Boot and Shoe stock is moved back and in its own place. We filled this department up in the most approved city style. Every line in sight. No trouble to make a choice.

All are Welcome. Call and See us During the Central Fair.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it," "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 25 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. HE HOLD OUT HOPE.

Frank Cryder is Down From the Klondike.

AND HIS STORY IS NOT SO BLUE.

Shelter Will Be More Needed Than Food This Winter, He Says—It Costs a Thousand Dollars to Get a Log Cabin Built—Scarcity of Houses.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 15.—Hope for those who have friends in the Klondike is held out by Frank Cryder, who came down on the steamer Humboldt, after having spent five years in the Yukon. He does not believe there will be any deaths from starvation, though he admits that food will be scarce. Cryder says that lack of shelter is a more serious condition confronting the miners in the gold belt than the starvation. Do not understand that I am advising anyone to go there this winter. I am simply stating these facts to encourage those who have friends in the north.

It costs $1000 for a fair log cabin already built, and the time and labor in constructing a new one would amount to about the same. There were not over 100 houses in Dawson when I left, while in the city were 3000 people. In the gulches are being built huts to shelter those laboring in the mines. Where the new comers, with light outfits and empty pockets, will lay their heads this winter is an unsolved problem.

Cryder declared that $25,000,000 will be taken this winter from the claims on Bonanza and Eldorado Creeks, while from the Birch, Miller and Munook districts will be washed out about $200,000.

Preparing for a Winter Trip.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 15.—John E. Lancaster, representative of the Chicago-Alaska Gold Mining Company, is in the city, making preparations for a winter overland trip to Dawson City. Mr. Lancaster will leave Seattle Oct. 10, with a party of ten men and 10,000 pounds of provisions. He will have trains of twenty dogs, and says he expects to enter Dawson City with colors flying in the heart of winter.

Arrived With a Rich Cargo.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—The long overdue steamer Excelsior, which left St. Michael, Alaska, for this port six weeks ago, arrived here this morning with 63 passengers and about $2,500,000 in gold.

Of those who came down from Alaska, all but two are known to have money; but few were communicative enough to admit how much they had. F. Hayes of Portland was conceded to have the largest individual amount, but, upon being interviewed, he would only admit having about $35,000.

All unite in confirming the stories already told of the impending danger of famine at Dawson City during the coming winter. They say there are at least 7000 people now in Dawson City, and that more are swarming in every day, but that the provisions are already running short, and the prospects of getting more are remote. The Excelsior's passengers are unanimous in the opinion that the Klondike region is richer than was at first supposed, but are also of the opinion that unless the immigration to that country is stopped temporarily, there will be terrible suffering. Louis Sloss, jr., of the Alaska Commercial Company, was one of the passengers on the Excelsior. He went to Dawson City for the company and reports that all good claims are taken up.

Capt. Lee says Stay at Home.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 15.—Capt. A. H. Lee, R.E., R.M.C., who has for some time past been investigating the overland route to the Klondike, in the capacity of a special commissioner for the London (Eng.) Daily Chronicle, returned to the city last night, and will resume his professional duties at the college forthwith. His advice to those afflicted with "Klondicity" is "stay at home." He charges conspiracy on the part of outfitters, transportation companies and the press of the Pacific coast to make money regardless of truth or the dire consequences. There is nothing in the present situation in the Klondike to justify the present excitement.

FIVE MEN LYNCHED.

Indiana Farmers Grew Furious and Hanged Five Desperadoes Who Had Escaped the Law.

Osgood, Ind., Sept. 15.—Incensed by numerous depredations, repeated burglaries and daylight robberies, the people of Ripley County, Ind., have taken the law into their own hands and meted out to the perpetrators a punishment greater than provided by the law. Five men who have long been a terror to the citizens of this county were lynched last night and when the citizens of Versailles, the county seat, arose this morning, they found the bodies of the five men dangling from as many limbs of an elm tree in the centre of the public square.

Their feet were but a few inches from the ground, while their hands and feet had been securely tied with strong rope.

Versailles is a town of 800 people. It is one of the oldest in the State and although it is five miles from a railroad station, and has no telegraphic communication connections, it is still the county seat.

For four or five years, the farmers of the county have been the victims of a lawless gang, who lived an outlaw existence, robbing indiscriminately and some times committing graver crimes. Farmers would come into town with a bunch of cattle or load of farming products, and next morning they would be found robbed and beaten by the roadside. Old German farmers have been visited and both men and women have been tortured to make them give up their savings. Aged German women have been forced to stand on a red hot stove in an effort to compel them to disclose the hiding place of some treasure in the house. These depredations have continued unceasingly. Arrests have been made, but the guilty parties have covered up their lawlessness, and it was seldom that conviction followed.

During the past week, robberies had increased alarmingly. Saturday night last a raid was made by the gang on the store of Woodley Bros., at Correct, Ind., 10 miles from here. The sheriff heard of the proposed raid and with a posse laid in wait for the robbers, and Clifford G. Gordon, Bert Andrews, Lyle Levi, William Jenkins, and Henry Schultes were arrested.

While the citizens have not been able to fix the various robberies upon these men, they were thought to be part of a gang that has committed most of them. When it became known that they were in jail, it was quietly suggested by the victims and sympathizers that "justice" be summarily dealt the prisoners. It was 1 o'clock this morning when horsemen seemed to come from all quarters and dismounted on a hillside near Versailles. Little time was lost for the details had been pre-arranged. Quietly about 400 men marched into the town. The jail was in charge of William Kenan. In front of the jail proper is the residence and in that were acting Jailer Kenan and Robert Barnett, William Block and Len. Wenzel, deputies.

Shortly before 2 o'clock there was a knock at the door and when Kenan and others opened it, they were confronted with pistols held by three masked men and asked to turn over the keys. This they did and then the mob filed into the jail. Three of the prisoners, Levi, Jenkins and Schultes, were on the lower floor, while Gordon and Andrews were in the upper tier. Levi, Jenkins and Schultes showed fight, and the former was shot through the breast, while the skulls of the others were crushed with a stool. Ropes were in readiness, and adjusting a noose around the neck of each, but with several men at the end of each rope, the five prisoners were dragged a distance of 200 feet to an elm tree, where their bodies were suspended. It is said Levi, Jenkins and Schultes were dead before they reached the place. Justice of the Peace Charles Loswell held an inquest over the five bodies this morning.

None of the citizens seem to deplore the action of the mob, but, on the contrary, the hanging of three or four more members of the gang to-night is being talked of, and it may be done. No troops have been asked for, and the citizens say they are not wanted.

HARRIS-SHOENBERGER.

A Montreal Gentleman Wed at Cobourg, Ont., to a Millionaire Widow of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The news of the marriage in Cobourg, Ont., of Mrs. Ella B. Shoenberger, widow of the late George K. Shoenberger, who was one of Cincinnati's millionaires, was a complete surprise to the bride's many acquaintances here. The groom is Charles A. P. Harris of Montreal. The ceremony was performed to-day at St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, the Right Rev. Canon Spragge officiating. Mrs. Shoenberger is a daughter of John Beatty, M.D., of Cobourg. The residence of the Shoenbergers, Scarlet Oaks, Clifton, was one of the finest, if not the very finest, place hereabouts.

A DEATH CONVICT AT LARGE.

Edward Flanagan Got Away from the Jail at Decatur, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 15.—Information reaches here this morning from Decatur that Edward Flanagan, the alleged Parmalee, recently convicted of murder, after a sensational trial, and now under sentence of death, escaped from jail at that place last night. Flanagan was a boarder in the home of George Allen, near Decatur. He had a mania for falling in love with many young girls and conceived a mad infatuation for Lelia Allen, the 13-year-old daughter of George Allen. When he asked her hand in marriage and was refused, he set out to exterminate the family. He succeeded in killing Mrs. Allen, George Allen's mother, and Mrs. Ruth Black, a visitor. The crime was committed on the night of Dec. 31 last. Flanagan was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged and his execution has only been deferred pending an appeal.

PLENTEOUS RAINS

Have Fallen in India and the Harvest is Assured.

THERE WILL BE WHEAT FOR SALE

Worth Millions of Rupees to the Country—Shipwrights Have Joined the Striking Engineers at Newcastle-on-Tyne—Fighting Continues on the Indian Frontier.

London, Sept. 16. The correspondent of The Times at Simla says:

"Splendid rains have fallen during the last few days over a wide area, especially in the Punjab. This assures a bounteous harvest. The rain is worth millions of rupees to the country, and a fall of prices must shortly occur. India should have a surplus of wheat for export in a few months hence, the crops being exceedingly good."

FIGHTING CONTINUES.

But There is No Official News. Rebels Retire When the Troops Appear.

Simla, Sept. 15.—The operations of the troops under the command of Gen. Yeatman Biggs, undertaken for the purpose of relieving the Samana posts, have been entirely successful. The police post at Saraghari has been recaptured by the British forces, the troops carrying the position by assault.

Fort Lockhart was relieved on Tuesday morning, and Fort Gulistan was relieved the same evening. The field guns, which upon this occasion were brought into action at a range of 3000 yards, were so effectively handled that they scattered the enemy investing Fort Gulistan.

Eighty-one Shinwaris who formed part of the garrison of Fort Lundi-Kotal, in the Khyber Pass, who were captured by the Afridis, have arrived at Jamrud with their rifles.

Gen. Blood's column is steadily advancing through the Mohmand country.

The Haddah Mullah is reported to be at Gondab with a gathering of tribesmen.

Gen. Elles' column of troops has reached the top of the Karppa defile, but the enemy has not been sighted in that direction.

No Official News.

London, Sept. 15.—A special despatch from Bombay received to-night, reports that fighting continues around Fort Lockhart and Fort Gulistan, but as no official news on the subject has been received, it is believed that the fighting cannot be very important, the enemy having displayed their customary tactics of retiring whenever confronted by a considerable force.

The Great Strike Extending.

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Sept. 15.—The shipwrights are joining forces with the engineers in the formidable industrial struggle, which is now seriously affecting the whole country. Following the strike of the men at the Armstrong-Elswick Works, the Whitworth yards and other shipbuilding yards on the Tyne and along the northeast coast, the shipbuilders' Federation has called out all other shipwrights. This action supplementing the engineering strike has completed the paralysis of the shipbuilding trade.

TOOK THE SULTAN'S EYE.

The Divorced Princess Chimay's Pictures in Scant Attire Pleased Him.

Paris, Sept. 15.—It Patrie says that the Sultan of Turkey has invited the divorced Princess of Chimay Caraman to give in His Majesty's private theatre at the Yildiz Kiosk the performance which the Paris police recently refused to allow at the Folies Bergeres. It appears that His Majesty has conceived a violent admiration for the eloping companion of Rigo, the Hungarian tzigane, his attention having been called to several photographs of the lady posing in the scanty drapery of living pictures.

Saw Nothing of the Crocassia.

Queenstown, Sept. 15. The White Star Line steamer Germanic, Captain McKinstry, from New York, on Sept 8, for Liverpool, arrived here to-night and reports that, though he kept a careful lookout, she saw no signs of the disabled Anchor Liner Circassia.

King of Benin on Trial.

Lagos, West Coast of Africa, Sept. 15.—The trial of the King of Benin and his chiefs, who are charged with being concerned in the massacre of an unarmed expedition, under British Consul Phillips, is proceeding at Benin City. Three of the chiefs have already been condemned. Two of them were shot and their bodies were displayed hanging in the streets for 24 hours. The third of the chiefs committed suicide.

Reinforcements for Cuba.

Madrid, Sept. 15. The War Department is concentrating 6000 troops with the intention of immediately despatching them as reinforcements to the Spanish army in Cuba.

Francis Joseph Pleased

Totis, Hungary, Sept. 15.—The Austrian Imperial Military manoeuvres came to a brilliant conclusion to-day and the Emperor Francis Joseph expressed to the commanding generals his entire satisfaction with the way in which the evolutions had been conducted. At the dinner in camp, which followed, Emperor Francis Joseph warmly thanked Emperor William for his presence and the latter replied with the utmost cordiality.

Five to One.

Francatelli, the celebrated chef, once chief cook and maitre d'hotel to Queen Victoria, has laid it down as an axiom that the true salad dressing should contain five portions of oil to one of vinegar. But this is due to a foreign upbringing. Canadians as a rule dislike the taste of oil, and so in preparing a mayonnaise dressing one must take care that oil does not predominate. It is this distaste for oil that makes Italian cookery unpleasant to Canadians in Rome and Flor...

There doesn't seem to be very much the matter with your child. He doesn't actually lose weight, but there is no gain. He belongs to that large class of children that don't seem to prosper. You look at him a little more thoughtfully than you do at the rest and say "He is not doing well." Failure to gain in weight in a child is a danger signal. Scott's Emulsion should be taken at once. It puts on fat where health demands it, strengthening the digestion.

PRISON REFORM.

The primary object of confining persons in prisons should be that of prevention. With a view of reforming, punishment should be inflicted and not as mere punishment. It is generally acknowledged that prisons as a rule are simply places of restraint and punishment and that confinement, under prevailing conditions, acts very largely as a school of vice. A comparatively innocent person immured with hardened offenders soon absorbs all the evil knowledge possessed by his enforced associates and the man who went into a prison comparatively innocent, comes out, as far as knowledge, and doubtless inclination, is concerned, a hardened criminal. Besides he has the prison brand, and under the light of the cold charity of the world he is a marked man. Respectable avenues of occupation are closed to him and he is in a sense forced into criminal courses.

The Children's Aid Society is the first step in the preventive regime. Children, before they suffer the taint of vicious environment, are removed from evil influences and placed in positions in which they will grow up honest and respected members of society, whereas if they were left in the first surroundings they would inevitably develop into, if not criminals, at least useless and vicious members of society. The next step in the way of prevention is the reformatory for juvenile offenders in the first stage of their wrong doing. The efficacy of these institutions depends not upon their name but upon the manner in which they are managed.

In the matter of the reformatory for boys at Penetanguishene, the St. Thomas Journal calls attention to the fact that the Ontario Government has, through Inspector Noxon, inaugurated a change in the manner of conducting it. Instead of working it as a prison it will henceforth be true to its name, and be more of a reformatory than hitherto. It is being made a home for the unfortunate lads who are its inmates. The cells are being removed, the uniforms have been done away with, greater liberty to go and come is given to the inmates, and when a boy is in the place, or when he leaves, he bears on him none of the ear marks of a prisoner. The Government is making arrangements to give a thorough mechanical and technical education to the boys. Mr. Noxon has made mechanics a life study and will complete a system.

And in the Mercer Reformatory for Women there are also being made changes of a proper kind. The institution was found to have too many officers, and some of them have been removed; a system of classification, by which the more depraved are kept apart from the better kind, has been adopted, and the labour has been systematized and made much more productive. It is intended that the young girls shall be thoroughly trained in domestic economy, so that on leaving the place they will be capable of taking situations as first-class domestics, so well trained that they will be sought after by those who are in need of servants.

The Government is deserving of all praise for this honest effort to make better people of the unfortunate women and boys committed to prison.

THE Woodstock Sentinel-Review came out on Monday in a brand new fall frock, with all the latest frills. In other words it has been treated to a new typographical dress. In addition to new type, improvements have been made in the make-up and arrangement of the excellent matter, no matter what the dress, with which our cotem. is always filled. The Sentinel-Review is a vigourously conducted, ably written exponent of the principles of good Government, according to the Liberal gospel, a first rate purveyor of news, a id emminently deserves the success it is achieving.

THE CHEESE SITUATION.

Heavy shipments of cheese continue to go forward from this port to Great Britain, the export for week ending Sept. 4th being 79,315 boxes, against 39,649 boxes for the corresponding week last year, showing an increase of over 100 per cent. The total shipments to the above date were 1,215,960 boxes as compared with 976,121 boxes for the same period last year, indicating an excess of shipments over those of last year of 239,788 boxes. Considering, therefore, that there has only been a decline of about half a cent per lb. from top rates, with a big fall make in progress, it does appear extraordinary that the market has been able to withstand the process of going to pieces. Latest advices from England give no indications of unwieldly accumulations of stocks there, and the only conclusion one can arrive at is that there has not only been an astonishingly ravenous consumption on the other side during the past summer but that it shows no signs of abating. The situation now resolves itself into a fight between buyers on the other side and factorymen on this side as to what the price shall be for the fall make. It must be admitted that factorymen were never closer sold up at this season of the year than at present, many of them having sold their first half of August cheese, while quite a number have placed the whole month's make. Some think that contracting for the fall make will soon be general, and others that there will be very little contracting this year. It will be something new if a good portion of the fall production is not purchased ahead, as in former seasons. There certainly are not wanting appearances of a steadier feeling, judging by the trend of the markets at Belleville, Campbellford, Madoc and Ingersoll, sales being made at the three former places at 9⅞ to 9¾c. At Ingersoll 9½c was bid for coloured and 9⅜c for white, but factorymen refused to sell under 10c.—Trade Bulletin.

LASSWADE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We are having fine harvest weather at present.

Mr. J. Radcliff has purchased a new threshing machine and has started threshing between Burleigh and Apsley. The people of this place wish him the best of luck as they will be ready for the machine by the time he gets here.

The last wedding of this place was Miss Effie Newbury and Wilson Hoard, both of the township of Chandos.

Daniel Carl lost his only horse on the marsh last week, by getting in the mire. He is away to buy another one.

A number of people around here have a slight touch of la grippe.

Cattle and sheep buyers have bought nearly all the cattle and sheep of this place that the people have to spare.

Mr. R. Cole is back finishing up his harvest.

Mrs. Gould is on a visit to Campbellford.

The blackberries are so plentiful around here that some will have them the year around.

John Bullied, jr., S. McFadden, Peter Wease and Harry Ellis have taken their departure for Whitney, where the expect to stop till spring. Their cheerful faces will be missed greatly in this place and we all join in wishing them good luck till their return.

Maud Dingman and Mabel McGin were the guests of Miss M. J. Bullied last Tuesday.

Miss Pratt and Mr. Wm. McColl were the guests of Maud Dingman last Sunday.

Mr. McColl's cousin, a young gentleman from Northumberland, came to see him. He rode his wheel.

Bicycles are getting quite common around here.

Mr. McLean rode his wheel the entire distance from Toronto the other day.

W. R. Dingman and wife and daughter have gone to Warkworth on a visit.

The men are cutting their marsh hay. The marshes are getting quite dry.

Grain is an excellent crop here. Those that have small barns have a number of stacks outside. All kinds of roots are in abundance.

This has been the hottest day of the season (September 10th), so some people say.

Mrs. Yeoman's sister, Mrs. Proctor, of Michigan, is at Mr. Yeoman's at present. She is taking pictures of the schools back here.

Wm. Dingman lost five fine calves during the last two weeks with a peculiar disease. They would pant as though driven fast, refuse to eat and die in a few hours.

Mr. John McColly has been laid up for some time with a lame back. His son Joseph is drawing his trips of milk till he gets better.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

100 Per cent Better.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Volunteers Want to Assist the Mounted Police

AND TAKE PAY IN MINING CLAIMS.

Novel Proposition Made to Mr. Sifton by J. S. Kerr, Q.C., of Toronto and Mr. Casey, M.P. Mr. Maguru Going With Major Walsh Other Items of Interest.

Ottawa, Sept. 15. J. K. Kerr, Q.C., of Toronto, and George E. Casey, M.P., arrived in Ottawa to-day with a novel proposition for the Dominion Government. He called on Mr. Sifton to-day.

Mr. Kerr offers the services of a volunteer company of 100 able-bodied Canadians to assist the Klondike police in keeping unruly miners from the United States in order. In return for their services the company ask for a choice of the alternate claims held by the Government. The Minister said he would consider the matter.

John Shields of Toronto, who has been for some months in British Columbia, arrived in the city yesterday. He came here at the request of certain parties in British Columbia to interview Mr. Sifton, with a view of repairing part of an old trail through Canadian territory into the Klondike. The trail extends from Quesnelle to Telegraph Creek, a distance of about 3 0 miles. It is blocked by fallen trees. Quesnelle is about 200 miles from Ashcroft, on the main line of the C.P.R. If this trail were cleaned out the British Columbia ranchers could drive their cattle right into the Klondike. The British Columbia Government is now making a wagon road between Telegraph Creek and Teslin Lake. Mr. Shields also asks that the Government telegraph lines be extended between Quesnelle and Telegraph Creek, and this would give direct communication with the Stickeen, and could be continued to the Klondike. The building of telegraph lines belongs to Mr. Tarte's department, and Mr. Shields will go to Montreal to meet the Minister of Public Works.

Mr. A. J. Magurn, the Ottawa correspondent for several of the leading daily newspapers of Canada, has been nominated for the post of private secretary to the administrator of the Yukon, Major Walsh. Mr. Maguru is not going in with the idea of picking up gold, but in the belief that in discharging the duties of his office he will have abundant opportunity to become acquainted with the climatic conditions and feverish life of what will be by spring the greatest mining camp of the last half century. The experience, he believes, will increase his effective equipment as a Canadian journalist.

The Department of Justice has received a report from Judge Ross in the case of R. B. Bell, now undergoing sentence in Kingston Penitentiary for cruelty to the Short children. It is learned that the judge's report is favorable to the petition for commutation of Bell's sentence, which has still some eight months to run.

The Deputy Minister of Marine received a letter yesterday from Capt. Lavoie of the Protection Survey, which authoritatively contradicts the stories sent out of distress among the fishermen of the Canadian Labrador coast. Capt. Lavoie writes that the official statistics, which he gathered on the coast, as to the season's catch disprove the report of the alleged failure of the cod fishery. Not only is the catch above the average, but the fishermen are, on the whole, prosperous and contented.

The Department of Militia has made four recommendations of young men who graduated from the Royal Military College last June for commissions in the Imperial army. The fortunate ones are Messrs. G. B Brown, A. L. Bonnee, H. H. Ayer and T. H. Courtney.

LUETGERT LOOKED TIRED.

The Trial at Chicago Resumed Mr. Vincent Sharply Cross-Examined Prof. Bailey About Those Bones.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Juror John E. Fowler, jr., whose sudden illness last Monday caused a recess in the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert, had almost fully recovered to-day. The trial was resumed, with Prof. George Vincent Bailey of the Field Columbian Museum on the witness stand.

Attorney Vincent began a sharp cross-examination of the witness upon the latter's authorities upon sesamoid bones. Prof. Bailey named a number of recognized authorities, and added that even these were not entirely reliable at present, because new discoveries were being made in science every day.

Luetgert looked tired and worn this morning, and the heat is having a depressing effect upon him.

BRITTON OWNED UP.

The Operator at the T., H. & B. Station in Brantford Fell in a Moment of Weakness.

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 15.—J. Britton, operator at the T., H & B. Station here, was this afternoon placed under arrest on a charge of stealing about $586 about a month ago from the safe at the station here. The disappearance of the money was shrouded in mystery. The police have been working very quietly ever since and on Saturday ascertained that a new bill of Molsons Bank, $10 denomination, was in possession of one of our citizens. They questioned the party, who acknowledged that he had received it from young Britton. This led to his arrest. This afternoon Britton informed the police where the balance of the money was at his boarding house and the police made search there and found $445.

When working at night in the office he found the safe open and in a weak moment took the money, being afraid to replace it again.

Britton is about 21 years of age, and has always been very highly thought of. His parents are very respectable. They reside on a farm about three miles from the city and follow the dairy business and farming.

It Is Not Mrs. Warner

New York, Sept. 15. The young woman who committed suicide in Montreal last Sunday is not the wife of Lawyer Warner of this city. Warner's mother said to-day that her daughter-in-law was alive and well. The name of the lawyer's wife is Lucy, and the initials "M.G.W." are not hers.

It Was Mattie Warren

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 15.—There seems little doubt that the woman who committed suicide in Montreal was Miss Mattie Warren of this city. She was a dressmaker by occupation. She had lived here about six months, coming to this city from Hartford, Conn.

CONVICTS IN SOLITARY CELLS.

A Revolt Was Planned for Yesterday, but the Authorities Were Given a Tip—Heavy Failure in Montreal.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 15. The St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary convicts, it is said, planned that when they went out to work to-day they should rise in a body and revolt, but the plan was given away, and the men were kept in confinement. Thirty-six of the most dangerous were placed in the dungeon. There were 301 convicts in the penitentiary, including some of the most dangerous characters, and a revolt would be attended with serious consequences.

Detective O'Leary of Kingston Penitentiary has been called to the scene to assist in quelling the disturbance. To-night the convicts are still keeping up their howling, and a report states that the villagers are almost panic-stricken.

BLEW HIS HEAD OFF.

Deliberate Suicide of a Young Farmer Left a Farewell Note and Said He Was Tired of Life.

Toronto, Sept. 16.

Albert Mason, a well-known young farmer, residing on lot 31, concession 3, of the township of Scarboro, committed suicide yesterday morning by shooting himself through the head with a shot gun.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Mason, wife of the deceased, left home to visit her sister. Yesterday morning Mr. Mason arose at the usual hour and prepared breakfast for himself and his two hired men. After breakfast he told the men to run some drains in a wheat field and he would join them in the work in a short time. The men did as they were told and after they had finished the work returned to the house. One of them, a brother of the deceased, opened the door and at once smelled powder. He immediately went to the bedroom where he beheld the horrible spectacle of his brother with his face almost completely shot off.

The dead man was seated on a stool with his head leaning back against the wall. A double-barreled gun, which contained two empty cartridges, was lying across his body. A cord was attached to each foot and connected with the triggers of the gun. From all appearances the muzzle of the gun had been placed in his mouth and then discharged by moving his feet, thus pulling the triggers. The men immediately sent for Mr. Skeldon, who is a neighbor, and Dr. Sisby. In a short time Mr. Frank Mason and several others were on the scene. An inquest was held, and the jury found that the man had committed suicide. Undertaker N. Hunter of Little York, and Constables J. and L. Tidsberry were sent for early in the day. In washing the body they found that about two ounces of shot had been blown into the head.

As yet no cause whatever can be given why suicide was committed. The deceased was in good health, had no family troubles and was not in financial difficulties. On the contrary all things on the premises indicate prosperity. On a bureau in the room near the body a note was found on which was written:

"Good-bye, brothers and sisters and wife. Do not fret over me as I am tired of life."

William Huckby, one of the hired men, recently told his father that Albert Mason was a changed man and was not the same as he was some time ago in his attitude toward the men he had in his employ.

Mrs. Mason, wife of the deceased, and his many relatives are stricken with grief by the sad occurrence.

Mr. Mason was in his 20th year, of a retiring disposition, and strictly sober in his habits. He regularly attended the Church of England.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

They Do Good Work.

The following letter tells what people think about Laxa Liver Pills:

Dear Sirs,—I gladly testify to the virtues of Laxa Liver Pills. I used to be troubled with severe headaches and constipation for a long time, and took these pills hoping for a cure, and my hopes were rapidly fulfilled. I have found them a never failing remedy and heartily recommend them.

The Art of Beauty is a... Beautiful Skin.

The art of looking one's best by beautifying and improving the complexion is not easily acquired. Close observation and good natural taste are necessary for even beauty to display itself to the greatest advantage. "Beauty, when unadorned, is adorned the most," is only true in a limited sense. Beauty must make the most of itself by bringing art to the aid of nature, and, what is far more important, must take all necessary steps to preserve it. Beauty is woman's wealth, strength and power, and the knowledge how to procure, improve and preserve it is perfectly legitimate, and should be extended.

How often has a lady to remain at home from balls, parties and concerts on account of her face being red and blotchy, caused by an irritated skin. Every lady owes it to herself to be fascinating and beautiful, and there is one way to have that soft and beautiful skin and that is by one month's treatment of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. It is acknowledged by physicians to be without peer and the only safe and reliable cure for all skin diseases.

The Most Effective Skin Beautifier In the World.

One application will prevent and cure pimples, blackheads, blotches, red, rough and oily skin. A positive cure for itching palms and shapeless nails. Dr. L. A. Smith says he always prescribes Dr. Chase's Ointment in cases of Eczema, Salt Rheum, Crusted Skin and all Itching Skin Diseases.

At about half past eight o'clock this morning, when Mr. Will Morgan was starting out to go over the road race course out the Lakefield road he collided with Little & Thornton's butcher cart on Water street, just in front of Mr. John Armstrong's residence.

Billy was thrown violently to the ground and sustained a bad cut on the forehead over the eye. The wheel collapsed entirely, the frame buckling up to such an extent as to drive the front wheel back into the rear one.

It is to be hoped that the accident will not incapacitate Billy from entering the road race.

NEW G.T.R. CATTLE YARDS.

Have Been Erected for the Convenience of shippers on the Grand Trunk.

A long felt want in connection with the local shipping department of the Grand Trunk Railway has been filled by the recent fencing off of a piece of ground next the Royal Oil Company's shipping house in the South End and the extension of a siding into the yards.

Cattle shippers over this line have often complained of being cramped for room, but the spacious new yards meet every requirement, being arranged in such a manner as to permit the loading of two cars at a time without shunt.

Pigs will continue to be loaded from the old cattle yards on King street, but hereafter other stock will be taken to the new yards, where the facility for handling it is much better.

THE PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

EVERY INDICATION PROMISES A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Grand Opening Day, Wednesday, Sept. 22nd. The Promise of a Splendid Exhibition — An Immense Entry List and Keen Competition.

The directors of the Central Exhibition are putting forth every effort for the completion of arrangements for the Central Exhibition to be held on Sept. 21st, 22nd and 23rd, and with fine weather the prospects are that the coming exhibition will be the most successful ever held in Peterborough.

There is sure to be a big list of entries. The $5,000 offered in prizes will ensure the liveliest kind of competition, and in horses and cattle especially it is probable that the rivalry will be unusually keen, horsemen, especially, being on the alert and making every effort to come out ahead.

It will not be amiss to again mention some of the chief events in the excellent programme prepared.

The events, in addition to the special attractions, will consist of:

Speeding in the ring, for big prizes;

Running and pacing contests;

Drawing contests in two classes—light and heavy;

Big baby show;

Tug of war.

There will be a fine programme of special attractions of the entertainment variety, including the celebrated Martini troupe of acrobats, slack wire performers, etc., etc., and others too numerous to specify.

To encourage horse breeding the directors of the Exhibition have decided to give a handsome diploma to the best stallion and five of his get in all classes of horses specified in the prize list.

There will be special rates on all railways for the accommodation of the crowd. One and a third fares on all the days of the exhibition and single fare on the 22nd, good to return on the 23rd.

The new cattle sheds are completed, and the majority of them engaged by exhibitors.

Farmers, rally round your exhibition, and be sure to attend it this year. You will find a vast amount to interest, instruct and amuse. You will see evidence that the county of Peterborough is one of the finest agricultural and stock breeding counties in the Province.

Remember the dates of the Central Exhibition is Sept. 21st, 22nd and 23rd.

Riders have sent in applications from Orillia, Havelock and Lindsay.

LACROSSE.

The following despatch from Markham, appearing in the Toronto daily papers, will explain itself:—"The following telegram was received to-night by Secretary Wilson, of the Markham Lacrosse Club:—'Arthur H. HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting to be Held To-Night—Importance of a Large Attendance.

The first annual (postponed) meeting of the Peterborough Town and County Historical Society will be held to-night at the rooms of the Victoria Museum, Inverlea House, Nicholls Park. It is extremely desirable that there be as large an attendance as possible. There are, it is true, several important affairs on to-night, but as they will be over early an opportunity will be presented for attendance at the annual meeting in time especially for the election of officers, which will be about the last order of business. It is to be hoped, therefore, that all members who can possibly do so will be present at some stage of the meeting.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., is in Toronto to-day.

Mr. F. D. Kerr was in Norwood yesterday attending Division Court.

Mr. Thos. Blezzard, M.P.P., East Peterborough, was in Belleville yesterday.

Miss Lillie Belleghem, George street, Peterborough, is visiting friends in Lakefield.

Messrs. F. J. Rogers and G. A. Smith were registered at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville, yesterday.

Mr. W. J. Wattam, manager of Oak Hall, is up in Hamilton on business. He is expected to return again this evening.

In the current issue of "Sunshine," the official organ of the Sun Life Insurance Company, appears an excellent half-tone engraving of Mr. W. H. Hill of Peterborough, the popular manager of the Central Ontario District for the company. The following sketch of his life also appears:—Mr. Hill was born March, 1852, at Inverness, in the County of Megantic, Province of Quebec. He attended the Inverness Academy for some years, and then took a course in the Military School in Quebec City. In the year 1873 he went to Peterborough, where he studied at the Collegiate Institute, preparatory to entering upon the profession of teaching. From 1875 to 1883, he taught school in the county of Peterborough, but resigned his position in order to accept the agency of the Sun Life Assurance Company for the counties of Peterborough and Victoria. So successful was he in this new sphere that his territory was again and again enlarged, until it came to include the whole Central Ontario District for which he was appointed the local manager. Under his administration the volume of new business secured for the company has been thoroughly satisfactory and the old business has been kept in force in a way that bespeaks careful attention to the interests of both assured and assurer. Mr. Hill has been a member of the Board of Education of Peterborough for the past ten years, and is at present chairman of the Supervision Committee. He is president of the Peterborough Canoe Co. and director of the Water Company and of the Public Library.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

ANOTHER LIVELY WEEK!

HOW WE KEEP BUSY! One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain. Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

We are making this an unusual week for folks who are looking for New Fall Window Blinds, Wall Paper and Cornice Poles.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

1400 Window Shades
8000 Rolls of Wall Paper
600 Cornice Poles.

Having bought all the Blinds in the Wholesale House of Menzies, Turner & Co., of Toronto, at our own figure, early Fall Buyers will get remarkable bargains to begin the Season. We cannot make you understand the values that will be offered in these three lines until you see them.

IMPROPER STREET WATERING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I wish to protest against the indiscriminative and excessive saturation of some of the streets in our town at this time of the year, particularly those most shaded, rendering them dangerous to bicyclists, and I should say unsanitary. As a defence it may be said that bicyclists should avoid the muddy places, but this cannot always be done as vehicles must be passed. Quære? If a bicyclist should fall and injure himself or bicycle by being obliged to go through one of these muddy spots, would not the corporation be liable?

Yours, etc.,

Standard books are ever welcome when they come to us in bindings representing all the embellishments of the art of bookmaking. Such a book is the art memorial edition of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," published by The Dominion Company, Chicago, a copy of which has just come to our desk. This edition of Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal work which has drawn from the heart of humanity a deeper sympathy for the lowly and filled the eye with more tears of compassion as well as mirth than any other book of the century, excels all former editions in the beauty of its binding, the richness and number of its illustrations, the quality of paper and cleaness of its print. As this book will be sold by subscription only and at a popular price, and as the publisher has a known reputation for fair dealing and liberality towards agents, an agency for it in this community will mean a good business for the one fortunate enough to secure it. Any reader interested should write the company at once for full information.

NORTH HARVEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

A very pleasant time was spent at the residence of Mr. John Krager on Wednesday evening last on the occasion of the marriage of his eldest daughter, Millie, to Charles McIlmoyle. The Rev. Mr. Sheir, of Bobcaygeon, performed the ceremony. Miss Martha Krager, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Matthew McIlmoyle assisted the groom. The happy couple were the recipients of a number of very handsome presents.

On the same day in Bobcaygeon Mr. J. Oliver, one of our councillors, was married by the Rev. Mr. Innis at the manse to Emma, youngest daughter of Simon Thibadeau. We all join in wishing the two young couple peace and contentment through life.

Wm. Brummell and Ava Quebell were up from Smith spending last Sunday with their parents.

The green corn social held at Oliver's Point under the auspices of the Presbyterian mission was very successful. Mr. Davis's boat brought a good number from South Harvey and Bobcaygeon. The brass band was in attendance and greatly assisted in this entertainment. The Rev. Mr. Innis and the Rev. Mr. Creighton, of Bobcaygeon, were present. A very pleasant time was spent. The net proceeds amounted to about $24, which we understand is to be given to Rev. Mr. McKnight, our missionery.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered here in the school house to the Presbyterian congregation by the Rev. Mr. Bennett, of Peterborough, assisted by the Rev. Mr. McKnight. Several took part in the ceremony. This is the first time that this has been commemorated here by the Presbyterian's, but we hope it may not be the last. In the past year Mr. McKnight has done much to gather the loose ends together and is getting things organized we hope the good work may go on.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION HELD AT LAKEFIELD

FAVOURED WITH MAGNIFICENT WEATHER.

Fine Display of Horses—Entries up to the Average — Ladies' Work Exceptionally Fine—Notes on the Exhibit.

The annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held on the grounds of the Society in the village of Lakefield on Tuesday and Wednesday, and its successful results were characteristic of the enterprise of the farmers of the district represented by the membership of the society.

If it had been made to order, the weather could not have been finer; the warm sun was tempered by the autumnal haze that hung over the ripening landscape, and by the gentle breeze that prevailed.

The first day of the exhibit was devoted almost entirely to the inside exhibit, which was, on the whole, an excellent one.

The attendance at the agricultural hall, which was thrown open to the public on Tuesday evening was not large, owing to a counter attraction in the village, but those who did attend were well rewarded by the inspection of the fine show presented, and by the social intercourse for which the occasion afforded an opportunity.

Notwithstanding the early season at which the exhibition is held, which does not admit of the proper maturing of the bulk of the exhibits in the department of roots and vegetables, there was a good display in these as in other classes. In the matter of horseflesh, in which the district covered by the show excels, there was an excellent exhibition, and the live stock, though not containing many fancy thoroughbreds, consisted of a creditable exhibition of practical and, so to speak, working animals of the dairy class, whose practical value is shown in the manufacture of cheese, which in the district cannot be beaten. There was the same attendance of well-dressed, orderly, prosperous-looking farmers, with their stalwart sons and blooming daughters, and the same attractions incident to all such exhibitions.

The directors had made special improvements for the show. A new grand stand has been erected, whose convenience was shown by the fact that it was appreciated, as it was well patronized. The speeding track has been improved and a permanent new railing both inside and out results in the better protection of the crowd from the possibly erratic movements of the speeding horses.

HORSES.

A more particular review of the exhibits made will be of interest. A run among the stalls shows many fine specimens worthy of special attention. The various classes of horses were fairly well filled.

In the agricultural class the chief exhibitors were Messrs. Wm. McIlmoyle, G. W. Mann, James Hetherington, G. J. Galvin, Thos. E. Jory, E. Fitzgerald. G.F. Preston, Jos. Trennum, John Fairbairn, W. J. Northey, T. R. Mann, Miss Gertie Wallace and F. McKee.

There was an unusually large exhibit of excellent animals in the carriage class, the competition being unusually keen and doubtless the judges had some difficulty in arriving at a decision. The chief exhibitors noticed were Messrs. W. McIlmoyle, H. C. Garbutt, L. G. Steele, J. Richardson, Milburn Bros., G. W. Fitzgerald. Dr. J. R. Fraser, Thos. Hendren, W. Charlton, R. H. Little, Ed. M. Elliott, G.J. Galvin, F. Waldon, J. E. Cullen, W. J. Bullock, Thos. E. Jory, Geo. Garbutt, W. Harper, G. F. Preston, W. Abbott, F. E. Kline, Jos. Trennum, H. Lemprieire, E.R. Tate, Geo. Cockburn, Jos. Doughty, Frank Harding, W. H. Down, and Fred McKee.

In the roadster class there was also a large competition, some very tidy animals being shown. The principal exhibitors were W. McIlmoyle, H. C. Garbutt, Geo. Allen, G. W. Fitzgerald, Thos. Hendren, W. Charlton, G. J. Galvin, F. Waldon, R. Q. Dench, E. Fitzgerald, G. F. Hayward, R. H. Braden, Frank Hendren, J. White, W. H. Down, and T. E. Fitzgerald.

In the speeding ring the events were not contested, and the results therefore not known at the closing of this report.

HORNED CATTLE.

As remarked there was not a very large exhibition of cattle, but the usual well-known exhibitors there were represented.

In Durhams Mr. H. C. Garbutt had on exhibition a bull calf and one year year old heifer.

Mr. Wm. McIlmoyle, a two year heifer.
Mr. W. F. Trude, a two year bull.
Mr. Robert Garbutt, milch cow.
Mr. G. J. Galvin, an aged bull.
Mr. Fred Waldron, two year bull, bull calf, milch cow, two year and one year heifer.
J. E. Cullen, milch cow, two year heifer, two yearling heifers and heifer calf.

In the thoroughbred Jersey class there was a considerable display. There were exhibited by Mr. John Nelson a milch cow.

John Richardson, milch cow, two year heifer and heifer calf.
Wm. Hooper, heifer calf.
Jos. Trennum, two milch cows, two year heifer and two one year heifers.

In grades animals were shown by:
H. C. Garbutt, milch cow and heifer calf.
W. F. Trude, two year heifer.
Thos Henderson, two year heifer.
T. E. Bell, milch cow.
Geo. Garbutt, two year and one year heifer, and
Jos. Trennum, milch cow and one year heifer.

SHEEP.

The show of sheep was small. In Long Wools Mr. A. Fairbairn showed a pen of three; Mr. J. E. Cullen, nine; Mr. T. E. Jory, seven; Mr. John Fairbairn, six; Mr. W. Forsythe, ten; and Mr. Thos. Fitzgerald, four.

In Short Wools the only exhibitors were Mr. James Brown, with six, and F. Waldron with one.

SWINE.

The exhibitors in this class were composed of Messrs. G. W. Mann, G.J. Galvin, Fred Sweeting, Fred Waldron, J. E. Cullen, W. J. Bullock, W. Forsythe, W. H. Down and Miss Gertie Wallace.

POULTRY.

There was by no means a bad exhibit of poultry. In chickens the chief varieties represented were Plymouths, Leghorns and Cochins. The exhibitors were Messrs. R. Garbutt, J. E. Cullen, Thos. E. Jory, G. F. Hayward, H. C. Garbutt, W. Forsythe, W. H. Down, Thos. Fitzgerald, Milburn Bros and Miss Gertie Wallace.

THE INSIDE EXHIBIT.

This is if anything better than the outside one, though, as stated above, the earliness of the date has prevented the full growth and maturing of the roots and vegetables, which are consequently not of the average merit. The display of grain is not large, but the quality is excellent. The dairy products, though of prime quality, are disappointingly small considering the dairying capabilities of the district.

Fruits, in their small display, only reflect the scarcity of, notably the apple crop, in all parts of the Province.

A very handsome and elaborate display of cut and blooming flowers added to the brightness of the central table.

In the ladies' fancy work and fine art departments, it is many years since such a very creditable and fine display was made.

In fine arts there were some excellent oils and water colours, very creditable to amateurs, though the drawing in some cases is not beyond criticism. In this department the prominent exhibitors were Miss M. E. Blomfield (in water colours), Mr. C. J. Blomfield, painting on tiles, etc., Mrs. J. L. Madill, oil landscapes, Mrs. T.E. painting on China, Etta Simpson (picture in oil), Mrs. R. Simpson and Mrs. R. H. Alford.

High praise should also be given to the excellent exhibit of ladies work (domestic manufactures), in which the exhibitors were Mrs. Thos. Hendren, Mrs. G. E. Stubbs, Mrs. J. C. Bickle, Mrs. E. A. Norish, Mrs. T. E Bell, Mrs Wm. Doidge, Mrs. R. H. Alford, Mrs. J. H. Preston and Mrs. Thos. Fitzgerald.

In ladies fancy work there was a splendid and varied display, in fact the ladies forged far ahead of the men in contributing to the interest of the exhibition. There were many artistic specimens of the skilful and patient work of the ladies, and their loyalty was attested by many fine tributes to the Jubilee year. In this department there was keen competition, the number of exhibitors being large: Miss S. Gordon, Mrs. J. Bickle, Miss Nina Sherin, Mrs. J. L. Madill, Miss Etta Simpson, Miss Maud Baptie, Mrs. W. A. Bell, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. E. A. Norish, Mrs. Frank Burgess, Miss Carrie Payne, Mrs. A. Jory, Mrs. Thos. E. Jory, Mrs. E E. Stubbs, Miss Mary Nelson, Mrs. Wm. Doidge, Mrs. R. H. Alford, Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald, Mrs. J. H. Preston, Mrs. W. H. Down, Mrs. W. J. Tully Mrs. R. Simpson, Mrs. Thos. Fitzgerald and Miss Gertie Wallace.

There was besides the usual exhibits of furniture, stoves, musical instruments' vehicles, canoes etc., etc., the whole conjoined to make a very attractive, and combined with the weather and attendance, a successful and enjoyable exhibition.

Messrs. Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, did not make their usual clothing display. They were represented by Mr. Billy Roadhouse, who industriously distributed the unique advertising cards of the firm.

The number of entries was about the same as last year, 780. The attendance was not quite as large as usual, many of the farmers being busy in harvesting their corn, evidently thinking the fine weather too good not to be made full use of.

The thanks of the press are due, for kindly courtesies, to the secretary, Mr. Sherin, and all the officials.

SPEEDING EVENTS.

The record of the speeding events at the exhibition contain the chief interest to a large number of persons. The events brought out a good competition and elicited great excitement.

SADDLE HORSES.

This event brought out only three entries and therefore the contest was not so interesting as if there had been a fuller field. The winners were in the order named below:

1—R H Braden.
2—K R Tate.
3—H Humphries.

YANKEE BUTTER IN LONDON.

Canadian Creamery Men Should Study This and Go and Do Likewise—There's Money in It.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The Secretary of Agriculture has received complete reports from the third experimental shipment of butter to London, by his department. This consisted of a lot of Minnesota creamery butter in 56-pound boxes and tubs, and a lot of Massachusetts creamery butter in small tubs, family packages and fancy prints. The export was made in June.

It cost 2 1-2 cents a pound to carry the butter from Central Minnesota to London, by the single ton.

The butter was all placed by the department agent in London, in the hands of retail dealers. They paid from 15 to 19 1-2 cents per pound for it, the same butter being then worth 15 cents in New York. The wholesale price of Danish butter was about 20 cents in London at that time. It was all retailed to consumers at 24, 25 and 26 cents per pound, most of it at 26 cents. This was the same as the retail price of the best Danish, which leads the London market for salted butter.

Six different dealers took the Minnesota butter, at a uniform price of 18 1-2 cents per pound. It cost about 16 cents, delivered to these London dealers. The Massachusetts butter was of equal quality, and although some of it sold to dealers at 19 1-2 cents, the small packages were not liked by the trade. This butter was worth 20 cents for local sale in the neighborhood where made. Thus, as in other cases, the Western creamery butter was sold at a fair profit, over two cents per pound, while the New England creamery butter was sold in London at less than it would have brought at home.

The London retailers' margin for profit, 6 1-2 to 10 cents, and about 7 cents on an average, was too great. The consumer paid twice as much for the Minnesota butter as the creamery in that State received for it, and at what the butter cost the consumer the farmer who supplied the cream got less than two-fifths.

An Other Gold Mine.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 14.—Col. H. S. Kerney has just brought from Cripple Creek a piece of ore weighing over 100 pounds, which is full of free gold, and which will carry values aggregating fully $100,000 to the ton. The ore was taken from a new find made Saturday, and is in many respects the most sensational ever made in Cripple Creek. The rich rock was uncovered at a depth of only six feet.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes [illegible] and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Elwood, Ind., Sept. 14.—Forty men were brought from Richmond Monday to take the places of the strikers in the tin plate factory. St. Augustine in England.

He is now a cured man, feeling strong, well and in good spirits.

BATTLE WITH A BEAR.

Fierce Conflict of a Keeper in the Lincoln Park Menagerie in Chicago With One of His Animals.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Bare fists against teeth and claws Head Keeper Cy De Vry fought for his life with a bear in the Lincoln Park pit yesterday morning. Over and over the man and the beast rolled on the cement floor of the den in a desperate struggle for mastery, while the four other bears in the inclosure circled gingerly about the snarling, tumbling mass, and the crowd of men and women and children outside the iron railings shrieked and shouted for help, but dared not share the danger of the brave keeper within.

"Billy" and De Vry were very friendly until just before the keeper gave up his star and left the employ of the board two years ago. The bear was intelligent, and De Vry taught him many tricks that still win peanuts and popcorn balls from visiting youngsters. The lessons stopped suddenly one day, when "Billy" sunk his teeth deep in the right shoulder of his instructor and put him on the hospital detail for more than a month. Since then the man and the bear have ignored each other.

Yesterday De Vry was imitating A. H. Harington, a park commissioner of St. John, N.B., into the mysteries of animal tending while he waited for Dr. Woodworth, the park commissioner, to help him chloroform one of the old mountain lions. In front of the bear pit they stopped, and De Vry went inside the outer railing to examine the fastening on the inner door. "Billy" slouched down to the fence, and, pushing his fore paws through between the iron pickets, embraced the keeper's right leg. De Vry beat him off with some difficulty, and, pulling down a whip, went into the pit to teach "Billy" better manners.

"Billy" was in aggressive mood, and De Vry had hardly fastened the door behind him, when the awkward brown body charged swiftly down on him. Thinking the animal was trying to rush past him to hide in his cave the keeper stepped directly in his path and brought the lash of the whip down smartly over his head. "Billy" ducked like a professional pugilist to protect his tender nose, and before the lash could fall a second time De Vry's left leg was in the grip of his claws, and the keeper went tumbling to the floor.

For a moment the suddenness of the attack dazed De Vry, but the pain in his leg as the sharp teeth of the animal tore through his flesh brought him to his senses. He had battled with tigers and leopards and lions before, but never without weapon of any sort except his fists and nails, and the bear had him at a disadvantage. The spirit of the man rose to the danger. He supported himself on one hand while with the other he jabbed and pounded at the head that was gnawing his as a dog gnaws a bone.

Snarling with rage, the bear clung to the leg, while the man rained blows upon its head, and, failing to beat him off, closed with the bear and tore at his eyes, his throat, the paws that griped the leg. Into the little ditch in the middle of the pit they rolled, and out again, and across the cement to the foot of the withered tree in the centre. De Vry weighs a scant 150 pounds, and "Billy" three times as much, but the man finally shook off the beast, and made a dash for the tree.

The bear was there before him, and, not daring to expose his back to the animal, De Vry turned and faced him just as the bear straightened up and caught him in the embrace of his forelegs. Throwing up his left arm to shield his face from the fangs of the beast, De Vry tried to choke him with his right.

"Billy" clasped his keeper until it seemed the man's bones cracked, and sunk his teeth again and again into De Vry's arm and shoulder. Down they went together, while the crowd about the pit left off its clamor for a moment, and the four other bears, aroused by the smell of fresh blood, drew nearer to the struggling mass.

De Vry made a desperate effort to break the clasp that held him. A blow on the nose caused the bear's grip to relax for a second and the man jumped to his feet. "Billy" was scarcely a yard behind him as he started for the gate. De Vry whirled suddenly and struck the bear's head. Billy's nose went up in the air, his legs gave way, and before he could scramble up again De Vry was safe outside the iron bars.

De Vry is seriously hurt, but his surgeon, Dr. E. J. Kerlin, thinks that he will have him out in a couple of months. His left leg below the knee is torn to shreds, and his left arm and shoulder are badly lacerated. D. Coombs dressed his wounds at Link's drug store, and then he was taken to his home at 1750 North Park-avenue.

"Billy" is a brown bear, and has spent nine of his twelve years in the park. Except for his other attack on De Vry, he has done no damage to his keepers. When he attacked the keeper yesterday De Vry had on only a light jacket to [illegible]

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou—Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

WHO WAS THIS MAN?

An Unknown Stranger Plunged Into the Raging Niagara, Leaving No Clue to His Identity.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 14.—An unknown stranger committed deliberate suicide a few minutes after 7 o'clock this morning by plunging into the river a short distance above Prospect Point and going over the Falls. No idea as to the identity of the man can be had, as he left nothing behind which would give any inkling as to who he was. His body was seen to pass over the brink by several gentlemen standing at the Point. Shortly before 7 o'clock the man walked into the Incline Railway building and went down the slope to the bottom. He remained there a few moments and then walked up. Arriving at the top he accosted David Lane, employed as a laborer on the reservation, and asked him the time. He was informed that it was then five minutes after seven o'clock, and with that walked hastily out of the door on the west side and towards the rapids. He was seen to walk up along the edge of the water and was soon out of sight.

Sir Julian's Good Luck.

London, Sept. 14. Truth this afternoon says: A great honor is reserved for Sir Julian Pauncefote, which was not conferred on any of his diplomatic colleagues. According to the regulations, he would retire in 1898, but Lord Salisbury has extended his term of office at Washington for 12 months. Neither Lord Dufferin, Elliott nor Thornton obtained such an extension. It is a very great compliment to Pauncefote, who deserves it, as he has proved altogether the right man in an especially perilous epoch.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

The Fountain of Youth.

We all remember the story of Ponce de Leon seeking the fountain of eternal youth; and we all sympathize with him in his search. Youth means so much. It means more than life—for sometimes life becomes a weariness. But youth—with its abounding health and vigor, elastic step, glowing cheeks, and sparkling eyes—we all covet genuine youth.

The weakness or disease which ages people before their time, is not the result of accumulated years; it is the effect of wrong living and unhealthy blood. When the blood is pure and fresh the body will be full of youth.

Thousands of people who seemed to have lost their youth by disease and suffering have found it again through the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the most perfectly natural and scientific rejuvenator of the physical forces ever known to medical science.

It gives the blood-making organs power to make new blood, full of the life giving red corpuscles which drive out disease, build up fresh tissue, solid muscular flesh and healthy nerve force. It gives constitutional power, deep and full and strong; rounds out hollow cheeks and emaciated forms; gives plumpness, color and animation.

It does not make flabby fat like cod liver oil. On this account, it is a perfect tonic for corpulent people.

It aids digestion and the natural action of the liver, and by feeding the nerves with highly vitalized blood banishes nervousness, neuralgia and insomnia.

Where a constipated condition exists, the "Discovery" should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which are the most perfect, mild and natural laxative in the world. There is nothing else "just as good." There is nothing that will do the work so thoroughly, surely and comfortably.

TORONTO MARKETS

Flour—The demand for flour is less active, with the tone of the market easier. Straight rollers are quoted at $4.25 to $4.40 west, according to brand.

Wheat—Offerings to-day were larger than usual, and the market a shade weaker. Red and white offer at 88c, and a few cars of red sold at 89c, high freights. New No. 1 Manitoba hard is offering at 95c, Fort William, and it is quoted at $1.01, Goderich.

Bran—The market is quiet at $7 to $7.50 west for bran and $11.50 for shorts.

Buckwheat—The market is quiet and prices purely nominal.

Barley—The market is quiet, with offerings small. Feed barley is quoted outside at 24c to 25c.

Oats—The market is unchanged, with sales of white at 24c west, and mixed at 23c west.

Peas—The market is quiet, with sales outside at 48c north and west.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices steady at $3.10 to $3.20 for cars on track.

Corn—The demand is fair and prices firm, there being sales west at 30c.

Rye—The market is easier, with sales outside at 44c, middle freights.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were 60 carloads of live stock on the market to-day, composed of 1051 cattle, 825 sheep and lambs, 25 calves and 1000 hogs. The market for export cattle seemed to have very little life in it, and dealers were taking things easy. Prices ranged about the same as on Friday last, the highest paid being $4.70 per cwt. for one load and two loads at $4.65 per cwt.

J. L. Hountree bought a mice load of export steers, weighing 1150 lbs. each, at $4.25 per cwt. S. Halligan bought one load of 21 mixed cattle, weighing 1175 lbs. each, at $3.90 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle were also slow, but we did not notice much change in prices.

Crawford & Co. bought quite a number at $3.12½ per cwt.

William Levack bought 200 cattle, among which were a large number of butchers' and exporters', at prices ranging from $3 to $4.25 per cwt.

S. Halligan bought 21 butchers' cattle, averaging 1080 lbs., at $30 each, and 24, averaging 1025 lbs., at $34 each.

There were not many choice shipping bulls for sale, and good choice heavy are wanted. Mr. C. Zeugman bought two weighing 1480 lbs. each, at $3.75 per cwt.

S. Halligan bought one load of light feeding bulls for the byres at $2.25 to $2.50 per cwt., and wants all he can get at these prices.

The trade in feeders and stockers still continues brisk at good prices.

William Croslock bought 20 feeders, all steers, weighing 1000 lbs. each, at $3.75 per cwt.; also 14 light feeders at $3.30 per cwt., and 10 light stockers, weighing 500 lbs. each, at $2.50 per cwt. Mr. Croslock also bought 10 bulls, weighing about 700 lbs., at $1.75 to $2 per cwt., and two feeders, weighing 900 lbs. each, at $3.35 per cwt.

W. J. Couron sold to a western farmer 15 feeders, weighing 950 lbs. each, at $3.55 per cwt.

Brown & Snell bought a carload of heifers, weighing 950 lbs. each, to ship to the country for feeding purposes, at $3.50 per cwt.

Milk cows sold well, but the supply was limited, and more are wanted at prices ranging from $20 to $45 each.

Calves sold at $3 to $7 each, and extra good ones would be worth a little more.

Sheep and lambs are in good demand at $3.50 to $3.65 per cwt. for good ewes and $3 per cwt. for bucks. Lambs sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt., or, in other words, at $2.50 to $3.25 each.

The hog market still remains firm at last week's quotations—$5.75 to $5.87½ for the best quality.

The following shipments per G.T.R.: William Levack 3 cars, Williams & Hall 2 cars, Brown & Snell 5 cars, James Eakins 5 cars, J. Goold 2 cars, A. Carey 1 car, all cattle for export.

NORMAL POISE OF THE BODY.

How to Acquire It in Six Positions, Faithfully Practiced.

The fashionable maiden desires above and beyond all things to acquire physical buoyancy and lithe movements. If in earnest, she should give her attention a moment to her centre of gravity.

This, perhaps, she may not know, should never be over her heels, but over the ball of her feet. When one first tries the experiment of balancing in the correct way, the sensation is very much that of tumbling over.

But ten days later and one exclaims, "Oh, I feel so much lighter and younger than when my weight rested on my heels."

It is, indeed, the easiest position possible, and worth taking some trouble to acquire. The preliminary step in learning the art of true balancing is to practice heel elevation or toe standing, as taught by the Swedish movements.

Exercise 1—Raise the heels quickly from the ground and stand as high on tiptoe as possible, then lower the heels with moderate speed, without tipping the weight of the body backward. To decrease the difficulty of balance after one has become a little expert, go through the exercise with the arms raised upright.

Exercise 2—Keep the heels on the ground and lift alternately the balls of the feet and put them down with a slight pressure; one foot moving up as the other moves down. The speed should be about seventy movements per minute. Care must be taken not to move the shoulders from side to side a common fault.

Exercise 3—Lift the heels, bend the knees, straighten the body, then sink the heels. The knees must point in the direction of the feet, and remain bent at right angles. This is a true balance movement, to be done with moderate speed.

Exercise 4—Lift the heels, bend the knees again at right angles to the body, and sit down with the body erect.

Exercise 5—Bend the knee, lift the leg slowly upward and forward until hip and knee are bent at right angles. The instep should be stretched so that the toes point downward, the knee jutting sideways forward. Common faults in practicing this exercise are to incline the body backward, tip the shoulder to the opposite side, and to bend the knee of the leg which holds the body.

It must be understood that these movements are to alternate, first with one foot and then with the other.

Exercise 6—Standing with the hips firm, move first the right and then the left foot, parallel with itself, twice its own length forward, and place it on the ground with a gentle pressure on the ball of the foot, the weight of the body being carried equally by both feet. The movements should be taken backwards as well.

These exercises bring into play all the muscles of the legs, as well as those about the waist.

Walking on tiptoe is an excellent balance movement. The shoulders should be kept level throughout the exercise, which is then one of the best means of correcting the habit of tipping the shoulders from side to side when walking. In walking on tiptoe one lands on the ball of the foot, which is the point of the matter—the great desideratum—if a lithe, graceful gait is to be cultivated.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Cure all liver ills, 25 cents.

A Novelty in Gloves.

A genuine novelty in gloves is a novelty indeed, but here is one. They consist of white, black or cream suede, fastening with four buttons on the suede portion and scalloped edges. But to the kid are attached armlets, beautifully embroidered in silk cord net, the designs being applique butterflies in the kid, ornamentally outlined with the cord. The net is worked as a scallop at the top and drawn into the size of the arm with a satin ribbon. The black display cream embroidery and they are most ornamental. The junction of the net and the kid is defined with a silk cable, repeated on the back of the hand, and an additional button to fasten the w. at is introduced on the lace.

The Poppy Hat.

A charming hat has made its appearance. It is of medium-size, made of soft rose-colored silk tulle over a wire shape, rather pale in tint and put on full. The front and top of the hat is entirely covered with a huge poppy of silk, in shaded pink. It is finished at the back, which is turned up a little, with an artistic black velvet ribbon bow with a large and very elaborate cut steel buckle.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night loss-es and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Yellow Fever in the South.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Surgeon-General Wyman to-day received a despatch from Dr. Guiteras, the Government expert, at Mobile, Ala., concerning the yellow fever situation there. He reports two cases as suspicious and one as yellow fever. Dr. Gaines reports one new case at Berkeley. The Surgeon-General ordered by telegraph two hundred wall tents, to be shipped immediately from St. Louis to Surgeon Young at Memphis, Tenn., there to be held till further orders.

New Cases at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 14—Three new cases of yellow fever were officially announced to-day by the Board of Health. The announcement caused much more alarm than did the discover, of the first case, which was regarded as sporadic. The people who can are leaving for points of safety. Louisville and Nashville trains are leaving crowded, as are the trains on the Mobile & Ohio.

At New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 14.—At nightfall the books of the Board of Health showed that there had been reported to the Board for investigation twenty-six cases, which the attending physicians considered suspicious. Of these thirteen cases had been found suffering with a harmless fever, five cases were regarded as suspicious but necessary to be further investigated before a definite report could be made on them; there were no reports as to four cases, and four cases had been pronounced genuine yellow fever.

Autumn Hats——

The coming of Autumn is foreshadowed in the rapid accumulation of New Styles in Headwear, for Men's, Boys' and Children's use.

If you have a new suit you can only make your outfit complete with a stylish Hat.

If your suit is old you can brighten up your whole appearance with a new Hat.

Common sense is to get a good Hat. A poor Hat is shabby in no time and is an expensive investment. A good Hat is a necessity to every man's dress. Goodness in Hats here and at prices to suit the purse of the average man.

If you want your Furs Renovated, Re-dyed, Remodelled or Repaired, send them in early as convenient. Must meet the hurried, pressing demand later on. We'll quote you lower prices now.

HATTERS AND FURRIERS,

TORONTO PETERBOROUGH

centered in the exciting contest between the lady drivers. The grand stand was agitated and there was a rush of the crowd to the ring side for a good view. There were five entries, Miss Charlton, Mrs. T. G. Jory, Miss Roseboro, Miss Walton and Miss Blezard. It was a pleasant sight to see the accomplished petticoated whips handle the ribbons with such great style. All had fine turnouts and all were handsome and attractive and all drove with skill. If all the lady drivers could as successfully control a husband as they handled their steeds, there is a possibility of at least five excellently regulated households in the district. It was, therefore, with great difficulty that the judges arrived at a decision. After some deliberation and careful consideration of the fine points involved, and with fear and trembling they gave the following decision :

1—Miss Ellard.
2—Miss Roseboro.
3—Miss Charlton.

GENTLEMEN RIDERS.

This was a well contested event, in which there were four entries. The event involved the clearing of two hurdles, but none of the horses seemed to be troubled with any degree of "vaulting ambition," for none of them could be persuaded to take both hurdles in the lap. The result was as follows :

1—E R Tate.
2—G Hayward.
3—H Lampriere.

THE GREEN RACE

Brought out five entries, and though no astonishing speed was made, the contest was full of interest. The following is a summary of the heats .

1—Preston's "Phil" 1 1
2—Nicholl's "Fred" 2 2
3—Hayward's "Frank" 3 4
4—Clifford's "Billy T" 5 3
5—Cooper's "Billy" 4 5

THE HOTELKEEPER'S PURSE

was competed for by three horses that had competed in the green trot with Trennum's "Maud F" added. This is the result :

Nicholl's "Fred" 1 1
Preston's "Phil" 2 2
Clifford's "Billy T" 3 3
Teasdale's "Maud F" 4 0

The novelty race which included a certain straight speeding, stopping, unharnessing, starting and speeding again, was great fun for the boys. This is the result :

1—R Clifford.
2—G Hayward.

THE BICYCLE RACE

brought out two scorchers who made the mile in fine style. G. Gordon, however, seemed to gather the best speed and was declared the winner over C. Hendren.

This ended the contests and a well pleased crowd retired from the grounds.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

One feature in connection with this annual fair, which has been noticed for several year past, is the entire absence of any exhibition of agricultural machines of any kind. Not even a pump was shown, a fanning mill, plough, or set of harness.

In such a progressive farming section surely there ought to be some manufacturer who could make an exhibit that would not only deserve attention, at the hands of farmers in that line, but could make it pay as well in the way of influencing business.

THOMAS HENDREN'S FURNITURE EXHIBIT.

Enterprise, wherever displayed, deserves commendation. It has been remarked that Mr. Thos. Hendren, Lakefield's oldest and foremost furniture dealer, has always shown a laudable public spirit in connection with anything calculated to promote the business interests of the village. His enterprise and energy are well known, and also well appreciated by the best people of Lakefield and surrounding country, where his name is as familiar as a household word. For years he has spared no pains to present a furniture exhibit at this society's show, which has been a representative display of some of the newest and most fashionable designs which appear upon the market.

This year Mr. Hendren made another excellent exhibit in his usual section, consisting of an oak dining room set and a cherry bedroom set. His exhibit carried the red first prize ticket for best collection of furniture. The oak sideboard was an attractive piece of furniture, with swelled front, extra carving, bright trimmings, handsome mirror and convenient side shelves. The extension dining room table had five ornamental legs, easily adjusted. Six high back oak dining chairs and a rocker completed the set. The bedroom set was much admired, the bright brass furnishings giving a pretty contrast to the handsome cherry-coloured polished design. The boudoir dressing case had a swelled front, with British bevel plate mirror, and the design was up-to-date. Mr. Hendren has demonstrated his ability to handle the best values in medium and high class furniture. His two ware rooms on the main street are filled with the leading lines of furniture, where housekeepers or prospective housekeepers should be able to make easy choice of any thing and everything they want to furnish their homes.

GRAFTON'S CLOTHING.

Their effective display this year was even better than last year. Turn the eye in any direction outside or inside the building, and it was impossible not to see some of the firm's attractive advertising signs, with the characteristic lettering :—"Grafton & Co., manufacturers of clothing, hand-cut and tailor made." Posts and pillars, fences and buildings, chief corners and other envied positions served as common property for emblazoning of Grafton & Co's. trade mark.

For several years past the zealous manager of the Peterborough branch has made his mark as an effective exhibitor at Lakefield's fair, but the general verdict was that Grafton & Co. excelled themselves this year. The character of the display was the subject of many complimentary remarks from the crowds of visitors congregated around their exhibit. The same conspicuous location was selected in the building as last year—being situated right at the public entrance, where the principal crowds congregated and where hundreds of people constantly passed in and out all day. The tasteful exhibit was arranged in octagon design, with tiers of clothing displayed from each section. Here was shown a superior collection of men's, youths and boys suits and overcoats for fall and winter wear, in various grades of cloths, styles of make-up and qualities of finish. The dressing and decorating of the display was worthy of mention, having been the artistic work of Mr. J. M. Smith, one of the principal salesmen of the local firm, assisted by Mr. H. J. Conway. Dressed figures, bannerettes, fancy show cards and framed pictures were brought into requisition to give effect to the exhibit. In the centre of their space hung a large framed engraving of Grafton & Co.'s extensive headquarters in Dundas, as well as the diploma awarded the local branch for their prize clothing, of which Mr. Conway seemed especially proud.

The enterprise of Messrs. Grafton & Co. was exemplified in the society's prize list. The firm had donated three special prizes to the society for the best five pounds of butter, in one pound prints or rolls. The prizes drew out a lot of competition, and the firm scored quite a success by the interest which this novel method of advertising themselves among the farmers created.

MR. JOS. DOUGHTY'S STOVE EXHIBIT.

For the first time for a number of years there was a very creditable exhibit of stoves, of the latest and most improved designs. The credit of this exhibit is due to Mr. Joseph Doughty, Jr., Lakefield. He made a fine show of the genuine "Oxford" Stoves, manufactured by the Gurney Foundry Co., of Toronto, including a large Oxford "Chancellor" Range with extended warming closet, a "Rival" Cook and a "Graduate" Cook with reservoirs, all attractive in design, perfect bakers and economical in fuel as well as in price. Mr. Doughty also showed the Oxford Triple Heater, which, it is claimed, solves the problem of providing the greatest heat from the least fuel. The extra work done by this stove is produced by the unique tabular construction of the stove. It will heat as much as a small furnace, has a large feed door and burns blocks of wood 30 inches long. It draws the cold air off the floor by flues at the bottom and distributes the heat by extra hot air pipes. The "Triumph" Double Heater was another powerful stove shown constructed on a similar plan, and is regarded as a triumph of stove architecture for wood burning. Mr. Doughty covers a lot of territory in representing these excellent stoves, extending from Warsaw and Lakefield to Keene and Warkworth, and has been complimented by the Gurney Co. on having earned the name of being one of the best hustlers for their firm.

OAK HALL CLOTHING.

Although Oak Hall made no general exhibit at the Lakefield Fair, they took a novel way of leaving a lasting impression of their name and enterprise on the minds of the crowds of thrifty farmers present. A reporter of the EXAMINER was spoken to by Mr. James Best, one of the gentlemanly salesmen of the Peterborough branch who was present and represented the firm, in the building, and was informed that instead of their usual display of clothing, they were exhibiting the silverware premiums which they propose giving their customers. In a glass case was shown a collection of the beautiful silver presents, which are guaranteed to be full plated by the Crown Silver Plate Company of Toronto. Each customer at Oak Hall gets a coupon to the value of their amount of purchase, whether it is ten cents or ten dollars, which enables every one to obtain a handsome piece of silverware free, guaranteed for ten years, and practically making a ten per cent. saving on all purchases.

Oak Hall has achieved a provincial reputation for the high standard of their ready-made clothing. For over twenty years the Oak Halls have been recognized as the leading clothiers of Ontario, and branches are now found established in Hamilton, Toronto, London, St. Catharines, Windsor and Peterborough. The immense clothing factory of the Sandford Manufacturing Co., of Hamilton, supply all the Oak Hall branches, and the magnitude of their business is one of the wonders of the commercial world. Oak Hall has no "middlemen's" profits to pay, because the stock comes direct from their own factory at manufacturer's prices. Hence they are able to make a profit while selling at lower prices than others buying from jobbers and retailers.

THE GREATER GOUGH'S.

Gough Bros.' enlargement and re-modelling of their big store in Peterborough rendered it impossible to make an exhibit of their clothing at the fair. Visitors, however, to the Central Fair in Peterborough are invited to call and view the extensive improvements which they have been making. Fair week they will hold a grand autumn re-opening, during which they will be prepared to display a mammoth new stock of fall and winter clothing, hats and furnishings, boots and shoes. The world is welcome! The big store, with all its many interesting features, should attract visitors in crowds. Although the new store adds immensely to the size of the establishment, the Wonderful Cheap Men have not outgrown those good old principles upon which the business has been so successfully conducted for nearly a quarter of a century.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada ; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

NEW THINGS FOR THE NEW STORE.

Forty cases new stock rolled in on the floors and opening up. These include ten cases of Imported English and Scotch Goods—very fine lines of Scotch Tweeds, English Pantings, Serges and Fine Trimmings. All the talk in the world won't make fine goods out of low grades, but the goods need no talk. Their appearance speaks their worth.

It takes vigilance and cash to win battles in the field of commerce. We are about to serve our customers and have secured cases on cases of fine Clothing, and you'll get bigger bundles of good stuff here than anywhere else in the district.

We want a sort of "house-warming." We want to see a couple of thousand people standing around our store and taking it in. Don't be afraid that you'll be in the way. Your look at our place will convince that WE are the people to serve you. If you don't buy at once you will again.

Our Boot and Shoe stock is moved back and in its own place. We filled this department up in the most approved city style. Every line in sight. No trouble to make a choice.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it," "223 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C.P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. 'TWAS A GRAND FEAST

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Again Cheered in Montreal.

BANQUET BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

The Premier Claimed No Credit for Himself, But Thought His Government Was Entitled to Praise—A Speech Full of Patriotism—Canada the Best Country.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Board of Trade banquet to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Windsor Hotel was attended by about 400 people and was most enthusiastic. Mr. John McKergow presided, and to his right were Mayor Smith, Chief Justice Sir Alexander Lacoste, Hon. R. W. Scott, Sir Louis H. Davies, Hon. S. A. Fisher, Hon. W. S. Fielding; Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk; and to the left Lord Mount Royal, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. F. W. Borden, Hon. J. I. Tarte, Hon. C. A. Geoffrion, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, etc.

Ringing cheers and the greatest enthusiasm greeted the opening proceeding by the singing of "Rule Britannia" by Archie Hodgson, and of "Canada, Mon Pays Mes Amours," by Mr. Labelle.

Mr. John McKergow proposed Sir Wilfrid Laurier's health, in an eloquent speech.

In his reply Sir Wilfrid traveled over the ground he has already trod. He was a Canadian from his heart, and whatever success he attained in England was due to that fact. He claimed nothing for himself, but might claim much for his Government. The denunciation of the obnoxious treaties, he pointed out, was owing to no hostility to Germany or Belgium. These treaties were what he might call the relic of the barbarian age of the colonial period. Canada had taken her place in the world as a nation as a result of the denunciation, and all over Europe Canadians were now respected on account of the standing of their country. A new star of liberty had risen in the west.

He then dealt at length with the harbor improvement question, and said, being a French-Canadian, Premier, he did not wish to hear any questions of east and west. Whatever Americans might claim Canada could claim as well. He prophesied that the tide of immigration to the States would very soon be turned, and held that the immigration of such men would be a guarantee of peace between the two countries. "We will teach them to sing 'God Save the Queen,' and make good Canadian citizens of them," he said. He advocated stability of tariff, and said the problem to be solved was that of cheap transportation. He believed the time would come when we would export 90 per cent. of American products, for, by the laws of nature, the St. Lawrence was the outlet of America.

Sir Wilfrid closed with a patriotic appeal for union among all Canadians for the advancement of the best country the sun shone upon—Canada.

"Tobacco or Klondike."

Montreal, Sept. 16.—The uproar in the Penitentiary at St. Vincent de Paul continues at intervals and the greater part of last night was made hideous by cries and yells of the convicts and the banging at their doors with buckets. Their favorite cry is "Tobacco or Klondike." Nothing seems to be able to stop them, and they seem to be perfectly indifferent to the bread and water incted out to them. They are being kept in their cells again all day and will till they promise to be good. They spend their time during the day in sleeping, but Mr. McCarthy, the deputy warden, has made up his mind if there must be noise he would rather have it in daytime than at night, and has kept keepers at work all day knocking with big hammers against the bars of their cells, so as to keep the prisoners awake in day time, and make them so tired that they will sleep at night. Three men were transferred to Kingston to-day—Hooper, Benedict and Traverse; what for the officials have not announced. There are all sorts of rumors, but it is understood that through tale-bearers among the convicts, it has been found they have hidden a bomb somewhere in a stone pile for the purpose of blowing down the wall of the prison. The ringleaders did not include Shortis, Hooper, Guemond, the bogus priest, or Thor Vliet, the leader of the revolt twelve years ago. The Brooklyn burglars, Farley, Douglas and Clarke, old-timers as they are, were given a novel reception at St. Vincent de Paul last night. It surprised all the previous experiences as the refrain of "Tobacco or Klondike" fell upon their ears. They reached upper tiers of cells in time to join in the good-night chorus about 8 o'clock this morning. J. R. Hooper played a strong card. He complained about the noise for several days, and at an early hour was driven to Montreal en route to Kingston Penitentiary. He was in charge of Mr. Dan O'Leary, Deputy Warden of Kingston. The other transferred prisoners were Bendict and Travers, old-time burglars. The convicts, with a few exceptions, raised a riot last night, but fortunately for the good people of the village, the offenders were safe behind the bars.

SUCCESS OF CUBAN REBELS.

General Castillos Was Beaten, But General Perico Diaz Made a Successful Raid Guerrilla Warfare.

Havana, Sept. 16.—During the last two days the inhabitants of the City of Havana have been without meat. Milk also is very scarce. Only the sick in the hospitals are supplied regularly with either article.

At daybreak on Monday Col. Lacoste, with a body of Spanish troops, fell suddenly upon the camp of the insurgent Gen. Castillos, at Santo Cristobal, Province of Havana, simultaneously attacking the front and rear. The insurgents were overpowered and abandoned the position, losing 16 killed and 11 wounded. The Spanish losses were six killed and 13 wounded.

The insurgent General Perico Diaz, and Leader Gallo have made a successful raid in Weyler's Valley, in Southeast Pinar del Rio, destroying the tobacco plants and houses, matcheting 10, wounding 17 and capturing 18, and lynching two merchants.

A body of local guerrillas near Managuillo, while out foraging, were surprised by the insurgents, and in the engagement that followed lost eight killed and 11 seriously wounded with matchets.

Good Women Thrown Into Prison.

New York, Sept. 16.—A special to The Herald from Havana says: The Spanish authorities do not hesitate to show their resentment of the interest displayed by the wives of Americans in the case of Evangelino Cosio Cisneros. They have not only absolutely shut off the Cuban maid from all communication with her friends, but they have thrown into the prison for lewd women in Santa Clara five women who dared to prepare a most courteous appeal to General Weyler for the release of Evangelino. All these ladies belong to the best families in Santa Clara.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Prisoner Slipped in the Corridor and Sprained His Leg Came Into Court on Crutches.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Adolph L. Luetgert limped into the court room to-day, leaning heavily on a crutch. The prisoner, in tramping the tail corridor, had slipped and so severely strained his leg that walking was very painful.

The trial was not resumed until considerably later than usual. Prof. George Dorsey of the Field Columbian Museum was recalled to make a correction in the startling testimony he gave yesterday. Prof. Dorsey said that yesterday he had said that the female femur bone which he had identified was from the left leg. He desired to correct this. The bone, the Professor said, was from the right leg.

Attorney Vincent announced that he would require an entire day to cross-examine Professor Dorsey.

The cross-examination of Prof. Dorsey then began. Attorney Vincent tried in vain for over an hour to break the force of the professor's identification of the femur, questioning him sharply as to the difference between the femur of a male and female. Prof. Dorsey calmly explained with the aid of the bone in evidence. The prosecution expects to rest its case Saturday afternoon.

HAYWOOD HAD LUCK.

An Ex-Vancouver Constable is Now Coming Back With $60,000 in Gold—He's Worth $150,000.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 16.—(Special to The World.)—Ex-Sergt. Haywood was hired during the recent police investigation. He rushed for the Klondike. He is now on his way home with $150,000. He brings $60,000 in gold with him.

THE PEACE CONDITIONS

Said to Have Been Accepted All Round—To be Signed on Friday.

Vienna, Sept. 16.—The Neue Freie Presse says it is reported in official circles that the Sultan of Turkey and the Council of Ministers of the Ottoman Empire have accepted the conditions of peace with Greece, as arranged by the Ambassadors of the powers, and that it is expected the preliminaries of the treaty will be signed on Friday.

The Dervishes Fled.

Cairo, Sept. 16.—A despatch from the front says the British gunboats, while reconnoitering up the river Nile, sighted a force of 1500 dervish infantry and cavalry, on the left bank, near Dabul. The enemy retired when fired on.

A FIERCE ONSLAUGHT

Made by the Frontier Tribes on the British.

THE ATTACK WAS MADE AT NIGHT

Heroic Defence of the Garrison of Fort Gulistan—Total Loss of Government Troops in the Samana Operations 30 Killed and 59 Wounded

General Cable News.

Simla, Sept. 16.—The second brigade of the Mohmand punitive force, commanded by General Jeffreys, reached the foot of the Rawat Pass on Tuesday last. During the night the British troops were attacked by the enemy, who kept up a heavy fire for six hours. Lieutenants Tomkins and Bailey were killed. Lieut. Harrington was dangerously wounded, two privates were killed, five privates were wounded, and 25 horses and mules were killed.

The garrison of Fort Gulistan made a most gallant defence. The enemy appeared before that place at noon on Sunday last, and by 1 o'clock the water tanks were filled and other preparations were made to resist a siege. The garrison was composed of 165 Sikhs, commanded by Major Des Voeux and Lieut. Pratt. Surgeon Prall, Mrs. Des Voeux, her four children and two nurses were also in the fort. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the enemy closed around the place to within ten yards of the walls, and at times rushed right up to them.

The garrison repeatedly repulsed the tribesmen at the point of the bayonet, and there were some remarkable exhibitions of bravery. A havildar (native sergeant), with sixteen Sikhs, charged into the midst of 300 tribesmen and captured three standards. Another havildar, with ten men, rushed out to help the first party when the latter was hard pressed by the enemy, and before returning they captured three additional standards.

A subahdar (native captain) and two Sikhs dashed to the rescue of a wounded comrade, cut their way through the enemy and brought him safely into the fort.

There was similar hard fighting throughout Monday last and until the artillery of General Yeatman-Biggs finally scattered the Afridis. When this was done the garrison of Fort Gulistan had been at their posts for thirty consecutive hours. The casualties of the British force were two men killed and 38 wounded. The women of the garrison attended the wounded, under an unceasing heavy fire.

It is reported that the Afridis and Orakzais have left the Samana territory for their homes.

The entire British loss in the Samana operations, including that of the garrison of Saragarhi, is 30 men killed and 59 wounded. The number of casualties among the officers is due to the men being entrenched, while the officers moved about uncovered.

A small force of cavalry this morning pursued the tribesmen who attacked the punitive force at the foot of the Rawat Pass, commanded by General Jeffreys, and killed twenty-one of the insurgents. The remainder of the enemy took up an inaccessible position in the hills, and the cavalry was obliged to return after having suffered slight loss.

London, Sept. 16.—The Queen has decided that the gifts and addresses received by Her Majesty upon the occasion of her Diamond Jubilee shall be placed upon exhibition in the Imperial Institute in October. Half of the proceeds of the exhibition will be given to the Prince of Wales' Hospital fund.

Important Diplomatic Change.

Paris, Sept. 16.—The Temps this afternoon says the French Ambassador at Washington, M. J. Patenotre, has been transferred to Madrid, and that Count Montholon, the French Minister at Brussels, will succeed him at Washington.

He Took Bad Advice.

London, Sept. 16.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Capetown says that the African Chief Gallshwe, who was recently captured by the British, accuses the Transvaal agent of inducing him to rebel against British authority and of furnishing him with arms to carry on the rebellion.

BANK OF ENGLAND AND SILVER.

Will Hold One-Fifth of Its Bullion in Silver if the French Mint is Kept Open for Free Coinage.

London, Sept. 16.—At the semi-annual meeting of the Bank of England to-day the Governor, Mr. Hugh C. Smith, said: "You are probably aware of the proposals laid before the Government in the summer by the United States and France, whereby this country might increase its use of silver, as a contribution to an international agreement which, while not affecting our gold standard, might enable the mints of France and America to resume free coinage. Among the proposals was one asking the bank to hold the amount of silver permissible under the act of 1844, as against its notes."

The Governor then read a letter, dated July 29, addressed to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, as follows:

"Referring to our conversation, we beg to say the bank is prepared to carry out what is laid down as permissible in the bank charter, viz., to hold one-fifth of the bullion, held against its note issue, in silver, provided always that the French mint is again open to the free coinage of silver, and that the prices at which silver is procurable and saleable are satisfactory."

WOOD PULP AND THE BRITISH MARKET.

Last year Great Britain imported 327,060 tons of wood pulp, valued at £1,684,647; of this but 2,714 tons, of the value of £9,370, were imported from Canada. It is often said that much of the Canadian wood pulp shipped to the States is thence transhipped to England, but the total shipments from the States last year amounted to only 847 tons. On the other hand, the transhipments of wood pulp from Great Britain to the United States amounted to the comparatively large quantity of 4,167 tons.

There is evidently room for a great development of our wood pulp trade with England. As before remarked, why do not our exporters cultivate this trade, irrespective of whether there is or is not an export duty on pulp sent to the States? To demand such export duty as a condition precedent to the cultivation of the British trade savors of a desire to "bear" the pulp wood market.—Hearld.

MR. MULOCK'S ECONOMIES.

Commenting on the Herald's statement that the Postmaster-General was inaugurating reform in his department, the Toronto News says:

Hon. Mr. Mulock has been dismissing postmasters' reletting mail contracts and replacing Conservative officials with "inoffensive" Liberals. That is the only scheme of reform of which there is any sign in the P. M. G.'s conduct.

The News stops too soon. If it had gone on to tell the whole truth it would have pointed out that Mr. Mulock '- the short course of his administration has effected reforms that represent every large saving in the cost of the administration of the postal service. In every part of the country mail contracts let by the late government without tender and at extravagant rates have been cancelled and re-let to the lowest bidder. The re-organisation of the railway mail service has led to the removal of many merely ornamental clerks, whose chief duties consisted in drawing their salaries. The abolition of inspector districts in Ontario has resulted in a large reduction of expenditure and the places of the removed inspectors will not be filled. The disappointed Conservative journals may prate of the spoils system, etc., but what the country wants and what the Liberal party has promised is economy in the public service and that they are getting as rapidly as the old regime of extravagance can be replaced.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

TARTE seems to be "pie" to the Conservative organs.

ACCORDING to the Conservative organs that are hounding him, it is wrong for Hon. Mr. Tarte to do right.

IT argues weakly for the Conservative Opposition in Ontario that its head, Mr. Whitney, has to go to the grave for a leader. Mr. Whitney thinks that Sir John Macdonald dead is better than Sir Charles Tupper living. He repudiates Sir Charles, and swears by the departed Sir John. "O," he wails, "for one hour for blind old Dondalo."

THE proposal to make a Canadian (Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, to wit Sir Donald Smith) Governor-General is very flattering to Canadian national sentiment, but isn't there some danger in being "too fresh" in rejecting the gubernatorial figure heads which we have been accustomed to accept at the hands of the Mother Country? "Big head" in men or nations is a dangerous disease.

As a sample of the "economy" practised by the late Conservative Government, which Mr. Tarte cannot hope to equal, the Stratford Beacon points out that Mr. Richard White, the proprietor of the Montreal Gazette, obtained, according to the Auditor-General's statement for 1895-6, $6,152.23 for supplying electric current for lighting the Montreal postoffice for twelve months—$1,719.27 more per annum for furnishing current alone for the Montreal postoffice, than the Stratford Gas and Electric Light Co. received for lighting, carbons and attendance for the whole city of Stratford for the same length of time! Mr. Tarte has cancelled this contract, and is making a saving, according to LaPatrie, of $2,000 per annum to the country. Is it any wonder that the Montreal Gazette, owned by Mr. Richard White, who lost this nice little picking, should be the chief of the organs which are abusing Mr. Tarte? Before they know it the Conservative organs will have Mr. Tarte fit for canonization as a saint.

Council adjourned to meet at call of the reeve.

R. Graham & Son's millinery opening took place on Wednesday and the day being fine and the second day of the annual fair it attracted, as usual, a large number of the ladies. Their dress goods display, with trimmings, was very good and the different shades harmonize very effectively. In the millinery department their stock found great favour with the ladies, several orders being taken.

The Jubilee celebrations have left their effect upon the millinery trade. We are to have several lots which in name designs and shades suggest royalty, these are the "Victoria" and the "Jubilee." There never was a time when it was so difficult to define shapes in hats and bonnets. Of the hats it may be said they are large, medium large and medium small. The crown in most of the styles shown are broad and large, the brims wide and turned up at the left side, with high mounts of velvet and plumes or birds and drooping ospreys in natural colours. The bonnets are almost as varied in idea as the hats, no two being of the same design. Drapery effects are greatly in evidence on most of the hats and bonnets, and there is a great variety in their fashioning. The long ostrich feather, so popular a few years ago, will again be worn, also natural and made wings, birds, curled and straight cocks' feathers, osprey and tetras' quills dressed to be of velvety softness, quills and mountures of natural owl feathers, etc., are some of the many novelties in plumage trimmings for the coming season.

Flowers in silk, satin and velvet of conventionalised colours give an effective touch to some artistic creations.

Quantities of velvets, velveteens and velvettas will also be used for trimming purposes. The hats of the coming autumn, if we may judge by the models shown, can by no means be called plain.

The season's colours are so bewildering that it is with extreme diffidence we venture to select the "leaders." The blue shades, whether the mistral or the blue royal, are popular. As becoming a Jubilee season purple is prominent. The various shades of green are all seen on the autumn hats, also the new castor, which in light and dark shades merges into brown, and also the greys, with which the people have taken quite a fancy.

In selecting hats they have not neglected the children. They show a nice range of felt, sailors, flaps, the new tams which it is expected will be very popular this season. Also a fine selection of wool and lined silk hoods and caps for infants.

Their display of feather boas is very attractive and the prices very low.

They also show a magnificent display of new fall and winter mantles. The popular styles of jackets for the coming season are to be mostly medium length garments, with coat or pleated backs, and the square front meets with favour, although there are other styles shown as well. As they import their goods from the foreign market prices will be found low, considering the quality of goods offered. If you have not already done so it will pay you to take a look through their store.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

REMOVAL!

ROBERT McGILL

Graduate of the School of Scientific Horse-Shoeing, Detroit, has removed his shop to Heffernan's Old Stand, Hunter street, where he will be pleased to see his old patrons and those who are anxious to have their horses shod in a scientific manner. A FIERCE ONSLAUGHT.

Replying to questions, the Governor said the bank had no negotiations with the United States monetary commissioners, adding: "We have bought no silver. All we have done is to agree, under certain circumstances, to carry out what is permissible under the act of 1844."

The letter read at the Bank of England meeting to-day excited surprisingly little comment in the city, and did not affect silver stocks. Great satisfaction, however, is expressed at the headquarters of the Bimetallic League. The Governor of the Bank of England declined to discuss the matter, saying the letter spoke for itself.

Manager Ross of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Company, ardent supporters of the Gold Standard Defence Association, voiced the opinion of the bankers. He said:

"The letter, with such qualifications, does not pledge the bank to anything, and its only effect will be to encourage the bimetallists' agitation. If the plan was carried out it might raise the price of silver temporarily, which would be followed by the reopening of the American mines, over-production, and another fall in the price of silver."

SOME STRONG COMMENTS.

London Standard says the Governor's Letter is Mischievous and Pernicious.

London, Sept. 16.—The Standard's leading editorial deals with the letter of the Governor of the Bank of England to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and says:

"A more absurd and mischievous letter has seldom been penned by a man of position of high responsibility. It may be assumed that the question was put as one means of aiding the Government civilly of the importunities of the McKinley Administration; for Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is neither a bimetalist nor a man of weak character. To such a request, whatever its motive, there can be but one straightforward, manly answer, namely, that as the Bank has promised to pay all its notes in gold, it could not admit silver into its reserve. Instead of giving such an answer and thus separating the Bank formally from pernicious agitation, the governor, apparently without the knowledge and consent of his colleagues, wrote the Chancellor of the Exchequer that the Bank was prepared to hold one-fifth of the bullion held against its note issue in silver, provided that the French mints were re-opened to the free coinage of silver, and that the price at which silver be procurable and saleable should be at any given time satisfactory. It is no excuse to say that the governor's letter involves no practical danger to our currency, for the mass of our people are unable to distinguish between the shades of theory at issue on this currency question. Multitudes will think the Bank converted to bimetalism and the devotees of that transcendental cult will not be slow to boast another victory.

"The indignation against the action of the governor is largely mixed with derision. What makes his blunder even more fatuous is the utter inadequacy of the proposal, even if it could be adopted. Why on earth should we help the United States out of their currency dilemma at the expense of our own credit?

"Have they ever shown the least desire to help us in anything? Don't their politicians flout us and place endless obstructions in the way of our trade, as if the two countries were at bitter enmity? From all points of view, the action of the governor of the bank is a grievous mistake, without either excuse or palliation. India is cited in support of the policy. But India has the remedy for monetary scarcity in her own hands. Let her re-open her own mints and her strained money markets will find immediate relief. It would be interesting to have the reply sent to the Governor by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and better still to have the whole correspondence. In the half light of yesterday's statement at the semi-annual meeting, the episode looks as if there might be something behind it."

The Daily News, in its editorial on yesterday's proceedings at the semi-annual meeting of the Bank of England, says:

"The bare proposition that we should imperil or throw away the advantages of the gold standard at the bidding of France and the United States is singularly suggestive of the fable of the fox which lost its tail. With the best wishes for the welfare of our neighbors, it would be senseless to join in furthering experiments which have hitherto so disastrously failed.

"On the whole, however, there is no serious ground for alarm. The reservations made seem to preclude any idea of tampering with the gold reserve, as they involve conditions not likely to be fulfilled. There may be diplomatic reasons for showing polite attention to France and the United States, but from a business point of view it is highly undesirable that any concession involving the credit of our note issue should be even entertained."

THE ZWEIBUND.

France-Russian Alliance Aimed Principally at Germany and as a Check on the Sultan.

London, Sept. 16.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily News says: "I learn that the day before the Cronstadt toast, during the recent visit of M. Faure to St. Petersburg, the Franco-Russian military convention already existing was amended. Two articles and a protocol were arranged on Eastern affairs.

"The original convention gave France security against German invasion in return for French support of Russia in the Levant, and in certain contingencies naval assistance in the Baltic. Under the amended convention, if France should be attacked, Russia would consider the treaty of Frankfort non-existent.

"The French Government clinched nothing until the Prince of Naples attended the review at Metz, on the anniversary of the fall of Sedan. The advantage of the convention and protocol is that they do not come within the ratification clause of the French constitution. They can, however, be returned into a treaty at any moment.

"I cannot ascertain the clauses of the protocol, but it is an open secret that France and Russia have combined to prevent the Sultan from entering into a military alliance with Germany, to the exclusion of the other powers."

ALBERTA BUTTER IN DEMAND.

Government Creameries Have Shipped Largely to Britain and B. C.

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—The Alberta creameries operated by the Government have shipped 38,000 pounds of butter to Great Britain and 40,000 pounds to British Columbia to date. The demand in British Columbia is increasing, and the market improving.

Archbishop Langevin is resting easier and his condition is slightly improved.

TORONTO MARKETS

Flour—The flour market is quiet, with demand restricted. Straight rollers are quoted at $4.15 to $4.25 west.

Wheat—Offerings to-day were fair, and the market a shade weaker. Red and white offer outside west at 84c, but there is no export demand. New No. 1 Manitoba hard offers at 99c, Fort William, but buyers hold off.

Bran—The market is quiet at $7 to $7.25 west for bran and $11.50 for shorts.

Buckwheat—The market is quiet and prices purely nominal.

Barley—The market is quiet, with offerings small. Feed barley sold outside at 24c.

Oats—The market is unchanged, with sales of white at 24c to 24½c west, and mixed at 23c west.

Peas—The market is quiet, with sales outside at 45c north and west.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices steady at $3.10 to $3.20 for cars on track.

Corn—The demand is quiet and prices firm, there being sales west at 30c.

Rye—The market is unchanged, with sales outside at 44c, middle freights, and at 43c west.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were 32 car loads of live stock delivered on the market, which, considering it was Thursday, was a fair run. The bulk of the cattle were feeders and stockers.

The export trade was very quiet and few sales were made. Most of these were at declining prices, and, sooner than take them, a number of the dealers preferred to hold over until Friday. In fact some of the cattle offering to-day had been held over from Tuesday. The general run of butchers and exporters were not as good as usual. A few sales of exporters were made as follows: J. & J. W. Dunn bought 20 cattle, averaging 1204 lbs., at $4.60 per cwt., and 20 cattle weighing 1200 lbs. each at $4.37½ per cwt.

Crawford & Co. sold one load of export cattle weighing 1175 each at $4.30 per cwt.

A. M. Buck bought 11 exporters weighing 1200 lbs. at $4.60 per cwt.

The market for butchers' cattle was slow, but a good deal of this might be attributed to the quality offered not being as good as it might be. All good butchers' cattle find a ready market. Prices ruled much the same as on Tuesday, "considering quality."

W. Levack bought 80 cattle at prices ranging from $3.12½ to $4.30 per cwt.

Crawford & Co. sold one load of butchers' weighing 970 lbs each at $4.25 per cwt.

Mr. Levack purchased some at $3.25 and $3.50 per cwt., and a few extra choice picked lots at $3.75 and $4 per cwt., but the latter prices were very rare.

Good export bulls are scarce and are wanted at prices ranging from $3.75 to $4 for picked heavy ones. Light export bulls are worth from $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.

Feeders and stockers were plentiful and for good ones in each class we could not see any change in prices. The market was not quite as brisk as usual, most of the dealers waiting for Friday, but ready to sell if they got their price.

C. Zeagman has been down in the Eastern Townships near the city of Quebec, and purchased over 300 young cattle, all stockers and feeders, the bulk of which he expects to sell to Ontario farmers and the balance he will ship to Buffalo market. Crawford & Co. bought two feeders weighing 1050 lbs. at $3.40 per cwt., also one car load of light feeders averaging 910 lbs. each at $3.50 per cwt.

A. M. Buck bought 5 steers weighing 950 lbs. each at $3.55 per cwt., 6 steers weighing 1000 lbs. each at $3.80 per cwt., and 5 steers weighing 1040 each at $3.80 per cwt.

William Croalock bought 13 light stockers weighing 556 lbs. each at $16 each, also 9 steers averaging 900 lbs. each at $20 each, and 9 steers weighing 600 lbs. each at $2.75 per cwt., and 13 others averaging 500 lbs. at $2.65, and sold 6 steers weighing 1005 lbs. each at $3.50 per cwt.

Very little business was done in milk cows, and only 5 were on the market; prices ranged from $20 to $38 each.

Prices for sheep were about the same and export ewes sold at $3.50 to $3.60 per cwt., and bucks brought $2.50 to $2.75, but it does not look as if these prices would be maintained very long, as the British market for sheep has declined 75c per head.

Lambs sold at $4 per cwt., or $2.50 to $3.25 each.

The hog market was firm at $5.75 to $5.87½ per cwt. for best qualities.

There were 734 cattle, 507 sheep and lambs, 18 calves and 200 hogs on the market to-day.

BRITISH MARKETS.

Liverpool, Sept. 16.—No. 1 Northern wheat 8s 9d to 8s 9½d; No. 1 Cal., 8s 5d to 8s 6d; red wheat, 8s 0d to 8s 1d; peas, 5s 0d; corn, 3s 3d; pork, 50c 0d for fine western; lard, 23s 6d; bacon, heavy, l.c., 31s 0d; do., light, 30s 6d; do., short cut, 29s 6d; tallow, 18s 0d; cheese, 45s.

Liverpool—Spot wheat quiet, futures steady at 7s 11½d for Sept., 7s 9½d for Oct. and 7s 8½d for Dec. Maize quiet at 3s 3d for Oct., 3s 4d for Nov., and 3s 4½d for Dec. Flour 22s.

London—Wheat, off coast, buyers and sellers apart. English country markets quiet. Maize on passage rather easier.

Paris—Wheat 20f 15c for Oct.; flour 61f 20c for Oct. French country markets firm.

Liverpool—Close—Wheat firm at 7s 11½d for Sept., 7s 8¾d for Oct. and 7s 7¾d for Dec. Maize quiet at 3s 2¾d for Oct., 3s 3½d for Nov. and 3s 4½d for Dec. Flour 22s.

London—Close—Wheat off coast very little doing, on passage buyers and sellers apart. Maize on passage easy for American and quiet for Danube.

Paris—Close—Wheat quiet at 20f 10c for Oct. Flour 61f 10c for Oct. Weather in France fine.

COULD NOT LIE DOWN!

Walked the Floor All Night Many a Time.

A Toronto Lady's remarkable Escape from Heart Trouble, and her Voluntary Testimony About the Safest and Best of Heart Tonics.

Toronto Testimony Comes Home to Toronto People.

Here is what Mrs. Robt. Mitchell 78 Huron St. says, "Three years ago I had rheumatism, since then I have had serious heart troubles, my physician said caused by the former attack of rheumatism.

My heart was so badly affected that I could not go upstairs or walk a short distance without experiencing violent palpitation, sometimes so badly that I could hardly breathe.

Sleep was almost impossible to obtain on account of the smothering nervous feeling which affected me. Frequently I was so bad that I could not lie down, or even sit down on account of my heart and the shortness of breath.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed these distressing and alarming symptoms. They have strengthened the muscles of my heart so that it now performs its duties in a natural way. I can now walk about without inconvenience, and sleep naturally and well.

Exertion does not affect me or cause my heart to beat unnaturally as before, and I am a great deal stronger and better than I have been for a long time. They have done me a world of good, and I heartily recommend them." 137

THE SLATER SHOE

Under false colours.

Some Mackay stitched shoes are made to imitate Goodyear Welts.

They have a "dummy welt" on the outer edge of the sole, and a false insole covering the stitches under the foot.

But no matter how skillful the deception to the eye, the effect upon the feet soon shows it up.

Any shoe stitched under the foot must form hard and callous spots on it, as soon as the leather wears away and the stitches form elevations under pressure.

Stitches under the foot did it.

The sole of the Goodyear Welted "Slater Shoe" is sewn to a strip of leather outside the shoe—not a stitch or peg being under the foot.

Each pair remains six days on the last to take the stretch out of the leather, moulding it to keep the niceties which constitute fit and comfort.

You'll know that it's genuine Goodyear Welt if stamped on the sole with the "Slater Shoe" name and price, $3, $4, or $5.

A tag on each pair tells the leather it is made of—the wear it will give.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

They Do Good Work.

The following letter tells what people think about Laxa Liver Pills:

Dear Sirs,—I gladly testify to the virtues of Laxa Liver Pills. I used to be troubled with severe headaches and constipation for a long time, and took these pills hoping for a cure, and my hopes were rapidly fulfilled. I have found them a never failing remedy and heartily recommend them.

The Napanee Robbery.

Quiet but active work has been in progress during the past three weeks in the hope of solving the mystery of the great Dominion Bank robbery in Napanee, but so far only slight progress has been made. It will be remembered that $32,000 in notes was carried off, including $10,000 that were unsigned. A few days ago one of these unsigned notes turned up in the Montreal branch of the Bank of Commerce and the cashier at once notified Provincial Detective Greer, who has the case in hand. That officer immediately went to Montreal and is now busy trying to trace the note, with good hopes of it leading him to a solution of the mystery. Prior to the discovery of this bill the authorities had no exact knowledge of the numbers of the notes but now they hope to be able to figure out this important detail, and if successful their prospects of ultimate success will be considerably brightened.

THE LEGROS-LEBRUN BET.

Judge Weller Directs That Each of Them be Paid Back the Amount Which They Wagered.

The Division Court case arising out of the dispute as to whether Mr. C. LeGros had ridden to Chemong and within the time limit set by a bet with Mr. C. LeBrun, came up yesterday before Judge Weller, who dismissed the case on the ground that he had no proof that Mr. LeGros did perform the journey in the time stated, as there was no official timekeeper and witnesses testified both that he was and was not entitled to win the bet.

He also directed that both parties pay their own costs and that each receive back their portion of the money wagered.

THIS MORNING'S FIRE.

It Originated in a Pile of Rubbish Which was Being Consumed—No Damage.

A quantity of rubbish took fire this morning in the rear of the C. P. R. Hotel, Simcoe street, and some old counters, etc., and a strip of fencing were consumed before the flames could be subdued.

It was a bad place for a fire to start but the prompt response of the brigade checked it before it could spread to any extent. The fire originated from a small bonfire which had been started in the yard.

OBITUARY.

The Late John Jackson of Cavan Township.

To-day one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Cavan, Mr. John Jackson, passed peacefully away at the advanced age of 84 years and four months. He had no defined illness, he simply faded away; he had no pain and at the last did not die—he rather ceased to live, the weary wheels of life stood still.

The late Mr. Jackson was a native of County Cavan, Ireland. He came to Canada when a mere child, settling with his father's family in Emily, where he lived till his marriage to Miss Maria Brady, and then settled in the 14th concession of Cavan, where he lived till his death, which was the first breach made in the family, his wife and a family of seven children all surviving him. Mrs. Walter Scott, Charlotte street is one of his daughters. Deceased was a member of the Church of England and a Conservative in politics. Mr. Jackson was held in high esteem in the neighbourhood in which he passed the years of a long and upright life. The funeral takes place on Sunday, at 10.30 o'clock, from the family residence, 14th concession of Cavan, to the Omemee cemetery.

PERSONAL.

Mr. C. F. Kutzbach left this morning for Kingston to attend the funeral of a friend.

Mrs. Ward and Miss Muncaster were in Toronto yesterday for the purpose of selecting a few more novelties for their millinery parlours for the fall trade.

Mrs. John Neil of Buffalo, left for her home this morning, accompanied by Master Hector, after enjoying a three months' visit with her mother, Mrs. Armstrong, George street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hall and Miss Hall were in attendance Wednesday in Lindsay at a reception given by Mrs. J. C. Crawford in honour of her sister, Miss Vina Earle, who was married yesterday to Mr. J. J. Bemrose, of Bradford.

Mr. Wm. Rogers, head of the distribution department in the Printing Bureau, Ottawa, accompanied by Mrs. Rogers, paid a flying visit to town yesterday, the guests of Mrs. T. Rush. Mr. Rogers was a resident of Peterborough 27 years ago, and he is full of racy reminiscences of the lively days of the wild boyhood of the town. He was an employee of the EXAMINER when the office was on Water street in the building now occupied by the Public Library. "It's as good as a play" to hear his stories of the pranks and placards of which himself and others of "the boys" of that time were guilty.

The numerous friends of Mr. John Van Every, B.A., son of Mr. Wm. VanEvery, will learn with pleasure that he has received the appointment of Master in English and Moderns at the Napanee Collegiate Institute. He left town yesterday to enter upon his new duties. This appointment is an exceedingly complimentary recognition of Mr. VanEvery's ability, and of his Collegiate Institute and University course. The position he assumes is a most important one, and his being selected to succeed a man like Mr. E. A. Lang, who has been appointed lecturer in German at Victoria, is a tribute to Mr. VanEvery's ability and scholarship, of which a much older man might well be proud. Mr. VanEvery's career is extremely creditable—to himself, to the Collegiate Institute, where he received so excellent a training as to enable him to do credit to the University where he graduated with high honours, and to the School of Pedagogy, of which he is also an honour graduate.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS BEDECK ST. JOHN'S.

THE INTERIOR OF THE CHURCH BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED.

Annual Harvest Home Services Held Last Evening—A Very Large Congregation in Attendance—Rev. A. J. Reid, of Uxbridge, Delivers the Sermon.

The interior of St. John's church never presented a more beautiful appearance than it did last evening, graced as it was by the most profuse decorations of flowers and autumn fruits, grains and vegetables.

Each of the large pillars was encircled by two wreaths placed respectively at the upper and lower electric light fixtures. The upper consisted of a tastily arranged hop vine, and the lower of plumy asparagras bright with berries and relieved with little bunches of wheat. On a ground of green lay the many richly coloured vegetables of autum and luscious fruits in each of the window sills.

The white altar cloth threw out in strong relief a cross and several other floral emblems of bright crimson flowers which were placed upon it. A background was formed of cornstalks, which at this season of the year are a beautiful shade of green. The wainscotting in the chancel was surmounted with long garlands of bright hued asters, with bunches of grapes and tiny sheaves of grain pendant. The chancel and choir railings were most with oat stalks and great bunches of grapes whilst the end pillars were fairly hidden under a great display of vegetables and potted plants. The decoration of the pulpit was a work of art indeed and the graceful manner in which the rich looking bunches of purple grapes and tiny sheaves of wheat were disposed amongst the flowers, which fairly covered it, was greatly admired.

In the alcove just to the left of the pulpit was a gigantic cross of cornstalks, which presented a very striking appearance, being thrown into strong relief by the dark crimson background. It was a genuine work of art—other decorations showed taste, this was art. In the centre aisle a large plow very prettily decked out with fruits and flowers attracted general attention.

In each corner of the church were great sheaves of corn and sunflowers, the contrast being noticeable and much admired. At the door on either side were two immense squash, surmounted by big sheaves of corn. The steam coils were completely hidden under a profuse display of fall vegetables placed among great quantities of ivy.

The work of decorating the font was most artistically done. There was a profusion of green creeper used, and all around the base were varieties of variegated squash, currants, tomatos, corn, cabbage and cucumbers. The vine was trailed, around and around, the outside being relieved with small sunflowers, red, white and blue berries and

BRIGHT HUED ASTERS.

The top was a mass of white bloom, surmounted by a large cross of white asters and dahlias.

All over the church were to be seen quantities of creeping vines—smilax and hops and asparagras, arranged in such a manner as to create an effect indescribably beautiful.

The members of the Chancel Guild looked after the decorating of that portion of the church, whilst the Church Decoration Guild attended to the rest of the arrangements, the font receiving special attention from Mrs. Fessenden and Miss Peck.

The service in the evening was very largely attended indeed, and during the evening Rev. J. C. Davidson, the Rector, took occasion to welcome those present from other congregations as well as thank those who contributed flowers, etc., and those who used them to such splendid advantages. Special mention was made by him also of those who were assisting with the music for the evening.

Rev. A. J. Reid, of Uxbridge, delivered a most appropriate sermon, taking as his text the words "The principal wheat," being a portion of the 24th verse of Isaiah, xxviii. In opening he explained that the text formed a part of a most interesting Old Testament parable reminding one strongly of the New Testament parable of the sower, beginning somewhat in the same manner and reading in part as follows:

> Give ye ear, and hear my voice; hearken, and hear my speech.
> Doth the plowman plow all day to sow? doth he open and break the clods of his ground?
> When he hath made plain the face thereof, doth he not cast abroad the fitches, and scatter the cummin, and cast in the principal wheat, and the appointed barley, and the rye, in their place?
> 13 For his God doth instruct him to discretion, and doth teach him.
> For the fitches are not threshed with a threshing instrument, neither is a cart wheel turned about upon the cummin; but the fitches are beaten out with a staff, and the cummin with a rod.
> Bread corn is bruised; because he will not ever be threshing it, nor break it with the wheel of his cart, nor bruise it with his horsemen.
> This also cometh forth from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderful in counsel, and excellent in working.

AS COULD BE OBSERVED

the verses taught a lesson in agriculture—a lesson on the farmer preparing his ground for seeding. Attention was drawn to the fact that the "principal wheat" was mentioned as being the most important of the seeds.

Who instructed the farmer, queried the speaker, as to the art of agriculture? Was it not God who implanted in man the first principles of agriculture: Search where you will no one can ever find an instance of grain growing wild. It was given directly by God to Adam for man's sustenance.

When the threshing time came, according to the parable, then again the farmer showed his discretion. The fitches and cummin were not roughly threshed out, being delicate, but the rod and staff were considered sufficient for them.

This also cometh from the Lord of Hosts.

We learn that all wisdom comes from God and yet this is a very hard lesson to learn. Solomon dedicated all his wisdom to God and it would be well if more men of the present day did the same. All our great inventors are inspired of God.

The primitive methods of gathering in the harvest could be seen in the pioneer hut at the Toronto Exhibition, as well as the perfect mechanism of the present day machinery in another building. This was but the result of God's inspiration. Then there is much to thank God for in the advantages enjoyed in civilized life. It is all simply an inspiration of heaven and due to the bounties of His grace and His goodness.

Solomon says, "All things come of Thee, and of Thine own hand we give Thee." This being the case all things should be used for His honour and glory.

THE PARABLE

from which the text was taken, the speaker explained, was written to illustrate the fact that God was breaking the hearts of the Israelites and crushing them that He might plant His grace in their hearts.

Sometimes in order to teach us the lessons of life it is necessary that we be crushed with the cart wheel, or again it may be expedient to use only the rod or the staff.

Remember, continued the speaker, that He is applying these methods of agriculture in order that He may have our hearts ready to receive this good seed and bring forth a bountiful harvest. You have a "principal crop" to bring home in your lives. The other seeds to assist in the flavouring are all very well. We should all contribute good manners; it is pleasant to know of music, to be educated in science. We should all know of the refinements of life, but there is the "principal crop" to remember all the time—the wheat of holiness: the principal crop for the life now and the life to come. Go to God and He will give you wisdom and direction to grow the crop.

You may be greatly in debt when you go to Him, but his means are inexhaustable, and will bring forth a crop of "principal wheat."

One other thought—

The farmer made a distribution of certain kinds of grain. In the grace of God, where we go to get seed to plant our crop, there are various kinds obtainable. All are good but there is a principal means of grace. That is the "principal wheat" of life: the bread of life—Jesus Christ's body.

Whilst Bible study is commendable, and public worship as well as private worship and self-examination, yet the principal means of grace is to go to God's altar and learn more and more to lean upon God's bread—God's body.

The music was a most pronounced success. Owing to the strenuous efforts of the choirmaster the choir was largely augmented for the occasion, all four parts of chorus being full and well balanced and well sustained throughout. Every portion of the service was bright and hearty and an unusual volume was observable. The solos in the Magnificat and Nunc Dumittis were well taken by Master Hague Sawers, leading boy treble of the choir, and in the anthem "The Eyes of all wait upon Thee, O Lord," the solo parts were sung with taste and precision by Mr. Herbert Morphet, tenor.

A meeting of the Rifle Association was held last evening, when in was decided to hold the annual fall matches at the ranges on Thursday, Sept. 30th.

The competition will be open to all comers, and as the local membership has increased greatly during the year a large attendance of sharpshooters is expected.

The prize list will be the same as last year, with the exception of the D. R. A. and O. R. A. medals being added to the first and second prizes in the aggregate match.

Capt. Dennistoun was appointed range officer.

THE ROAD RACE.

The Handicaps of the Riders—A Big Smoking Concert To-night.

The handicappers for the Victoria Club road race met last night and completed the difficult task of arranging the riders according to merit, and the result is published as follows:—

8 min—1 A Turner, 2 A Graham.
7 min—3 W Sharp, 4 R Glover, 5 W J Montgomery.
6 1-2 min—6 G Lacheur, 7 C Dunnet, 8 J Richardson.
6 min—9 G Riley, 10 A Thompson, 11 W J Morgan, 47 R Frame
5 1-2 min—12 J R H Dixon, 13 G Milne, 48 Beer.
5 min—14 B D Richardson, 15 A Jobe, 46 Shoemaker.
4 1-2 min—16 C Graham, 17 H King, 18 E Hall.
4 min—19 R Turner, 20 A P McLean, 21 W Lush, 22 T Minnocola.
3 1-2 min—23 F Logan, 24 J McFadden, 25 W Ackerman.
3 min—26 A T Lefevre, 27 S Adams, 28 F Dixon, 29 W Jackson, 30 M Strickland, 45 E Wesson.
2 1-2 min—31 G L Hay, 32 W Borland.
2 min—33 H Bryson, 34 C Gordon.
1 1-2 min—35 W Milburn, 36 L B Ramsden.
1 min—37 F McPherson, 38 B Rickey, 39 J M Martin, 40 F Davidson.
Scratch—41 W J Gilpin, 42 M J Yeates, 43 N Houghton, 44 W C Carey.

While some of the riders think that they have been unfairly placed, they must bear in mind that all are not personally known to the handicappers and that doubtless the reason they have been placed so far back is the direct result of some unguarded remark on their own part regarding the merits of some other rider whose speed is known to the handicappers and who must therefore judge the detractor to be just so much better as to be put behind the man whose speed is known.

The task of the handicapper is a thankless one, but the results of to-day's race will doubtless justify the work of the gentlemen who acted for the Victorias in this respect.

In the evening a big smoking concert will be held in the club rooms, when the suite of apartments will be thrown open to the public, who are cordially invited to attend. An excellent programme has been provided for the occasion and the orders for the prizes will be distributed. Plenty of pipes and tobacco will be on hand for the occasion and a jolly evening can be expected.

A new prize which has just been received, is a Christy saddle, from Massey-Harris, through their agents, Kingan & Allen. It will be given to the first Massey-Harris rider to finish.

The Orillia Packet says of John Gilpin, who started from the scratch to-day:—The only Orillian in the great R.Q.T. road race in Toronto last Saturday was John Gilpin. He was the hundred and fifty-fifth starter, and he finished fifty-sixth. He received six minutes handicap, and only half-a-dozen of the riders who started with him or after him finished ahead of him. There were over two hundred starters, and one hundred and sixty-five finished. Gilpin did the twenty miles in 1 02 55, only 3½ seconds slower than the winner. He also witnessed the great twenty-five mile professional championship race, which was won by Angus McLeod.

IN THE INTERESTS OF OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

CONFERENCE OF CITIZENS IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER.

Last Night's Discussion of Dangers that Beset our Young—The Condition Serious—Leading Ministers and Citizens Discuss the Question of Youthful Depravity.

Standing room was at a premium last night on the occasion of the public meeting for men only, called in the council chamber by the executive of the Children's Aid Society. The question at issue was the alleged youthful depravity which has of late become, in the minds of many citizens, alarmingly manifest.

It is impossible to give in a newspaper the details of the discussion, but it is sufficient to say that the statements made by the Magistrate, Mr. Dumble, the Chief of Police, the Secretary and Agent of the Children's Aid Society, were such as to strike those assembled with the liveliest concern.

The Society did not suggest any method of remedying the evils. It was stated on the Society's behalf, that the condition of things was altogether beyond the efforts—if not the scope—of the society, and that on this account, and also because of the necessity of arousing the only true means, namely, public opinion, it was decided to call a meeting of a general or public character.

Though the subject of the meeting was something that could not be discussed through the medum of the press, the public was largely and well represented last night, and no doubt will cause at the meetings of the various organizations of the town a practical consideration of the state of society which it is necessary to reform.

Mr. Dumble spoke very clearly and forcibly in confirming the statements made, and giving his opinion upon the impropriety of parents allowing children to walk the street at all hours of the evening. The curfew law, he said,

COULD NOT BE EFFECTIVELY CARRIED OUT.

It would take a regiment of policemen to watch all the alleys and lanes in town.

The Rev. Mr. Shorey was amazed at the depravity disclosed, and offered, as did Rev. Dr. Torrance, to visit families if names were handed to them.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey Casey was of opinion that the chief remedy lay in good example and a higher standard of life.

In reply to the suggestions of Mr. Meldrum, Mr. Hughes, Dr. Fife and others, the society's officers said that they must decline to do more in the matter under discussion than lay the painful facts before the people. To carry out the work of reform was altogether beyond them. The society exists for the purpose of helping children and protecting them, but could not undertake a work that properly belonged to the whole community.

Mr. Keough, principal of the Separate School, gave a list of causes producing the effects described, and was of opinion that there was too much freedom of action allowed young children, and too little care shown them in their earlier years. He also advised a limitation of parentage.

Mr. Dobbin kindly acted as secretary on nomination, and gave very forcibly the reasons why the EXAMINER and Review could not publish details of wrong-doing. The meeting has aroused public opinion to the necessity of doing someting more and better than is being done in the and boys at present.

The question under discussion last night is as delicate as it is grave. The reform of existing conditions must necessarily be of slow progress, and the services of all good citizens are in duty demanded. General co-operation and a general active interest in our young—not a mere sentimental, but a live, practical and prudent interest will do much to bring about an improvement.

There is a feeling natural and commendable enough per se, that too much publicity, in respect of conditions that affect the good name of the town, should not be given. If it were possible to arouse public interest and present facts to the public by quieter methods, it would be all right. But those concerned in the present agitation have not only the good name of the town, but its moral interests, thoroughly at heart, and it is to be admitted that the accomplishment of good is the sole object aimed at. Crying peace when there is no peace is not the part of wisdom.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY; FIRST ANNUAL MEETING

HELD IN THE ROOMS OF THE VICTORIA MUSEUM.

The Constitution Revised—Reports Presented—The Election of Officers—Honorary Members Elected—Recognition of Favours Done.

The first annual meeting of the Historical Society of the Town and County of Peterborough was held in the rooms of the Victoria Museum, Inverlea House, Nicholls Park, last night.

Owing to several other important meetings being held at the same time in town, there was a limited attendance of members, but those who were present came to work, and as a consequence a great deal of important business as transacted.

After routine the President, Lieut. Col. H. C. Rogers, presented

as below:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At this the first annual meeting of the Town and County Historical society I beg to report that during the past inaugural season the society has not made the progress we had hopod for, owing to circumstances which I shall endeavour to explain:

1. Your committee not having funds for employing assistance nor the time necessary to devote to the purpose, our volume of statements of historical interest from the older members of the community has not reached the dimensions anticipated.

2. As you are aware, after this society was formed Mr. Richard Hall tendered it the Inverlea House for a museum; and, feeling the desirability of acquiring such a branch in connection with our organization the Executive accepted the same, and then found themselves confronted with difficulties; the house, though advantageously situated for the purpose, is quite unfurnished, even to the necessaries of light and heat.

On making an estimate of the cost of furnishing and maintaining the property our indefatigable secretary found it would require some $100 to fit up the three lower rooms for receiving and exhibiting curios as they may be brought to us. I would take this opportunity of tendering the thanks of the society to Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., for procuring from the Provincial Agricultural Department some cases for the purpose. Many ways of raising money were suggested and discussed; among others I might mention one of holding an Art Loan Exhibition proposed by Dr. Bell, who gave details of two that were held in the eastern part of the Province which proved highly instructive and remunerative. We indeed took steps to start one in connection with this society, but owing to want of time and material it was decided to defer it for the present.

A representative committee then waited upon the town and county councils for the purpose of interesting those bodies in our work and procuring municipal aid. I am glad to report that we were met most encouragingly by both councils, the former voting $200 with the provision that the county council give $100, and the society show a subscription list of at least $100; the museum to be managed by a board consisting of three members of the Historical Society, three members of the town council, three members of the county council and two representatives of the Nicholls Estate. The county council cordially acceded to the request granting $100 and naming three members for the Board; and the subscription list is now under way, towards the completion of which, without further delay, I would ask your assistance.

At a meeting of the above named Board a contract for the construction of fittings was approved of, which is now being carried out.

The celebration of our beloved Queen's Diamond Jubilee so happily carried out last June throughout the Empire, afforded an opportunity (of which we availed ourselves) through the town committee to dedicate the Inverlea house for the purpose above named, and, as you are all aware, the ceremony was duly performed by the Trustees of the Nicholls Estate handing over to your society the property, to be known hereafter as the Victoria Museum to commemorate the great event.

Your executive finding that we could not legally hold property without incorporation steps were taken to procure the latter, to complete which I must ask you to adopt the necessary alterations in our constitution before proceeding to elect the officers for the coming year.

The experience of the past season proves that to collect the information sought for by this society from the early settlers, who are fast passing from us, requires prompt action and cannot be accomplished alone by the individual efforts of the members, but requires means which our present small subscription fee does provide.

In conclusion I would most strongly urge every member to make a personal effort to assist in carrying out the laudable aims of the Society so that it may be a source of instruction as well as recreation not only for the present generation but also for those who come after us.

H. C. ROGERS,
President.

REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The meeting next devoted its attention to the revision of the constitution, which was read, discussed and adopted clause by clause. The work of revision was very much assisted by Messrs. John Burnham, Q.C., and Mr. E. B. Edwards, who were present in the practical capacity of legal advisers.

A large part of the constitution was of the ordinary routine character. It, however, provides that the incorporated local society is a member of and in affiliation with the Pioneer Provincial Historical Association of Ontario.

It also provides for three orders of membership—ordinary, honorary and life, election and payment of an annual fee of $1 (previously 50c.) constituting an ordinary member, and a payment of $20, a life member.

The regular ordinary meetings of the Society are fixed by the constitution for the first Thursday evening of the month, of January, February, March, April, October, November and December, and the annual meeting for the first Thursday in September.

The revised constitution and amended bylaws were adopted as a whole and the meeting proceeded to

was read and adopted as follows:

To the President, Officers and Members of the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—As secretary of the society I have the honour of presenting my first annual report.

The society was formed at a meeting held on Dec. 7th, 1896, with a membership of 30.

Although we have 78 members on the roll there are not more than 55 paid up members. During the year seven regular meetings and seven meetings of the council were held, at which the attendance was fair. Several members favoured us with interesting papers on historical subjects.

The project of founding a museum was adopted shortly after the formation of the society. In order to carry out this idea it was found necessary to apply for incorporation as a society. This has been accomplished, and the society, although not richly endowed, is established on a business basis.

We are indebted to several members, who have shown a lively interest in the welfare of the museum, by loans and donations of valuable collections of minerals and curios and it is to be hoped that others will follow their example so that in the course of time we may have a museum that we can invite strangers to look at with some satisfaction.

We are indebted to Messrs. Hall and McGill for placing the building at our disposal, thus saving a large outlay for rent and taxes. The building is very suitable for present requirements, beautifully and conveniently situated, and well adapted for headquarters for the society.

As our means are extremely limited we shall have to carry on our work modestly. If, however, every member will take an interest in it we may hope to attain success.

In electing the officers and Executive Council for the ensuing year it will be well to bear in mind that it is desirable to select only those who will work for the good of the society in general, and the museum in particular. But as we cannot all be officers, each member should take a personal interest in it.

I would remind members in arrears for fees that the work of the society cannot be carried on without some expense and the fee is very small. It would facilitate the work of the treasurer very much if members would hand in their fees as early as possible.

You are no doubt aware that as the president has stated in his report, we are to receive a grant of $200 from the town council as soon as we have raised $100. A subscription list has been started, and a fair amount already subscribed and paid. It will be our duty as members to show our faith in the scheme by adding our donations. It is imperative that funds should be raised as soon as possible to meet our liabilities, as we cannot procure our museum fittings until this is done.

I have the honour to be,
Your obedient servant,
T. A. S. HAY.

THE TREASURER'S report, duly audited by Messrs. C. Fessenden and H. T. Strickland, was adopted:

The Society's representatives on the Museum Committee were elected—Messrs. T. A Hay, Dr. Burnham and H. T. Strickland.

RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Mr. John Burnham and Mr. Fessenden, Mr. J. M. Irwin was elected an honorary member in recognition of his practical interest in the Society and Museum.

On motion of Messrs. Strickland and Yokome the cordial thanks of the society were tendered all those who contributed articles to the Victoria Museum.

The meeting adjourned.

At the conclusion of the meeting subscriptions to the society's complement of $100 to the grant of the town council were invited and several sums subscribed; and it is understood that the list will be completed as soon as possible so that the work of furnishing the museum with fixtures may be proceeded with as thoroughly and systematically as the funds available will permit.

ADOPTING The Cash System.

PETERBOROUGH, 1897.

At a meeting of the proprietors of the I. X. L. Steam Laundry and the Peterborough Steam Laundry and Dye Works, it was decided to make a Cash Business of the above firms, commencing September 15th, 1897.

Our customers will therefore please bear in mind that on and after the above date the drivers of our wagons have orders not to leave any parcels unless they receive the money for them.

We trust your sense of honour will not allow you to take this as a personal matter, but look upon the change as a business principle which is consistent with any firm having a good reputation.

Thanking you for past favours and trusting to further merit your patronage under the new rule, we remain,

Yours Respectfully,

RAN LIKE MISCHIEF.

The Strikers Did Their Best to Get Out of the Way of the Bullets of the Deputies.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 15. The work of collecting evidence for the inquest is already being prosecuted by the strikers' representatives and others, including the coroner. Dr. Thodorovich, secretary of the Austro Hungarian Consulate, Philadelphia, visited the hospital and took the statements of the injured.

He asked some of the wounded Hungarians if the rush ran when the deputies commenced to fire.

"It ran like the deuce!" was the reply.

Dr. Thodorovich was asked whether he had read Sheriff Martin's statement that two of the strikers had revolvers and threatened the sheriff's life.

"Not speaking in my official capacity," said Dr. Thodorovich, "I will say that from the conversation I have had with the men who saw the sheriff's deputies shoot the miners, I am of the opinion that the sheriff is mistaken. I know that when the striking miners were about to start for Harwood some of them carried canes.

A rather peculiar incident of the affair has come to light in the statement of Charles Kennedy and Mary McCaron, who say that the conductors of trolley cars passing the scene refused to take any of the dead and wounded to Hazelton unless fare was paid. The former is said to have paid 35 cents and the latter $1 to have them conveyed to town.

Magistrate Gorman, before whom the warrants for the arrest of the deputies were sworn out, states that while no attempt will be made to serve them while the militia are here, evidence is being secured from every available source.

TROUBLE CAME.

United States Marshals and Strikers Had an Encounter Tuesday Night.

Knoxville, Ten., Sept. 15.—A special from Oswego, on the Knoxville & Ohio Railroad, in the Jellico coal mining district, gives an account of an encounter last night between eight United States marshals and the striking miners.

Yesterday non-union miners were put to work, and trouble came last night. A mob came marching towards the company's store. When they were ordered by the marshals to halt, the miners answered with oaths. They were then ordered by the marshals to leave the property, which they refused to do. The marshals took refuge in a blacksmith shop and fired upon the mob. The miners retreated, but returned the fire with their Winchesters. None of the marshals are hurt, but as to the miners is was not known. The marshals, fearing serious trouble, have asked for assistance.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and [illegible] and child. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. MICHAEL BEAT LESNA.

Wonderful Speed of the Little Welshman in the Twenty-Mile Race at Springfield.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 15.—The second day of the Springfield Bicycle Club's tournament closed to-night with the Michael-Lesna race, the greatest event of the tournament. Jimmy Michael won in fine shape by 150 yards in the record-breaking time of 38.41. The former world's record was 2.45 seconds slower. The two started, paced by quads, Michael took the lead at the start and kept it to the third lap, when Lesna passed him. Michael kept a few feet behind until the seventh lap, when he went ahead and took the lead. At the tenth mile, he was 100 yards ahead. He kept the lead to the 17th lap, when Lesna passed him and kept the lead for a mile. Michael took the lead at the 20th lap and kept it for two miles. Lesna then had the race by a few feet for a mile. Jimmy then shot ahead and with a fine burst of speed, kept 40 yards ahead. He kept this lead until the 33rd lap, when Lesna gained and led for a mile. That was the last time that the little Welshman was headed. At the 17th mile Michael was 50 yards ahead. He gained right along to the finish and passed the tape fully 150 yards in the lead. Lesna crowded pilot on to the track when he came around and fairly went wild. As he passed down through the crowd the people patted him on the back and head until he reached his quarters.

Eddie Bald won the half-mile open professional with a fine spurt. The time, 1.01 2-5, was the fastest that Bald has ever made in a competition race. Fifteen thousand people were present. Summaries:

Half mile, open, professional: E C Bald, Buffalo, won; Dr A I Brown, Cleveland, 2; Arthur Gardiner, Chicago, 3. Time 1.01 2-5.

Mile, professional, 2.40 class: F J Titus, New York, won; J T Kelleher, Springfield, 2; W M Randall, Rochester, 3. Time 2.08 1-5.

Mile, open, professional: T M Cooper, Detroit, won; F J Lougheed, Sarnia, 2; Maj. Taylor, Cambridgeport, 3; John S. Johnson, Minneapolis, 4. Time 2.05 4-5.

20 mile match race between Lucien Lesna and Jimmy Michael: Michael won by 150 yards in the fast time of 38 min. 11 sec., beating the world's record by 2.3-5 sec., besides breaking the 20-mile record. Michael broke the 10 mile record, which was formerly 20.32 4-5, and held by Lesna. The 20-mile record was formerly held by Lesna. The fastest mile was the 10th, made in 1.48 4-5.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, Sept. 16.

Toronto and Scranton closed their championship series yesterday afternoon at the Island, the Irwinites winning easily and making 13 victories during the season for Toronto to 4 for the Miners. Syracuse won again and, as Buffalo lost, Toronto is tolerably sure of second place and the men are now making arrangements to play off for the Steinert Cup. To-day Toronto has an off day and will play with Providence on Friday, and a double-header with the same team Saturday will wind up the regular season at the Island. Manager Irwin will take his team to Montreal to wind up the season with three games next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

THE OTHER GAMES.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—The locals found an easy thing in Patton to-day, and batted him freely. Colton went in the box for Montreal, but was wild. McFarland replaced him and was very effective. Score:

At Buffalo: It was a pitchers' battle between Brown and Braun, and the latter had the best of it. The game was a good one throughout, and was won by Providence in the ninth on singles by Braun and Weigand and an error by Wise. O'Brien's playing at second for the visitors was magnificent. Score:

At Syracuse: Willis pitched wonderful ball against Springfield, being touched for but five scattered hits. Korwan was as wild as a hawk, and was hit freely. One of the Pouleet runs was forced home on a balk. Score:

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Baltimore, Sept. 15.—The Champions today won the last game they will play this season with Chicago. Of the 12 games played, Baltimore won nine. To-day's contest was fast and at times very pretty. The Orioles seem to have struck their batting gait, and did plenty of hard and timely hitting, whereas the Colts were unable to do much with Corbett. Score:

At Brooklyn: The New Yorks won a one-sided game from Brooklyn. Payne proved easy. Rusie did not try hard after the second innings: even then all the Brooklyns could do was to raise fly balls. The game was called on account of darkness. Score:

THE YELLOW FEVER PLAGUE.

Business at Jackson, Miss. Completely Demoralized—People Fleeing for Their Lives.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 15.—The city is completely demoralized and business is at a standstill. The people continued to pour out of the city during all of last night and to-day, and by midnight fully two-thirds of the population will have gone. Their fears as to the suspicious cases at Edwards, 25 miles distant, are increasing.

At 12.30 p.m. Mayor Wharton posted a notice that he is advised by the State Board of Health that it would be well to get all the people out of town, provided they desired to leave at all.

No Change at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 15.—There has been no further change in the plague situation since the official bulletin of the Board of Health last night, declaring five new cases of yellow fever. The absence of mortality is having a tendency to strengthen public confidence in the methods which are being applied in the treatment of the cases.

Worst Fears Realized.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 15.—The State Capital [illegible] Mississippi is depopulated, its business [illegible] closed and its newspapers [illegible]. Seven cases of yellow fever [illegible] officially announced at its very door [illegible] many suspected cases at various points. An embargo has been placed on the railroads of the State, and there are grave apprehensions that the dread disease has obtained a foothold in numerous parts of the State.

The worst fears have been realized. The disease at Edwards has been pronounced yellow fever. The State Board of Health has laid a general embargo on travel, except out of the State, by means of an order promulgated this afternoon. Travel from infected places is absolutely barred. The bright side of the situation is that the disease is of a very mild type. The State Board advises all who can to leave. The most rigid local quarantine prevails.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

"'TIS LOVE THAT MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND."

Some people think money is a greater power than love. Oh! What a mistake! See how the great money kings are controlled by the little boy Cupid! See how the great soldiers and men of power are twisted around his little fingers!

A woman's most precious possession is the capacity for awakening pure and noble love. More potent than wit or intellect is the womanly capacity for happy wifehood and motherhood.

A woman who is weak or diseased in the special organism of her sex is deprived of the power and prestige which naturally belong to her. Such troubles are not a necessity. Perfect health and strength of the feminine organism is insured by proper care and the aids afforded by enlightened medical science. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weaknesses and diseases of woman's special organism.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. No other physician has had a more extensive practice or greater success in the treatment of women's diseases. No other such perfect and scientific remedy for these ailments has ever been devised. It has restored health, strength and womanly power to tens of thousands of women.

Women who would understand their own powers and possibilities should read Doctor Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is the most interesting and enlightening book of the kind ever published. A paper bound copy will be sent absolutely free to any one sending 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For a handsome cloth-bound copy send 50 stamps.

HOW TO TELL A MAD DOG.

Some Popular Ignorance Upon This Subject Put to Shame.

Rabies does not exist as a disease. And occasionally a sick dog does become rabid. But the symptoms are far different from the accepted theories of the general public. The supposed symptoms are chiefly fallacious. People have been very much misled by the ignorance of would be savants.

First of them, it is a popular fallacy that a mad dog froths at the mouth. This is not true. You may be sure that if a dog can froth at the mouth he is not mad. There is, however, one sure sign of madness. That is the presence of a thick, coarse, stringy brown mucus clinging to the lips. It is so troublesome to the dog that he spends all his time vainly attempting to wipe or wash it away, if he can reach water.

Then, again, a mad dog does not avoid water, as some people sagely state. His anxiety to get water, is so great that when he finally succeeds, he plunges in his whole body up to the ears.

A mad dog never runs. He never demonstrates any unusual anxiety, nor shows any evidence of excitement. He is never agitated; he never hastens at a gallop. He prefers to be alone. He seeks out of the way places, like secluded roads and drags himself along slowly.

A mad dog will never make the first attack. If approached by another dog or human being, he never bites, if the disease is underway. He rather snarls a little, and then resumes his journey toward death.

The dog that rushes frantically up and down a street, yelping and whining, is not a mad dog. The mad dog rarely ever utters a sound. When he does, it is a hoarse, strident howl, more pitiful than fierce. He is too preoccupied with his own agony to molest others. A blow will not even arouse him.

If a dog is bitten by another dog that is mad, signs of the disease will not set in for ten days, says The Chicago Times-Herald. The symptoms of the approaching disease are not generally known. They are similar to the following: The dog will first become exceeding restless. He will get up and lie down repeatedly, changing his position angrily, rolling over from side to side, and constantly licking his head and body. In the first stage of the disease, he will be more irritable than later on, and he will snap constantly at objects that approach him, and even at imaginary objects. His thirst becomes excruciating from day to day, and he never ceases to lap all the water within reach. Large granular swellings will then make their appearance about his mouth and throat and heavy brown mucus will be discharged freely. If permitted to leave the house, he will stray away from home, and probably never return, preferring absolute solitude. He will probably seek the open country rather than remain in city streets. In the early stages of the disease the dog is ferocious and will bite. But in the latter stages he will molest neither man nor beast, but wandering off, despised and alone, he seeks some thickly grown corn or wheat field. Then laying down his feverish head between his tired paws, he dies within a day or two afterward.

Air to Displace Steam.

The air age is about to begin. On the third track between the two regular tracks, just south of the Rector street station of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Railroad, the air motor, which is shortly to be tried on the elevated road, is now receiving the finishing touches preparatory to the coming trial, writes a New York correspondent of The Pittsburg Dispatch. The motor does not differ much in general appearance from an ordinary locomotive. It has about the same sized engineer's cab, and what looks like a boiler, though it is not a boiler, but a place for the storing of compressed air. The chief difference is in the absence of a smokestack. The new idea in locomotion is in good condition for a fair trial. About 1300 pounds of compressed air has been put into it. When the motor is run it will carry 2000 pounds of compressed air. The air is obtained from a pipe connecting with a compressed air station in Greenwich street, which the Air Power Company has constructed. To charge the motor with 2000 pounds of compressed air takes about the same time as to put water into an ordinary engine, or something under a minute. The 2000 pounds, it is said, will run the motor for an hour, or long enough to make the trip from the Battery to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street.

The new motor will be quietly tested in a night or two, and the regular trial, which is expected to take the motor over the whole length of the elevated system, will follow. The Air Power Company officers are very sanguine as to its success. The motor has already been run successfully at Rome, N.Y., where it was built. It is the first motor of the kind to be built in this country for use on a regular railroad, though air motors have been run on some French railroads. One man, it is said, can easily operate the air machine, though, to avoid risk of accident, two men are likely to be placed upon a locomotive. And other surprises are in the air.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Bright's Disease.

"They done me any amount of good," were the words of Mr. Nelson Green, Galt, Ont., in speaking of his rescue from kidney and urinary difficulty by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Green says that he only tried them out of curiosity, but it was a lucky experiment, for Doan's Pills made a complete cure in his case. He is now a cured man, feeling strong, well and in good spirits.

Piles! Piles! Itchin Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Miss Lynn Badly Hurt.

Picton, Ont., Sept. 15.—A sad accident happened last evening on Main-street. Miss M. Lynn, while wheeling up the street about 7 o'clock, collided with a runaway team, which started from Boulter's canning factory. She was severely injured and is now in a very critical condition.

A MOTHER SPEAKS.

Tells how Dr. Chase Saved her Boy.

His Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a Precious Boon.

MRS. A. T. STEWART, Folgar, Ont., says: "From the 7th of January to the 30th, we were up night and day with our two little boys, employing doctors and trying every kind of patent medicine we ever heard of. At this time we did not know of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine until after the 30th, when our youngest darling died in spite of all we could do. Sometime in February the doctor told us our other boy couldn't live till spring. We were about discouraged, when I got my eye on an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Syrup.

"I tried at once to get some, but none of the dealers here had it. A neighbor who was in Kingston managed to purchase two bottles which he brought straight to us, and I believe it was the means of saving our only boy.

"One teaspoonful of the Syrup stopped the cough so he could sleep till morning. Our boy is perfectly well now, and I would not be without Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house."

W. C. T. U. PRIZES.

Presented to the Winners in the Murray Street Baptist Church Last Evening.

The presentation of the prizes given by the local W.C.T.U. to the pupils obtaining the highest percentage of marks in the recent entrance examinations in the subjects of temperance and physiology, took place in the Baptist church last evening in the presence of a fair audience.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman occupied the chair, the president of the local W.C.T.U., Mrs. Paton, also occuying a seat on the platform.

After devotional exercises Rev. Mr. Dykeman made a few remarks. He was in hearty sympathy with the W.C.T.U. in their mission, and stated that the organization was the outcome of divine inspiration, and that the organizer certainly was inspired by God. There was something in the name of the society he admired, and all the Christian forces in the world ought to be united with it in killing intemperance. Women, the speaker said, were more courageous in this work, and he was glad they were banded together in this town. The W.C.T.U. has become an educative institution, and as a result the great temperance question is being studied not only in the schools, but the politicians of the day are beginning to realize its strength. The speaker in conclusion expressed his delight at the fact of such inducements being held out to the boys and girls to pass creditable examinations in physiology and temperance.

Mrs. (Dr.) Scott then favoured the gathering with a sweetly sung solo.

Inspector Walker, of the Public Schools, next spoke briefly. He was happy to be present to show his appreciation of the W.C.T.U.—a work which could not be too highly esteemed, as it certainly had its influence on educational work. He thanked the Union for the encouragement given to pupils to study physiology and temperance, and congratulated the prize winners on their success.

THE PRIZES PRESENTED.

President Paton, of the W.C.T.U., at this juncture presented the four prizes given by the Union to the following successful pupils:

Mary Ellen Crowley—$3 in gold.
Hubert McBain—$3 in gold.
Muriel Fessenden—$2 in gold.
Myrta Emmerson—$2 in gold.

The percentage of marks obtained by the first two pupils was .61 and by the last two .60.

After the presentation, Mrs. Paton made a few remarks. She referred to the prevalence of the use of slang words by the young girls of to-day, and also of bad language among the boys, and scored the police for their inaction. Mrs. Paton stated she had been forty years in temperance work, and had been a member of every temperance society in Candada except the Sons of Temperance. She would like to see more ladies join the Union and help in the work, there being only fifteen paid members in the local Union. They had now been giving prizes in physiology and temperance for five years. Mrs. Paton concluded by giving a sketch of the good work the society was accomplishing along the line of temperance.

After a vote of thanks had been passed to the pastor and trustees of the Baptist church, the meeting closed with prayer.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our ... West, Toronto.

The wonder of the Age.

Dear Sir,—I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B.B.B. for the disease called prairie itch and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured. I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

LACROSSE.

As Stouffville has defaulted to Markham the latter team will play off with Peterborough in the second series of the semi-finals. The Markham team will come to Peterborough on Tuesday next and the game will begin at 2 p. m. sharp.

The visiting team is well known as one of the best amateur teams in Canada today and no comment is needed to introduce them to Peterborough. Everyone knows that in a practise game with the Torontos they actually succeeded in defeating that team by a score of 7 goals to 2.

The Peterboroughs will have their work cut out for them in defeating such a team and the fastest game of the season may be looked for on Tuesday next. The return game will be played in Markham the following week, when a big excursion will be run to that town.

The visitors are bringing a big excursion crowd with them to Peterborough on Tuesday.

A Stouffville correspondent writes to the Toronto papers as follows regarding the default of Stouffville to Markham:

In the Markham v. Stouffville lacrosse protest, the members of the lacrosse club here are very indignant at the action of President Craig in ordering Stouffville to play Markham on forty-eight hours' notice after taking nearly two weeks to reach a decision. The managers of the club are not inclined to allow the matter to pass, as they claim President Craig had no power to give the decision he did. Opinion is divided as to whether the club will take legal action against the president or join the new lacrosse association which is being formed. One thing, however, is certain Stouffville will not play Markham again this season, whether President Craig orders it or not.

FOOTBALL.

The game of Association Football which takes place to-morrow on the P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham, between the Bewdley team and the Electrics, of town, promises to be very interesting. The local team will be composed as follows: Goal, Moosy; backs, Simpson and T. Crowley; halves, W. Wilgar, Bird and Jackson; forwards, W. Crowley, Coventry, Birch, Brooksback and Foley. The game starts at 2.30, and will be refereed by Mr. F. D. Kerr.

THAT PICKPOCKET CASE.

It Comes up in the Highest Court in Ontario and Judgment is Reserved.

Mr. D. O'Connell returned from Toronto last evening, where he has been attending the Court of Appeal in connection with the following case at Osgoode Hall, before Burton, C. J. O., Osler, Maclennan, Moss, J. J. A.

Reg. v. Murray—D. O'Connell, (Peterborough), for defendant, appealed from order of MacMahon, J., dismissing application by defendant for his discharge from custody upon the return of a habeas corpus. Defendant was brought before a justice of the peace on the 1st July last, charged with attempting to pick pockets, and was on that day committed for trial. Being brought before the County Court judge three days later, he elected to be tried summarily, and was tried by the judge under the Summary Trials Act, convicted and sentenced to three months' confinement in the Central Prison. The defendant contended that the commitment by the magistrate, being made upon a dies non juridicus, was a nullity, and the subsequent proceedings, being founded upon the commitment, were also void. A. M. Dymond, for the Crown, opposed the appeal, and contended that if there was any irregularity in the commitment, it was immaterial, and at any rate that the county Judge's Criminal Court being a court of record the proceedings by way of habeas corpus was inapplicable. Judgement reserved.

LITHOGRAPH MINE.

It is Being Visited To-day by a Large Party From Peterborough.

A large party of gentlemen drove out to the lithograph mine near Burleigh this morning, and expect to return to-night.

Amongst those taking in the trip of inspection were Judge Weller, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., W. H. Meldrum, Peter Campbell, A. L. Davis, R. M. Dennistoun, ... and others.

The report of the experts on the product of the mine is most satisfactory, and it is expected that after the excavations have been made deeper than the frost penetrates the quality of the stone will far surpass the imported article.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it," "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P. R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you. I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. RIGHT SHARP FIGHT.

General Blood's Division Attacked the Momunds

AND THE ENGAGEMENT WAS FIERCE

British Troops Were at One Time Forced Back But a Charge of Cavalry Turned the Tide—Several British Officers Among the Killed and Wounded.

Camp Anayat, via Panjkora, Sept. 17.—8 p.m.)—Severe fighting has taken place between the second brigade of General Sir Bindon-Blood's division and the Momunds. The British loss was about 140 killed and wounded. The brigade had moved out to attack the Momunds in the valley north of the camp, to punish them for the assault Tuesday night upon the force of General Jeffreys at the foot of Rawat Pass. The Bengal Lancers found the enemy entrenched on the hills, about eight miles distant.

The 35th Sikhs were ordered to make the attack. The regiment was supported by four guns of a mountain battery and by six companies of Buffs. The Sikhs drove the enemy into the hills, but eventually fell back upon the Buffs before superior numbers.

The enemy then advanced against the left flank, drove back the cavalry and surrounded a company of Sikhs. The cavalry charged brilliantly and relieved the Sikhs, and the guides, coming up, swept the enemy back. The force halted for some time, destroying the enemy's towers, and then retired.

A company of Sikhs on the hills to the extreme right were hard pressed and were running short of ammunition, when the general officer commanding moved the guides forward to their relief. The gallantly accomplished. The guides carried the wounded Sikhs back and executed the withdrawal in good order, though the enemy pressed them hard.

Darkness came on before the force reached the camp, and the guides, with General Jeffreys and his escort of Buffs, became separated from the column, which passed them in the gloom. General Jeffreys remained with the guns and took up a position in a village.

The enemy had occupied a part of the village, and the escort, not being strong enough to repel them, they had inflicted considerable loss on the little party before Major Wortledge, with two companies, each composed of Sikhs and guides, came up and compelled them to retire. A large body of cavalry and the 38th Dogras left the camp and brought in the whole detachment.

Captain Birch and Lieut. Watson behaved with great gallantry. Lieut. Hughes and Lieut. Crawford were killed. Lieut. Watson, Lieut. Gimming and Lieut. Winter were severely wounded and Gen. Jeffreys, Lieut. Cassels and Capt. Birch slightly wounded.

The Buffs lost one killed and seven wounded; the Sikhs 21 killed and 42 wounded; the guides two killed and 10 wounded; the gunners 7 killed and 21 wounded, and the Sappers 3 killed and 16 wounded. Two Bengal Lancers were wounded. Many horses and mules were killed.

THEY CALL IT A REVERSE.

London Newspapers Comment in a Rather Doleful Strain on the Fight

London, Sept. 18.—All the morning papers comment upon the British reverse north of Camp Anayat.

The Daily Telegraph calls it "disastrous," and says: "Whether it was due to rashness or to some not yet explained cause, it will be a matter of unfeigned sorrow. When we read of the loss of so many valuable lives we deplore a casualty which, though it will doubtless be speedily avenged, gloom upon the happier intelligence received from Fort Gulistan."

The Standard says: "The interest of the advance is every way deplorable. It is absolutely necessary to retrieve the reverse, and, meanwhile, the tribes who were said to be disheartened and disinclined to fight, will be encouraged to organize a determined resistance. Probably the 3rd Brigade, which has reached Nawagai, will retrace its steps in order to support Gen. Jeffreys. It is impossible to offer an explanation of the mishap. We must remember, however, that it occurred in a country never before traversed by European troops and very little known, the country of the Momunds, who also knew very little of the strength ultimately to be employed against them. But there is reason to fear once again that a lack of complete intelligence as to the disposition of the enemy's strength has led our commanders to undertake an operation that cannot be pushed through. Further details are awaited with anxiety. It must be hoped that the Indian Government will give Sir William Lockhart a perfectly free hand to choose his own men. He must not be bound by red tape regulations. Much has yet to be done before peace and order will be restored."

The Daily News says: "It is very serious news and gives the greatest importance to the appointment of Sir William Lockhart to succeed Sir George White as Commander-in-Chief in India, on the latter's retirement, which has just been officially announced. There is little doubt that his name will be heard with dread by the insurgent tribesmen."

THE CIRCASSIA SAFE.

Towed Into Queenstown Harbor by the SS. Mennon From Montreal.

Queenstown, Sept. 17.—The overdue Anchor Line steamer Circassia, which left New York on Aug. 28 for Glasgow, and which should have reached that port on Thursday, Sept. 9, was sighted this morning off Kinsale Head, in tow of the British steamer Mennon, Captain Bales, from Montreal, on Sept. 3, for Avonmouth. On Sept. 5 the Circassia was overhauled by the Thingvalla Line steamer Island, from New York for Copenhagen, and was taken in tow by the latter, as she was in a disabled condition. Owing to the heavy sea which prevailed the hawser parted and the Island was unable to take the Circassia in tow again.

Passengers All Well.

Queenstown, Sept. 17.—The passengers of the Circassia are all well and have been landed here. The Mennon met the Circassia on Monday last, Sept. 13, when the two vessels were about 600 miles west of Queenstown, the Anchor Line steamer having drifted eastward about 230 miles after becoming separated from the Island. The accident which disabled the Circassia occurred on Saturday, Sept. 4, when 980 miles from New York.

From a passenger it was learned that the shaft broke within the tube on the morning of the 4th instant and could not be repaired. The weather was so rough that the Thingvalla liner Island could not tow her, hawsers and chains snapping like small cords. The Mennon picked the vessel up on the 13th, and after some trouble a cable was attached and no further mishap occurred.

SAW ANDREA'S BALLOON.

People in Arctic Russia Gazed for Five Minutes on an Airship.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—A telegraphic message received here from Krasnoyarsk, in the interior of Siberia, says that on Sept. 14, at 11 p.m., the inhabitants of the village of Antzifirowskoje, in the district of Yeniseisk, Arctic Russia, saw a balloon, believed to be that of Professor Andree, the Swedish aeronaut, who left the Island of Trof[illegible] shortly before 2.30 p.m. on July 11, in an attempt to cross the Polar region. The balloon, it is added, was in sight for about five minutes.

BEHRING SEA CORRESPONDENCE.

London Times Publishes the Gist of It and Shows Charity to Sherman.

London, Sept. 18.—The Times this morning publishes the gist of the correspondence between Secretary Sherman and Lord Salisbury in the Behring Sea controversy.

The blue book covers a period beginning with 1895 and ending with July 30 of the present year. Altogether there are 107 despatches, which show that the United States has pressed for revision since January, 1895.

The Times remarks: "Though Mr. Sherman so far forgot himself as to sign the famous despatch, we cannot suppose that he actually wrote it." Only the concluding paragraph of the despatch is published, all the terms deemed discourteous being omitted.

RUMOR WAS A FAKE

About a Combine of Wheat Dealers in Manitoba.

SO AFFIRMS MR. WILLIAM SCOTT

The President of the McKay Milling Company of Ottawa says Wheat Must Reach an Export Price, and There is No Danger of the Cereal Being Cornered.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Mr. William Scott, President of the McKay Milling Company of Ottawa, was seen to-day by a reporter in regard to the report that a gigantic combine of wheat dealers had been formed to defraud the farmers of Manitoba in connection with the wheat crop, and characterized the rumor as a fake, pure and simple.

"I cannot understand what can have given rise to such a report," said Mr. Scott. "I have heard of combines being formed to put up the price of wheat, but combines formed, as this one is said to be with the intention of keeping it down, are an impossibility. Wheat must," he went on to say, "in any case reach an export price, and when this is attained the farmer is in no danger of being cornered by a combine. The Chicago market regulates the export price of wheat in this country. When our grain is shipped to the English market in Liverpool it must compete with that of other countries. I was in Montreal yesterday and was talking with members, both of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company and of the Ogilvie Company, and none of them had heard anything about the reported combine of the Manitoba wheat dealers."

Subsequently Mr. Scott sent a telegram to the Northern Elevator Company of Winnipeg: "Can you give us any information respecting reported combine?" The following reply came: "Your telegram received. Combine reports are humbug; any person acquainted with the trade in Manitoba wheat knows that it is a practical impossibility to organize a combine to control either the buying or selling. The facilities provided by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company prevent any such combination. If you have any doubt about no competition in the country come up and put out buyers; will see you get plenty of elevator accommodation. (Signed) Northern Elevator Company, Winnipeg, Man."

It is pleasant to be able to record the fact that the spirit of philanthropy is largely existent in Ottawa. The latest evidence of this is the gift, for a home for incurables, by the heirs of the Perley estate, of the beautiful and expensive residence on Wellington-street, erected by the late G. W. Perley, for some time one of Ottawa's parliamentary representatives.

Mr. Edouard Schultze, Austro Hungarian Consul-General, recently made a tour of the Galician colonies in the Canadian Northwest Territories, and has expressed to the Commissioner of Immigration at Winnipeg his entire satisfaction with the condition of the Galician and Hungarian colonies. Mr. Schultze sent the following telegram to the Commissioner from Yorkton, N.W.T., on the 9th inst.:

"Have inspected colonies at Saltcoats and Yorkton, accompanied by Officer Speers from Whitewood. Am delighted with what I have seen; beautiful country, especially adapted for settlement, far exceeds my expectations; good houses, splendid farms; am very thankful for your wise policy in placing these people. Mr. Speers has taken great pains to show every advantage to the people; the work done reflects great credit; is really wonderful. I extend to you the gratitude of my Government for what I have seen. Hungarian colony at Whitewood very prosperous."

FREE GOLD DISCOVERED.

So Reports a Prospector for the Railway Syndicate From the Michipicoten District.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 17.—The North Shore steamer arrived down from Michipicoten this morning with about a dozen passengers. Thirty prospectors went in there yesterday. By to-day's boat the railway syndicate, which has 11 40-acre locations on the north and south shore of the lake, received a letter from one of its prospectors, which stated that free gold had been discovered in a vein on their property on the south side of the lake. This assures them gold-bearing veins on either side of the lake, and they are more confident than ever that they have a mighty good thing there. J. L. Caverhill, the wealthy Montrealer, in whose interest [illegible] examined the Dickinson-Mackey claim, is among those on the ground now. Mr. Caverhill is there for the purpose of closing a deal with Mr. Dickinson for a 49 100th interest in the claim, for which he will pay $10,000. Dickinson will retain the controlling interest in the claim, which includes 40 acres in all. It is Mr. Caverhill's intention to sink a shaft at the earliest practicable moment. The North Shore steamer will have about 20 passengers for the outside points. But few tenderfeet are now going in, the majority of the prospectors being experienced men, inured to the hard work that is before them. Many of them are representing eastern parties in the United States and Canada.

ADDRESSED AGAIN.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Had to Reply to More Congratulatory Expressions, French and English.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was presented with an address to-day by the French National Union and the British Empire League. Replying to the latter, Sir Wilfrid said he was happy that his speeches in England had met with their approval. They were all agreed that our present relations with the Mother Country were very satisfactory. They, however, could not always remain as they were, and then there would be but one solution, separation, or closer union with the Motherland. We all fondly believe the solution will not be separation, but closer union. It was, he believed, possible to keep our present legislative and fiscal independence and still have closer union.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day requested Mr. D. A. Ansell, Consul-General for Mexico, to telegraph his congratulations to President Diaz on his escape from assassination.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1897.

SIR WILFRID AT MONTREAL.

Though it was rather adding perfume to the violet, the great popular reception of the Premier in Montreal was a fresh testimony to the high favour in which the services of the Premier to Canada, and the Empire as well, are held by the people. In this case the reception was not, strictly speaking, of a popular character—it was a tribute from the Board of Trade, the representatives of the most solid and thoughtful element of the first commercial centre of Canada.

Sir Wilfrid shewed all his old charm of oratory, and though he spoke upon a subject that he had dealt with in former addresses, with the world for an audience, he succeded in making a most effective and interesting speech. The fact was reimpressed that Canada had taken a place among the nations, and that a new era of prosperity, progress and development was in store. We all recognize that the great need of Canada is population, and from this fact Sir Wilfrid's belief that a tide of immigration will in the near future flow in from the United States to Canada seems to be well founded. The free land of the United States is all gone, and many of the farmers are meeting such difficult conditions in some parts of the far west that the temptation to seek better homes, such as the Canadian Northwest holds in abundance, is very great. We owe much to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He is a prophet of a new dispensation of prosperity and progress. His personality and his unstained record command respect, and the work he has done in bringing the relations of Canada to the Mother Country and the other Colonial premiers, to their true condition, is of unspeakable importance.

MR. SIFTON'S WARNING.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, will leave Ottawa on Thursday for the purpose of joining Major Walsh, administrator of the Yukon, at Victoria, B. C. The minister will accompany the commissioner to Skaguay, and if his health permits he will go to the summit of the Chilcoot Pass, so that he may learn as much of the administrative needs of the district in person as possible. "I see," he said to an Ottawa correspondent, "that suffering and distress have already begun to be felt at Dawson City. I expected nothing else. How much better it would have been if my warning to the public not to attempt to go in until next spring had been attended to. When shall I return? Oh, I hope to be back in a couple of months at most."

More gold has been taken out of Ontario's prolific fields this year than the Klondyke region ever produced, even if all the fabulous stories be true. The gold, too, says the St. Thomas Journal, has been produced without the hardships which the Klondyker has to undergo. In Ontario the result is almost a certainty. The man who tills the fields to make gold is sure of some result. The man who digs for gold in the frozen earth of the Yukon district may make a lucky strike, or he may secure no return for his labour, may lose his life in a fruitless search for the glittering metal which for all ages has been "the curse of manhood."

THE statesmanship of Sir Richard Cartwright has at length, says the Montreal Witness, conquered the misunderstanding of the many people of Canada, who regarded him as a sort of enemy of his country, when he was standing up for those principles of righteousness that exalt a nation. His principles have triumphed, and now that he is understood, he is not only popular, but he possesses the most deeply based confidence of Canadians of both parties. He is recognized as a pillar of strength and integrity in the Government and the country. He has borne himself most proudly during the long period in which he was misunderstood. Now that the people delight in manifesting their confidence in him, his kindly, genial, nature responds in a manner which is entirely winning.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, Sept. 18.

Toronto dropped another to Providence yesterday in a chilly game at the Island. Gaston and Egan were the opposing twirlers and the local southpaw pitched all round the visiting slab artist, and with any sort of luck the result would have been reversed. True, Providence earned three to none by Toronto, but all the Irwinites' runs were due to passes and battery errors. Egan was as wild as a hawk, and besides allowing seven bases on balls hit Smith a hard punch in the ribs.

Toronto	0 0 1 0 1 0 2 0 3 0 0—4

THE OTHER GAMES.

Syracuse, Sept. 17. The Stars played a wonderful up-hill game to-day and, assisted by the wildness of Odwell, overcame the lead of eight runs gained by the Barons in the first two innings, when Kissinger was pounded hard. Syracuse won out in the tenth. The game was an exciting one from start to finish. Horton, who replaced Kissinger, pitched a good article of ball. Score:

Syracuse	0 0 0 5 1 0 0 3 2 1—12 11 2
Wilkes-Barre	3 5 0 0 0 0 3 0 0—11 10 5

Batteries—Kissinger, Horton and Shaw; Odwell and Gonding.

At Springfield — The home team beat Scranton easily in the first game of the closing series. Johnson was batted hard all the way through and received poor support. The visitors made two hits in succession off Dolan only once. That was in the eighth, and gave them their solitary run. Score:

Springfield	0 1 2 1 1 0 2 0 2—9	17	1
Scranton	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1	8	4

Batteries—Dolan and Nichols; Johnson and Boyd.

At Montreal—Montreal found Cochrane very easy, while McFarland made the Buffalo club look as though they were standing still. The day was bitterly cold and the players were obviously suffering from that cause. Clymer's fielding and Frank Shannon's work were the features. Attendance 1600. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Montreal	3 3 0 0 4 2 1 0 0—13	18	2
Buffalo	2 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 2—6	8	7

Batteries—McFarland and Berger; Cochrane and Urquhart.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Boston defeated New York to-day in the most one-sided game of ball seen here this season. Sullivan could not control the ball a little bit in the first innings and Zearfoss was away off in his throwing. Three hits, three bases on balls, a wild pitch and wild throwing by Sullivan and Zearfoss gave Boston six runs in the first innings. In the eighth Boston had another batting carnival. Nichols' work was superb, and his support perfect. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Nichols, Bergen and Ganzell; Sullivan and Zearfoss.

At Pittsburg—Pittsburg took both games from the tail-enders. There were no special features in either game. Score:

First Game—	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	2 0 2 2 0 0 0 0 *—6	9	2
St. Louis	0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—2	7	2

Batteries—Killen and Sugden; Sudhoff and Murphy.

Second Game—	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	2 2 1 0 2 0 0 3 *—10	11	3
St. Louis	1 0 0 3 0 0 0 0 0—4	10	4

Batteries—Hastings and Merritt; Hart and Douglass.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn won another from Washington in the ninth. Swaim has only himself to blame for the loss of the game, for after he fumbled Dunn's grounder, which would have retired Brooklyn with one run, enough hits were then made to win. Sheckard's hit in the fourth innings for a home run traveled nearly 500 feet before it was recovered. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0 1 0 1 0 0 0 0 3—5	12	2
Washington	1 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 0—4	12	4

Batteries—Dunn and Burrell; Swaim and Farrell.

At Baltimore—The champions took the first game from the Quakers with comparative ease, but in the second they were unable to hit Dunkle, the visitors' new pitcher. The work of the latter and several snappy double plays were the features. Score:

First Game—	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	1 4 0 0 0 0 4 2 *—11	16	0
Philadelphia	1 0 0 0 0 4 0 1 0—6	11	3

Batteries—Hoffer and Robinson; Orth, Becker and Clements.

Second Game—	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—2	7	2

Batteries—Amole and Clarke; Dunkle and Boyle.

At Cleveland—Rhines pitched two innings for Cincinnati and Ehret the rest of the game. The only feature was the complete absence of any wrangling or argument. Kelley's decisions were unquestioned. Attendance 700. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	3 4 5 0 0 0 1 1 *—14	19	2

Batteries—Wilson and Criger; Rhines, Ehret and Schriver.

An ordinary cough or cold may not be thought much of at the time, but neglect may mean in the end a consumptive's grave. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not cure Consumption when the lungs are riddled with cavities; but it stops the cough, will cure Consumption in its early stages, and even in its last stages gives such relief as to be a perfect Godsend to those whose lives are nearing a close.

The Grim Reaper Foiled.

The Marvellous Virtues of Paine's Celery Compound Conquer and Banish a Lady's Troubles.

Five Doctors Were Unable to Help the Sufferer.

Twelve years of misery and agony from female, kidney and stomach troubles! Physicians were utterly perplexed and unable to cure the lady! In a time of gloom and despondency the magic virtues of Paine's Celery Compound bring joy and new life! These are the leading facts in the following statement made by Mrs. G. Stone, of Egansville, Ont.:

"For more than twelve years I was afflicted with kidney, stomach and female troubles, and had been attended by five doctors, and tried medicine after medicine, without any good results.

'My suffering a year ago from the kidneys and stomach were terrible. I was in such a state that I thought I could not live, and concluded there was no use trying other medicines.

'I was advised, however, to try Paine's Celery Compound, and finally decided to give it a trial. Before I had finished the first bottle I had improved very much, and after the use of a few more bottles I had not been so well for long years, and am now altogether a different person. The use of Paine's Celery Compound also banished my nervousness. I can, therefore, recommend Paine's Celery Compound to anyone suffering from kidney, stomach and female troubles."

You think of Scott's Emulsion as only for those who have consumption or who have inherited a tendency to it. Almost its greatest use is for those whose condition is so impaired as not to be able to get the good they should out of their ordinary food. In nearly every case with these, Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil brings back appetite, stimulates digestion, restores color and plumpness, and controls the diseases of thinness. ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Prof. Dorsey Further Questioned—Prisoner Determined to Take the Stand and Address the Jury.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—When the trial of Adolph Luetgert opened to-day the cross-examination of Prof. Dorsey was resumed. He was questioned as to the comparative nature of the sesamoid and femur bones of a calf, a sheep and a human being. His answers were technical and adroit, but of a character that supported his original identification and testimony with reference to the bones in evidence.

There is said to be a difference between Luetgert's counsel with reference to the defendant taking the witness stand in his own behalf. Attorney Vincent is not inclined to permit Luetgert to do so. Attorney Phalen believes the sausagemaker should tell his story to the jury, and Luetgert himself is quite determined to go upon the stand. He not only desires to tell his story, but he also wants to address the jury. In all likelihood he will testify.

State Attorney Deneen hoped this morning to rest his case to-day. "I have only two more witnesses," said the State Attorney. "They are Frank Bialk and Frank Odorofsky. By them I shall show the motive for the crime, namely, Luetgert's infatuation for Mary Simmering."

When Attorney Vincent completed his cross-examination of Prof. Dorsey, he moved that the court exclude from the record all of the evidence of the witness, and also all of the evidence of Dr. Norval W. Pierce, in reference to identifications which were not based upon legitimate or substantial bases, but merely upon the opinion of the experts with reference to certain alleged conditions. The motion was over-ruled. The attorney then moved to exclude the evidence of Professor Defontaine, in which the latter had stated "there may be human bones."

This was approved and sustained and the motion allowed.

Captain Schnettler was called to the witness stand to testify as to collateral facts. During the closing session of the court, policemen were called to the stand to identify and describe where they found the various exhibits which have figured in the trial up to date. When evidence to show the motive for the crime shall have been completed the state will rest.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou —Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

100 Per cent Better.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are curing heart and nerve troubles in every city, town, and village in Canada. Mrs. F. Abbey, Toronto, says, "Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured my husband who had suffered for fifteen years with weak nerves caused by heart trouble. He was subject to pains in his head, dizziness, fainting spells, sleeplessness, etc. He is now free from these troubles, and feels 100 per cent better than when he began using the pills."

THE VALUE OF SILVER

Bank of England Would Have a Big Responsibility

IN ADMITTING IT TO THE RESERVE

London Times Condemns the Policy of the Bank as Set Forth in the Governor's Address the Other Day—Lord Farrer Also Objects to the Bank's Course.

London, Sept. 17.—The Times' commenting editorially this morning on the letter read yesterday by the Governor of the Bank of England at the semi-annual meeting of the bank, says: "As the same influences have been at work in France as here in relation to the currency reserve, the re-opening of the French mints is perhaps within the limits of possibility, though we doubt whether the action of the Bank of England can be in any case a determining factor.

"The second condition which the bank imposes, the condition with reference to the price of silver, is obviously more important. An immense responsibility would rest upon the bank officials, who must exercise the right to decide what should be regarded as a satisfactory price of silver."

The editorial proceeds to protest strongly against the policy of the bank in having consented to commit itself, though even thus limited and safeguarded.

Repeating arguments used in former articles The Times says: "We cannot assume that the admission of a silver reserve would not detract from the bank's prestige abroad. It would be a very objectionable course and not at all justify the negotiations of the Ministry with the American commissioners and the French Government."

Taking credit for having practically killed the plan, the editorial concludes with the warning that the campaign will be continued. "Leading French statesmen are not wholly disinclined to re-open the mints; while a vigorous attempt is being made to induce India to adopt the same course. This should not be done without serious consideration. In any case free coinage by France, India and the United States would not justify the Bank of England in regarding silver as good as gold for reserve. Therefore, the bank's offer can only encourage illusory hopes; and the sooner it is allowed to lapse into oblivion the better for all concerned."

Lord Farrer writes to The Times this morning in part as follows: "I learn from the best accessible information that a proposal has been made to reopen the Indian mints to silver on the understanding that the United States and France do the same at a ratio of 15 1-2 to 1. The consideration offered is that it will insure India a permanent and steady exchange.

"Of course at that ratio this proposal appears to me in the highest degree objectionable. First, because it puts an end to experiments which promise to be successful, second, because it affords no substantial prospect of giving a steady, permanent exchange, which there is every prospect of attaining if the policy of 1893 is adhered to; third, because, if it did succeed in giving permanent exchange at the ratio of 15 1-2 to 1, which is most improbable, it could only succeed by artificially raising the gold value of silver throughout the world to the same extent, thus introducing without the consent of the British Parliament all the mischief of international bimetallism at that ratio."

Lord Farrer promises on a future occasion to give his reasons for these conclusions, adding that, as the proposals have been for some time before the Government, it is desirable that public attention should be drawn to them.

The Westminster Gazette this afternoon, commenting upon the letter of the governor of the Bank of England, Mr. Hugh C. Smith, to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, announcing that the bank is prepared to hold in silver one-fifth of the bullion held against its note issue, says: "Although the governor's statement is perhaps meaningless so far as practice is concerned, it is to be deeply deplored that the bank has budged from its principle. It is not dignified for the Old Lady of Threadneedle-street to flirt with the bimetallic faddists. We want gold against our notes, and there is no reason why an old statute passed when silver bore an entirely different character should be refurbished at the bidding of those who want to dispose of silver. The bank's reserve is not so large that it can be tinkered with. Moreover, by yielding in those matters of principle, we open the way to the thin edge of the wedge. If the thin at is carried out, what would happen is exemplified by the statement of a trustee, who declares he would feel compelled to sell his bank stock and so close a risk."

The St. James' Gazette remarks on the same subject: "The scheme seems to be knocked on the head for the present, but the reception of even this feeble announcement in the city will have an effect anything but favorable to the bimetallists. A substantial element of indignation arises at the feeling that the Government and the bank have been doing a little diplomacy at our expense and for the advantage of Americans. The United States has done nothing to make such a risky politeness to the silvermen on our part popular in this country."

Mexico is Interested.

City of Mexico, Sept. 17.—President Diaz opened Congress last evening, reading his semi-annual message, covering the period since April.

Referring to the question of the decline in silver as affecting the finances of Mexico, the President said that it demanded the serious attention of the Government. He did not consider the situation as a reason for serious alarm.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

IS THE RARE TREASURE OF PERFECT HEALTH.

A Nova Scotia Lady Says "I Consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a Priceless Boon to Suffering Humanity.

From the Amherst, N.S., Sentinel.

The rugged and the strong do not appreciate to its full extent the blessing of perfect health. It is only those who have passed through a trying illness, who feel that health is a treasure to be prized more than silver than gold. Among those who have experienced the truth of this is Miss Sabra Rector, of West River, Hebert, N. S. This lady has passed through a trying and wearisome illness, from which happily relief was found through the medium of a medicine that has brought health and strength to thousands of others, and whose medicinal virtues will work equally good results in all cases where it is given a fair trial. Miss Rector says:—"I feel it is my duty to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they have done wonders for me. About two years ago I became very ill with a complication of diseases. I was suffering with indigestion, biliousness and the resulting nervous disorders, such as sick headache, loss of appetite and flashes of heat and cold. I began doctoring and although I had the best of care I seemed to grow worse every day. I slept but little and when lying down would grow so hot and suffer from a sensation of smothering that I would find it necessary to arise. Then the other extreme would come and I would shiver with cold. Time wore on and there was no improvement in my condition. I was not able to do any work about the house and even the exertion of moving about would tire me out. If I attempted to walk any distance or hurried in the least I would gasp for breath and could scarcely speak. I had a very poor appetite, and what food I ate did not seem to agree with me or furnish needed nourishment, and I also suffered with a severe pain in my side and back. During this time I tried many remedies, but they gave me no relief whatever. I had become so weak, and my system was so run down that life was a burden to me. At this stage my attention was directed to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I determined to give them a trial. After using four boxes I felt so much better that hope and encouragement came to me once more. I continued the use of the Pink Pills, and found myself steadily gaining health and strength. By the time I had used four boxes more I had fully regained health and strength, and I am not only able to do my full share of household work, but also attend to my Sabbath school class and other church duties. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a priceless boon to suffering humanity."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for the troubles which makes the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail postpaid, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

A BALLOONIST'S LONG TRIP.

He Was Caught in a Thunderstorm and Carried Hundreds of Miles.

West Minot, Me., Sept. 17.—Mr. Allen, the Providence, R. I., aeronaut, started in his balloon yesterday about 3 p.m., from St. Johnsbury, Vt., with his daughter. After cruising around a short time, he let her out of the basket, near St. Johnsbury. He started again and was caught in a thunderstorm, drifting towards the White Mountains. Mr. Allen was stopped by his anchor catching in trees, and was held there three hours, when the fury of the storm broke him away. He drifted about until he passed over Lewiston, several hundred miles from his starting point. Mr. Ward Harrington of West Minot, hearing cries for help, ran out, and catching hold of the anchor rope, succeeded, with the help of neighbors, in pulling Mr. Allen to earth once more. Mr. Allen anticipates returning in his balloon to St. Johnsbury as soon as the wind is favorable.

The John R. Hooper Case.

The EXAMINER has received a communication from Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, consisting of exculpatory evidence in the case of John R. Hooper, confined in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, in whose case Mr. Armstrong has taken an interest that does credit to his heart. But as all the evidence prepared by Hooper's friends will doubtless be submitted to and fully considered by the Minister of Justice, the case of Hooper cannot be very much served by encroaching on newspaper space that is fully occupied by other demands.

Frightened the Boys.

The other night a number of boys invaded the garden of a Port Hope man and made a raid on his plum trees. He discovered them and decided to give them a scare. He secured a package of fire crackers, lighted them and threw them into a tree where half a dozen youngsters were gorging themselves on his choice green gages. Soon the crackers began to explode. Six boys fell out of the tree, each one thinking the other had been shot, and the way they got out of the garden was a caution. When they had placed themselves at a safe distance they examined each other for bullet holes and gaping wounds.

THE CAMPERS' "AT HOME."

A Pleasant Evening at St. Andrew's School Room.

The Campers' "At Home," held in St. Andrew's school room last night under the auspices of Mrs. Waddell's class, was in every point a success. The hall was very neatly and beautifully adorned with tents covered with evergreens, while flowers and plants on the small tables in different parts of the hall added to its attractiveness.

Dr. Bell presided and the programme was of an informal character and was appreciated by all present:

Chorus—"Tenting To-night".....The Class
Reading.....Mr T J Glover
Violin duet.....Misses Maud and Fox
Recitation.....Miss Maud McCrae
Solo—"El Capitan".....Mr G W Mulligan
"A Camper's Experience".....Dr Bell
Recitations—"The Droning Singer," "A Night in a Sleeper".....Miss Aggie Patterson
"A Camper's Experience".....Mr T J Glover

In closing Dr. Bell congratulated the class on the success of the evening's "At Home" and praised the work in which they were interested, namely, the support of a pupil in the Point-aux-trembles School, costing $50 a year. He also thanked all who had taken part in the programme.

During the evening the young ladies distributed refreshments and ice cream.

The "At Home" was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

MUST ATTEND DRILL.

Or Run Chances of being Fined Five Dollars by Magistrate Dumble.

The Commanding Officer of the 57th is determined that the men who participated in the annual trip of the Battalion must attend drill this fall for inspection, and as many absentees were noted it was decided to make an example of one, and see how it would affect next Tuesday evening's drill.

One of the privates who has persistently absented himself from drill, was accordingly summoned to appear before the magistrate this morning, and was fined five dollars. He stated that he did not know that drill had commenced, but as the volunteers passed his house to the magistrate's own knowledge he decided to make an example of him. Another absentee was on the ground of reasonable excuse, let off—this time, only.

TRAMPS AGAIN.

One of the Fraternity Boldly Enters a House in Ashburnham.

A few days ago a Stewart street residence in Ashburnham was entered in the coolest possible manner by a tramp, whilst the mistress of the house was in the back yard and as she suddenly came around to the front she saw the Weary Willie sloping out of the gate, with her husband's Sunday hat on and quite an armful of small things which he had gathered up, apparently in the hall.

As there was no one within call she could do nothing but lock herself up in the house to prevent a repetition of the visit.

Quite an amount of excitement was created in the village when the facts of the case became known in the evening and if the tramp had been within reach it would have gone hard with him.

FINED IN BOTH CASES.

For Wanting to Get Into Church First and Using His Whip too Freely.

In the case of Duffus vs. Redmond, yesterday, in which the plaintiff charged the defendant with violating the rule of the road in refusing to allow him to pass on his way to church a week ago last Sunday, and also with lashing plaintiff's horses across the head when within reach, judgment was given by Magistrate Edmison, who imposed a fine of $2 and costs in the first case, and $1 and costs in the second.

The agents of the Grand Trunk Railway System have received the following official notice:—"You will please notify the parents of young people, and the lads themselves, that they must remain away from the company's platforms and yards, and refrain from jumping on and off cars, either standing or in motion. Take the names of each one so notified, and if after notifying them they persist in disregarding the instructions, refer the matter to the proper official and a detective will be sent out to prosecute them for trespass. Let the parents thoroughly understand what steps will be taken."

A Successful Florist.

Mrs. B. Cooney, Ashburnham, is entitled to rank as one of the most successful amateur florists in the town. She is passionately fond of flowers, and the flowers return her love a hundred fold. She is most devoted to dahlias, and a walk in her garden amongst her magnificent collection of hundreds of varieties, resplendent with the finest bloom, is a rare treat. Almost any month, when there is no snow, one can find roses blooming in her flower plots. While the culture of flowers is a pleasure to her, she makes it a medium of pleasure to others. She is most liberal in her distribution of her floral favourites, and many a sick chamber is brightened with the presence of exquisite flowers.

THE BIG ROAD RACE

A GIGANTIC SUCCESS.

MILT WALKER WINS BOTH THE TIME AND PLACE PRIZES.

The Finishing Was Close and Exciting, Many of the Riders Crossing the Tape in Bunches of Three and Four—The Result.

Yesterday's road race probably excited more interest than any athletic event which has taken place in Peterborough in years. The streets of the town through which the riders passed were lined with citizens and out in the country hundreds of farmers congregated on the roadside to watch the riders speed by and shout words of encouragement or warning to them.

At the market place the crowd was so large as to be positively unmanageable and consequently the riders were sent off under difficulties on account of the spectators surging out on the road and blockading it almost completely at times in their eagerness to see the different batches of wheelmen sent off and it was even worse at the finish, although fortunately no accidents were occasioned thereby.

The officials discharged their duties well, but the task of chronicling the numbers of the riders as they swept by and the time at which they finished was certainly no sinecure, as bunches of three and four frequently crossed the tape almost neck and neck with their wheels lapping on each other.

Between forty and fifty riders started and misfortune overtook very few of them, the time of thirty being caught at the finish.

Milt. Walker, starting from scratch, won both the time and the place prize by finishing first. He rode a strong race throughout, he and Carey, of Havelock, pacing one another alternately throughout the entire race. The time made for the sixteen miles by him was 47 min. 30 sec., which was remarkably good considering the high wind which blew from the north directly in the teeth of the riders. Walker rode a Stearns wheel for the first time, having borrowed it for the day on account of his own being out of repair.

The result was as follows:

Rickey would have made a hard man to beat for first place had he not punctured his wheel and the wind gone out of his front tire near Nassau. He rode a great race on the rim of his wheel.

Billy Morgan had the misfortune to break his saddle at the Red Mills, otherwise he would have made the married men hustle for first place.

Carey, of Havelock, is a hustler and set a hot pace from scratch, but it was just what Walker wanted and the two cracks took the pacing turn about, but Walker beat his mate out on the finish and McPherson, who stayed with them from the turn, also edged in ahead of the Havelock man.

Young Fred. Davidson, who is a mere boy, deserves the greatest credit for the grand race which he rode. That he was a fast one everyone knew, and so he was only given a minute by the handicappers, yet he finished fourth and also got the fourth time prize. He is a corner.

Borland left the men who started with him and never saw them again.

Milburn rode a great race for a young rider, but after his showing in the Chemong race he was picked as a winner.

Achilles Turner, from the limit, reached the barrel almost a mile ahead of any of the other men, but he killed himself by his exertions in the first half of the race. He made a good showing as it was, however, and came in tenth man.

McLean, Borland and Milburn came flying over the tape in a bunch at the finish.

McPherson was only five seconds behind Walker at the tape, and Carey in turn was two seconds later.

Bryson carried off no less than four prizes. They can be figured out by the curious.

A lot of Lakefield people were down at the turn to watch for Gordon, but he turned the barrel so quickly that few recognized him.

Chris. Graham will draw a lot of prizes.

The air went out of one of Wasson's tires and he had to turn back, Adams leaving the race at the same time on the corner of McDonel street.

Gus Hay ran in hard luck, having three spills and thus losing the men who were riding with him and having to push into the heavy wind alone.

Bert Bellegham didn't get to the barrel, thinking that the ride would hardly pay for a new rider to tackle.

Tom Minnicola felt bad over having to drop out on the road and quietly dragged his wheel into the woods and sat there until all the riders had passed.

"Fish" Reilley says the scratch men caught him at the barrel and that he stayed with them for about two miles, when his leg swelled up to the size of a baloon and he laid over and waited to ride in with Glover, completing the trip in two hours and fifty-nine minutes.

Lefevre rode a very strong race, leaving all the men who started with him.

Messrs. LeBrun & Felcher presented the Victoria Club with nine handsome panel pictures for the decoration of their club rooms.

The riders who did not understand following pace had a hard time of it yesterday.

The finish between Harry King, Gus Hay and Fred Dickson was a struggle which called for cheers. The riders came over the tape in the order mentioned with just a fifth of a second between each of them.

The officials, under whose management the race was run off, were as follows:

Starters—Messrs A H Stratton, W L Allen, Dickson Davidson W H Bradburn.

Timers—Messrs C LeBrun and Alex Gibson.

Judges at Lakefield—Messrs E A Tanner, Myles Henry, Dickson Hall and J M Snyder.

Judges at finish—Messrs A Mercer, Gus Gough, Sam Ray, A D McKay and Alf Terrill.

Race Committee—Messrs Alf Terrill, A J McNee, D Davidson, R Fairweather, G L Hay, J Herbert Hall, Alex Gibson, T F Matthews, A H Stratton and E Wasson.

Handicappers—Racing board of Victoria bicycle club, consisting of Messrs A J McNee, Dickson Davidson, A Gibson, F Mathews, A H Stratton and H R H Kenner.

The Lindsay Post says:—Some few days ago Messrs. N. S. Houghton and J. M. Martin sent in their entries to ride in the annual road races of Victoria Bicycle Club, Peterborough, which event was to take place to-day to Lakefield, a distance of 15 miles. The boys expected they would receive six or seven minutes handicap each but nearing last evening that Houghton was placed at scratch and Martin one-half minute handicap they gave up the idea. Peterborough riders must evidently be afraid of our flyers, or they would have been more partial in their judgment."—The trouble lay in the fact that Houghton was taken for his elder brother, the Lindsay flyer.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

ANOTHER LIVELY WEEK!

HOW WE KEEP BUSY! One way is, because we have made this store of direct benefit to the community. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain. Another way is, that we find out exactly what people want, and then go where the best goods are made. We buy big enough to bring prices down, and sell quick enough to keep stocks clean. But we run no risks. If prices are low enough we buy only worthy goods below market value, and then, we sell as we buy.

We are making this an unusual week for folks who are looking for New Fall Window Blinds, Wall Paper and Cornice Poles.

SPECIAL PURCHASE OF

1400 Window Shades
8000 Rolls of Wall Paper
600 Cornice Poles.

Having bought all the Blinds in the Wholesale House of Menzies, Turner & Co., of Toronto, at our own figure, early Fall Buyers will get remarkable bargains to begin the Season. We cannot make you understand the values that will be offered in these three lines until you see them.

Get your expectations up as high as you can—You will be pleasantly surprised, no matter how much you expected.

DEATH OF MISS KATE COLLINS OF MILLBROOK.

She Meets Death While Absent on a Visit.

There is a peculiar sadness about the death of Miss Kate Collins, daughter of Mr. T. B. Collins, Millbrook—away from home and at the early age of 16 years. About a fortnight ago she went on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. (Rev.) J. H. Harris, of Brooklin, Ontario county. She was taken seriously ill and her parents were sent for and were present at her demise, which took place on Thursday. Mr. Collins and family will have the earnest sympathy of a very wide circle of friends in their great bereavement. The deceased was a sister of Mr. Walter Collins, of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce.

Crown Timber Regulations.

No definite action has yet been taken by the Government upon the application that regulations shall be made providing that all timber cut on Crown Lands within the Province shall be manufactured in Ontario. Timber licenses issue annually and expire on the 30th of April each year, and it would not be possible to apply these new conditions to licenses issued for the present season; but should a regulation be passed it could only apply to licenses that may issue after the 30th of April next for the next and following years. The condition as to manufacturing within the Province, therefore, if adopted, will not in any event apply to the licenses heretofore issued for the present season and now current.—The Globe.

Beware of Cocaine.

Thos. Heys, Analytical Chemist, Toronto, says:—"I have made an examination of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure for Cocaine and any of its compounds from samples purchased in the open market, and find none present." Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is a cure—not a drug. Price 25 cents, blower included.

The Adventures of a Russian Jew.

About a year ago a lecture was delivered in St. John's school house by Mr. M. J. Goodheart, a converted Jew. The audience was a small one; people probably associating a certain amount of dryness with a lecture. It proved, however, to be a most interesting and indeed fascinating description of Jewish life and customs, and a thrilling narrative of the strange and perilous experiences of the speaker's life. The fortunate hearers were surprised and delighted and general regret was expressed that the lecture had not been better advertised and attended. Mr. Goodheart's services have again been secured, and he will lecture in St. John's school house next Tuesday evening. The lecturer will again recount some of his experiences, but a great part of the lecture will deal with new matter relating to Russia and the Jews.

THE SMOKER.

The Victoria Club Event was Greatly Enjoyed last Evening by those in Attendance.

The smoking concert which was held in the Victoria Club room's last night, proved a grand success, the attendance being very large, and the programme one of unusual excellence.

The comfortable club rooms were thrown open to the general public for the evening in order that all might have an opportunity of seeing the snug quarters of the Victorias.

The president of the club, Mr. A. H. Stratton, occupied the chair, and announced the winners of the prizes in the road race, amidst exclamations of applause.

The musical portion of the programme was opened by the solo, "I want you, my Honey," by Mr. John Crane, who rendered the popular little song with a spirit and and swing which almost induced the audience to break in and carry the chorus for him. Mr. Jno. Butcher executed several solos on the flute in a manner which won for him most liberal applause. Mr. C. N. Brown's Irish reading proved one of the best numbers on the programme, and was so excruciatingly comical as to even break up the reader's equanamity.

Mr. Leslie Forbes, who has recently come from Toronto take up his residence in town, took the audience by storm with his vocal solos. No one was prepared to hear a voice of such depth and bell-like clearness, and when he sat down after a stirring rendition of "The Pet of the Fleet," the applause went beyond all bounds. "The King of the Land and the Sea" and "The Mighty Deep" met with even a more favourable reception, and if the audience could have had its way, Mr. Forbes would be up in the club rooms singing yet. His songs are given with such spirit, and his voice is so perfectly adapted for the selections which he chooses, that Mr. Forbes promises to become a prime favourite in musical circles this winter.

Mr. J. McCaig's violin selection was given with the artistic ability which characterizes his playing, and his technique appears to have improved considerably since his last appearance in public. His number was well received.

During the evening Mr. Will Lech presided at the piano, and as usual his accompaniments were so well played as to bring into prominence the best efforts of the performers.

Those in attendance at the smoker were allowed the free use of the card room and billiard tables during the balance of the evening, and all appeared to enjoy themselves immensely.

THE REABORO ACCIDENT.

A Few Further Particulars Concerning Tuesday's Run Off on the G. T. R.

The car which was damaged by the G.T. R. accident near Reaboro on Tuesday night contained 72 hogs owned by Mr. J. Fleury and consigned to Matthews & Co. Peterborough.

It was a very remarkable case, considering that the car was completely derailed and overturned, that out of so many hogs and in such confusion that only one was killed and one injured. The train crew could not have lost much time in relieving the animals after jumping from the train themselves.

The damaged engine and cars are now in the G.T.R. yards, Lindsay, and men are at work getting them arranged to send to the Montreal workshops. The engine, No. 616, and tender is a total wreck and will be a great loss to the company. The cab of the engine is completely destroyed. The boiler is not damaged but the mountings and other small parts are all badly wrecked. The shafts of the driving wheels were torn completely off.

The horse which was the cause of the accident was owned by Isaac Wm. Reid, Reaboro, and was a well bred animal. Only a few weeks ago Mr. Reid refused an offer of $90. How it got on the track is a mystery more than the G.T.R. people can understand.

Can Rheumatism be Cured?

The application of Nerviline—nerve pain cure—which possesses such marvellous power over all nerve pain, goes greatly to prove that it can. Nerviline acts on the nerves, soothes them, drives pain out, and in this way gives relief. Try it and be convinced.

BAND CONCERT ATTRACTIONS.

The Fire Brigade Band have about completed arrangements for securing several of the leading side attractions of the Toronto Industrial Fair for the afternoons of Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 22nd and 23rd next, also Wednesday evening. A balloon ascension and high tight wire performance will probably be features of the afternoon shows, while a grand display of fireworks will form a portion of Wednesday evening's programme.

[The above paragraph appears in the daily papers. It is well known that the dates are those of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, which brings a large number of people to Peterborough in every September. It is estimated that from six to ten thousand visitors are in town during exhibition week, and if each one spends two or three dollars the amount of money left in town to be distributed among our merchants can be easily computed. If it were not for the Exhibition this crowd would not be here and if the Exhibition did not attract the crowd the band would probably have a scant audience at its concert. The Fire Brigade is fostered by the citizens. It receives an annual grant from the town treasury and the merchants and prominent citizens contribute largely to the success of the band, take a pride in its excellent playing and take pleasure in seeing it prosper. But it cannot be expected that merchants, who derive so large a direct benefit from the presence of the exhibition will, in their own interests, encourage a movement on the part of the band which will injure the Exhibition and the receipts therefrom, and at the same time show a spirit of hostility to the farming community, upon whose visits to, and good will towards, the town so much of our prosperity depends.

In view of these circumstances it is to be hoped that the band will reconsider its decision as announced in the paragraph at the head of this article, and thus justify the patronage and continued good will of the citizens. It would appear that the proposed concert is not intended to help, as much as to detract from the, success of the exhibition, and it cannot be approved of by those whose interest it is to have the exhibition a success, but who would be glad to see both the band and the exhibition prosper. We live too close together and have to depend too much the one upon the other to admit of even the appearance of antagonism and divided interests suggested by the proposed band entertainment.

—Chapter 60, sub-section 1, of the Ontario statutes, provides that any person who ties a horse to a shade tree in the street, or cutting, trimming or injuring a tree in any way is liable to a fine of $25 and costs or 30 days imprisonment. Express permission must be had of the council to trim, or in any way to meddle with trees planted in the streets.

Robertson's Mixed Floor and House Paints still lead all other makes in giving perfect satisfaction. They are never sticky, nor do they peel off, but dry hard, bright and glossy. If they require thinning use only the oil sold by the agents. Poor oil, as well as poor paints, never dry satisfactorily and will not wear. Robertson's Paints that were used two years ago, look better to-day than other paints used this year. 2aw-w —Mrs. Mary Kinsman, of Cavan, failed on Tuesday to obtain an order of interim alimony from Chief Justice Meredith against her husband, Thomas Kinsman. Three years ago the couple were married, Mary being a widow with three children. The local judge in Peterborough found in favour of Thomas, who is in his 76th year, and Mary failed in Toronto to get the Court to agree with her that her version of the lights and shadows and storms and tempests of their unhappy married life, and not his, is the correct one. Mr. R. Reddy appeared for Mr. Kinsman.—Toronto Telegram.

BASEBALL RECORD.

BROOKLYN AFTER JUD SMITH.

Syracuse, Sept. 16. The Stars won from Springfield to-day by timely hitting. The errors of Fuller meant runs for Syracuse. Both Mullarky and Woods pitched good ball. Manager Barnie of Brooklyn was in the grand stand, evidently on a visit to his friend, Tom Burns of Springfield, but really it is said, to size up Jud Smith. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Mullarky and Shaw; Woods and Nichols.

LISTLESS GAME AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, Sept. 16. The last game of the season played by Buffalo at home was won by the champions of last year easily. It was a listless game, with errors in plenty. The game was called in the eighth on account of darkness. Score.

	R.	H.	E.
Providence	4	0	2

Batteries—McFarlin and Urquhart; Hodson and Coogan.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston, Sept. 16. Meekin was too much for the Bostons to-day. Notwithstanding the fact that the home team made a rally in the last two innings, it came too late to win the game. Davis played a star game for the visitors at short, while Van Haltren's batting figured extensively in the run-getting for the New Yorks. Klobedans was very erratic and was responsible for at least two of the runs. Stivetts came in in the last inning and made a home run. Score.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	5	11	5
New York	9	2	2

Batteries—Klobedans and Bergen; Meekin and Warner.

At Baltimore—The champions tied with Philadelphia, and as a result will play a double-header Friday. The home club failed to win on account of weak team work at the bat. Nops was batted freely, but the Orioles were enabled to tie the score owing to Taylor's wildness in the last two innings. Game called end ninth on account of darkness. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	4	12	1
Philadelphia	4	10	3

Batteries—Nops and Clark; Taylor and Boyle.

At Brooklyn It was not until the ninth inning that the Brooklyns were certain that they had their game with the Washingtons won, and then only through a series of singles by Griffin, Shindle, Anderson and Shoch. Kennedy was taken suddenly ill in the second inning and was forced to give way to Fisher. G. Smith played his first game with the home team since Friday last, having injured a foot. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	5	13	0
Washington	4	8	4

Batteries—Kennedy, Fisher and A. Smith; Mercer and McGuire.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kiddeys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets CURE constipation and its attendant evils.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., for his "Medical Adviser." It is a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated.

For the Sake Girl.

Wearing corsets awheel is very injurious. Stays interfere with the action of the lungs, impeding breathing, and with the action of the heart, and, in consequence, with the circulation of the blood. For those who must have something, whether for looks or support, the athlete's flannel bandage is an excellent thing; this will allow every muscle full play, and yet afford support.

The latest skirts for wheeling have a small side pocket set into the right side flap that goes under the buttonholes; then the opening is out of sight and it is a very easy matter to undo a button or two in the front of the skirt to get at it and a pocket is convenient for carrying the handkerchief.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

Bright's Disease.

"They done me any amount of good," were the words of Mr. Nelson Green, Galt, Ont., in speaking of his rescue from kidney and urinary difficulty by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Green says that he only tried them out of curiosity, but it was a lucky experiment, for Doan's Pills made a complete cure in his case. He is now a cured man, feeling strong, well and in good spirits.

DIGGING COAL AGAIN.

Eighteen Thousand Miners Have Gone to Work

AND THE GREAT STRIKE IS ENDED.

Over Twenty Thousand More Men Will Resume Before the Week Is Out—The Trouble Has Cost Millions of Dollars—Sixty-Five Cents a Ton is the Price.

Pittsburg, Sept. 16. After nearly three months' idleness, between 15,000 and 18,000 coal miners in the Pittsburg district went to work to-day in accordance with the action taken at yesterday's convention, authorizing the men to return to work in all mines complying with the provisions of the scale of 65 cents, adopted at Columbus. The remainder of the 23,000 miners of the district will be at work before the close of the week.

It is estimated that the strike, which lasted 65 working days, cost the people of the Pittsburg district from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. Of this amount the miners lose about $2,250,000 in wages. The strike against the De Armitts will continue indefinitely, arrangements having been made to assess the working miners 5 per cent. of their wages to defray the expenses of keeping up the fight until the 65 cent rate is made uniform throughout the district.

The resolution adopted by the miners late yesterday creates a Scale Committee for the year; requires mines to close down on Oct. 1, where the company refuses to weigh coal before screening; determines to continue camps at mines of New York and Cleveland Gas Company, assigning workmen 5 per cent. of wages for the expense, and heartily endorses the uniformity agreement. The principal resolution, allowing the miners to resume at once, was debated until late in the afternoon, when President Dolan took the floor. He said the ten-day clause was an outrage and an effort to please a few dissatisfied men. His plea for immediate resumption was so eloquent that the resolution went through with a rush, only four voting against it. A wage scale was agreed to, and the convention adjourned.

Englishmen Not in It.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 16.—Calvin Purdee of C. Purdee & Co., who operate the Latimer Nos. 1 and 2, and the Harwood collieries, and who employ 2500 men, said last night:

"The English-speaking element is not in this thing; they have no complaint, except in so far as miners are always dissatisfied. They were driven from the mines by a mob, stirred up by these agitators, but they will go back to work without getting one cent advance for their trouble. If they will not go back to work for what they were getting then our mines are for sale, for they will never be started up otherwise."

Italy Looking After Her Subjects.

Rome, Sept. 16.—The semi-official Agenzia Libera says the Government has instructed the Italian Consuls in the United States to ascertain if any Italians were among the Hazelton victims, and further ordered them to act in accord with the Austrian representatives.

Women Made Trouble.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 16.—Two hundred and fifty women made trouble this morning. They were the foreign women of the McAdoo and Audenried district. Armed with clubs, rolling-pins, pokers and any other weapons they could find, they invaded the wasneries which had hitherto been working and forced the men, about three hundred in number, to quit work. In every part of the region quiet prevailed.

The strike may now be said to be general, as there is not a colliery of importance in operation.

Poles Condemn the Sheriff.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—About 2000 Polish citizens of this city met in St. Stanislaus Hall, East Buffalo, last night and adopted resolutions emphatically condemning the action of Sheriff Martin in ordering his deputies to shoot the miners at Hazelton, Pa. It was by all odds the largest meeting the Polish citizens ever held here. Ex-Supervisor James Rogan called the assembly to order. He declared that justice was demanded, and if justice were done he was confident that his dead brothers would be exonerated, and the deputies who shot them down in cold blood would be hanged.

The audience rose to their feet and wildly applauded the speaker's words. They shook their fists and demanded justice for their dead countrymen.

Illinois Men at Work.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—The coal miners' strike is over, so far as the district supplying the St. Louis market is concerned. Seventeen mines in the sixth Illinois district resumed work to-day. It is probable that all the small operators in the district will come into line before the end of the week. The Duquoin men will return to work Friday morning. The representatives of the strikers were met by 17 of the independent operators. The men submitted a proposition for a scale of 37 cents a ton top weight, mine run. After a long consultation, it was accepted late in the afternoon. The big consolidated and Madison Companies ignored the call for the conference, and probably will not be able to get men to dig coal for them until they sign the scale.

A GRAND TRUNK BRAKESMAN.

Tells the Story of His Exposure—The Fate That Befel Him, and How he Was Relieved of His Sufferings.

W. Lavelle, G.T.R. brakeman, Allandale, Ont., says: "Through exposure I contracted that dread disease—catarrh. My case became chronic. I was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Cattarhal Powder. In ten minutes after the first application I had relief, and in an almost incredibly short time all symptoms had disappeared. I feel I cannot speak too strongly in recommending this remedy. It is a pleasant, safe and quick cure." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent 360 George Street.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

People at Jackson are Getting Quieted Down—Eight Cases of the Plague in the City.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 16.—No more people are leaving the city, for two reasons: there are very few left here and none of these can get out on account of the rigid quarantine thrown around the town. Business is dead. The town having got rid of the excitable persons, to the number of several thousand, the chances of those remaining are correspondingly increased should trouble occur, and the people are therefore feeling easier. There are eight cases of yellow fever at present in town.

A New Case at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 16. The Board of Health reports one new case of yellow fever to-day, making five cases in all declared. There have been no deaths, one patient being discharged to-day.

NINE DAYS GOING FOUR MILES.

The Rate of Travel in the White Pass to the Yukon is Very Slow—Matters at Dawson.

Ottawa, Sept. 16. A letter from one of the Mounted Police, now en route to the Yukon, says they took nine days to make four miles; that the boat building party were all more or less sick, and they had to send back for more medicine, their stock having run out; that it rained steadily, and they were wet all the time; that 24 pack horses were killed the first day the White Pass opened after repairs.

Despatches have been received at Regina, from Inspector Constantine, dated Dawson, Aug. 11. He reports that the police were getting on well with their buildings; that three river steamers had been disabled, but he had secured most of the provisions required to carry the police over the winter; that all was quiet in the district, but food was getting to be very scarce.

The Art of Beauty is a.... Beautiful Skin.

The art of looking one's best by beautifying and improving the complexion is not easily acquired. Close observation and good natural taste are necessary for even beauty to display itself to the greatest advantage. "Beauty, when unadorned, is adorned the most," is only true in a limited sense. Beauty must make the most of itself by bringing art to the aid of nature, and, what is far more important, must take all necessary steps to preserve it. Beauty is woman's wealth, strength and power, and the knowledge how to procure, improve and preserve it is perfectly legitimate, and should be extended.

How often has a lady to remain at home from balls, parties and concerts on account of her face being red and blotchy, caused by an irritated skin. Every lady owes it to herself to be fascinating and beautiful, and there is one way to have that soft and beautiful skin and that is by one month's treament of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. It is acknowledged by physicians to be without peer and the only safe and reliable cure for all skin diseases.

Eternal Vigilance.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." It is the price of everything worth having.

It is the price of life itself. A man needn't be always looking for danger, afraid that something will happen to him; but a wise man will form a habit of care about the important things of life.

It isn't half so much trouble to take care of yourself as it is not to. A man who follows regular, healthy habits, feels good all the time. Life is worth living to him. But a man who "don't want to bother" with taking care of himself has more pain and misery crowded into one day than a good healthy, hearty man who lives right would ever know of in a whole year.

When a man's stomach is out of order, and his digestion don't work; when his liver gets to be sluggish and won't clear the bile out of his blood, it is time for him to look out for himself. He gets no nourishment out of his food. His blood gets thicker and thicker with impurities. His nerves get irritated. He loses energy and fighting force.

He may say, "I can stand it, I will feel better to-morrow;" but the chances are he will feel worse to-morrow and worse still next day. He ought to put himself right at once. He needs Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is made for just this condition. It rouses up the digestive and nutritive organs, and gives them power to extract from the food all the nutritious elements and transform them into rich, nourishing blood. It enables the liver to cleanse out all bilious impurities and pour into the circulation an abundance of highly vitalized blood, full of the life-giving red corpuscles which build up healthy flesh, muscular strength, and nerve-energy. It does not make flabby flesh. It is the only suitable tonic and strength-builder for corpulent people.

THE JOURNEY.

I think of death as some delightful journey
That I shall take when all my tasks are done;
Though life has given me a heaping measure
Of all best gifts, and many a cup of pleasure,
Still better things await me further on.

This little earth is such a merry planet,
The distance beyond it so supreme,
I have no doubt that all the mighty spaces
Between us and the stars are filled with faces
More beautiful than any artist's dream.

I like to think that I shall yet behold them,
When from this waiting room my soul has soared.
Earth is a wayside station, where we wander,
Until from out the silent darkness yonder
Death swings his lantern and cries, "All aboard!"

I think death's train sweeps through the solar system
And passes suns and moons that dwarf our own,
And close beside us we shall find our dearest,
The spirit friends on earth we held the nearest,
And in the shining distance God's great throne.

Whatever disappointment may befall me
In plans or pleasures in this world of doubt,
I know that life at worst can but delay me,
But no malicious fate has power to stay me
From that grand journey on the Great Death Route.

—ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

DUTY ON CANADIAN FISH.

Yankee Fishing Companies are Kicking Against the Duty Imposed. Want to Shut Out Canadian Fishermen.

New York, Sept. 16.—American fishing companies have filed a protest with the United States General Appraisers against the imposition of duty on fish taken by them in Canadian waters.

A number of fish companies, who declare they are working with American capital only, are in the habit of taking fish in the Canadian waters in the great chain of lakes and bringing the fish into United States ports for purposes of commerce. Some of the Federal collectors of customs have been requiring such companies to pay a duty of one-fourth of one per cent. a pound on fish thus caught.

A protest from the Buffalo Fish Company against the imposition of this duty was sent to the United States General Appraisers, and there was a hearing in the matter before General Appraisers Lunt and Cleaveland.

George Clinton of Buffalo appeared as counsel for the Buffalo Fish Company, and there were also representatives of the Lake Ontario Fish Company of Cape Vincent, N.Y., the Ainsworth & Gaffney Company of Sault Ste. Marie, and two or three other fishing companies.

"The point at issue," explained one of the importers, "is, what does actually constitute an American fishery?"

The customs officers maintain that fish caught by Canadians, even if they are in the employ of American companies, cannot be classified as having been caught by citizens of the United States.

Considerable testimony was taken yesterday regarding the methods of catching, collecting and shipping the fish that are taken in the great lakes. The General Appraisers reserved their decision.

Favorite Concoctions of Tomato.

Tomato Catsup.—One bushel tomatoes, 1 1-2 pounds of brown sugar, 1 pint vinegar, 1-2 pound salt, 1 ounce ground cloves, 1 ounce allspice, 1 tablespoon black pepper, 1 1-2 tablespoons red pepper, 1 tablespoon mace, 1 tablespoon mustard, 2 large onions. Scald the tomatoes and remove the skin, then break in pieces and put in boiler, and when thoroughly soft, strain through a fine sieve. Then add the other ingredients and cook three hours. When cold, bottle, cork and tie.

Chili Sauce.—Eighteen ripe tomatoes, 6 onions, 3 green peppers, 1 cup sugar, 2 1-2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg (ground), 1-2 teaspoon cloves (ground). Scald and skin the tomatoes and cook with the onions and peppers until tender, then add sugar, vinegar and spices, and cook 10 minutes longer. Heat jars, pour in and seal.

Piccalilli.—Take 1 1-2 pecks green tomatoes, 7 large green peppers, 4 onions. Chop into piece about the size of your finger, cover with 1-2 cup salt, and let stand 24 hours. Then draw off the water. To each 2 quarts of the mixture add 1 teaspoon each of mustard and pepper, 1 cup brown sugar, add ground cloves and cinnamon to taste. Cover with cider vinegar and boil until soft. Put away in glass jars.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

Best Button Bag.

The simplest and most convenient button bag I have ever seen was made from two circular pieces of goods of prettily contrasting colors, sewed together around the edges. Then a number of small brass rings were caught to the edge at equal distances and a piece of ribbon or tape run through these to gather and hang the bag by. When hung, the bag is closed, and the weight of the buttons keeps it in shape, and when a button is wanted, one has only to lay it upon the lap when, behold, it opens wide and the buttons may be looked over without removing them. The ribbon or tape should be long enough to admit of the bag opening flat when in the lap.

To Stop Squeaking Boots.

To bore a hole half way through the sole of a shoe is said to prevent its squeaking. The reason assigned for the cure is that the air between the layers of leather is released by the boring.

FORTY PERSONS DROWNED.

Disastrous Result of a Collision in the River Volga, Russia.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 16.—Two steamers, the Tsarevitch and the Malpirka, collided to-day in the River Volga, near Astrakan. The former sank, and while she was going down, her passengers, panic-stricken, jumped into the river. Many of them succeeded in reaching the shore, but forty persons were drowned.

The Sun's Penetrating Rays.

The depth to which the sun's rays penetrate water has been recently determined by the aid of photography. It has been found that at a depth of 533 feet the darkness was, to all intents and purposes, the same as that on a clear, but moonless, night. Sensitive plates, exposed at this depth for a considerable length of time gave no evidence of light action.

THE SURGEON FOILED.

Wanted to Perform an Operation.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS RENDERED IT UNNECESSARY.

Too many doctors are too ready to use the knife. Many a one is sacrificed on the altar of a surgeon's ambition to operate who could be saved by the use of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The case of MRS. W. B. AIKEN, of Zephyr, Ont., is one in point. Her husband says that she had been doctoring with several doctors for Inflammation of the Bladder for over a year.

"The last bottle I got from the doctor he said if that did her no good she would be compelled to have an operation performed. I luckily picked up a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills in Mr. Dafoe's store, and my wife took one pill that night and one in the morning, and she has never felt the least sign of pain since. I will always keep Dr. Chase's Pills in my house for all our family complaints."

IN THE KLONDYKE.

Interesting Letter From a Campbellford Man.

Mr. John Platt, formerly of Campbellford, writes an interesting letter to his brother, Mr. Ed. Platt, of that town from the Klondyke:

Dawson City, July 16th, 1897.

Dear Ned,—I wrote you from Victoria and also from Dyea, (that is where we left the steamer) but of course I have not heard from you for the simple reason that we have not had a steamer yet this year. You see we are 1,460 miles up the Yukon river and Dawson City or Klondyke. The mines are up about eighteen miles from here. The Klondyke river comes into the Yukon here and the Bonanza and Eldorado discoveries are about five miles up the Klondyke and then up the Eldorado and Bonanza Creek. You can fully understand the lay of the country. We have been here a month the day after tomorrow. We have taken up a building lot in Dawson and built a log house.

We just built it to amuse ourselves. We have had a look around the country at several creeks, etc., but have not struck oil yet. Our chief, Mr. Secretan, has been trying to buy a claim on the Bonanza, for a week and he just made the bargain today, so we are all right for the winter. Of course we will move camp up to the Bonanza and will build a shack and prepare for winter. We will mine until the weather gets cold and then give it up until spring. We paid $6,000 for our claim, and I think it is a good one, at least the claims on both sides of us are good. The gold seems to be all on these two creeks. I can tell you they are wonderful, some claims can't be bought for $250,000. There is one man here (a Swede) who has a claim that he has refused $100,000 for one-half interest in, but he won't sell. He just digs up some gold and goes to Dawson City and buys what grub he wants and goes back and waits till he eats it up and then buys some more. He is so stingy that he won't buy any fruit, and he is just simply dying of scurvy (all sores breaking out). Well, Ned, you talk about your cities, this is the city. There is now about six or eight log houses built and some more buildings to it. When we came here a month ago there were only two beside the steamboat storehouse. I counted 703 tents, that is ordinary tents put up with poles, etc. Then there are eight saloons, they are about 24 by 60 or 70 feet, just a frame made of scantling and covered with cotton. Some of them have nice looking bars and all kinds of drinks. Each one has a faro table, a draw poker table, a roulette table and a crap table, all going in full blast day and night. There are some great games of faro played here. I have seen men win and lose $1,800 and 2,000 in an hour often. But there is no night at all only by the the clocks. Of course it gets a little grey at midnight for an hour, but not so dark that you cannot see without a light. I can read at any time of the night lying in the tent. The only money used is gold dust and nuggets. The gold dust is worth $17 per ounce, and each man has a little buckskin sack in which he carries his gold dust, and if he buys a drink of whiskey, or goes into a store and buys bacon or milk, or tobacco or anything, he just slings the sack on the counter and the clerk weighs out enough dust to pay the bill and puts it away, hands back the sack and all is right. Each saloon and store, etc., all have gold scales, and a man just for the purpose of weighing gold. There is no roguery or stealing, everyone trusts everyone. Whiskey is only 50 cents a glass and egg nog is worth $1.50, $1 for the egg and 50 cents for the liquor. Eggs sell in the stores for $12 per dozen. I saw a moose bought the other day for $1.50 per lb.—it weighed 370 lbs.—$550. It was bought by a restaurant keeper, and he brought it on purpose so that none of the rest of the restaurants would have any and he would get the run. He sells a moose steak for $2.50. The moose are very scarce here. The Indians have hunted and hunted to try and get some, but cannot. You can get a meal for $150; pickles that are worth 20c at home are $1 here, canned milk 50c, butter $1.25 per lb, 25c for a 5c bar of soap, and everything else in proportion. There is a sawmill here; they can cut 7 or 8 thousand feet a day. The lumber sells as fast as they can make it for $145 per M., nails 25c per lb, haircut $1, shave 50c. Ordinary labourers get $8 and $9 per day, but they don't get work every day. I was offered $19 per day to work at building, or $1.90 per hour to work as long as I like. I could make pretty wages by working 12 or 14 hours a day, but I am not anxious. There is a steamer here which came up last night from St. Michael. She is going back to-night, that is how I am writing this to send it by this steamer. There will surely be a steamer in from the coast by the time this one gets down there. It took this steamer 19 days to come up from St. Michaels and she expects to go back in 4 days. I can tell you there is a current in this river, it is over a mile wide. The salmon are just beginning to come up. They have caught some. I am going out to-morrow myself with one of the mounted police and a net to see if we can get some. I have caught a few fish with a troll, but not many, the water is too muddy. It never gets hot here. Oh, no! I was never so near melted in my life as I have been for the last three weeks in the middle of the day. Of course it gets cooler in the evening. It has only rained once since we came till yesterday. It began and it has rained ever since not steadily, but at intervals, and very hard some of the time. There are three large dance halls here and lots of ladies, some good looking. A theatrical company came upon the same boat with us and are doing a rushing business. JOHN PLATT.

SCALES LIKE A FISH

Terrible Condition of a Baby from a Scaly Skin Humor.

Our baby boy was born July 1, 1894. In the fall his legs became rough, from some skin trouble, from his knees down to his toes, also his arms, breast, and abdomen. We tried a great many different kinds of remedies, but without success. In the summer of 1895 it became a little better, but in the fall, and all winter, it was a sight to behold. He had scales on his body and arms like a fish, and almost black. In fact we were ashamed with it, but could not help it. We were almost in despair until we had used CUTICURA REMEDIES for about four days, when we noticed an improvement. Every time my wife washed him, her apron became covered with a scale-like skin. To-day it is gone, his skin is as smooth as any child, and we owe it, with the blessings of God, to CUTICURA REMEDIES. If you can use this testimony, we give our full consent.

GEO. HUYSKEN & WIFE,
375 Maple Street, Detroit, Mich.

In all the world there is no other treatment so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective as CUTICURA, greatest of skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies. CUTICURA REMEDIES daily perform more great cures of torturing, disfiguring, humiliating skin, scalp, and blood diseases than all other blood and skin remedies combined. A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle applications of CUTICURA (ointment), and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures, constitute the only unfailing external and internal treatment for all forms of skin, scalp, and blood humor known.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER D. & C. CORP., Sole Props., Boston. "How to Cure Every Baby Humor," free.

MINERS HAVE DONE WELL.

They Have Got the Best of the Strike.

In the settlement of the great coal strike the miners have secured a complete victory in principle and a material advance in wages. Even if their full demand was just, they could well afford to accept the compromise. They had reached a point where they were inflicting an injury upon themselves by refraining from work, and the practical question was whether, considering the operators' concessions, it was worth while to keep up the costly warfare.

All men who get into conflict through business competition, or in the courts even, are apt to meet this same question: "Does the fight pay?" and if it does not, the wisest of them are generally ready to figure for a truce, just as the miners have done. In other words, the miners have followed out a good business principle. But three months remain to them before a complete readjustment, and meantime they will receive better wages than were given them before the strike. Then, too, the moral effect of the strike will be just as strong as if they had not accepted the compromise. The operators will not hanker for another struggle such as they have had this summer.

The miners cannot be commended too highly for their conduct during the trying days of idleness. They have been peaceful and law abiding from start to finish, and so have retained the sympathy of the public, which was predisposed in their favour by those starvation wages, which even the operators dare not defend. Such moderation in men who are suffering from real wrongs is as admirable as it is exceptional. It is not the caution of cowardice, but of wisdom, and it will count for infinitely more in the end than acts of violence. A firebrand soon burns out, but there is permanence in the cool, calculating restrained force that has characterized this strike.

Heads of families among the striking miners had been receiving 70 cents a day for their labour, when they were so fortunate as to get work. Steady employment then meant $4 20 a week. With this $4.20 the men must provide food, fuel, clothing and shelter for wives, children and other dependents.

All purchase of supplies must be made at company's stores. This is not mandatory, under the statutes of Pennsylvania, but it is an unwritten law of the company that no miner dare disobey. It is a law that confirms the servitude of low wages. From the fact that meat sells at 4 cents a pound above the market price in the stores, the prices of other articles may be judged.

Don't daily with heart disorders. There is but one cure. "I had been for a number of years sorely afflicted with heart disease. At times my life was despaired of. Doctors had prescribed and I had taken every known heart remedy made I had supposed, and get any benefit. I read of the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle and in less time almost than it takes to tell it, the distress was relieved. I followed the directions closely, and to-day I am a well women again, and I shall do all in my power to make known to every one suffering as I did the wonderful cure it worked for me. Mrs. Wm. Grounds promises to be by far the best game of the season and may possibly be the last which is played here as if the Peterborough club wins this series they will have to play their final match for the C.L. A. championship out of town. Every loyal citizen should go over the to the grounds on Tuesday and encourage the boys to win, as championship laurels in the lacrosse arena would be an advertisement which would make Peterborough known throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion.

The Toronto Globe says,—Markham acrosse club are practising hard for their semi-final match at Peterborough on Tuesday next. They are arranging a cheap trip by the Grand Trunk Railway at single fair Unionville, Markham, Stouffville, Goodwood and Uxbridge for $1 and they expect to take up a good crowd of their supporters.

VOTERS' LIST COURT.

Judge Weller Finally Revises the Lakefield List.

A voters' list court for the final revision of the voters' list of the village of Lakefield was held at that place yesterday by His Honour, Judge Weller. Mr. R. R. Hall and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., were present on behalf of the Liberals.

Eleven names were added to the list of polling sub-division No. 1, and seven were added to that of No. 2 sub-division. Five names were struck from the list, one name changed, two wrongful descriptions of property rectified and the list finally revised and confirmed.

ARM BROKEN

Isaac Manning, of Smith, Meets With a Serious Accident.

On Thursday morning Mr. Isaac Manning, of Smith, met with a serious accident.

It appears he was driving out of his yard along with another gentleman in a waggon on which was hitched a team of horses, one of which was a young one and never been hitched double before, when they took fright and ran away.

In going out of the yard the waggon struck the gatepost, throwing Mr. Manning out and in falling he broke his arm between the wrist and elbow. The other gentleman escaped uninjured he having jumped before the waggon struck the gate. Medical attendance was summoned from Lakefield and the injured man is getting along nicely.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

The Cash System.

PETERBOROUGH, 1897.

At a meeting of the proprietors of the I. X. L. Steam Laundry and the Peterborough Steam Laundry and Dye Works, it was decided to make a Cash Business of the above firms, commencing September 15th, 1897.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it," "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you. I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. NOW THE WAR IS OVER

Peace Treaty Signed on Saturday at Constantinople.

SATISFACTION FELT BY THE TURKS

But the Greeks Accept the Settlement Mournfully and the Politicians are Indulging in Recriminations—The Sultan Hints That He Will Expect Concessions in Crete.

London, Sept. 19.—At last an official end has been put to the Greco-Turkish war, which really terminated some 15 weeks ago, by the Sultan yesterday afternoon attaching his signature to the terms of peace. It took the ambassadors of the powers more than twice as long to arrange them as the actual hostilities lasted.

At present the result of the struggle is a military victory for the Sultan over Greece, and undoubtedly the Sultan hopes and intends to gain a reward for yesterday afternoon's act of complaisance in the shape of concessions in the matter of Crete. This he plainly showed in an interview with Signor Pansa, the Italian Ambassador at Constantinople, when he said that in return for Turkey's yielding in the matter of peace he expected that the powers would show leniency concerning Crete.

To Signor Pansa's suprised remark that the autonomy of Crete, to which Turkey had consented, had already been agreed upon, the Sultan replied with a gesture expressing "We shall see."

Meeting Lasted Three Hours.

Constantinople, Sept. 19.—The meeting of the ambassadors yesterday occupied three hours. They and Tewfik Pasha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, signed the treaty of peace, immediately after which Tewfik Pasha took the treaty to the Yildiz Kiosk for the signature of the Sultan.

Signor Pansa, the Italian Ambassador, left the city to-night and M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, will follow on Monday.

The Porte's final promptitude in signing the treaty is ascribed to the impossibility of further maintaining the army in Thessaly, owing to the great increase of sickness among the troops.

It is understood that the strategic frontier established by the treaty gives to Turkey the village of Kontzoliari, from which the raid of the Etheriké (the Greek national brotherhood) into Macedonia was made, which raid was the immediate cause of the war.

It also gives to Turkey all the heights around the opening scenes of the war—Zurkos, Gunitza, Meluna and Ratsani. Turkey also claims the village of Nezeros and the lake of that name.

Greece Accepts Mournfully.

Athens, Sept. 19.—The conditions of the peace signed yesterday between the ambassadors of the powers on behalf of Greece and Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish Foreign Minister, at the Tophaneh Palace, are universally pronounced by the Greek press exceedingly onerous.

The organs of M. Delyannis, former Premier, who commands an actual majority in the Boule, violently attack M. Ralli and the Cabinet, denouncing them as the real cause of the present misfortunes. The anti-Delyannis press abuses M. Delyannis as the "Evil Genius of Greece."

The public generally accepts the result with mournful resignation.

PRINCE HENRY IN AN ASYLUM.

His Affairs Have Been Placed Under the Control of a Court.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Particulars regarding the incarceration of Prince Henry VI. of Reuss in an asylum for the insane in this city show the Prince was secluded under the name of Count von Plauen. His affairs have been placed under the control of a court, owing to alleged scandalous financial transactions connected with a Hungarian estate bought by the Prince at Pesth, and upon which he gave as commission cheques for 136,000 florins, which the banks refused to cash, as the Prince is not good for that amount.

One of the Prince's agents, a man named Mack, obtained letters from the Prince which are said to compromise high personages of Emperor William's court. These letters have been sent abroad, and will probably form the basis of a court scandal in the near future.

THE DISTRESS IN IRELAND

Appears to be Determined by Which Party's Eyes View It.

London, Sept. 18.—The extent of the distress threatening Ireland seems to depend largely upon which party's eyes view it. The Council of the National Federation has decided that the country is on the brink of a widespread calamity, and calls upon Messrs. Dillon and Harrington to convoke a meeting of the Irish members of Parliament for the purpose of requisitioning Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader in the Commons and First Lord of the Treasury, to call an autumn session of Parliament to devise relief measures and to pass a bill reducing rents in Ireland in proportion to the loss incurred by the tenants, owing to the wholesale destruction of their crops. On the other hand, The Dublin Express says the cry of famine is only a continuation of the party war cry which is raised every year the Unionists are in office, and adds:

"Judging from the past we may hope that much of the crops doomed to destruction by the prophets of evil will be rescued, and that the general yield will be much larger than expected."

The Daily Independent regards the suggestion that the Duchess of York will shortly appeal for funds in behalf of the Irish who are threatened with famine, in a manner similar to the appeal of the Princess of Wales in behalf of the London poor, at the time of the Queen's Jubilee, as being an insult, and says:

"If the country was ten times as badly off as it is likely to be, it would resent any charitable appeal to the English."

DRUNKENNESS IN ENGLAND

More Prevalent Among the Upper Ten Than With the Industrial Classes.

London, Sept. 18.—The Inspector of Inebriates, in a report just issued, contends that the number of habitual drunkards in English society is greatly underestimated, and adds:

"Immoderate drinking, though frightfully common among the industrial classes, is still more prevalent among the upper ten."

It is also certain that among women of all classes drunkenness is increasing rapidly. Out of 442 cases at the Dalrymple Home 101 were university men, 316 were well educated, 235 were married and the others were widowers or bachelors. In 228 cases sociability caused the downfall, ill-health caused the downfall in 36 cases and overwork caused the downfall of 32 cases. In 55 per cent. of the cases the excess was traceable to predisposing hereditary indications.

Lord Rosebery is preparing to re-enter public life. He has commenced making speeches, and has a round of autumn engagements. His Lordship visited Mr. Gladstone at Butterstone on Friday with the view, it is suggested, of getting the Grand Old Man to start with him on the right road to secure the support of all factions of the party.

King Oscar's Silver Jubilee.

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—This being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of King Oscar II. to the throne, the city is brilliantly decorated and the streets are crowded with sight-seers. One of the deputations His Majesty received presented him with the sum of 220,000 crowns, which amount has been raised among the people. The King has decided to devote this money to combating tubercular diseases.

A TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE.

Prof. Milne's Earthquake-Recording Apparatus Proved Wonderfully Correct.

London, Sept. 19.—Prof. John Milne furnishes wonderful proof of the exact reliability of the earthquake-recording apparatus, even when almost the diameter of the globe from the scene of disturbance. He writes: "While at the British Association meeting in Toronto I exhibited a seismogram which had been forwarded from my station on the Isle of Wight, this was the record of a large earthquake, the duration of which had been three hours. From the general character of the diagram, and because the preliminary tremors had a duration of 30 minutes, I suggested that the centre of the disturbance was in or near Japan, and, if so, originated there on Aug. 5, about 9.06 a.m.

"On Aug. 26, when I left Toronto, no news of such an earthquake had been received. I now find by mail advices, dated New York, Aug. 30, that in Japan there was an earthquake and tidal wave, accompanied by much loss of life, on Aug. 5 and 6. Chas. Snow of Yokohama, in a letter dated Aug. 5, says:

"'While I am writing a heavy, slow earthquake is going on. It is now 9.14 a.m.'

"The character of the motion felt by Snow indicates that Yokohama was a considerable distance, possibly 600 miles, from the place of origin of the disturbance. Therefore the time the earthquake took place was at least five minutes earlier than noted by Capt. Snow."

GRUB GETTING SCARCE.

So Wrote Christopher Cornell From Dawson City August 17.

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—(Special)—A letter has been received here from Christopher Cornell, dated Dawson City, Aug. 17. He says grub is already getting scarce and that stores have more orders than they can fill. People are thinking of leaving before it is too late. He and a companion rafted down the river to Dawson twenty logs in three days, and netted $800 by the transaction. The Eldorado is proving very rich, a nugget worth $583 being taken out recently. French Creek is the latest find.

ROWAT PASS FIGHT.

Fuller Details of Last Thursday's Engagement.

THE TRIBESMEN LOST HEAVILY.

British Troops are Now Advancing, But Difficulties of Transportation are Great—A Mountainous Country Without Roads Message of Regret From the Queen.

Bombay, Sept. 19.—The advices from the front show that the various columns are advancing against the Mahmoudks from Panjkora and Shakadar. As yet they have met with no serious opposition, but the difficulties of transportation in a mountainous and almost pathless country are immense. Another formidable obstacle in the way of rapid movement is the lack of water.

The brigade of General Jeffreys had not joined in the advance. Yesterday it left camp at Anayat, with sixteen companies of infantry and four guns, in order to re-attack the enemy at the village of Damodata. The enemy made a desperate resistance, but were driven out into the hills. The British demolished their towers and captured four hundred mule loads of supplies. As soon as the troops began to retire from the village the enemy reappeared in force. The retirement, however, was effected with great precision, the native troops behaving splendidly. Two Sikhs were killed and six wounded.

It is now known that the enemy's loss during the fight on Thursday last between the Mohmunds and the second brigade of General Sir Bindon Blood, in the valley north of Anayat, was very heavy. The tribes engaged did not press the brigade during the retirement, but fresh tribesmen appeared. Captain Ryder's company of Sikhs virtually owed their lives to an Afridi sergeant of the Guides' corps, who, when the Sikhs had exhausted their ammunition and were desperately cutting their way back through the enemy, dashed up the hill under a heavy fire with a supply of cartridges. He arrived just in the nick of time, as the swordsmen of the enemy were already among the Sikhs, who were absolutely unable, after the heavy climb and the hard fighting, to continue a successful struggle.

Lieut. Watson was thrice wounded while gallantly leading a handful of Buffs, who routed a large body of the enemy that were trying to storm the village in which General Jeffreys, with guns, had taken up a position after missing his main body in the gloom Thursday night.

It appears that the enemy lost 180 men before they captured the Saragai police post. They burned alive two Sikh cooks, whom they captured while out hunting for firewood.

The Queen has sent the following despatch with reference to the reverse near Camp Anayat:

"I am deeply grieved at the loss of so many brave officers and men. I earnestly desire to be informed as to the condition of all the wounded. The conduct of the troops was most admirable."

Mohmands Surrender.

Peshawur, Sept. 19.—The lower Mohmands, south of here, have submitted, and have agreed to pay a heavy fine and to surrender their arms.

IS RUSSIA IN THE GAME?

Secret Correspondence Between the Czar's Government and the Ameer Hinted At.

London, Sept. 18.—The fact that no less than ten batteries of horse and field artillery have been ordered to embark for India during the months of September and October is much commented upon in military circles. Under ordinary circumstances the four batteries now in India would have been relieved this month. But they have been ordered to remain, and, therefore, there will shortly be on the frontier fourteen batteries of artillery, a full complement for an army corps. As the British [illegible] of ample strength to wipe out all visible resistance the only conclusion that can be reached in regard to this despatch of reinforcements of artillery is that the authorities are possessed of information of a serious character. The intimation conveyed by the War Office on Monday last to the London commercial agent of the Ameer of Afghanistan, that no war material or machinery for the manufacture thereof will be allowed to cross the frontier during the present crisis, indicates that the British Government has by no means entire confidence in the Ameer's fidelity, and it is hinted the Government has learned that, while professing friendliness to Great Britain, the Ameer has been secretly preparing for war. Well-informed circles are also discussing the story of secret correspondence between Russia and Afghanistan, which is said to have fallen into the hands of the British officials, and it is further intimated that a widespread plot, embracing the Beluchis and others, has been discovered.

Decrease in Birth Rate.

It is a cause of great anxiety, in France that the birth rate is less than the death rate, but the state of affairs in some portions of the United States is even more serious. While in France the birth rate is 22 per 1000, in Nebraska it is but 16.30 per 1000; in Maine 17.90 per 1000; New Hampshire, 18.4 per 1000; Vermont, 18.5; California, 19.4; Connecticut, 21.3; Massachusetts, 21.5; Rhode Island has 22.5 per 1000, a little more than France; Wyoming has 21.8 per 1000 and Oregon 22.5. If it were not for immigration the population would be gradually falling off, and according to statistics the inhabitants of New England and the Pacific Coast will be replaced by another race within a period varying from 16 to 200 years.

SIR WILFRID IN IRELAND.

Kit, in the Mail, thus refers to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to Ireland:—"Ireland was agreeably surprised by a visit from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier. He stayed for a day in Dublin, then ran down to old Galway, which, so few notabilities of any kind seem to care to visit. Sir Wilfrid looked remarkably well and cheerful when I saw him at the Shelbourne hotel. What a success he has been everywhere. Admired and honoured in England, it was almost to be expected that he would be coldly received in France, who always looks askance at perfide Albion. But no; his tact, gentle manners, straightforwardness, brought everyone to his side. Not one jot was his loyalty to Britain abated by his visit to Paris. And he frankly told the French people so. Then he comes to old Ireland, and the Dublin papers cannot speak highly enough of him. Going down to the West to look into the steam-packet matter, he captured the heart of Connemara; finally, taking his departure from Derry, he is escorted to his ship by an enthusiastic boatload of "harbourmasters"; and to-day I am reading of the ovation he met with on landing in Quebec. Well may all Canada rejoice over her Premier. Party feeling and all such narrowness should be laid aside in this moment of welcome and rejoicing over the return to her shores of Canada's great son. He has added to the lustre of the Dominion. He has magnificently represented her at all the eventful doings of a most eventful year, and it speaks largely in favour of the diplomatic talents, the manners, education and appearance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that in each country he has visited he has left the same amiable impression."

THAT CRY FOR A CHANGE.

Hon. Mr. Hardy's Remarks upon the Subject.

There is a great cry on the part of the Conservatives for a change, and they say that they heard that argument advanced by the Liberals before the June election a year ago; but we tell them that at that time they refused to listen to that cry in the Dominion election, and declared against it, and that, therefore, it is not now for them to take it up in relation to Provincial matters. I say to them, "Did you adopt this argument a year ago last June, believe in it, act upon it, or did you say that it was a false argument? If you accepted it then you are entitled to use it now against us; but if you did not, if you scorned and tabooed it and said it was worthless, then it does not lie in your mouth now to use it." It may be time for a change, if there is reason for it, beside the mere cry. The cry itself, standing alone, is idiotic. There must be cause behind it. If the administration has given you good government, if a flaw cannot be picked in its armor in that sense—I am not saying mistakes, because if Mr. Charlton makes mistakes surely we can't do otherwise; if a clear-visioned man like Mr. Charlton makes mistakes, and he tells you he has, what can you expect of us? —(laughter). I am not speaking of that, [illegible] corruption; I go further, if there has been no act of extravagance; I go further, if there has been no squandering of your money; I go further, and say if your money has been taken care of and expended wisely when we had it, without taxing you, and when it could be expended in the interests of the country, liberally, wisely and well—(loud cheers)—and if our opponents to-day are not able to stand up and point out in what respect these statements are incorrect, then hold fast that which is good, and if you have that which is good in Government stand by it. We are meeting with the old paltry cry, parrot cry, mocking cry, "a change is wanted." Nothing of the kind. Would you for a single moment throw aside the tried, those who deserve your confidence, without giving due consideration to the grave issues involved? If you have, as Mr. Charlton pointed out, a helper who has been true and loyal, and looked after your interests as though they were his own, it would be folly, suicidal for you to throw him aside and take up somebody you don't know much about.

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

Eleven New Cases Reported at Mobile, Making Eighteen to Date and Two Deaths.

Washington, Sept. 18.—A message from Dr. Glennan to Surgeon-General Wyman, received to-night, reports 11 new cases of yellow fever at Mobile, making a total to date of eighteen, with two deaths.

Surgeon Sawtelle, in a message from Atlanta, received to-night, informs the surgeon that Atlanta has practically become a distributing point for refugees from the infected d tricts. He thinks the climatic conditi ns are such there that the fever cannot get a foothold, but that all necessary precautions will be taken. About 250 refugees traveling north have been furnished with health certificates, leaving about 500 still in the city.

Yellow Fever at Edwards.

Edwards, Miss., Sept. 18.—A total of 39 cases of yellow fever is reported here. The rapid spread of the disease is remarkable. Five are in the country. The disease is now well distributed throughout the town. Several new cases reported, but not yet passed upon by the physicians, will doubtless swell the total to fifty.

Quarantined Against Atlanta.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 18.—Montgomery to-night quarantined against Atlanta on the ground that she opens her doors to yellow fever refugees.

Cases at Edwards.

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 18.—The total number of cases at Edwards and vicinity of yellow fever is 47. The latest report to-night makes the total new cases of the day ten.

LAKE'S AWFUL DEATH.

Drawn Head Foremost Into a Threshing Machine and Mangled in a [illegible]

Owen Sound, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Yesterday morning a fatal threshing accident happened at the farm of Mr. William Lee, in the Township of Sarawak, whereby Mr. Albert Lake lost his life. The unfortunate man was feeding peas to the machine, when his hand was caught and he was hauled headforemost into the thresher. His arm was torn off near the shoulder, the top of his head crushed in, and he was otherwise badly torn and crushed. Death was almost instantaneous. Lake leaves a wife and six young children in poor circumstances. He was known as an honest and faithful workman, and keen sympathy is felt at the occurrence.

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad Who Had been Dropsical From His Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Remedy That Never Failed.

McIntyre, Ont., Sept. 20.—The young son of Hugh Lamont, of this place, has been afflicted with dropsy since infancy. He was bloated and swollen all over. His parents were at their wits' end to find some cure for him when they read of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished he was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old, the pills will effect a cure of any kidney disease, or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.

A STORM IN THE PASS

Terrors of a Trip Across Alaska to the Klondike.

RAIN, SLEET, SNOW, PIERCING WIND

Trudging Through Slush and Bogs and Up Steep Mountains at a Very Slow Pace Lumber $500 Per Thousand Feet Hundreds of Men are on the Trail.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—Mr. Oren W. Weaver, Acting Commissioner of Labor, to-day gave to the Associated Press a copy of a graphic letter on the terrors of the trip across Alaska to the Klondike gold fields from Samuel C. Dunham, statistical expert of the Government's Department of Labor, who had been assigned to investigate the opportunities which the gold regions in the Yukon valley and adjoining territory afford for the remunerative employment of American labor and capital.

The letter is dated Lake Lindeman, Alaska, Aug. 20, and is in part:

"I left Dyea on Monday morning at 11 o'clock and arrived here Tuesday evening at 7. My four Indians started ahead of me, but I have seen nothing of them since the start from Dyea, and am waiting for them here. When I reached the foot of the summit a terrible storm was raging on the pass, and I presume the Indians went into camp somewhere on the other side to await better weather. It has been storming—rain, sleet and snow alternating—constantly on the summit since Tuesday morning, and the situation is aggravated by a piercing wind of 30 miles velocity. I had an awful experience coming across the summit. I started out with my hand bag strapped on my back, thinking that, as it weighed only 40 pounds, I would carry it. I managed to struggle along to the head of navigation for canoes, six miles from Dyea, and was there forced to employ an Indian packer, paying him $10 to carry my grip to Sheep Camp, 12 miles from Dyea. I spent the night at Sheep Camp, which is merely a collection of tents, and started for the summit at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning in a drizzling, cold rain. I employed a packer to carry my grip from there to Lake Linderman, paying him $16. At the foot of the summit we met perhaps a hundred Indian and white packers who had cached their packs on the trail above and were returning to Sheep Camp to await an abatement of the storm. We were warned that it was dangerous to attempt to get over, but the wind was blowing the way we were going, so we decided to go ahead and I felt sure my packers had gone on and I wished to be here when they arrived.

"The trail ascends at an angle of 45 degrees, skirting precipices, where a misstep would hurl one a thousand feet below, crossing the face of glaciers as smooth as glass, and in many places traversing the polished surface of great granite boulders hundreds of feet in extent. Every hundred yards or so mountain torrents, fed by the glaciers, and on the present occasion augmented by the rainfall, rush across the trail, and have to be waded, the water often coming to the knees. Add to this a gale blowing 50 miles an hour, with sleet and snow rushing horizontally through the air, and the temperature at 30 degrees, and you will have a faint idea of the horrors of my passage across the summit.

"I finally reached this camp, at the head of Lake Lindeman, about 7 o'clock in the evening, having been 11 hours in covering 12 miles, so thoroughly exhausted that I could scarcely drag one foot after the other.

"On account of the continuous rains, the soil washes down from the steep mountain sides, and wherever there is a level place you will find a bog, into which a man sinks to his knees at every step.

"This is one of the worst features of the trails, and makes it almost impossible to use horses. Many of the boggy places have been corduroyed, and I suppose by next summer the Skaguay trail, which is now practically impassable on account of the hogs, will be in fair condition. At present the condition of affairs on both trails is terrible, and hundreds of men are bound to starve and freeze to death if they continue to come this way. I passed at least a thousand men between Dyea and here and not more than one hundred have got their outfits this side of the summit. Every 50 yards along the trails are piles of goods, and I suppose there are provisions to the value of $200,000 scattered along the trail.

"Prices for packing and for all kinds of service are practically prohibitive for most of those who are attempting to get in, and many are carrying over their own outfits.

"It takes a man with an adequate outfit a month to get to the lake. There are many here who have been five or six weeks packing their outfits over, and are not ready to start down the river yet. All who have come to Skaguay or Dyea within the last week or so will have to come in without sufficient outfit, pay 40 cents or more a pound, or not get in at all.

"There are about 200 men here and 40 tents. Probably three or four boats are getting away each day with from two to five passengers. There is one sawmill here, with a capacity of 1000 feet a day, and it has all the orders it can fill in three weeks. Lumber is $500 per thousand and rising. A great many whipsaw their lumber, two men turning about 100 feet a day. A boat carrying three men sells for $250 to $450. Wages of carpenters are $12.50 a day and board. Everything is high in price, when you can get it at all. Whiskey is 50 cents a drink and $5 a bottle, and poor stuff at that. Alcohol is worth $40 a gallon. Meals cannot be had for money, as everyone is holding on to his provisions. I never saw so much selfishness anywhere as is displayed on this trail.

"There are so many on the trail that it is like walking along the street of a city—the individual is lost in the passing throng and you are recognized only by acquaintances. If you ask for food in nine cases out of ten it will be refused.

"I close this letter with the explanation that it has been written with great mental stress and physical suffering. I have tried to give you a fair idea of the hardships of this journey, but I feel my inapabilitiy to paint its terrors. I will simply say that no one who has written on the subject has overstated its difficulties. A man who got in today over the Skaguay trail says that it is even worse. He counted 172 dead horses along the trail, and several men who have met with serious accidents, such as a broken leg, sprained ankle, etc. Several deaths from drowning have occurred on both trails, the swift current carrying packers down stream and their packs rendered them helpless.

"Some movement ought to be made at once for the relief of the suffering which is bound to occur at Dyea and Skaguay. Every steamship that has brought people up will have all it can do for at least two trips in carrying the unsuccessful people back to civilization, and there ought to be some way to force them to perform the service without compensation."

Secretary Alger is now engaged in an attempt to solve the question of how to get supplies into the Klondike gold regions and thereby prevent the threatened starvation of many miners. The great Yukon River, which has formed the main reliance of the miners as a means of getting their supplies up to Dawson, is without doubt already closed to navigation, and the mountain passes via Chilcoot are almost impassable. The problem, therefore, is a hard one, and has taxed the best thought not only of Secretary Alger but of his brother Cabinet officers and of the President, for it has been anxiously discussed in the councils of the administration. Now, however, it is believed by the Secretary that, by means of a novel character, transportation for supplies into the gold country may be provided, even in the midst of an Alaskan winter. He has opened correspondence, indirectly, with a Chicago inventor, who makes a locomotive sled, designed originally for use in logging camps, but which it is hoped may be readily adapted to the navigation of the Yukon when it is frozen thickly. With a few of these machines placed on the river it is hoped that a sufficient supply of food and other necessary stores may be carried up the Yukon to relieve all distress among the miners.

The Secretary has already had some experience with this kind of locomotive, so that the scheme is not so radical an experiment as it would seem to be at first thought. When engaged in lumbering in the Northwest he tried the engine practically, and found that it was capable of pulling many tons of logs on sleds at a good speed, even as high as two or three miles an hour. The engine is boxed in like a freight car and the engineer and fireman thereby protected from the rigors of the winter.

To-day Secretary Alger telegraphed to Joseph Ladue, the founder of Dawson City, and supposed to be now at Plattsburg, N.Y., inviting him to come here to consult with him on this subject and give him the benefit of his knowledge of the Yukon region and tell how the engines may be supplied with fuel on the run up the river.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

When people you know give their evidence you have confidence in it much more so than when strangers talk.

These people are people you know, Peterborough People, and you can credit every word they say.

HERE IS ONE:

Mrs. Sarah Henderson, 392 McDonel St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from pain in my back, complicated with terrible headaches. Oh my! how my head did ache.

A dizziness would come over me at times, and a filmy mist seemed to cover my eyes so that I could scarcely see. Often I would stagger as if intoxicated.

I could not sleep at night; my hands and arms used to swell and puff up, and I was in a condition of great misery, unable to work and almost in despair.

I doctored a great deal and took many medicines, but everything I tried failed. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I got a box at Jas. Lynch's Drug Store. The change for the better was wonderful.

The first few doses seemed to lift a load from my aching back, and on taking three boxes I can conscientiously say that I am perfectly cured of all my complaints. I cannot too highly recommend this wonderful remedy."

Forty cases new stock rolled in on the floors and opening up. These include ten cases of Imported English and Scotch Goods—very fine lines of Scotch Tweeds, English Pantings, Serges and Fine Trimmings. It takes vigilance and cash to win battles in the field of commerce. We are about to serve our customers and have secured cases on cases of fine Clothing, and you'll get bigger bundles of good stuff here than anywhere else in the district.

We want a sort of "house-warming." We want to see a couple of thousand people standing around our store and taking it in. Don't be afraid that you'll be in the way. Your look at our place will convince that WE are the people to serve you. If you don't buy at once you will again.

ALMOST IMPALED.

The Shaft of a Buggy Passes Beneath the Handles and Saddle of a Bicycle.

The crowd which gathered to watch the start of those participating in the road race on Friday were startled by a peculiar incident which happened to a young rider who was scorching across the market square and met a horse and buggy so suddenly that he could not turn out. One of the shafts passed beneath the handles of the wheel and ran down far enough to catch under the saddle and thus obtain a firm hold on the machine.

The horse attempted to run away but the weight of the wheel on one side acted as a brake with such good effect as to cause the animal to run in a circle and finally stop, when the wheel and boy were finally extricated and the lad regarded it as a good joke. Only a couple of spokes were broken in the wheel, but the lesson is one which the boy should remember, as he was almost impaled on the shaft himself.

YUKON PHOTOS.

Quite a Number of Them Received by Sheriff Hall From a Friend.

Sheriff Hall is showing a fine collection of Yukon district photographs to his friends.

He has just received about a dozen films from a party which went out to the gold fields, and as he has had them developed and mounted, they prove of great interest.

Several of the pictures are taken in the White Pass, and a good idea is gained of the defile as well as of the rocky summits of the surrounding mountains. Photos are also shown of several miners' camps, and of the only house which has been erected yet in Skagway.

MONKEYED WITH THE BUZZ-SAW.

A Bicyclist Struck in the Face with a Whip Castigates the Driver of a Gig.

On Saturday evening as a bicycle rider was ascending the Hunter street hill from the bridge, the driver of a two wheeled gig struck him with a whip as he passed.

It was the work of a moment for the wheelman to turn in pursuit of the cart, which he overtook ascending the Ashburnham hill. The remarks which he addressed to the driver were such as to cause that individual to have to descend for very shame, and when he got him on the road the wheelman didn't do a thing to him but wipe up the dust for yards around. The belligerent bicyclist then invited the other occupant of the gig to descend, but the fate with which his friend had met was sufficient to convince him that he was safer remaining where he was.

T. B COPPER MINES.

Work to be Resumed as soon as the Water Can be Pumped Out.

The copper mine at South Bay was visited on Saturday by a party of gentlemen, two of whom were mining experts. It was found that the shaft of one was filled to a height of thirty-five feet with water and the other contained twenty feet of it.

Arrangements are being made for steam pumps to remove the water, after which active work will begin at once for the removal and crushing of the quarts.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan is said to have surpassed himself yesterday in a magnificent rendering of "The Star of Bethlehem."

Mr. Jas. Browne sung "Jerusalem" with excellent effect last evening during the offertory in the George street church. There is great range in this solo, but Mr. Browne was equal to the occasion.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The special Harvest Festival services were repeated in St. John's yesterday, the beautiful decorations still remaining. At the evening services there was a very large congregation. The rector preached a most appropriate and earnest sermon. The special music, harvest hymns, anthems, etc., were repeated. In the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis Master Hague Sawers sang the solos with excellent effect. In the offertory anthem Mr. Herb. Morphet took the solos in capital voice and good method. Mr. Morphet, who is a vocal pupil of Mrs. Klengenfeld, has developed into a most promising vocalist and will prove an important addition to our local list of good singers.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

Yesterday morning in the Murray street Baptist church, Rev. J. G. Brown, returned missionary from India, occupied the pulpit and gave a stirring address upon the progress of the Baptist missions in India, dealing especially with the Canadian missionary work among the Telegus.

In the evening Rev. A. T. Dykeman conducted the services, and administered the rite of baptism to three candidates.

A TIE GAME.

The Electrics and Stars of Bewdley Play Football and Each Side Scores one Goal.

There was a big attendance on Saturday afternoon at the Association football match between the Stars of Bewdley and the Electrics of town.

The visitors brought a large excursion up the river with them, and when the game was called at three o'clock every seat on the P.A.A.A. grounds grand stand was occupied.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, who made a most effective referee, lined the teams up as follows:

Electrics.			Stars.
Hooey	goal		Robt Johnston
B Simpson	backs		Alfred Nurse
T Crowley			Geo Burns
W Wilgar	halves		J Isbister
W Bird			F Coates
W Jackson			A Coates
Crowley	forwards		Eph Fleming
Coventry			Edwin Fleming
Birch			F Sidey
Brooksbuck			Jos Coates
Foley			L Fleming
W B Jewett	umpires		Jas Coates

The visitors rushed the game from the start, and kept the Electrics largely on the defensive during the first part of the game, as the members of the latter team did not appear to work well together.

After ten minutes sharp play the Stars drove the ball across the boundary near the Peterborough flags and the goalkeeper seizing it, took a free kick. As the ball had passed behind the line at the time, the Bewdley team were given a penalty kick for this infraction of the rules. The Electric players crowded around the goal on the defensive, but it was rushed through and the visiting team scored first blood amidst the wildest enthusiasm of its supporters.

No more scoring was done before half time was called.

As the game progressed the Electrics developed some fine combination work, passing from wing to wing with good judgment and constantly pushing the defense line of the Stars.

Towards the latter part of the second half the Electrics again and again rushed the ball on their opponents' goal, but seemed to be deficient in shooting qualities. As the result of a beautiful piece of combination work Capt. Coventry was, however, finally given an opportunity of scoring for them and kicked a goal from the side with great accuracy, Crowley and Birch were factors in the combination.

Although both teams worked hard neither side was able to score another goal before time was called, the visitors having to leave to catch their boat.

The game was entirely free from dispute of any kind and both teams are anxious for another meeting.

BURLEIGH FALLS BRIDGE.

It is in Very Bad Condition and Sadly in Need of Repair at Once.

The bridge at Burleigh Falls is in a most dangerous condition. Several large holes have been worn through the planking on the right side of the approach from town and at night there is nothing to prevent a horse from putting its foot in when passing, as the hole is entirely unguarded.

The beam dividing the two tracks has been completely worn away and a large crack two inches wide appears where the two sets of planking meet. On Saturday night both wheels on one side of a carriage suddenly went down in this crack as far as the hubs and but for the quietness of the team, under the circumstances, a bad accident would have occurred, the rig being wedged fast until being relieved from the crack.

MISSIONARIES SPEAK.

They are Home on Furlough From China and Africa — Interesting Facts.

The presence of three returned missionaries at present on furlough in this country attracted large audiences at Bethany Mission yesterday.

In the morning Messrs. Smith and Mitchell gave addresses, dealing with the life, customs, etc., of the nations of Central Africa, the former having laboured for a number of years in the Congo region, whilst the latter was stationed in the Soudan.

In the evening Mr. Bielle gave an interesting address on China, and told of the great growth of missionary effort in that country in a few years.

In 1890 the Christian and Missionary Alliance had only two missionaries i. the "Flowery Kingdom," now they had forty-four missions with 140 missionaries.

In the afternoon all three of the missionaries spoke in Inverlea Park to a large audience. In the evening Mr. Bielis occupied the entire time with a most instructive account of his experience in Woo Hoo, where he has had charge of the Home for Training Missionaries and was Superintendent of the Central China District.

A BAPTIST MISSIONARY.

He Speaks in Town and Also Goes out to the Gilmour Memorial Church—Home on a Holiday.

Rev. J. G. Brown, one of the most successful missionaries of the Ontario and Quebec Baptists, who has recently returned from India, spoke in the Park street Baptist church on Friday evening and addressed the congregation of the Murray street Baptist church yesterday morning.

Mr. Brown has just returned home after spending ten years in the work and the relation of his experiences amongst the fanatic Mohammedans proved most interesting.

On Sunday evening the returned missionary spoke in the Gilmour Memorial church, Smith township. He will return to the mission fields of India at the expiration of his furlough in the spring. His present holidays were enforced through failure in health, but it is pleasing to note that he has almost entirely recovered his strength.

Herr Klingenfeld, the Toronto violinist, who gives lessons on the violin in Peterborough on Saturdays, has had the good fortune to have accepted for publication by Breikhaupt & Hartel, of Leipzig, Germany, a method for the viola. Good fortune, because the acceptance of a musical composition or a work on music by this firm, which is reputed to be the greatest musical publishing house in the world, stamps the author as a musician of high rank and is in itself a great compliment to his musical ability. Breikhaupt & Hartel publish nothing, either in "methods" or music, that is not first-class, and Herr Klingenfeld is to be congratulated upon the acceptance by them of his viola method. He has a violin method in course of preparation.

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. LUCAS-DAWSON NUPTIALS.

Were Celebrated in Bailliboro on Thursday at "Walnut Farm."

One of the prettiest wedding ceremonies which was ever witnesseed in Bailliboro, took place Tuesday at "Walnut Farm," the home of Mr. J. H. Lucas, when his second daughter, Miss Eva, was united in marriage to Mr. E. T. Dawson.

The ceremony was performed at 6 p.m. by Archdeacon Allen, assisted by Rev. Dean Allen, M. A.

The bride was quite pretty in a gown of cream faille silk, trimmed with chiffon and pearls, with bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white asters and sweet peas.

Miss Minnie Dawson assisted the bride, gowned in cream crepon, trimmed with pink silk and pearls, and carried a bouquet of white asters and pink sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. W. T. Lucas.

The drawing room was beautifully decorated with Maderia vine, asters and sweet peas, the ceremony being performed under a large floral bell woven of asters, verbenas, etc.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. W. C. Allen.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held and the house was ablaze with light and resounding with laughter and merriment, compliments and good wishes until the bridal party left for their future home.

The bridal presents were unusually fine, showing the high esteem in which the bride was held.

WE REMEMBER HIM.

Young Silby gets into Still Another Scrape—He Formerly Studied Law in this Town.

The Lindsay Post contains the following reference to a young man who formerly was in a local law office:

"About three weeks since a very plausible young man struck town and registered under the name of — Silby. He called on a number of business men and stated he was about getting up an illustrated advertising sheet of Lindsay, and was in the employ of the Post, succeeding in so deceiving several in town with his very plausible story, that he was given goods to a small amount on the strength of his employment, and promised to pay for them in a day or two, which promise he failed to make good before he left town. He succeeded in securing several days' board at the Benson House before Mr. Wardrobe was apprised of his character by a traveller who had heard of his doings in other towns. He then went to the Daly house, and skipped, leaving a board bill unpaid. He told a very plausible story, speaking of knowing many of the business men in town, with whom he had attended school a number of years since. On enquiry we find his parents had lived here during his school days, and he entered Mr. A. P. Devlin's law office as a student but owing to his crooked ways he received his discharge. One morning Mr. Devlin, coming into the office, was met at the door by a traveller with his arms full of law books taken from his (Mr. D.'s) library, and when stopped he stated that he had just purchased them from his clerk. That capped the climax, and he was promptly discharged. He next turned up in Peterborough, where he entered a law office, and one day in the absence of his employers he was paid $800 on a mortgage, for which he gave the firm's receipt, and and pocketed the entire sum. When the theft was discovered he was arrested, and spent some time in the look up, but succeeded in making a settlement by which he escaped a term in penitentiary. He again took up law at Cobourg, and got into trouble, by which he was refused membership to the law society. At Brockville he ran a mail order business under a fictitious name, and succeeded in gulling the public out of a greater or less amount of money. He was recently arrested at Ottawa or Montreal for forging a check, but managed to get out of the affair without going to jail. Silby is a slight fellow with a moustache, and is about 5 feet 3 inches in height, brown hair, wore grey clothes and a white fedora hat. If he can be located, Chief Bell will be pleased to pay his fare back to his old home, and give him free board for a time."

The young man in question studied law here in 1884 in a local office, and in the absence of his principal received $130 on a mortgage account, which he did not credit to the client paying it in. He was arrested and accused of the affair, and the money was refunded by his father. He has since served a term in the penitentiary for being mixed up in a dollar watch fraud.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs are in fine shape for their grea match against Markham to-morrow afternoon on the P. A. A. A. grounds and the match will undoubtedly be the best of the season, as the York District champions have defeated almost every first class team in Ontario. A big crowd of excursionists accompany the visiting team from Markham, and as it is the last C.L.A. match of the season in Peterborough a big local attendance is expected.

Arrangements have been made to have two policemen, from the force, patrol the grounds and the village constable will look after the boys on the fences. A number of the property holders adjacent to the grounds have given the constables permission to arrest any boys who trespass on their premises, so that all who wish to see to-morrow's game will have to gain admission by the gate.

The game will be called at 2 p.m. sharp and will be referred by Mr. Thompson Beattie, of Toronto, who made so efficient an umpire both here and in Orillia.

A meeting of the Judicial Committee of the C. L. A. was held in Fergus Friday night to consider the protest of Orangeville against Wiarton. Messrs. Slater, Glanville and Macdonald composed the Judiciary Committee. Orangeville made three charges, one against Richards, one against Ewing and the third against Samson. The charges against the two first named were not proven, but the committee found that W. Samson was not a resident of Wiarton when his certificate was issued. They therefore cancelled the match played at Fergus on September 6th and suspended Samson and gave costs against Wiarton. The President has ordered the clubs to play the match over again at Harriston on Tuesday next, September 21st.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

Everybody who is interested in Rugby is requested to attend a meeting to be held in the Oriental to-night at 8 o'clock. Prospects for a good team in Peterborough never were better. Letellier, of last year's Queen's, Hal Burnham, of McGill, and most of old town players, including Lefevre, will be in line. The boys hope to awaken interest in the game by bringing a number of first class teams here this fall, including Royal Military College, Upper Canada, Trinity School, and several of the Toronto fifteens. Arrangements for practice grounds, ect., will be made this evening.

THE WHEEL.

"Abuse of oil is an error," says an old cyclist, "which probably nine cyclists out of ten fall into. In a bicycle bearing a single drop of oil will go a great way toward forming the film between journal, balls and box, necessary to keep the surface of these parts from coming into wearing contact. Ordinarily, the cyclist pumps his bearings full of oil, which runs out, covers the outside of the boxes, and acts as a medium for the accumulation of dust."

An Anglo-Frenchman has recently invented what he calls a suspension bicycle. The method adopted is to introduce a light auxiliary frame, which works within the rigid frame without anyway impairing its strength. This is done by placing inside the stay connecting the saddle with the crank bracket a rigid rod, suspended from a spring of steel ribbon coiled in a small drum attached to the rear braces a few inches below the saddle. This rod is connected with the handle bar by a telescopic rod. The weight of the rider in the saddle winds the spring, which alone supports the auxiliary frame, and depresses the saddle and the handle-bar—the two of necessity moving together—about one-third of their extreme movement, or, in the case of a heavy rider, nearly an inch. Then, when an obstruction is met with which causes the rigid frame to rise, the rider remains suspended by the spring, which, of course, gives to the extent to which his weight has already stretched it. Thus the machine may rise and fall, but the saddle, the crank bracket and the handle-bar, which support the rider, will always remain at their own level, and be practically free from jolting. The extra weight seems to amount to about a pound.

An Englishman, writing of the bicycle, and of handlebars in particular, says:—"I do not at all care for the present fashion of fixing the handlebars so that the handles of a machine are in a parallel line with the ground. There is no doubt that the system originated owing to the custom of society cyclists riding with their handles very high and thinking that cow born handlebars curved upward add considerably to the appearance of these machines and themselves. But it is wrong for all that. There should not, to ride any distance comfortably, be any bend in the wrist, or the sinews thereof be at tension. Vibration is much more keenly felt when the hands are in a normal position. Different positions on a wheel really require the handles—not the bars—set at a different angle, therefore I strongly favour the use of the adjustable bar, though for the ordinary rider handles set at right angles from the steering pillar will amply suffice. This varies somewhat in different makes, but not to any great extent. No matter how high or low the horizontal handles may be placed, the wrist must be bent. It can't be helped. I have often seen cyclists after a long ride barely able to hold a pen, and am confident that it was entirely owing to the undue strain on the sinews of the wrist and hand. For enjoyable distance riding the hands ought to be held as easily as possible. I have heard that wood handlebars prevent a large amount of vibration. My experience is limited to a single ride with them when the roads were frozen hard. I certainly failed to find the slightest difference between and ordinary handlebars, nor was there much give when I tried to pull up a stiffish hill. If the bars are springy there may be less vibration, but certainly there is a loss of power and the chance of snap off close to the head. After all, you can't beat steel bars about eighteen to thirty inches wide.

POOR PATTERSON'S DEATH.

Details of the Drowning of the Hamilton Man Who Started for the Klondike Gold Mines.

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Further details of the disaster to the Hamilton Klondike party and the drowning of William Patterson, show that the accident occurred on the third day of the trip from Athabasca Landing. The party were trying to run the Grand Rapids, which are about a mile long, in a boat built for six. When about half way through it struck a sunken rock and went to pieces. Five of the crew managed to grasp hold of the rocks, but Patterson was swept away. Nearly all the provisions were lost, and the party is now making its way home.

Another account of the disaster through the Associated Press says Patterson was asleep on the deck of the boat when the accident occurred. The unfortunate Hamiltonian is a son of ex-Ald. T. Patterson and a brother of John Patterson, one of the promoters of the Cataract Power Company. He was 32 years of age and leaves a widow and two children. Patterson was engineer at the City Hospital and resigned to join the Klondike party. On handing in his resignation to Chairman George Roach, the latter pressed him to remain, stating that if it was a question of salary it could be raised, and advised his staying in the city rather than going on an expedition from which he might never return. Poor Patterson, however said that he had the Klondike fever and would adhere to his project.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kiddeys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets CURE constipation and its attendant evils.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., for his "Medical Adviser." It is a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated.

NOTES FROM WINNIPEG.

Elevator and Grain Burned at Emerson—Mrs. Taylor Tried to Shoot James McCracken, But Missed.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—B. McMillan's steam elevator at Emerson, Man., with a capacity of 30,000 bushels, was burned to the ground last evening, and 10,000 bushels of grain in it was destroyed. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $15,000, only partially covered by insurance.

Premier Greenway says he has no announcement to make concerning the Duluth road. Mr. Cameron is now threshing the question out in the East in its legal aspect. The published reports are said to be inaccurate.

Margaret Taylor fired three shots from a revolver at James McCracken here to-day, missing him each time. McCracken lives with Mrs. Taylor's daughter and they have a child. It is said McCracken became intimate with a second daughter, who is now in the Maternity Hospital. Mrs. Taylor has been locked up.

A STARTLING OCCURRENCE.

A Montreal Man Drops Dead on the Street While Quarrelling With His Wife.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A peculiar occurrence took place in the north end of the city to-night. George Waldron, 65 years old, who has been separated from his wife for some time, but has persisted in annoying her, tried to get into her house at 517 St. Urbain-street. She and a friend, thinking he had gone, went to make a purchase at a store, and she had to shut the store door to prevent his attempted embrace. Finally he succeeded, and she struck him over the head with a cane which she carries on account of her lameness. He followed her across the street, but dropped dead in the middle of it. The woman is under arrest.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There was a fair run of live stock on the market to-day—cattle, 1045; sheep and lambs, 821; calves, 25, and 1500 hogs. This was independent of what was reported at Thursday's market. The market was slow, to say the least, and very little business was done in exporters until about 3 p.m., when a few sales were made. Buyers were unwilling to pay prices asked by country dealers, claiming that they must have the cattle at lower rates than they have heretofore been paying this season, as many of the shippers have been losing money. One drover from the country had two loads that he had held over since Tuesday, and they were still unsold at 3 p.m. to-day. Another dealer had one load that he refused $4.50 per cwt. for on Tuesday, and could not get the same price, although he offered them at that rate, and they also were unsold at 3 p.m., the time of our leaving.

Prices ranged from $4 to $4.50 per cwt., the bulk going from $4 to $4.35. W. heard of one choice load selling at $4.60 per cwt.

William Levack bought one load of export cattle, weighing 1275 lbs. each, at $4.25.

Crawford & Co. sold one carload, weighing 1330 lbs. each, at $4.50 per cwt.

There was a good demand for butchers' cattle, and all good ones of this class were quickly bought up at good prices. One reason for this is that good cattle of this class are in demand at present for export purposes. The poorer ones of this class, and they were in the ascendancy as regards numbers, were slow of sale.

William Levack bought 150 butchers' and exporters' at prices ranging all the way from $2.90 to $4.25 per cwt.

S. Halligan bought two loads of butchers' cattle, weighing 1080 lbs., at $37 each; also one load, weighing 1060 lbs. each, at $36.50 each.

J. McCabe sold 20 head butchers' cattle and a few exporters, averaging 1025 lbs. each, at $37 per head.

C. Zeagman bought three extra choice export bulls, weighing 1800 lbs. each, at $4.25 per cwt.; these were very fine cattle.

Light export bulls were worth from $3 to $3.50 per cwt. Heavy feeders, weighing 1150 to 1200 lbs., sold at $3.80 to $4 per cwt.

Mr. J. Groff bought 23 heavy feeders, averaging 1216 lbs. each, at $4 per cwt.

Crawford & Co. sold 34 selected steers, light feeders, weighing 811 lbs. each, at $3.50 per cwt.

Two Western Ontario farmers bought 18 stocker steers, weighing 750 lbs. each, at $3 per cwt.

Stock heifers, weighing from 650 to 700 lbs. each, sold at $2.50 per cwt.

There were about 15 milk cows on the market, which sold at $25 to $40 each, according to quality.

Calves sold at $2 up to $8 each, and good ones wanted.

Sheep were in fair demand, and export ewes sold from $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt., and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Lambs sold fairly well at $3.75 to $4.12½ per cwt., or, in other words, at $2.50 to $3.35 each.

The hog market remains about the same, at $5.75 to $5.87½ for the best choice selections. This price is only paid for the best selected lots of hogs off cars, weighed before being fed and watered.

R. Ironsides shipped two cars of export cattle per C.P.R.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Chesterville, Ont., Sept. 17.—At a meeting of the Cheese Board held here last night 943 boxes of cheese were boarded, 576 of which were white and the balance colored; 9½c was bid for white and 9 9-16c for colored, but none sold.

Perth, Ont., Sept. 17.—The cheese market to-day was quiet. No cheese was sold, all being shipped to Montreal for storage.

Shelburne, Ont., Sept. 17.—At the cheese market here to-day 12 factories boarded 1783 boxes. Buyers present: Willard & Cope, Toronto. Six factories sold 700 boxes at 9½c, the balance was not sold. Salesmen asking 9⅝c. The board meets here again in two weeks, Oct. 1, at the usual hour.

South Finch, Ont., Sept. 17.—At the regular meeting of the South Finch Board, 788 were boarded—50 colored, balance white; 9 11-16c for white, 9⅝c for colored.

From east to west people have heart trouble. This causes violent headaches, neuralgia, nerve trouble and prostration Says Mrs. Somers, of Moncton, N. B.: "I tried many remedies but never found anything to give me such prompt relief as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done. I suffered from the above symptoms, but now gladly testify to the cure these wonderful pills have made in my case, and I hope all sufferers will try them."

Mrs. T S. Hawkins, Chattanooga Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent 289 George Street.

WANT THEIR TOBACCO.

Kingston Penitentiary Convicts Said to be Concocting a Revolt Owing to the Deprivation Order.

Kingston, Sept. 17.—The News says an ex-convict, released from the penitentiary here about three weeks ago, stated to a merchant that there would certainly be a revolt before long. The convicts are indignant on account of the new order which deprives them of their tobacco. The ex-convict claimed that it was almost impossible for some of the old tobacco users to do without tobacco. They would rather do without a meal than have this taken from them. He stated that a movement was now on foot among the convicts to organize a revolt. The plans are being secretly concocted. "Mark my word," said the fellow, "you will see a hot time at the pen before long."

GREEN STAMPS DON'T GO.

An Agreement at the Postal Congress Compels the U. S. Government to Print the Two Centers in Carmine.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The attention of the Treasury Department has been called to the fact that the Universal Postal Congress, recently in session here, agreed on a scheme of colors for postage stamps to be used by all nations in the Postal Union. The color of the two-cent United States stamp, as agreed upon, was ermine, so that the proposed change to green will not be made.

DYING OF LOCKJAW.

A Fast Bicyclist Fell and Broke His Arm and is Starving to Death.

New York, Sept. 17.—Henry Gebeth, a member of the Mount Vernon Cycle Club, and the crack rider of Westchester county, is slowly dying at his home in Mount Vernon-avenue of lockjaw, brought on, the physicians say, by the failure of a broken bone to knit.

On Labor Day Gebeth took part in the bicycle races at Williamsbridge. While making his last lap a child ran in front of his wheel. He was thrown to the ground and his right arm was broken in three places. He is unable to take nourishment, and is slowly starving to death.

Love in the Scale.

"How much does the baby weigh" is only another way of asking, "Is he healthy and strong?" When a baby is welcomed into the world with loving care and forethought, his chances of health and strength are increased a hundred-fold.

A prospective mother cannot begin too early to look after her own health and physical condition. This is sure to be reflected in the baby. Any weakness or nervous depression, or lack of vigor on the mother's part should be overcome early during the expectant time by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which promotes the perfect health and strength of the organism specially concerned in motherhood.

It makes the coming of baby absolutely safe and comparatively free from pain; renders the mother strong and cheerful, and transmits healthy constitutional vigor to the child.

No other medicine in the world has been such an unqualified blessing to mothers and their children. It is the one positive specific for all weak and diseased conditions of the feminine organism. It is the only medicine of its kind devised for this one purpose by a trained and educated specialist in this particular field.

Mrs. F. B Cannings, of No. 4320 Humphrey St., St Louis, Mo., writes: "I am now a happy mother of a fine, healthy baby girl. Feel that your 'Favorite Prescription' and little 'Pellets' have done me more good than anything I have ever taken. Three months previous to my confinement I began using your medicine. I took three bottles of the 'Prescription.' Consequences were I was only in labor forty-five minutes. With my first baby I suffered 18 hours then had to lose him. He was very delicate and only lived 12 hours. For two years I suffered untold agony and had two miscarriages. The 'Favorite Prescription' saved both my child and myself. My baby is not yet three weeks old and I do not think I ever felt better in my life."

THE KLONDYKE CITY.

JOSEPH LADUE IS THE OWNER OF THE GOLDEN SPOT.

He Bought His 160 Acres From the Dominion Government For a Song and Sold It Out at $5000 a Tent Lot—What Grows in the Klondyke.

Joseph Ladue, sole discoverer, only originator and chief proprietor of Dawson City, the touted metropolis and head center of the Klondyke gold field, is a cheerful fellow, in spite of his great distinction and the uncountable wealth that has suddenly been thrust upon him. Joseph has been spending a week in New York city and through that prime circulating medium, the daily newspaper, has told the gold-mad Gothamites some picturesque truths about the new El Dorado. Of the weather, for instance, he says: "The people talk about cold weather in Alaska. That is all bosh. I left on June 23 last. The thermometer then registered 92 degrees in the shade, and people were hoping that when I returned I would bring a full complement of electric fans for next summer. When I passed the winter at Plattsburg, N.Y., two years ago, I suffered ten times as much from the cold as I ever did from it in Alaska. Alaska will be the future summer resort, and when gold makes the people alive to the great advantages of ice carnivals Alaska will be the finest winter resort in the world. Besides, you know, the gold of the Klondyke is in Canada, and that's English, you know. At this time of the year the sun shines twenty-two hours a day in Dawson City, and it is never dark. There is no use for electric lights in the summer, but of course I will supply electric lights to the city upon my return next March for winter use. I will also introduce telephones and telegraphs."

As to the agricultural possibilities of the country, Mr. Ladue is equally entertaining. For instance: "They say that the Lord has put gold in far-away places merely for the purpose of drawing the people to those remote parts of the earth, so that when there they will realize that they possess a far greater commercial value than the mere gold. California was that way. The gold took the people there, and then they discovered that the state had far greater agricultural advantages, and that its fruit industries were a source of untold wealth. The same with Alaska. You would be surprised to know that vegetables thrive there. Turnips, beets, cabbages, radishes and cauliflower grow luxuriantly. Potatoes also grow, but do not ripen well. In fact, all kinds of vegetables or grain grow in Alaska, and when the gold shows to the people of the earth the hidden agricultural treasures of Alaska there will be an exodus from the East that will make the people here wonder why they ever lived so long without the amenities of Klondyke."

This is how Joseph amassed his ponderous fortune: "I bought my 160 acres from the Dominion Government for a mere song, and then I bought up eighteen acres adjoining the Government reservation. That gave a monopoly of the entire city, and whenever anybody wanted to build a house or erect a tent in the city I sold them a lot for $5000. If they didn't have the cash on hand I gave them an option on the lot for eight days, which would give them ample time to take a run up the gulch and dig out enough nuggets to pay for the lot for their winter home. There are only a few of them (the lots) left."

How Yanks May Beat Britishers.

The glasses were going round when the man who had been in the navy spoke: "Wait a minute, boys. We've had several. Let me give you a tip that I learned when I was on the China station. You are pretty good drinkers, you Kentucky boys, and you can hold your own with anybody, east, west or north, who tries to put you under the table. But unless you carry out my plans don't you ever stack yourself up against an Englishman, and especially an army officer. You could knock them out on whisky, but they don't drink it, except in smoky Scotch and Irish abominations. But with champagne, brandy, claret, ale, sherry, port, pulque in Mexico, saki in China, palm liquor in Africa, bamboos and shandygaff in India, steer clear of them that is unless you have the good luck to meet a certain little yellow-faced, wizened creole from Louisiana, whose recipe is passed around the mess tables of United States men-of-war to this day.

"It started in the old days when the British officers always had the pleasure of outstaying their American guests or hosts whenever two ships met on a foreign station. Then that little yellow devil came along with his trick and the Englishman have never since come better than second in any drinking bout. The secret? Olive oil. One wineglass full before the fun begins and, if possible, another later on and you keep your wit and legs throughout the dampest evening. I suppose one of two things happens. Either the oil coats the stomach and keeps the alcohol from being absorbed by the system, or else it floats on top and keeps the fumes from rising to the brain. But you'll have to ask the medicine man about that. All I know is its practical result, and that has enabled us Yankee Doodles to go home cheerful and clear-headed many an evening when our foreign cousins were speechless."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Duck-Farming Millionaire.

Jacob Ruppert, the millionaire brewer, has invested nearly $50,000 in a farm near Rhinecliff-on-the-Hudson, on which he raises ducks. He has already stocked the farm with several thousand birds, and as only White Pekins are bred, the place looks like a huge cotton field with white specks covering the ground at short intervals.

The duckery is situated near the Bluff road, and the indoor part of the work is carried on in a neat set of buildings adjoining. The food used by the ducks is ground by steam machinery, and the eggs are hatched in incubators. Each one holds 400 eggs.

Adjoining the incubator rooms are the brooders, each capable of accommodating 6000 ducklings.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

Self-Deception in Dress.

Dress remains one of the topics most interesting to women. Sometimes a woman will deny this most vehemently, and point out that she dresses most plainly and according to some system following physical-culture rules. Yet, though she may forswear tight fits and belts of all kinds, and use the shoulders to support her skirts instead of the waist, she will still give fully as much time and attention to making herself comfortable as her unreformed sister gives to making herself lovely in dainty, fluffy gowns. Each in her way loves to discuss the lines of the waist, whether it be short or long, the shape of the skirts, and the color and texture of the goods. So, notwithstanding the protests of reformers, dress continues to be an interesting topic with all sorts and conditions of women.

We know the great cures of Hood's Sarsaparilla are genuine because the people themselves write about them.

Undoubtedly the Best.

Gentlemen.—I wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has proved a wonderful remedy in my family. We would not be without it for twice its price. I say it is the best (not merely one of the best—but the best) medicine ever brought before the public for summer complaint or diarrhœa, either in children or adults.

THE LOVE LIGHTS OF HOME

The bird to the nest and the bee to the comb,
When the night from the heavens falls dreary,
And Love to the light in the windows of home—
The light of the love of my dearie.
And Love in the light like a swallow in flight,
When the storm blows the stars from the blue of the night;
And a kiss from the red rose, a smile from the white,
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie!

The ships in the harbor from over the foam,
When the way has been stormy and weary,
And Love to the light in the windows at home—
The light of the love of my dearie.
And Love to the light, like the bloom from the blight
When the spring sun weaves wonders of red and of white,
And the darkness of winter is kissed to the bright
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie.

The bird to the nest and the bee to the comb,
And never a night shall fall dreary
While the lights in the beautiful windows at home
Are lit by the love of my dearie!
And Love to the light, like a bird from the night,
Where angels in lilies Love's litanies write,
And a kiss from the crimson, a smile from the white,
In the gardens that bloom for my dearie!

STUDYING OUR FORESTS.

ONTARIO FORESTRY COMMISSION ACTIVELY AT WORK.

Their Movements in Western Ontario—A Painstaking Tour Through the Lumber Districts—Preserving the Timber.

(The Globe.)

Fort Frances, Sept. 13,—(Special)—The forestry commission of Ontario arrived here last evening en route to Wabigoon and points on the Manitou to look over the cut timber belt and decide to what extent forest reserves can be established in that section. The committee consists of Mr. Thos. Southworth, and old newspaper man of Brockville, Ontario, and secretary of the commission, who holds the position of Clerk of Forestry, an office created three years ago; Mr. W. Rathbun, a wealthy lumberman of Deseronto; Mr. John Bertram, a prominent lumberman of Peterborough; Mr. Alexander Kirkwood, of the Crown Lands Department, and Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Superintendent of forest rangers, also of Peterborough. They came in on the steamer Keenora from Rat Portage, where they have been looking over land for the same purpose. They expect to have their work completed in one month and will then extend it into more eastern Canada. They were accompanied by Mr. M. J. Butler, C.E., who assists them in their field work. After touching the railroad at Wabigoon they will proceed to Port Arthur, where they will charter a boat and make the country along the north shore of Lake Superior.

The commission was created in June of of this year upon recommendation of Mr. Southworth, who has been making an extended research into the growth of the pine tree, following out the duties of his office. It has been generally supposed that a poplar growth invariably followed the cutting down of white pine, but this is not true only where the lands have been burnt over to such an extent as to entirely kill off the growth and seed of the pine tree, as Mr. Southworth has ascertained by making a study of the question. The white pine will grow from seed to become merchantable timber in a period of from 50 to 60 years, and by reserving old pine cuttings that are unfit for agricultural lands the Government will always have a supply of timber for sale and will have a permanent source of revenue from pine lands. In Canada all lands upon which there is any timber are reserved and timber limits are sold at public auction to the highest bidder, and an annual lease rental of $3 per square mile is charged, besides $1 to $1.25 per thousand for all timber cut. In this way Canada has large areas of cut lands which they can reserve to be recut when there is another growth of pine upon it of merchantable pine. Said Mr. Southworth:

"The object of our commission is to devise a plan by which the revenues derived from the sale of pine from Crown lands shall become permanent. The average annual revenue from this source is about $800,000 a year. The original forest is being cut away and not at too rapid a rate either, for much of the old timber is past its prime. Lumbermen often complain that they find timber too old and that it should have been cut away years ago. Had it not been for the disastrous forest fires which almost invariably followed lumbering the lumbermen would now be cutting over the lands which were cut many years ago. It is found where there has been an absence of fire for any length of time that a new crop of white pine is springing up, and it is expected that measures will be taken by which a succession of lumber crops of this sort will be perpetually maintained on various areas throughout the Province unsuitable for general agriculture. The object of the appointment of this commission was to investigate the habitation and growth of pine trees and condition of these burnt-over lands and to make a report upon a scheme of administration and protection of these timber lands, which is the first practical step taken by the government of the Province for securing a continuance of this very respectable revenue."

HEAVY EXPORTS OF BUTTER AND BIG PROFITS.

Last week we referred to the heavy receipts of butter at this port, and now we have to notice the heaviest exports this season which left here for week ending September 4th, amounting to 30,897 packages as compared with 13,750 packages for the week previous and 7,814 packages for the corresponding week in 1896, showing an increase of 17,147 packages over the week previous and 23,083 packages over the same week last year. The large shipments of last week have seldom or never before been exceeded; but a large proportion consisted of American goods which show splendid profits to shippers and those houses on the other side for whom they were held. We know of one lot shipped to England last week on order, which showed the shipper here $3 00 per package profits of $2.00 to $2 80 per package. This, it is presumed, is exceptional, but profits of $2 00 to $2 80 per package have, it is claimed, been frequent. There can be no doubt that some handsome Klondike finds have been secured on the export butter trade this year, owing to the steady rise in prices from 14c at the commencement of the season to 21c a short time since. Of course, the outside figure is unobtainable now, as prices were forced above the export basis and had to find a workable level at 19c to 19½c for the finest fall goods. This has been a remarkable year for advances in foodstuffs, notably so in butter, cheese and wheat. As regards butter, it had become a staple of late years in which there was very little money to be made beyond current commissions; but this season has demonstrated that, if traders stick to their calling long enough they are bound to strike oil; and they have struck it so far this year.—Trade Bulletin, Montreal.

Dear Sir,—Constipation for years has been my chief ailment; it seemed to come oftener in spite of all I could do. However, some time ago I was told to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have done, with the result of what appears now to be a perfect cure.—Truly yours,

J. Harris.

"DUPLICATE BILLS."

How to Get a Nice Package of Saw dust—Green Goods Circulars Received by a Number of Citizens.

The green goods swindle is one so old and so often exposed in the press that it seems remarkable that a sufficient number of victims can be found to make the business profitable. But there must be, as the green goods swindlers are still at work. The saying that a "sucker" is born every minute must be true. A number of residents of the town, some of them among our best known and prominent citizens, have within a day or two received circulars from an enterprising green goods dealer. The circular, which differs considerably from the ones usually sent out, is as follows:

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

FRIEND,—I send you this in confidence, and would not have done so if I did not think you could make money handling a class of goods I deal in, and do it with absolute freedom to yourself. If I have made a mistake please destroy this letter, and think no more of it, but don't abuse the confidence I have placed in you, as no insult is intended—it is the offer and chance of your life to make money, and plenty of it, by handling my class of goods, and if you let it pass you will have no one to blame but yourself. These goods come in sizes of one's, five's and ten's, and cannot be excelled, and are printed on exactly the same paper as the Government uses. This has been the great drawback for years with me—to secure silk fibre paper—but I am pleased now to be able to tell my customers that I have at last succeeded. They are not counterfeits as you might suppose, but just what the government calls them, "Duplicate Bills," and as the government claims, the most dangerous that have ever come out, and impossible of detection, even by the best government experts, and then only when they arrive at the treasury at Washington, which is not in years, and after passing through so many hands that it is impossible to trace them. Now, as this is a secret business, I have some rules for you to follow, and by so doing we will be able to deal.

Never write a letter to the enclosed address, for I will not receive it, and you do it will go to the dead letter office and there be opened and read and might cause trouble, and trouble is not what we want.

Enclosed in this letter is a copy of a telegram, which must be sent just as it reads, or I will not be able to tell who it comes from, and on receipt of it I will send you a sample of my goods, also a price list and full particulars. Send your telegrams over the Western Union lines. Your telegram may be sent from any town as long as it is worded and numbered as the enclosed slip.

Be sure and sign the initials of your name to the telegram.

All letters from me will be sent to the same address as this one, except you notify me differently.

Yours in confidence.

Keep this for reference.

This is a copy of the telegram you are to send:

M. H. ALBRIGHT,
Allentown,
Pennsylvania.

Mr. House lives at No. 667 same street.

Send your telegrams just as the above reads and sign the initials of your name to your telegram. Should you not receive an answer from me with my price-list of goods and sample of same, telegraph again.

All telegrams must be prepaid to insure delivery.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. If you already have "The Land of the Maple" then order "Hark the Drum" or "The Story of the Flag" or "Wings of Steel" the latest bicycle song. Any one of these will be mailed, together with the book, for 25c.

Remember that the Mason & Risch Company is the oldest piano and organ house in the Dominion. They are agents for the famous house of Chickering and Sons, the oldest and most famous house in America. Mason & Risch pianos are beyond a doubt the most artistic and durable pianos made in Canada; 6000 satisfied Mason & Risch customers attest this fact.

Mason & Risch prices are moderate, and Mason & Risch terms are reasonable. Many people who know the fame of their goods, but whose means are limited, fear to write lest the prices or terms should be beyond their means. To all such we say write and assure yourselves that we can meet you and give you the best of satisfaction. We ask no one to keep goods who are not satisfied. We have good practice pianos at from $75 and upwards. We have organs from $10 upwards. Answering letters is no trouble. Our office is 32 King street, West, Toronto.

Germany's Forests.

Prof. A. E. Shuttleworth, chemist of the Agricultural College, Guelph, is at present working in the agricultural laboratory at Gottingen, Germany. Writing to the department here for agricultural and forestry reports Prof. Shuttleworth says: 'I am greatly delighted with the German forests. The method of planting, preserving and culling is securing for this country an almost inexhaustible wealth of all varieties of wood and timber." Prof. Shuttleworth, according to the above, is apparently very much taken with the plan of reforestry as adopted in Germany. He will remain in that country until the fall of 1898 and will make special study of German agriculture. He will also, no doubt, gather considerable information with regard to reforestry, which may be of value to the Provincial Government here, seeing that they have a forestry commission at present engaged looking into the same subject.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Many Witnesses Called and the Prosecution Closes its Case.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Witnesses followed each other on the witness stand in the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert this morning with unusual rapidity. They were called to straighten out the tangled ends of former testimony preliminary to the prosecutions announcement that its case was closed.

Abraham Seele, a butcher at 759 West Monroe-street, caused a mild sensation when he announced that at the public sale at Luetgert's factory some weeks ago he purchased thirty-nine bottles of mineral water. It has been the contention of the defence that on the night of May 1, when Mrs. Luetgert is said to have been murdered, Luetgert not feeling well, sent Frank Bialk to a drug store for medicine. Bialk himself confirms this and declares Luetgert told him to get a bottle of mineral water. Subsequent developments have shown that the sausage maker had at least thirty-eight bottles of the water on hand when he sent Bialk away after some more that night. Prof. Dolafontaine, Sergeant Spangler of the police department and a number of policemen were called to the witness stand to identify the various exhibits of bones and other articles and to tell where they got them and where they had been kept during the progress of the trial.

When an attempt was made to show Luetgert's alleged relations with Mary Simmering and other women, the defence entered a vigorous objection.

Judge Tuthill took the disputed point under advisement, and adjourned court until next Tuesday morning. The adjournment over Monday was taken to permit the defence ample time to prepare for its opening statement and the line of defence to be adopted.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it." "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. RAINY LAKE REGION

Shows Abundant Indications of Richness in Gold.

MINING EXPERT AND CAPITALIST

Says the Lake Superior and Michipicoten Locations are as Promising as Any He Has Ever Looked Over for Mining Investments — Prospectors are Going In.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 20.—J. L. Edwards, a well-known mining man and capitalist, who registers from Salt Lake City, but whose home is divided between the locations of his several successful gold mining properties in Montana, Utah and Colorado, arrived in Buffalo to-day. Asked as to whether he had any intention of going to the Klondike region, Mr. Edwards said:

"No; I am not going to the Klondike, but I have just come from the Lake Superior and Rainy Lake gold field, and the more I see of that surprising country the more I feel that I do not care to go to Alaska. I think that the new country which is being opened up north of the Minnesota line and Lake Superior—the Lake of the Woods territory and the Michipicoten field—is the most promising country for paying mines that I have ever run across. I am amazed by it. I have already secured some options and have made some purchases there, and I am going back again for more.

"The mines about the Lake of the Woods are showing up surprisingly. We who have made our strikes in the West have been rather skeptical about any mines of permanent value or of great number east of the Rocky Mountains. But my trip to that country up north and northwest of Lake Superior has opened my eyes. The Michipicoten fields have not been much prospected as yet, but they are making some splendid showings in the little development that has been done, and more men are going in there every day. I saw some samples of decomposed quartz there that were as rich in gold as any I have ever seen in my life. The rock is very easily workable and there will be some big piles made there on small capital."

"Did you make any investments?" was asked of Mr. Edwards.

"Yes; I bought an interest in one claim and secured options on a couple more. But as a general rule, the miners there are not ready to sell for any moderate figure. They think they have a Golconda and forget that it takes money to run mines. After a time, when the first flush of rich discoveries wears off and money is needed to work the properties, then the figures will come down. Michipicoten is a good country for the prospector now, but it will be better for the capitalist 12 months from now.

"Up in the Rainy River and Lake of the Woods district I found the most tempting field for present investment that I have yet struck. Some of the mines there have been developed long enough to give a fair estimate of their value. Something can be judged as to the character of the developments beneath the surface showing, and this gives a chance to figure somewhat on the probable character of newer prospects in the same country. New claims are being continually found and there are many enticing-looking prospects to be had there at reasonably low figures.

"Of course one can not go out there and pick up a gold mine that will pay handsome dividends unless he knows his business, but a good mining man can get hold of some splendid properties there now. I have bought two claims upon the Lake of the Woods, which I will gamble on. I fancy I can trust my judgment to know a good prospect when I see it."

Inasmuch as Mr. Edwards has the reputation of never having been connected with an unsuccessful mine, his last statement may be said to "go."

Another Gold Find.

Detroit, Sept. 20.—A Port Arthur special to The Evening News says: A report has reached here of another gold find towards the eastern end of Lake Superior, about 40 miles northwest of Michipicoten. The ore is reputed to be rich in free gold and H. E. Eberts of Detroit, a mining engineer and explorer, who has spent many years on the north shore of Lake Superior, is credited with making the find. It is impossible to get the particulars, as only one man knows about it, and he will not talk. It is surmised, however, that the discovery must be in the vicinity of the Little Bit Lake, as it is known Mr. Eberts spent several months there this summer prospecting and examining mineral lands owned by Detroit people.

SNOWSTORM IN ALASKA.

The Winter Has Already Set in Away Up There. A Foot and a Half of Snow on Skaguay Trail.

San Francisco, Sept. 20.—A special to The Call from Hal Hoffman, dated Juneau, Sept. 13, says: The first snowstorm of the season swept over the mountains last night, which is one indication that the same thing is likely to occur at any time or likely to continue indefinitely. Small boats which arrived here to-day from Skaguay report the snow fell one and a half feet deep on Skaguay trail. This means that further progress cannot be made on that trail by the staggering thousands and that the establishment of winter quarters must be begun quickly, where not already under way. The snow will render it almost impossible to make any progress with attempting, to say nothing of the drifts that pile up from the winds. The snowstorm may be said to stop further progress over both Dyea and Skaguay, unless such an unprecedented thing as a spell of dry, calm weather comes. Already the indications begin to bear out the statement made in these despatches four weeks ago that the trails to Klondike would be marked by collapsed tents and the skeletons of the unwary and venturesome.

SUPPLIES UP THE YUKON.

Messrs. Weare and Cudahy Urging Secretary Alger to "Hustle."

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Secretary Alger spent some time this morning in conference with President Weare and Michael Cudahy of the Alaska Transportation and Trading Company. They announced their intention to make every effort to get as much of the supplies at St. Michael up the Yukon as possible, and it is expected that three more steamers can be run up before the river closes entirely to navigation. Mr. Weare reported the steamer Humboldt ready to sail from Seattle for St. Michael next Thursday. Secretary Alger called a consultation of the Bureau officers of the War Department to hasten the preparations for the equipment of the troops who are to go forward to Alaska on that vessel. Mr. Weare said that the Transportation Company had, for the accommodation of this force, suitable quarters, which would serve as a temporary post, and the large supply of food stores at St. Michael would provision them.

KITE FLYING EXTRAORDINARY.

One of a String of Seven Attained an Altitude of 10,016 Feet.

Blue Hill Observatory, Mass., Sept. 20.—All kite records were broken here Sunday afternoon, when the topmost kite of a string of seven, all of the Hargrave type, four miles of wire, attained an altitude of 10,016 feet above the sea level, or 9386 feet above the summit of the hill. An aluminum box was sent up, containing an instrument for recording pressure, temperature and humidity, and was swung 130 feet below the topmost kite. At the highest point the instrument recorded a temperature of 38 degrees, while at the same time it was 63 at the surface of the earth. At a height of 4000 feet the humidity rose rapidly, but sank again at a mile, where it was quite low. At 7000 feet it again rose and soon reached a point where there was almost a complete saturation in the air. From there up the atmosphere became dryer, until at the highest point, there was scarcely any moisture recorded. At the ground the humidity all the afternoon was quite low.

Kites for Observation.

Denver, Col., Sept. 20.—Sergt. Baldwin, the aeronaut, connected with the Signal Service Department of Colorado, in a short time will begin experiments with the box kite as a means of observing naval and military manoeuvres for the purpose of long distance signalling. Sergt. Baldwin will co-operate with Professor Otto Chanute, the well-known engineer of Chicago. The idea is to build a series of box kites for the purpose of elevating observers to great heights. The advantage of the device is that it will withstand the violent surgings of air currents and be rendered more safe by them.

TWO YOUNG MEN DROWNED.

One of Them Was a Son of Mr. George Holland of The Hansard Staff.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Another sad tragedy is reported from Lake Deschenes. Two young men, both about 20 years of age, found a watery grave in its treacherous waters last evening. William Holland, a son of Mr. George Holland of the reporting staff of the Dominion Senate; Albert Venn, whose father is a shipbuilder in Hull, and Mr. Jamieson, son of Mr. R. E. Jamieson of this city, started in a sailboat from Britannia for Aylmer Park yesterday. They got safely across, but on returning they got upset. Just how it all happened has not yet been learned, but the report is that young Holland and young Venn were drowned, while Jamieson was clinging to the wrecked boat all night and was drifted into Britannia Bay early this morning. He was able to walk to his father's summer residence at Britannia, but became unconscious when he got into the house.

STABBED BY HIS WIFE.

A Domestic Quarrel in Berlin, Ont., Which May Have Fatal Results.

Berlin, Ont., Sept. 20.—A serious stabbing affray took place here late Saturday night on Elgin-street. An altercation took place between Mr. and Mrs. Jessinghaus, in which the latter seized a butcher knife and stabbed her husband in the side near the heart. As soon as possible he made his way to the residence of Dr. Hett, who examined and attended to the wound. The instrument used was an ordinary butcher knife. It is yet uncertain as to the outcome of this rash act. The couple have not got along very well together. The woman, it is claimed, is the cause of the disagreement. The man, so the neighbors' claim, is hardworking and steady.

A Rich Man Favors Living Wages.

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 20.—Charles J. Devlin, the big coal mine operator in Illinois and one of the largest individual operators in the United States, stands by the miners who are fighting for living wages and against the operators, who meet to-day at Springfield to try to further reduce wages. He said: "The miners of Illinois should get a price equal to the Columbus scale.

FURTHER FIGHTING.

British Troops Got Off With Little Loss.

A HOT SKIRMISH FOR TWO HOURS

Lieut. Crawford Was Picked Off at Over 1000 Yards Range. Wonderful Agility and Courage of the Tribesmen—British Flying Column Attacked Cable News.

Simla, Sept. 20. The operations against the Momunds continue to be the centre of interest. The latest despatches from Gen. Jeffreys report that he advanced again on Sunday morning from Camp Amyat to attack the enemy west of the valley. The chiefs came for a parley, but were informed that they could not be heard until all arms had been surrendered.

A remarkable feature is the accuracy of the enemy's fire. Lieut. Crawford was killed at a range of over 1000 yards.

The tribesmen show great courage and astounding rapidity in moving over the rocks. General Sir Bindon Blood, who is moving in parallel with General Jeffreys, and who keeps in heliographic communication with him, reports that yesterday the Haddah Mulkh, with 4000 followers, debouched on the Nawagai plain, where General Sir Bindon Blood was encamped. The Mullah had a fanatical Kuttock dance, fired a few shots, and then retired, but the same night the camp was attacked, though so half-heartedly that the enemy was easily repulsed. The tribesmen daringly creep up the ravines around the camp. An English private was stabbed only five yards from an outpost.

Flying Column Attacked.

Peshawur, Sept. 20.—Advices from Hangu say that 2000 tribesmen, on Thursday last, attacked a flying column of British troops at Sodda. The fighting lasted two hours. The British loss consisted of only two men killed and four men wounded.

The fighting at Sodda began at 11 o'clock at night, in an attempt to rush the pickets, the enemy having collected unseen in the dwarf palm jungle and ravine, and gradually closing in on the British force. The enemy fired continuously from behind rocks and heaps of stones, the darkness enabling them to rush forward, making use of the many small shelters around the place, until within 20 yards of the British. At midnight large numbers of the tribesmen gathered together for a rush, but courage failed them, and they could be heard abusing each other for not advancing.

Momunds Begging for Mercy.

London, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of The Times at Simla says:

General Jeffreys has inflicted such punishment upon the Momunds that they are begging for mercy and asking his terms. Their valley is swept clear of fighting men. No one is now offering the slightest opposition.

The Salarzai tribesmen have declined to fight further, fearing that their villages also will be punished. General Jeffreys has demanded the surrender of 50 breech-loaders, and of those captured by the Momunds last Thursday. When these terms are complied with, he will resume his march into the Momund country.

Ameer Shuts Out Rebels.

Quetta, Sept. 21.—The Ameer of Afghanistan has ordered that the rebel refugees from Baluchistan be refused an asylum in Afghanistan. This is expected to settle the unrest in Baluchistan, and to facilitate the capture of the agitator Jaffir Khan.

A MYSTERY OF THE THAMES.

Scotland Yard Trying to Unearth the Murderers of Moritz Von Veltheim.

London, Sept. 20.—Scotland Yard is now endeavoring to trace the murderer or murderers of Moritz von Veltheim, a naturalized American citizen, and from 1893 to 1896 the American Consul at Santa Marta, Colombia.

On Aug. 5 the naked body of a man six feet four inches in height was found floating in the Thames in the vicinity of the docks. A strong rope was wound tightly around the neck and down the back, tying the hands, and then securely fastened to the ankles. The body, it was declared, had been in the water a month, and the doctors affirmed that death was caused by strangulation before immersion. The police, content with the verdict of the coroner's jury, consigned the body to a pauper's grave in Ilford Cemetery.

About two weeks ago Mme. Von Veltheim applied to the Home Secretary for an order to have the body exhumed, as she believed it to be that of her husband. She said she had lost sight of him early in the year, and that soon afterwards he had bigamously married a young Greek lady, Marie Magrovordato, whom he met at a Bloomsburg boarding house. The body was exhumed last Friday night, and Mme. Veltheim identified it as that of her husband. It is surmised that Von Veltheim was thrown overboard from some foreign ship.

SCORCHER FOR UNCLE SAM.

London Globe Puts the United States Down as a Fourth Rate Power.

London, Sept. 20.—The Globe this afternoon, in an editorial on the futility of arbitration with a power "which disregards alike the legal prescriptions and ordinary courtesies of civilized nations," says: "Lord Salisbury has treated the United States with a kindness they do not deserve, always wearing the silk glove, until America has forgotten the existence of the iron hand beneath it.

"The idea of our being afraid of a fourth-rate power like the United States could only have occurred to sufferers from a severe attack of swelled head. America has lost all sense of proportion, and has forgotten she plays only a minor role in the affairs of the world."

PETTY ISSUES.

At the demonstration in Norfolk in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. John Charlton's entry into Parliament, Hon. Mr. Hardy dealt as follows with the cries raised by the Ontario Opposition in their present campaign:—

The cries of our opponents are to a very large extent composed of trifles. Do they put forward proofs as their platform? What are they! It takes microscope to discover them. At most it has but a slight variation from the principles and the platform upon which the Ontario Government has stood for the past ten years. The variation is so slight that upon the floor of Parliament Mr. Whitney had refused to give the details, because the difference was so slight that you would fail to discover the distinction between the position of the Opposition and that which the Government have long occupied. No Opposition ever got into power or displaced a Government by a policy of trifles, or by making slight variations upon the policy of the Government of the day. But Mr. Whitney, like the heathen Chinee, has a policy concealed up his sleeve, and says, "I will not let you see it; you must go it blind," and "Put me in power first." What does he want to change? Is it the license law? What better license law has been devised to date than the license law we have? The Opposition have had four different policies.

They now say Sir Oliver has gone. So has Sir William Meredith, who was the ablest leader they had. Perhaps he was wrong to some extent, for he did everything himself and did not gather about him the brightest men of his political complexion who would take his place. Then Mr. Marter came with his hen, or rather his hen, or rather his egg policy. The electors did not think it a very mighty or very great policy. (Laughter.) In the campaign of 1894 they had another policy, a little greater, inasmuch as the animal was a little larger. And that mighty policy was a calf. A calf with a cough. (Laughter.) You all remember that cough. (Renewed laughter.) What is their policy to-day? Mr. St. John has been bringing it into notice. It is a piggery in connection with the asylum. So they have the hen or egg policy, the calf policy, and now the pig policy, and they are welcome to it. (Loud laughter.) Was anything ever heard more preposterous? They are passing through the country proclaiming want of confidence in the Government because of a pig sty. They told the people that it cost $35,000. Last week they got it down to $7,000, and that is three times as much as the original cost, and it is the chief plank in their platform. I have not time nor opportunity now to go into details upon this matter, but when time comes you will have the figures placed before you so that you can judge for yourselves whether there has been the slightest extravagance in the matter of providing accommodation for her Majesty's porker. (Loud laughter.)

Something has been said about the Liberal party and its hopes and aspirations at Ottawa. Mr. Charlton has pointed out to you that never before has there been a greater promise of trade prosperity, that the Government has tried to put into practice the principles to which they have pledged themselves during the past fifteen years. You know the revival, the sudden revival, of business which has taken place since Mr. Laurier came into power. You read of it in the pages of the daily press that such a revolution has not been witnessed in the past twenty-five or fifty years in this country. You had been told that the Liberal policy would, if carried out, prove disastrous to the commercial interests of the country. You have placed before you a bright future, and we can hope that our friends at Ottawa will be equal to to the occasion, as we believe they will, and we know that you at all events will aid them in doing so by, when the time comes, again sending a representative to the Local House and to Ottawa. Loud cheers.)

ABOUT BAILIFF ENGLISH.

The Man who Looks After the Prisoners who are Being Sent to the Central Prison.

The Ontario Government has a peculiar method of conveying prisoners from the county gaols to the Central Prison at Toronto. Whenever a prisoner is committed to the Central the Government is notified by telegraph, and when there are sufficient prisoners to make up a batch an officer comes along and takes them off. On his way he picks up the prisoners from all the county gaols between Windsor and Toronto, for instance. The officer detailed for this work is "Bailiff" English—nobody seems to know his other name. He is a rather tall, spare man, slightly stooped, with prominent cheek bones and eyebrows and the eyes of a hawk. Nobody knows when he is coming, and he goes as quietly as he comes. He makes no friends, will not accept the slightest favour—not even a cigar—from any one, and will not allow any one to say a word to a prisoner. He has the reputation of being very handy with a gun, but nobody knows how he got it, for he has never had occasion to use one during the twenty-five years he has been conveying prisoners. In all that time he has not lost a prisoner nor has he had any trouble that he could not put down with a word and a look. He takes his prisoners from gaol to train in the street cars; but, strange to say, not a dozen people in Sandwich had ever seen him up till last night, when he took two men with him to Toronto. English is sixty years of age, and has a strong Irish accent, although he was born and reared in Brockville.—Detroit News.

DEATH OF MR. HETTLE.

A Former Resident of Huron County Who Attained Prominence in Manitoba—News From Dawson City.

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The death of John Hettle, M.L.A. for Turtle Mountain, took place this morning at Boissevain, Manitoba, from diabetes, from which he has been suffering for years. He was first elected to the Manitoba Legislature at the general election of 1888 in the Liberal interest, defeating Dr. Schaffner of Boissevain. He was again elected at the general election of 1892 over the same opponent. At the last general election, 1896, he defeated W. R. Miller. Deceased was from Huron, Ont., having been a resident of Teeswater, Seaforth and Wroxeter. He was 54 years of age.

A letter from A. McFarlane, Dawson City, dated Aug. 19, says the prospects for making money are excellent, but the work is very hard and the journey something terrible.

LETTERS FROM FORT CUDAHY.

One Man Who Took Out $600 a Day From the Placers.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Mr. Scarth, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has received a letter from his son, who is Inspector of Mounted Police at Fort Cudahy. The letter is dated June 28. As an illustration of the wealth of Klondike, young Scarth says that he knew of a man who bought a half-interest in a claim for $40,000. He had from March until September to pay it in two instalments. He, however, paid it in two months, from his returns, or at the rate of $800 per day.

There were, when he wrote, about 1000 people looking for claims, and could not get them.

Fred White, Comptroller of Mounted Police, also received a letter from Inspector Constantine. It was merely a fuller statement to that telegraphed a few days ago about the police having got sufficient supplies for winter.

The Commissioner of Customs received to-day $12,800 from Collector Davis at Fort Cudahy.

RETURN OF LT. PEARY

Steamer Hope Has Reached Sydney, Cape Breton,

WITH THE GREENLAND EXPEDITION

Came into Port Burning Her Last Ton of Coal—All the Party in Good Health—A Number of Esquimaux on Board A Rough Voyage.

Sydney, C. B., Sept. 20.—The steam sealing barque Hope, with Lieut. R. E. Peary and party on board, returning from North Greenland, arrived here to-day. All on board are well.

The Hope came into port burning her last ton of coal, and with her bulwarks and decks giving evidence of the furious seas of an unusually stormy voyage. She is nearly as deep in the water as when she left here in the latter part of July, wit hher bunkers full of coal. So the huge Cape York meteorite, the largest in the world, is in her hold and bedded in tons of ballast.

Lieut. Peary has on board also six Cape York Esquimaux, who will go with him when he returns next year to attempt to reach the North Pole. The Esquimaux have their tent, dogs, sledges and canoes. They are eager for the undertaking and all the arrangements have been made.

The expedition visited Cape Sabine and relicts of the ill-fated expedition led by Greely have been obtained. The summer in Baffin's Bay was marked by almost continuously stormy weather and by an unusual scarcity of ice.

The investigating party from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, under R. W. Porter, landed at Cape Haven on Aug. 3 and did not re-embark until Sept. 13. The party, led by Mr. Hugh Lee, the Arctic explorer of Meriden, Conn., landed at God Haven on Aug. 7 and re-embarked Sept. 7. Prof. Schuchert's party, representing the National Museum, landed at Onemak, on Aug. 8, re-embarking on Sept. 4. The party led by Mr. Robert Stein of the United States Geological Survey, was on land from Aug. 10 to Sept. 2. The Hope will coal here and then proceed to New York, where she will land her meteorite.

ANDREE HEARD FROM.

Third Despatch by Carrier Pigeon From the Exploring Balloonist.

Copenhagen, Sept. 20.—A despatch, received here from Hammerfest, the northernmost town of Europe, in Norway, says the whaling ship Falken has brought there the third pigeon despatch from Prof. Andree, the aeronaut, who left the Island of Tromsoe in a balloon on July 11 last, in an attempt to cross the Polar regions. The message brought by the Falken reads: "July 13, 12.30 p.m.; latitude 82.2 north; longitude 12.5 east.

"Good voyage eastward. All well."

Baldwin Tells About It.

New York, Sept. 20.—Evelyn B. Baldwin, the meteorologist of the Peary expedition, 1893-94, was interviewed today by the Associated Press regarding the latest pigeon despatch from Andree. Mr. Baldwin said: "This message indicates that Andree has safely crossed the 150 miles or so of open water which extends from the north coast of Spitzbergen to the beginning of the pack ice. When Andree wrote it he was sailing over the great frozen sea which reaches continuously to and beyond the North Pole. It is evident that the loss of the three guide ropes, which occurred on the day Andree started, had not prevented him from guiding the balloon. Some expert aeronauts feared that this accident might bring speedy disaster. It is also evident that the unbelieving aeronauts who declared that the gas in the balloon would never stand the temperature of the pack ice were wrong. If the extreme cold caused any perceptible change in the gases such action would have taken place before Andree wrote this last message. And if the cold had done the work so much feared Andree would not have said: 'All well.'

"It is significant to note that Andree was going eastward, the direction he intended to take. This is a straw which helps to verify his reported safe reappearance in Arctic Russia.

"The tenths of degrees given in his message proved that Andree was not only able from the balloon to ascertain his whereabouts, but did so with remarkable accuracy.

"The first three days were looked upon as being the most perilous and important of the entire journey. Andree's ability successfully to withstand the initial difficulties augurs better than the lay mind would imagine for the culmination of his daring project."

FOUND DEAD IN HIS SHANTY.

Denny Rhodes, Once a Colored Slave in Savannah, Dies at Humber Bay, Aged 97.

Toronto, Sept. 21.

Dennis Rhodes, an interesting old colored gentleman, who has lived in the vicinity of Humber Bay for over 20 years, was found dead beside the bed in his log shanty on Queen-street, saturday, and was buried yesterday in Humberyale Cemetery.

Denny Rhodes, as he was more commonly called, was a robust man, and was actively engaged in gardening up to the day of his death. N. Mequade made him a little gruel for his dinner, and some time afterwards, when James Fordyce went in, he saw the old man dead beside the bed. Coroner Lyud of Parkdale was summoned, but he deemed it not necessary to hold an inquest, as there was no doubt that death was due to heart failure. Deceased was 97 years of age, and spent the early part of his life as a slave on a cotton plantation in Savannah. After the war he came to Canada and for many years was a well-known resident of Etobicoke. In the dispute between the city and the County of York, relative to the Lake Shore-road, he was an important witness on account of his knowledge and long residence in the vicinity. Everybody knew Denny Rhodes. His stories of the Sunny South, his curious old shanty, which was falling down around him, his ever-beaming countenance and his general good nature all helped to make him known, not only in the vicinity of Humber Bay, but by city residents as well. Since his wife died four years ago, his house has been in a dilapidated state. There was no place for anything and everything was in confusion. Tunks, pots, saws, forks, tools, tin cans, old bottles, in fact everything was on the floor, except his white top hat, which was filled with handkerchiefs, and, on being taken down, was noticed to contain a summons, dated Dec. 24, 1883, demanding his appearance in the Susan Gibbs murder case of two days previous. He has no relatives. Robinson, the counterfeiter, who shot at Detective Davis, claims to be a nephew of his. His four acres were clear of debt, until this young man appeared. Robinson induced him to mortgage his little estate and of late years the mortgagee has taken it over, allowing him $25 a year as long as he lived.

TROUBLE AT HAZELTON AGAIN.

Miners Who Wanted to Go to Work Were Prevented and Had to Have Military Protection.

Hazelton, Pa., Sept. 20.—The strike situation again assumed an uncertain phase this morning. An attempt to resume work was made at Pardee's Lattimer mines, but only 300 out of 1300 miners returned to work. These were mainly Italians, with a few English-speaking men.

During the night the Hungarians paraded through the settlement, beating tin cans and kettles. This was done to notify those of their race that they must not go back to work. The warning was observed, and this morning a band of Hungarians, led by women, were massing and threatening to march on the mines later in the day. The 13th Regiment is keeping close watch for further trouble.

News of a disturbance at Eckley reached brigade headquarters about 9 o'clock this morning. The workmen there had fixed to-day for the decision whether or not to strike. About half the strikers attempted to return and the others gathered about the mines in a menacing manner. Companies C and H of the 4th Regiment were sent over and gave the would-be workers protection.

The men at Drifton and Jeddo, in the same district, did not go out. The 2500 miners at the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre McAdoo mines kept their word and returned to work under military protection.

The threatened raid at Lattimer occurred shortly after 10 o'clock. About 120 Italian women, armed with clubs and stones, divided into three companies and marched on the mines. Signals were given the camp by the sentries of the Culm Bank station, and three companies of the 13th were sent over, under Major Whitney. The women outflanked the soldiers and were within 20 feet of the engine house before the troops reached them. Missiles were flying through the air and the rabble ignored the command to retreat. The soldiers then closed up shoulder to shoulder and, with guns pointed, pushed the crowd back until they dispersed.

Meanwhile an attack on the company store was repelled in the same manner. John Tomaso, a Hungarian, who threw a heavy piece of iron to one of the women and told her to use it as a weapon, was arrested. A body of miners from Butler Valley came over to Lattimer to work this morning, but were compelled to go back by a band of strikers at the point of revolvers.

Warrants Out for Martin and His Men.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 20.—The court issued warrants to-day for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and his deputies. The court officers will go to Hazelton this afternoon to serve the warrants.

Great efforts were made to keep the action of the court quiet. It is feared if the report goes abroad that a warrant is out for the deputies many of them will leave the state.

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad Who Had been Dropsical From His Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Remedy That Never Failed.

McIntyre, Ont., Sept. 20.—The young son of Hugh Lamont, of this place, has been afflicted with dropsy since infancy. He was bloated and swollen all over. His parents were at their wits' end to find some cure for him when they read of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished he was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old, the pills will effect a cure of any kidney disease, or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.

We hear a great deal about purifying the blood. The way to purify it is to enrich it. Blood is not a simple fluid like water. It is made up of minute bodies and when these are deficient, the blood lacks the life-giving principle. Scott's Emulsion is not a mere blood purifier. It actually increases the number of the red corpuscles in the blood and changes unhealthy action into health.

If you want to learn more of it we have a book, which tells the story in simple words.

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

Own Your Own Gas Plant.

Good cheap gas for illuminating purposes made on your own premises, entirely under your own control and free from all fickle metre annoyances, is a consummation most devoutly to be wished for. The illuminative display made last night in the office of the People's Coal Co., on Charlotte street, by the Automatic Acetylene Gas apparatus, was well calculated to favourably impress all who witnessed it. The discovery that common slacked lime and crushed coke or charcoal would combine under heat to produce good gas has set the scientific men thinking, and its practicability and reliability is now beyond question. The light is soft, clear and gives the same spectroscope as sunlight, and the candle power is fifteen times greater than that of ordinary gas. Go and see it. Mr. D. R. Leavens, the agent, will be in town for a few days longer, and he or Mr. J. S. Earle will demonstrate the workings of the system. 1d

THE LATE F. J. ROGERS.

The Sad Death of the Respected Manager of the Bank of Montreal in Peterborough.

Mr F. J. Rogers, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, died last night at the Nicholls Hospital in the 45th year of his age. This death, though the result of about ten days' illness, comes as a shock to the community where he occupied so prominent a position and enjoyed so high a degree of respect. The death may be regarded as sudden from the fact that generally few knew of his illness till the past few days and it was only yesterday that its dangerous character was generally known.

Mr. Rogers was a somewhat ardent cyclist, believing that he received benefit from the brisk exercise involved. On September 12th he wheeled to Belleville, a rather long ride, arriving about eight o'clock. Soon after his arrival he was taken ill, seized with severe abdominal pains, to which he had for some time been subject. He thought it was one of his usual attacks that would yield to the simple means he ordinarily employed. But getting no relief he consulted a physician in that city. He returned to town Monday evening and his physician was summoned and so obstinate and severe was the attack that it is said as the last hope of saving the patient's life, an operation was decided upon. The operation, which was postponed as long as possible, was performed yesterday afternoon at the Nicholls Hospital. Though no details are, of course, available, it is understood that conditions were revealed that amply accounted for the severity of the attack, and for the fatal issue of the illness that ensued.

After the operation the patient, about 7 o'clock, rallied for a time, and he himself thought he felt better, but an unfavourable change set in and death closed the scene at ten minutes after nine.

Mr. Rogers has been a resident of Peterborough about a year and a half, having come here to assume the position of manager of the Bank of Montreal on April 6th, 1896, with evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by the citizens of Deseronto, from which place he came to Peterborough. He was entertained on his departure by the leading citizens, and presented with a complimentary address and substantial emblems of the high respect he enjoyed.

Mr. Rogers had a banking experience of over twenty-five years, having first gone into the service of the Bank of Montreal at Belleville. He therefore had ample experience of the different departments of the business. He has occupied the position of manager for five and a half years, his first bank being the branch at Almonte, where he succeeded the late Mr. Budden, so well and favourably known in Peterborough. On the establishment of a branch of the bank at Deseronto Mr. Rogers was placed in the responsible position of first manager. In April of 1896 he was promoted to the position of manager of the branch at Peterborough. Wherever he was situated Mr. Rogers won high respect as an obliging and efficient manager and a public spirited citizen. He has repeated, if not bettered his record in these respects in Peterborough. In his relations to the customers of the bank he was very highly spoken of. He was a most public spirited citizen and took an active and intelligent part in movements designed to promote the business and material interests of the town. Personally he was affable and companionable and displayed qualities of character that made him very greatly respected and popular. The general expression of regret at his sad death is invariably accompanied by words of praise for his good qualities. He was a member of the congregation of St. John's church and liberal in his efforts to promote its interests. He was also largely interested in wholesome sports, cricket, curling, cycling, golf and tennis. Indeed in all the relations of life his sympathies found expression in active and energetic work for the benefit of the interests concerned. He will be greatly missed in all his late associations, and his bereaved family receive great sympathy.

Mr. Rogers leaves behind a widow (nee Miss Reid, daughter of Mr. C. N. Reid, Manager of the Merchants' Bank, Montreal) and six children, five girls and a boy, the eldest, Miss Rogers, being about 16 years of age.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 765 George street, on Thursday morning next, at 9.30 o'clock.

NEW SAW MILL.

Erected by the Rathbun Company in Ashburnham—It is a Portable Affair.

Ashburnham has another saw mill, and it rose up as suddenly as though built by magic. Where one day the ground was not even broken, the next saw the mill in full blast, turning out boards, ties, edgings, etc., as fast as the men could handle the logs.

The mill is the property of the Rathbun Company, and is a portable affair, which can be readily transferred from one point to another as required. It was brought to Peterborough a few days ago for the purpose of sawing up the logs belonging to the company which came down the Otonabee this summer.

Although only recently set up, the mill has already surrounded itself with quite a lumber yard, and although some of the methods of handling the product are quite primitive, yet it is very interesting to watch the process by which the logs are converted into sawn lumber.

The site of the mill is just on the other side of the ice house at the Ashburnham wharf, and a gang of about twenty men is employed in handling the timber, which is to be used by the local agency.

This year with splendid weather the Central Exhibition promises to be a magnificent success. Though earlier than usual, there is considerable stock on the grounds this afternoon, including a fine herd of Polled Angus cattle from London, Ont., a breed new to this section. Other herds are arriving and the show of cattle promises to be superb.

The grounds present the usual scene of activity. The great machinery exhibit of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company is being placed.

INSIDE THE BUILDING

ENDEAVOUR RE-UNION.

The Members of St. Andrew's Branch Meet After the Summer Holidays.

The members of St. Andrew's church Christian Endeavour held a re-union social last night for the purpose of getting the members again in touch with one another after the summer holidays.

Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor, occupied the chair and gave a short address. Mr. E. Maybee sang "Old Jim's Christmas Hymn," as a solo, and was followed by Mr. G. H. Williamson, who led in prayer. Miss King sang that pretty little solo, "Home at Last," in good tone, after which Mr. Williamson gave brief address.

Refreshments were next on the programme and were greatly enjoyed, as was the social hour spent at the same time.

Miss Grant and Miss Gladman rendered a brilliant piano duet and the evening was closed by a reading by Rev. J. G. Potter.

GREAT GOUGH BROS'. NEW BUSINESS HOME.

MAGNIFICENT MAMMOTH NEW STORE ON THE OLD SITE.

The Most Palatial and Largest Business House in the District—All Under one Roof—Brief Description of the Splendid new Establishment — Just Like Gough Bros.

For the fourth time in the history of Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, in Peterborough, which covers the short space of eleven years, the increasing demands of their business has necessitated the enlargement of their establishment. The last enlargement took place five years ago when a new store was added, and each one of the two was as large as most of the best stores on George street. Now another and the greatest has been made.

These two stores have been amalgamated into one gigantic emporium, covering a space of 44x150 ft., an area of 6,600 square feet on the ground floor of each of the three stories occupied by the establishment. The dividing wall of the two stores has been removed and its place supplied by a row of pillars, supporting the ornate entablature separating the two sections.

THE SOUTH COMPARTMENT

is devoted to the boot and shoe business of the firm. The extent and magnitude of this department may be inferred from the fact that the shelving contains 254 shelves, each shelf having a capacity of 27 pairs of shoes, representing accommodation for nearly 6,000 pairs of shoes. These shelves are all adjustable—according to the requirements of the trade, they can either be enlarged or made smaller. At the base of the rows of shelves is a broad ledge under which are placed 108 drawers for the commoner lines that are not cartooned or boxed. These hold from 40 to 90 pairs according to size, thus making the accommodation for shoes, over seven thousand pairs.

In addition at the rear of the store there are convenient racks for the display of knee boots for lumbermen and farmers, calf-skin riding boots, etc.

In this department there are no counters, the ledge beneath the shelving being broadened to take their place. For the convenience of customers there are five splendid settees of oak, upholstered with railway plush. Each seat is twelve feet in length and a special settee for ladies is screened apart from the common gaze.

THE CLOTHING DEPARTMENT.

The speciality of this great firm is their unrivalled stock of clothing and accessory goods. On the north side of this great duplex emporium of goods for the use of men is another 150 feet of shelving burdened with its furnishing goods and hats and caps. The front part of this department is given over to gentlemen's furnishings, underwear, ties, scarfs, collars, etc., etc. In the rear are long lines of shelving devoted to hats, caps, etc., a splendid assortment to meet every variety of purse and taste.

The shelving line on this side of this great store is broken about midway of the length by the entrance to the winding stairways that lead to the upper stories, and by the office department, which occupies an elevated platform, and is so placed as to command every part of the immense floor space of 6,600 square feet occupied by the selling department of the establishment. At this office converge three lines of a cash railway that serves the several departments. The office department is enclosed by a panelled screen in white oak, surmounted by elegant spindle work.

In connection with the office is a checking department, where all parcels of goods sold are examined and checked by the sale bills and where parcels belonging to customers, whether ladies' cloaks, parasols, baby carriages or parcels from other shops, may be left, are kept safely, and cared for at the convenience of customers. Checks are issued providing for the safe delivery to the parties entitled thereto of any parcels entrusted to the care of the ever reliable firm of Gough Bros.

THE MANUFACTURING DEPARTMENT is represented on this floor by the cutting table in the rear, where the cutting of the splendid ordered clothing for which the firm is noted, is done as well as the cutting for the special ready-made lines—extra good worsted coats and vests—which are specially well made, finished and stayed.

The ready made clothing branch of the business of Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, is the mammoth department of their trade. The immense floor space of the first floor is covered by thirty elegant tables in white oak, all piled high with superb ready to wear clothing. A small idea of the extent of the visible stock thus displayed, may be formed from the fact that each table holds holds two hundred and forty suits for men. In addition there are tables devoted to holding clothing for youths, boys and children, and other tables devoted to overcoats and odd garments. If a small army should invade Gough Bros.' half acre of clothing store, they would be able to clothe themselves, if not in uniform, with the best ready made clothing in the country.

THE SECOND FLOOR

The second of the three immense floors occupied by Gough Bros. is exclusively set apart for the reserve stock of ready-made clothing, boots and shoes, and the stock for their jobbing department.

The reporter upon enquiring what is meant by a "reserve" stock, was told to look about him, and he noticed overcoats and suits by the thousands, while the boots and shoes were piled "sky-high," and rubbers seemed to be present by the carload. This immense reserve stock feeds the sales department af it is rapidly depleted by the demands of the public, and also serves for the jobbing trade.

THE THIRD FLOOR

is the hive of the establishment. It is given over entirely to manufacturing. The perpetual hum of seven of the latest improved sewing machines is heard co-operating with a staff of skilled employees, in turning out the finest of fine ordered clothing and splendid lines of superior goods for the ready-made department.

Of course in a brief article like this it is only possible to give the merest hint of the immense clothing activities carried on under one roof, demanding the use of 19,800 square feet of floor space. Only a visit and personal inspection will give an idea of the magnificent premises and the business they represent.

The furnishing of the immense salesroom is a combination of tasteful elegance and solidity. The woodwork is all in white oak. The walls and ceilings are, where the former are exposed, covered with tasteful patterns of rich wall paper, and the cornices of the room are all decorated in pleasing harmonizing tints. Elegant lines of brass rods extend through the store for the display of goods.

THE LIGHTING.

The lighting of this mammoth establishment is particularly effective, and both day and night the premises are a scene of brightness and bustle. The light is admitted at the front through the plate glass door of the two entrances, and also three mammoth show windows, the central one being large enough for a small shop. Light pours into the rear of the store by four large plate glass windows and besides two large sky lights placed centrally and extending through the three storeys, bring down light from above.

The artificial lighting is electricity throughout. Brilliant arc lights in front of the store are beacon lights to guide the wayfarer to the mammoth store of Gough Bros. Inside on the first floor is seen the blaze of 22 combined incandescent and gas lights. The upstairs is lighted in a similar manner. The heating is accomplished by two hot air furnaces of the most modern principles and make. These are situated in the basement.

Everything is first-class; everything is complete and the great clothing firm of Gough Bros. have a home worthy of their immense business and a business worthy of their magnificent establishment. It was to-day in its enlarged form thrown open to the public with a gigantic stock in all departments ready for the public, a large and busy staff working far into the night in arranging for the visits of the public to-day and during exhibition week, when the public is especially invited to come and see one of the finest, if not finest, and largest clothing stores in Canada, and one without a rival outside of the metropolitan cities. Gough Bros.' ambition is to clothe the country, and their palatial store and their monumental stock of high grade and low price goods perfectly equip them for realizing that ambition.

Though Gough Bros. don't very much like the idea of giving credit for goods, they are quite willing to give credit to the skill that has transformed their premises in such a splendid manner as to make it one of the mercantile show places of the country and one of the sights that no visitor to town and no citizen should miss seeing.

The work of transformation was done under the supervision of Mr. James McClennan, superintendent of construction for the Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

The painting and decoration work was done by Mr. H. W. Watson.

The lighting and electric fittings were supplied and the work done by Mr. Ernest Rutherford.

The splendid settees for the boot and shoe department, upholstered with crimson railway plush and furnished with spring back, are the work of Mr. Elric White, 303 Rubidge street.

Gough Bros.' new store is in every respect—extent, style, elegance and adaptation to the needs of the trade—worthy of Peterborough and worthy of the great clothing firm. There are few larger stores on the continent, or better fitted or adapted to a great business. This new departure of Gough Bros. is not an experimeet but a necessary result of the application of honourable and well applied business principles.

Everything is new except the old reliable staff, and the welcoming faces of the firm, and the same perennial bargains in the best and cheapest clothing ever offered in Canada.

MONEY TO SQUANDER

Is squandered most deliberately by people who buy at the old-fashioned high-profit credit store. It's poor economy, of the worst kind, to keep on paying from 10 to 20 per cent. more for your Groceries and Provisions than you have any need to.

YOU CAN SAVE $45 OR $50

Just count up what it costs you a year for Groceries and Provisions, and if you're an average consumer, we will guarantee to save you $45 to $50 a year.

THE ENGINEERS' STRIKE.

Mr. William Mather's Proposal to Settle It Did Not Meet With Favor.

London, Sept. 19.—A meeting of the Employers' Federation was held Saturday, at which the plan for ending the great strike in the engineering trade proposed to the Federation and the Amalgamated Society of Engineers a few days ago by William Mather, an ex-member of Parliament and managing partner of the great Salford Iron Works, was exhaustively discussed. Mr. Mather's proposal, which, in effect, was a compromise, based upon 48 hours as a week's work, with a mutual agreement that the shifts shall work overtime, was considered most inadvisable. The employers in the London district, who had conceded the eight-hour day to their employes, withdrew this concession when they joined the Employers' Federation.

In an interview this evening the secretary of the Amalgamated Engineers spoke in a despondent manner of the outlook for a settlement of the dispute.

He said that the Employers' Federation had quietly lengthened and strengthened the chain before they scouted the proposals for a compromise made by Mr. Mather, chairman of the great Salford Iron Works.

The fight, he added, was likely to be a longer one than the men had anticipated. Ten thousand pounds weekly from outside sources was necessary to enable them to win. Seven hundred and fifty more men had been locked out, and the strike pay for a week now amounts to £21,000.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kiddeys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets CURE constipation and its attendant evils.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., for his "Medical Adviser." It is a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated.

As to Hose

It seems very queer to think of wearing white silk stockings for other than evening wear. That is what we are coming to, and whoever else objects, the laundress certainly will not. Clocks, too, are again in favor, and very pretty some of the are, pretty enough to please anybody. The designs are much more elaborate than those we used to wear, and they are to be had in white and colors on black and also in combinations of colors. Ribbed effects in black, alternated with colors and in some cases combined with embroidery, are also to be had.

In fact all the new hosiery is lovely. Scotch plaids in lisle and silk mixtures being especially attractive. Then there are some with wide silk stripes. Plain boot patterns with artistically combined colors for the uppers are also very desirable. Another of the new patterns shows medallions filled with flowers embroidered all over the stocking.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

Severe Headache Cured.

Dear Sirs,— Being troubled with a severe headache I was advised by a friend to try Laxa Liver Pills. I only used half a bottle, and have not since suffered from the complaint. They seem to be a perfect cure."

MICHAEL'S WONDERFUL RIDE.

The Little Welshman Won the Race at Boston in Marvelously Fast Time.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 18.—Jimmy Michael has right well been styled the world's champion bicycle rider, and it was no great surprise to see him win the greatest cycling event ever run on any New England track to-day. It was the International 25-mile race on Charles River Park, and was run in the fastest cycling time the world ever saw. Michael demonstrated his phenomenal power on a wheel by practically outriding his two competitors, Lucien Lesna of France and Eddie McDuffee of Cambridge. Fourteen thousand persons were present.

The big race followed a program of three events and an exhibition of a machine carrying ten riders. In the start off, the three riders caught their quads for a fast lap and Lesna took the lead, making the first mile 15 yards ahead of McDuffee, who managed to beat Michael at the tape by a few feet, the first incident to bring on the excitement which subsequently grew so vigorous. In the second mile, McDuffee gathered speed and took the second mile by 50 yards over Michael. In the third mile McDuffee had a mishap, which came in the shape of a broken chain on his sextette. This lost for him on the lap a pacemaker and he lost the lead to Michael, who finished the third mile by a quarter of a lap over McDuffee. From this time out, Michael had the lead and slowly but noticeably crept up on both Lesna and McDuffee, seemingly keeping up the same speed without a break. In the second lap of the thirteenth mile he had passed McDuffee and was keenly watching the Frenchman. Michael made his second lap on McDuffee in the fifteenth mile right at the tape. The struggle between the two men, one to catch the other and the latter to keep out of the former's way, was an exciting episode. Lesna was riding steadily a half lap ahead of McDuffee.

By the sixteenth mile everybody could see that Michael ought to catch Lesna. Round the track again and again the men rode, and in the twenty-third mile Michael had caught Lesna and was in the lead again and not the pursuer, and so the positions stood until he swept over the finishline in 45.58 1-5, a winner, leading Lesna over a third of a mile and over two-thirds of a mile ahead of McDuffee.

The records in this race are something remarkable. Up to this time Lesna has held practically all the records from three miles to 25, excepting the sixteenth and twentieth mile records, which were broken on Thursday last by Michael in his 20-mile contest against Lesna at Springfield. Every American and world's record from three to 25, inclusive, is now credited to Michael.

McDuffee used a 107-gear. Michael 108 and Lesna 103. The pacemaking outfit of McDuffee was five sextuplets, one quintuplet, one quadruplet and one triplet. The pacemaking outfit of Michael was four sextuplets, one quintuplet, four quadruplets and two triplets, and that of Lesna was three sextuplets, two quintuplets and one quadruplet. Michael had 51 men in all, McDuffee had 42 and Lesna had but 32.

KISER BEAT BALD.

New York, Sept. 18.—Eddie Bald sustained a signal defeat to-day at the Manhattan Beach bicycle track, the man who beat him being E. H. Kiser of Dayton, O. After the race Bald claimed that Kiser's wheel and pedal had touched his right foot in passing while both were sprinting for the tape, but Referee A. B. Batchelder did not entertain the complaint and awarded the race to Kiser, who had won it easily by two lengths.

BASEBALL ON SUNDAY.

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Rain delayed the game 45 minutes at intervals to-day. Two and three inches of water covered parts of the ground and made the game nothing but a farce. Tip O'Neill called the game on account of darkness in the seventh. Attendance, 3000.

TYPHOID AT DAWSON.

Sickness Caused by the Refuse From the Mining Camps on the Klondike Creeks.

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—John Sibley Webb, attorney at Washington, D.C., for the Alaska Commercial Company, has made a visit to Dawson and Klondike mining districts for the sole purpose of informing himself of the conditions of living there and Alaska generally, in order that he may speak and act understandingly when matters affecting Alaska are discussed in Congress and questions as to the feasibility of postal arrangements, schools, etc., are on the tapis.

"I have been all around the coast route, as it is called, and up to Dawson," he said. "I have visited the mining camps of Bonanza Creek and some of those on Eldorado Creek. Dawson is low and flat, and even in the height of the summer the ground is frozen half a foot below the surface and ice is encountered beneath the muck.

"The development of the creeks was followed by the washing down into the river Klondike and thence into the Yukon above Dawson of large quantities of filth and refuse. Sweeping by the very doors of the inhabitants of Dawson, it is no wonder that there should be sickness and death. In the little cemetery there there lay no less than 20 victims of typhoid fever, and now the number has, no doubt, been increased considerably. The drinking water at Dawson is very bad, and this adds to the sickness."

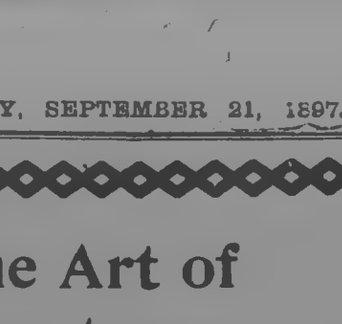
The Art of Beauty is a.... Beautiful Skin.

The art of looking one's best by beautifying and improving the complexion is not easily acquired. Close observation and good natural taste are necessary for even beauty to display itself to the greatest advantage. "Beauty, when unadorned, is adorned the most," is only true in a limited sense. Beauty must make the most of itself by bringing art to the aid of nature, and, what is far more important, must take all necessary steps to preserve it. Beauty is woman's wealth, strength and power, and the knowledge how to procure, improve and preserve it is perfectly legitimate, and should be extended.



How often has a lady to remain at home from balls, parties and concerts on account of her face being red and blotchy, caused by an irritated skin. Every lady owes it to herself to be fascinating and beautiful, and there is one way to have that soft and beautiful skin and that is by one month's treament of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT. It is acknowledged by physicians to be without peer and the only safe and reliable cure for all skin diseases.

The Most Effective Skin Beautifier In the World.

One application will prevent and cure pimples, blackheads, blotches, red, rough and oily skin. A positive cure for itching palms and shapeless nails. Dr. L. A. Smith says he always prescribes Dr. Chase's Ointment in cases of Eczema, Salt Rheum, Crusted Skin and all Itching Skin Diseases.

The Strength of Nature.

According to the ancient mythology, when Hercules wrestled with Antæus, every time he was thrown he jumped up again stronger than ever, gaining fresh power from every contact with the earth. Hercules conquered him at last only by holding him in the air away from the source of his strength, until he grew weaker and weaker and finally became exhausted.

Antæus is a perfect symbol of mankind. Nature is the real source of health and vigor. The closer we keep to Nature's laws the stronger and healthier we grow. When we get away from them we are sure to be overcome by weakness and disease.

When sickness gets hold of a man the only remedy to really cure him must be a natural remedy. It must work according to natural laws and bring him right in touch with Nature. Any unnatural stimulus or mere temporary "appetizer" does no permanent good to a person who is debilitated and "run-down."

In these conditions the most perfect, natural strength-builder is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the natural nutritive processes, and creates solid, permanent strength and vital force in the same way that Nature creates them.

It capacitates the stomach and liver to vitalize the circulation and feed the nerve-centres with pure, healthy blood. This is exactly Nature's way of curing nervous exhaustion, debility, insomnia, and neuralgia.

During the past 30 years, Dr. Pierce's medicines have become recognized standard remedies throughout the world. His "Pleasant Pellets" are a perfect and permanent cure for constipation.

Sister Eliza L. de Falcon, of Corpus Christi, Nueces Co., Texas, writes: "This is to tell you that I have been ill for twenty-one years and was finally cured by your medicines 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I was completely cured after taking the medicine."

ON TOP OF ST. ELIAS.

THE CLIMB DESCRIBED BY ONE OF THE ITALIAN PRINCE'S PARTY.

Prince Luigi Makes Two Scientific Discoveries—This Canadian Mountain Is Eighteen Thousand One Hundred Feet High.

On July 31, 1897, Prince Luigi of Savoy and party stood upon the top of the Canadian mountain, Mount St. Elias. The party had left Victoria, B.C., on April 20, and consisted of the Prince, Count Cagni, aide-de-camp of the Prince; Vitorio Sella, the eminent Italian photographer of mountain heights; Dr. Filippi Francisco Gonella, S. E. Ingraham, five Swiss guides trained in the Alps, and ten packers.

To have reached the summit of Mount St. Elias is to have accomplished as great a feat perhaps as has ever been offered to man's physical effort. Precipitous, ice-capped and forbidding, this peak stood practically untried for more than a century after Captain Cook, in 1778, first sighted its glistening point.

Exploring parties skirted its base and advanced a little above its perpetual snow line, which on the south side runs at an average height of three thousand feet above the sea, but not until late years has any proper and well equipped effort been made to climb its icy steeps and not until within this decade did any one get so far up as to justify a claim to have really made the attempt, the most successful previous expedition—that of The New York Times in 1891—having turned back when yet a mile below the summit.

Just exactly how high they had to go has always heretofore been a matter of conjecture, or, at best, approximation, the estimates of the height having had as wide a range perhaps as that of any other mountain on the globe.

Captain Cook made no observation as to its height, but La Perouse, who followed him eight years later, put it down at 12,672 feet. Malaspina, in 1791, raised it to 17,851 feet, while Tebenkof, Bach and others in the earlier part of this century, continued to lower it, until the English admiralty survey in 1872 brought it as low as 14,970 feet. In 1874 the United States Coast survey, after careful observations, determined its height at 19,500 feet, making it the highest mountain on the North American continent.

A later estimate by the Topham party (in 1888) reduced it again to 18,500 feet, while M. B. Kerr, in 1890, made it but 15,350. Professor J. C. Russell, for the National Geographical Society, in 1891, and Messrs. Turner and McGrath of the United States Coast Survey, in 1892, placed it at 18,100 feet, which has since been generally accepted by scientists and geographers.

The first attempt to ascend this mighty ice mass that accomplished anything worth mentioning was that made by the untiring and intrepid explorer Schwatka in 1886, with Prof. Silbey and Seton-Karr. They turned back at a height of 7,300 feet, well satisfied with having made the highest snow climb in the history of mountain-scaling—"a result," says Lieutenant Schwatka, "well worth the expedition."

A member of the expedition of Prince Luigi has just given the first information in detail of the perils of the trip up the precipitous and icy St. Elias, the monarch mountain of the Klondyke range. This intrepid mountain climber tells the thrilling tale of the ascent and of the celebration at the summit when the Prince of the House of Savoy planted the flag of Italy on the pinacle, 18,100 feet above the sea level, and in the biting air saluted the colors of his country floating over the peak which man never before had ascended.

The ascent was exciting, but, more than that, it has given valuable information. Two facts of prime importance to the world of science have been determined by the expedition of this spirited young Prince, who climbs the mountains for sport and makes scientific observations as an incident of his pleasure tour. One fact is that Mount St. Elias is 18,100 feet high. The altitude of this snowy peak had been in doubt until the Prince, by a mercury barometer carried to the apex, determined it almost exactly. The observations of the Prince's party make a positive record of the height, subject to a variation of not more than 30 or 40 feet.

The second scientific fact of interest is that St. Elias is not and never was a great volcano. Thus is given a negative answer to a question that has been asked by men of science for many years. About the white-headed monarch of the range is not the slightest indication of recent volcanic action. Like its neighbor crags, it shows evidence in forests, shells, sandstone, and beds of pebbles of a long rest under ocean waves before it rose to make a majestic view from the Pacific Ocean.

The party of the Prince met the party from Philadelphia, headed by H. G. Bryant, returning down the mountain side, not having reached the summit, and postponing until next year a repetition of the attempt.

The Prince was exceedingly modest in recording the geographical discoveries made by members of the expedition. He refrained from giving names to peaks hitherto unknown, and, in fact, officiated at but one christening. A new glacier, discovered from the eminence of St. Elias, making its way between Augusta Mountain and the giant Logan, and apparently taking a sinuous course, generally eastward, toward the ocean, was called by the Prince Colombo, the name of the Genoese mariner. The party had abundant opportunity to trace its records in permanent geographical nomenclature. Two very high peaks lying to the westward from St. Elias, not named nor set down upon map, were discovered, but the Prince left the honor of naming them to mountain climbers who follow in the path he has made.

On his way to the mountain the last news of the Prince came from Manby, on the northern side of the Yakuta Bay. The narrative of the trip from Manby, given out by one of the officers in his party, is as follows:

"We at once proceeded up the Malaspina Glacier to the foot of Seward Glacier, this part of the journey being simply a three-mile tramp up a glacial stream to the foot of a great moraine. The next three miles took us up to the top of the moraine, which is nothing more or less than a mass of rock at the top of the ice deposited there centuries ago. From that point to the foot of the Newton Glacier, a distance of 20 miles, the ice was covered with snow, and on account of the prevailing foggy weather we were unable to see the mountains. Running by the compass was the customary method of advance.

"Upon reaching the divide between Mount St. Elias and Mount Newton the weather conditions were altogether in our favor. The ascent of the divide, which has an altitude of 12,400 feet, was made in a single day. On the night of July 30 we pitched our three tents there. At 1 o'clock on the morning of the 31st we began the ascent of the great peak, lifting high from the range of which it is a part. The snow was light and flourry. The Alpine guide in the lead sank into the snow at least two feet at every step. For 11 hours we trudged steadily through the snow.

"At exactly five minutes before 12 o'clock noon we stood upon the highest point of the great St. Elias, the first men to stand there, the first men to look out through the clear air over a view of rugged mountain scenery grander than any Alpine prospect.

"For an hour we remained upon this summit. The cold was not excessive. The thermometer showed the temperature only 20 degrees below freezing point. Our mercurial barometer showed the height to be 18,100 feet. One hour upon the summit was occupied in planting firmly a flagstaff from which the flag of Italy was floated to the Arctic breezes. We cheered heartily the flag, Prince Luigi leading the 'Viva.' Sig. Sella took a photograph of the mountain top, the flag and the group of men.

"Then we descended, in two hours reaching the divide, the ascent from which had taken us 11 hours. Next day the party descended to camp on the glacier, and there remained two days for rest.

"From the top of the mountain two very high peaks were seen, which have not as yet been mapped or named by any explorer.

"The scenery, wild, rugged and essentially of snow and ice—was proclaimed by the entire party far to exceed in grandeur anything found in the Eastern Alps. We found no trees except on a lone place between the second camp and St. Elias.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

The morning subject was: "The vine and the branches." Scripture reading, John xv., 1-27. Text, John xv., 5:—

"I am the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit for without me ye can do nothing."

The whole tenor of Scripture teaches that humble believers are invited to Jesus Christ. This is a satisfaction to both Christ and believers. The words of the text are spoken by Christ, and have been handed down to the present. All true Christians are invited to Christ. By this union we derive spiritual life and Christian character. Without such union these are lacking. Such union gives us a title to all the blessings promised in God's word. Outwardly a vine is not attractive; the vine is also a spreading plant. So is Jesus Christ. Hence, Christ is compared to a grain of mustard seed. Planted among the hills of Judea, He has spread north, south east and west. His truth is better than gold. Christ is the root of the vine and believers are the branches. The root is unseen, yet it bears the tree and diffuses sap into it. It is all in all to the tree, for without it there could be no vitality, flourishing or fruitfulness. So Christ is all in all to the believer, for through him comes all necessary to our growth in grace. "I am the vine, ye are the branches." Here we have shown our Saviour's humility, by the humble comparison. While He calls Himself the Sun of Righteousness and the bright and morning Star, yet here He compares Himself to a humble vine. Christ was and is a fruitful plant. He has been called the plant of renown. He is the true vine, typified by Judah's vine.

Christians are said to be branches of the true vine. Hence there must be a union between the vine and the branches. In consequence we receive heavenly nourishment. We might as well expect fruit from a branch cut off, as from a Christian separated from God.

It was said of a vine, "Lo, these three years I come seeking fruit and found none." Christ came to many in the morning of life and said, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Again in the summer or noon of life He came, expecting to find fruit, but found none. Again He came a third time in the autumn of life.

Some of us have grown old. Have we grown old in the service of God? Let each ask himself this question.

Perhaps some have grown weary on the way. "Ye did run well. Who did hinder you that you did not obey the truth?"

If we abide not in Christ we are like dead branches, cut off and tied into bundles to be cast into the fire and burned. Alas! there are many church members who have a name to live, but are dead.

God cuts many a man down because he is not a fruit bearer, as men do sometimes with trees. But if we abide in Christ we shall bring forth much fruit.

This union may be compared to the union of the different parts of a building; also to the union of the head and the body. Let us all be joined to Christ, the great head of the Church.

It is also compared to the union existing between man and wife, who are no more twain, but one flesh. They are one because their interests are identical. They are equally interested in each other's character, reputation, property, etc. So, by the covenant of God's grace, believers are one in Christ. The spiritual Christ is the spiritual bridegroom of the church.

This union also implies a fraternity. "For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God." The spirit beareth witness wish our spirit that we are the children of God, and heirs also."

Let us as branches of the vine bring forth each day the fruits of good living. Let us ever and everywhere feel our dependence on God.

Fruit bearing simply means holy living; such produces an ingathering of souls. May we each so live that we may be prepared to meet the pale horse and his rider at any time. Let us each win souls for God, for "he that winneth souls is wise, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever."

This excellent and earnest discourse was listened to with close attention and seemed to make a deep impression on all who had the privilege of hearing it.

In the evening the pastor took as his subject, "Salvation for the worst." He preached an excellent sermon from the text Deut. iv, 29:

"But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou shalt seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul."

There are different degrees of joy and happiness in heaven, as well as variations of misery in hell. So it is among men on earth—some are far away from God while others are not far from the kingdom, and of some it may be said, "The kingdom of God is within them."

Our text applies even to the drunkard, of whom the Bible says, "No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God."

The one who has gone astray, despite good surroundings and godly parents, may also find encouragement in the text.

To the moralist it also brings hope.

The luke-warm professor of religion, who has lost vital religion, who has forfeited his peace of mind, may also find balm in these words of Holy Writ. So may backsliders, who are unfortunately too common.

God is also able and willing to save the dying sinner, who repents truly, even at the eleventh hour.

How to seek God. Let there be promptitude and earnestness. Seek in the appointed way. Heed not what people say, but think of what God demands. "Him that cometh unto Me, I will in no wise cast out."

It was an earnest, gospel sermon well calculated to lead sinners to the cross.

The choir sang a very suitable selection: "No one is forgotten."

The church prayer meeting will be on Wednesday evening, also at eight, and at the same hour on Friday evening.

There will be cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mr. Chas. Noyes.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery," "I like that name nothing stuck up about it," "823 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C.P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 33 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 dos pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. Free delivery in Peterborough and Ashburnham. We invite you all to call at the People's Grocery Store, where you will be well served.

ANOTHER HOT FIGHT.

The Haddah Mullah Attacked Gen. Blood's Camp

WITH A WELL ORGANIZED FORCE

The Battle Lasted Five Hours and General Woodhouse Was Severely Wounded

—Important News Regarding the Nile Expedition—A British Protectorate Arranged.

Simla, Sept. 21.—The Haddah Mullah, with a large and well-organized force of insurgent tribesmen, attacked the camp of General Sir Bindon Blood at 9 o'clock yesterday evening. Fierce fighting, which lasted five hours, followed. General Woodhouse was severely wounded.

Cavalry for India.

London, Sept. 21.—Drafts from eight regiments of cavalry have been ordered to be made ready for shipment to India.

THE NILE EXPEDITION

Will Not be Opposed by the Mahdi's Forces as Far as Khartoum.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The Figaro this morning announces that a treaty has been concluded between Slatin Pasha, representing Great Britain, and Zobeir Pasha, representing the Mahdi, by which the latter will not oppose the advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition as far as Khartoum, and Osman Digna's forces will remain at the Bara River so long as Great Britain desires.

The following are said to be the conditions upon which this treaty was signed: "The Mahdi remains King of Khartoum and Zobeir Pasha continues to exercise the functions of Governor of Darfur, under the protection of Great Britain."

Finally The Figaro asserts that the mission of James Rennell Rodd to the King of Abyssinia obtained a promise of neutrality upon the part of King Menelik by guaranteeing the western frontier of Abyssinia in the name of both Great Britain and the Mahdi.

GREEKS ARE FURIOUS.

The Political Situation at Athens Over the Peace Treaty is Very Squally.

Athens, Sept. 21.—The political situation arising out of the conditions of the peace convention is serious. M. Delyannis, former Premier and leader of the dominant party numerically in the Boule, has asserted that if the proposed scheme of foreign control should prove to imply an interference with the sovereign rights of the state, he would not hesitate to advise the Chamber to reject the treaty. The tone of the press continues indignant. The Asty and The Akropolis declare it "the most iniquitous document of modern times." Many are preparing to demonstrate against the treaty.

Ratified by the Sultan.

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—The preliminary treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece, which was signed on Saturday by the representatives of the Sultan and of the powers, has been ratified by the Sultan.

London Profoundly Moved.

London, Sept. 21.—The Evening Standard this afternoon made the following announcement:

So profoundly moved is the city about the extraordinary letter of the Governor of the Bank of England that a meeting of the representatives of all the banks in the clearing house has been called for to-morrow to discuss the situation. When the bankers meet it is to be hoped they will enter an emphatic protest against further efforts to pleases the bimetallists at the expense of the nation's credit.

Suppressing the Socialists.

London, Sept. 21.—The Times correspondent at Vienna says: Dr. Adler, leader of the Austrian socialists, and Herr Pernerstorfer, an ex-Socialist member of the Reichstag, while on their way to attend a conference of Hungarian Socialists at Buda Pest, were stopped by the police and sent back to Vienna. The affair caused much indignation among the Hungarian Socialists, who held a meeting at Buda Pest on Sunday in favor of universal suffrage, which was attended by 20,000 workingmen.

Newspapers Demand Vengeance.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The French newspapers are calling upon the Government to send immediately a punitive expedition against Chief Samory, the West African potentate, who on Aug. 24 surprised and routed a French detachment of native troops.

Spain Borrowing Still More.

London, Sept. 21.—A special from Madrid says the Spanish Government is negotiating a loan guaranteed by the port dues for the purposes of new naval works.

Opening of the Dutch Parliament.

The Hague, Sept. 21.—The States General, or Parliament of the Netherlands, was opened to-day by the Queen Regent. The latter was accompanied by Queen Wilhelmina, who was present for the first time at this ceremony. In the Speech from the Throne the Queen Regent expressed the hope that before the end of the Parliamentary session of 1898 Queen Wilhelmina will have commenced to reign.

Paris Was Loaded Up.

London, Sept. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon, commenting on the fall of three-quarters in Spanish fours on heavy sales for Continental account, says:

The bonds were absurdly high owing to the support of Paris, which was loaded up, but probably the conditions will be changed by the action of the United States in regard to Cuba. Spain evidently cannot wage war with America, but the cession of the independence of Cuba may lead to disasters at Madrid, and if Spain defaults the French financiers will be hit very badly.

THE TWO EMPERORS

Had a Demonstrative Love Feast at Budapest and Parted With Kisses.

Budapest, Sept. 21.—At the state banquet, given to-day in honor of Emperor William of Germany, Emperor Francis Joseph, in cordially proposing His Majesty's health, referred to him as "my faithful friend, ally and unwearied fellow-laborer in the great work of peace, to which may we ever devote our best powers."

In conclusion, the Austrian Emperor remarked: "Convinced that a similarity of sentiment guides us in this exalted mission, I empty my glass in your honor."

Emperor William, in reply, remarked: "It was with feelings of the most profound gratitude that I listened to your Majesty's most cordial greeting. Thanks to your Majesty's invitation I have been enabled to visit this beautiful city, whose splendid reception has literally overwhelmed me. We Germans follow with sympathetic interest the history of the Hungarian people, whose love for their country has become a proverb, and who in their struggles have not hesitated to sacrifice their blood and goods in defence of the cross. Names like Zrinyi and Szigoeth to this day make the heart of every German lad beat faster with sympathetic admiration. We have followed the celebration of the one thousandth birthday of the loyal Hungarians, arrayed in dazzling splendor about their beloved king. Their majestic monuments testify to their artistic sense, while the bursting of the fetters laid by the iron gates on commerce and intercourse opened new paths and brought Hungary into the rank and on an equal footing with the greatest civilized nations.

"But what has made the deepest impression upon me during my stay in Hungary is the enthusiastic devotion of the Hungarians to your Majesty's august person. Not alone here, however, but in Europe, and, above all, with my own people, the same fervent enthusiasm prevails for your Majesty, a feeling in which I also, who look upon your Majesty as being my paternal friend, venture to claim a share.

"Thanks to the wisdom of your Majesty, our alliance, concluded in the past by our peoples, stands firm and indissoluble. It has secured peace to Europe for a long time, and will do so still longer.

"The impassioned devotion to your Majesty, of this I am certain, burns to this day in the hearts of the sons of Arpad, as it did the day when they cried aloud to your Majesty's ancestress: 'Mordamur pro rege nostro.'

"In giving expression to these sentiments we wish, one and all, to combine all we think, feel and desire for your Majesty, in the cry which every Hungarian echoes to his last breath: 'Eljen a kiraly.'"

The speech of Emperor William caused tremendous enthusiasm, especially when he alluded to Count Zrinyi's defence of the Fortress of Szigoeth in 1566, when he blew up the citadels rather than capitulate to the Turks.

After the banquet Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph attended a gala performance at the opera, following which they inspected the street illuminations. They then drove to the railway station, where the German Emperor bade farewell to his imperial host, and took his departure, after mutual kissing and amid loud cheering.

King Oscar's Jubilee.

Stockholm, Sept. 21.—King Oscar II., who is now celebrating the 25th anniversary of his accession to the throne, gave a jubilee reception to-day to the diplomatic representatives of Sweden and Norway abroad, most of whom are now in the capital.

In the course of a brief reception speech, he said: "The policy of the United Kingdoms must aim at impartial neutrality and the maintenance of friendly relations with all foreign nations. This policy is based upon the wishes of both my peoples."

CUBAN "PATRIOTS" LANDED.

They Were From the United States and Eluded the Spanish Authorities.

New York, Sept. 21.—The Journal and Advertiser prints the following: The Cuban Junta has received authentic advices of the safe landing on different parts of Cuba of three big expeditions between the 1st and 12th of the present month. They were the most important that had been despatched since last winter, and great joy prevailed at the headquarters of the Junta when the news arrived that they had eluded the Spanish, who were believed at one time to have been on their track.

The three ships carried a large quantity of dynamite and other munitions of war, together with an immense supply of medicines for the army of the patriots. In all there were over 40 men on board, going either to join the Cuban army for the first time or returning to the ranks. There were two doctors and two dentists among the party.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Against Sheriff Martin and a Number of Deputies

FOR SHOOTING STRIKING MINERS

The Officers are Committed for Trial and Had to Furnish Bail of Four Thousand Dollars Each, Which Was Promptly Put Up Miners are Resuming Works.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 21. Sheriff James Martin and about forty of his deputies were arraigned in court this morning, charged with the murder of 24 striking miners, at Lattimer, on Sept. 10. After the deputies and witnesses had been admitted the court ordered the doors to be closed. There was a great crowd on the outside clamoring for admission.

After the testimony of three witnesses had been taken, Judges Lynch and Bennett held a long consultation and decided to hold the sheriff and his deputies in $4000 each for trial. Bail was promptly furnished, and the defendants returned to their homes in Hazleton this afternoon.

More Miners Have Gone to Work.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 21. Additional miners returned to work this morning at several of the collieries and there was no further break in the ranks. Out of nearly 10,000 miners, about 3000 still remain idle and they are fast flocking to work.

The Harwood mines of the Pardee Company resumed this morning, and shortly afterwards there was a call for troops. General Gobin sent a squadron of cavalry to the scene, but up to 11 o'clock no additional details of the trouble had been received. In all other districts quiet prevails. The 78 deputies arrested yesterday were taken to Wilkes-Barre this morning for a hearing. A company of the 9th Regiment escorted them.

STRIKE ENDED YESTERDAY.

President Ratchford Says Everything Will Go Smoothly Till the Year Ends.

Washington, Sept. 21.—M. D. Ratchford, President of the United Mine Workers of America, who is here to attend a special meeting of the officers of the Federation of Labor, says: "To-day will see about 75,000 miners resume work in the bituminous coal fields of the Central States. The strike generally ends to-day. This is the middle of the twelfth week of its duration. It was brought to a close at our convention, held at Columbus, Ohio, on the 8th to the 11th of the present month, the ten days' time being given to allow miners and operators to come together in Illinois and West Virginia, to meet the prices fixed, 65 cents a ton in Pittsburg, 56 cents in Ohio and Indiana, the same to continue till the end of December. The mining situation is not likely to become disturbed again until the beginning of next year, at which time we hope to be able to settle wage differences amicably without the necessity of a strike. It is well understood that the fight will continue from the present time in all fields and against all operators who refuse to meet the rates. The greatest trouble will be in West Virginia and a portion of Illinois. I am still hopeful, however, that the producers in these fields will conform to the change and put their mines in operation. Failing to do this, we will fight them as we have done until the beginning of next year, at which time it is said their present contracts will expire."

A POINT AGAINST LUETGERT.

The Attention of the Sausage Maker to Other Women Was the Cause of the Trouble With His Wife.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The prosecution scored an important point in the Luetgert case this morning. Judge Tuthill ruled that the motive evidence of Frank Bialk and Frank Odorofski, former employes of the big sausage maker, was admissible so long as it was direct. It was the theory of the state that Luetgert's alleged attentions to other women were the original cause of the trouble with his wife. Frank Bialk, the aged watchman at the sausage factory, was the first witness called this morning to show the motive. He said that Mary Simmering paid frequent visits to Luetgert in the latter's office in the sausage factory at night. The last time the witness remembered seeing Mary Simmering there was one week before May 1, the date of the disappearance of Mrs. Luetgert. It was 9.30 o'clock in the evening.

The witness said that Mary Simmering visited Luetgert an average of three nights each week for months before Mrs. Luetgert's disappearance. This had been going on for three or four years before May of the present year.

Attorney Vincent asked witness if he had not been constantly with Detective Kluger since a month before the trial opened. The witness said he had. Then the lawyer wanted to know if he was not telling a story which had been prepared for him by the prosecution.

The old man shook his head slowly and replied: "No; I am telling God's truth."

Frank Odorofski testified to substantiate the same story.

The prosecution closed its evidence with the testimony of Bialk and Odorofski and the battle of the defence began with the opening statement by Luetgert's attorney. The defence will introduce evidence in an attempt to show that Mrs. Luetgert is alive and in Germany.

It required just twenty days for the presentation of the evidence of the prosecution. Ex-Judge Vincent said to-night that the defence would present its side of the case in just half that time. "My address to the jury in opening will be short and directly to the point," he said. "We deny the murder—the corpus delecti has not been proved as the law requires, and this fact cannot be assumed nor inferred from such testimony as has been presented here."

Ohio Miners Started Up.

Bellaire, Ohio, Sept. 20.—All the large coal mines located on the Baltimore and Ohio, Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling, Peddling Banks, in Belmont County, were started this morning, operators paying the 65-cent rate.

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. WENDESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1897.

CANADA'S GREAT CHEESE EXPORTS.

NEARLY A QUARTER OF A MILLION BOXES ABOVE 1896.

And Still Increasing—It Will be a Record Year—There is Now Just a Chance of Lower Prices in the Future.

(Montreal Herald.)

Comparative dullness still exists in the cheese markets here, but the movement to the other side shows a falling off.

During the past week over 64,500 boxes of cheese went forward to the various European ports, and this is compared with a shipment of only 50,050 boxes for the corresponding week last year. This places the total shipment since the opening of navigation very nearly 300,000 boxes ahead of last year. This places the total shipment since the opening of navigation very nearly 300,000 boxes ahead of last year.

Actual figures show the full movement of cheese this year to have been 1,351,981 boxes, which in comparison with former years is something enormous, and is even surprising to the cheese trade itself. As is quite evident John Bull has sent out an active demand for Canadian cheese right along and has so far been compelled to pay a higher price than he advanced to 1896. The result has been that a large amount of additional money has been distributed throughout the cheese making districts, and to-day the industry is in a healthier state than ever before.

It has been pointed out in some quarters that the price of cheese to-day is unnaturally high and that a reaction may set in. But even if it does the factory-men still have the knowledge that they have received top prices for the bulk of their make, and that after all, on the remaining cheese there is little probability of the price going below a paying level. Here is what a leading importer writes from London:—"The market for Canadian cheese still continues firm and the reaction expected a month ago has not yet appeared. The belief is prevalent in the United States and Canada that present prices will be maintained, but this is a very optomistic opinion. The views of experienced tradesmen in this country tend to the opposite direction, and the large make is pointed to as a proof that the supply is in excess of the demand, and that in consequence prices must soon assume a lowering tendency. The spot prices for Canadian to-day are 45s to 46s per cwt. with exceptional cool fine keeping lots at 47s. A small parcel of about 70 tons of New Zealand cheese is due to arrive about the end of October."

Of the movement of cheese from Montreal during the past week the following figures give the full details:

Shipments to date			1,351,981
Shipments to date last year			1,068,172

As shown in the foregoing, shipments are nearly a quarter of a million boxes ahead of last year, and the belief is that there will be a still further gain when navigation comes to a close and the full returns are reckoned up. There is yet a large quantity of cheese in Montreal to go forward, and many cold storage places in the country are likewise well filled.

MILLBROOK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A case that is exciting more than ordinary interest among the people of this vicinity is now being fought out in the courts in which Mrs. Thomas Kingsman is suing her husband for alimony.

The plaintiff is about sixty years of age and resides in the township of Manvers. She was previously married to one Jeffery Marion, who died about four years prior to her marriage with Kingsman.

Mrs. Kinsman during her first husband's time managed the affairs of the farm, which consists of about 200 acres, and continues to do so with the assistance of several of her sons. The land is now heavily encumbered and would not sell for the amount there is against it.

The defendant is a man of about seventy-seven years of age and has been a neighbour of the plaintiff for over forty years. His farm, which consists of two hundred and and fifty acres, is in the township of Cavan, just across the boundary road between the two townships from the farm of the plaintiff.

Mr. Kinsman's first wife died about one year prior to his second marriage. He was then, and is at present time, in good financial circumstances.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Kinsman's first wife these two old neighbours began to make love to each other and not a little sensation was caused when the date of the marriage ceremony was announced. The neighbours for miles around were invited. The Millbrook Citizens' band was engaged, and a grand night was spent, when, on October 7th, 1894, the Rev. Mr. Allen tied the nuptial knot.

It was not long, however, until signs of discord began to exist and Mrs. Kinsman left the home of the defendant and returned to her home in the good old township of Manvers. She claims that her husband has a violent temper, addicted to the use of strong drink and is a dangerous man to live with. The defendant claims that his wife is the one who was addicted to the use of strong drink, but that he is now and always was willing to keep her if she will come and live with him. Kinsman immediately engaged a housekeeper and reckoned on living the rest of his days in in quietness, little thinking that he would be molested by solicitors and bailiffs and figure in the court at Osgoode Hall.

The motion for interim alimony came up for hearing before Judge Weller in Peterborough on Sept. 7th, when the case was dismissed. A. A. Smith appeared for the plaintiff and R. Ruddy for the defendant. The plaintiff's solicitor then appealed the case to Osgoode Hall, Toronto, when the case was again dismissed, but fifty dollars was allowed the plaintiff for disbursements, witness fees, etc., for the trial for alimony which comes up for hearing in November.

Millbrook was thrown into deep mourning on Thursday last when the news of the sad death of Miss Kathleen Collins reached town. The deceased was the second daughter of Mr. G. B. Collins, banker, of this place, and was only in her sixteenth year. Only three weeks ago she left on a visit to the home of the Rev. J. H. Harris, of Brooklin, Ontario county, and was shortly afterwards stricken down with spinal meningites. Despite all the aid of medical skill she passed away Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body was conveyed home on the 9.20 train the same evening. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon from the family residence, King street, to St. Thomas church, where a very impressive service was held, and thence to the Front church cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Bruce Whyte, Fred Leach, Ernie Clarry, Erland Armstrong, Edgar Burnham and Charlie Walch. A pretty wreath bearing the name Kathleen, was sent by the public school scholars. Beautiful wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Harris, town, Mrs. (Rev.) Harris, Brooklin, the Sunday school children, and many others were also sent. Mr. and Mrs. Collins and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

The Wilson wheat-steallog case, which was thrown out by the Grand Jury at the Quarterly Sessions at Cobourg last June, has again been brought up, and this time a true bill has been found against John Wilson, sr., and John Thomas Wilson.

Mr. Horace Pemberton, of Halifax, formerly of Millbrook, and who has been spending a few weeks here, left on Friday last for home.

Mr. H. A. Ward of Port Hope, was in town on Saturday.

Mr. Thos. Ross of Port Hope, wheeled out to Millbrook on Saturday night, and spent Sunday in town.

The annual fall show of the East Durham and Cavan Agricultural Society will be held Sept. 30th and Oct. 1st here, and judging from the preparations that are being made it will likely be a record-breaker. The track is in excellent shape for speeding in the ring and good prizes are being offered. On the evening of the second day a grand concert will be given under the auspices of the societies.

Miss Nellie McKee of Peterborough is in town, the guest of Mrs. H. McCartney.

Messrs. T. G. Kells and A. Wood, of the banking firm of Wood & Kells, left last night on a business trip to the Northwest.

Messrs. Horace Wood, Fred Leach and Bert Nugent, are attending Port Hope High School.

Mr. Fred Tully of Peterborough, wheeled out to Millbrook on Sunday.

Miss Ethel Martin of Toronto, is in town visiting her sister, Mrs. John Allen.

The annual flower service of the Methodist Sunday school will be held on Sunday next.

Dear Sir,—Constipation for years has been my chief ailment; it seemed to come oftener in spite of all I could do. However, some time ago I was told to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have done, with the result of what appears now to be a perfect cure.—Truly yours,

J. Harris.

"THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (60 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. You get the song and the book for 25c. MUNYON

TALKS ON

Dyspepsia.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter rising from the stomach, heartburn, wind on the stomach, constipation, dizziness, falatness and lost energy.

When these symptoms are associated with biliousness, yellow-coated toogue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and sallow skin take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure, an hour apart. Where there is obstinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If there is great nervousness or inability to sleep, alternate Munyon's Nerve Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

A separate specific for each disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street, Toronto, answered with free medical adice for any disease.

KINGSTON NOTES.

Death of W. H. Perry Vanluven's Heavy Defalcations—Cooper at Work in the Penitentiary Kitchen.

Kingston, Sept. 21.—William H. Perry of Violet died at the residence of his son, J. R. Perry, John-street, on Monday, aged 86 years. Deceased had been quite active until about a month ago, when he had a fall. He was father of Major A. B. Perry of the Northwest Mounted Police, at present lying ill of inflammation at the home of his wife's relatives at Lachute, Que.

The water in the harbor is now at zero mark, having receded three inches since the 8th inst. It is still very high as compared with last season.

The deficiency said to be found in the books of the missing County Treasurer Vanluven reaches $27,000. It is also said that if the county seeks to recover the amount of the sureties' bonds the matter will be contested. The sureties hold that the acceptance yearly of the auditor's statements relieves them of responsibility.

J. Reginald Hooper, transferred from St. Vincent de Paul Prison to the Penitentiary here, is working in the kitchen. He is in good health, looks fairly stout and is very much pleased at his transference. He is strongly of the opinion that the new evidence that can be presented in his case will prove his innocence, and he is hoping that the Minister of Justice will grant his request for a new trial.

Providence Thanked

It is with pleasure that I recommend B. B. B. for the cure of indigestion and impure blood. I had tried many medicines but received no benefit until, I thank Providence, I was advised to use B. B. B., and it was with perfect success.

AT LAST HERE IT IS.

Attorney-General McKenna's Decision re Clause 22.

THE BONDING PRIVILEGE STANDS

Goods From China and Japan Can Go Through on Canadian Railroads Without Paying That Extra 10 Per Cent. Duty British Vessels Also Escape It.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Attorney-General McKenna to-day announced his opinion in the matter of section 22 of the new tariff law. He holds in effect that goods coming directly into the United States from foreign countries through Canadian ports are not subject to the discriminating duty of 10 per cent.; he also holds that foreign goods shipped from countries other than British possessions in British vessels are not subject to the discriminating duty.

Two questions were asked the Attorney-General, the first of which was, in effect, whether the discriminating duty of 10 per cent. provided for in section 22 should be assessed against an invoice of tea from China which had arrived at Vancouver in British vessels and thence shipped through Canada to Chicago. The second question was whether the discriminating duty should be assessed against a cargo of manganese ore from Chili, which recently arrived in a British ship at Philadelphia.

Both these questions the Attorney-General answers in the negative.

The last Cabinet meeting before the President's departure was held to-day. Secretary Alger said after Cabinet adjourned that no steps would be taken looking to the relief of the miners in the Klondike until after navigation closes and that the Government learned through Capt. Ray, who is at St. Michael, the exact situation.

FEARFUL CRUELTY CHARGED.

A Little Girl in Ottawa Claims That Her Stepmother Abused Her Shamefully—The Hull Fire

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—A little girl is in the city jail to-day, waiting to be examined as to her sanity. She was committed for examination by Magistrate O'Gara, and since going to jail she has told a story which has led to a charge of cruelty being laid in the Police Court by the Children's Aid Society against the child's step-mother, Mrs. Jennie Annable. The matter was brought to the notice of the society's solicitor, Mr. F. B. Latchford, by the child's uncle, Mr. James Annable of 80 Queen-street west. The girl, Elizabeth Annable, says her step-mother, Mrs. Jennie Annable, on March 17 last threw her down stairs, and that on other occasions she was caught by the hair of the head and pushed with great force against the wall. She says that while being bathed by her step-mother her head was held under the cold water until she was nearly smothered, and that when she cried her step-mother forced rags into her throat to cause her to keep quiet, and that the rags cut her throat and caused blood to flow.

Acting upon the child's statement, Mr. James Annable, the child's uncle, has sworn out an information against the child's step-mother. Mrs. Annable denies the charge, as does also her husband, the latter adding that his brother made the charge through spite against him.

There was another meeting of the Cabinet to-day, when departmental business was under discussion.

Taylor McVaity, the well-known barrister, was quietly united in marriage on Saturday evening last with Miss Nettie Marguerite Young of Picton. The ceremony was performed at Grace Church by Rev. Mr. German, and was a private one.

The insurance carried by the Hull Lumber Company will not cover the loss. The loss, which is estimated at $100,000, is covered by $75,000 insurance. These risks are principally carried by English companies. Among those enlisted are the Phoenix, Union, Atlas, Liverpool, London and Globe, Royal, North British and Mercantile, Aetna, Lancashire, Manchester and others. Mr. Charles Reid, one of the members of the firm, was not in a position to say what the firm would do in the future. Until there is a meeting of the shareholders nothing will be decided.

ATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE

Is Causing a Good Deal of Discussion in Shipping Circles at Montreal These Days.

Montreal, Sept. 21.—The fate of the Atlantic mail service is causing considerable discussion in shipping circles. The present contracts with the Allan and Dominion Lines expire at the end of St. Lawrence River navigation, and up to date no information has been received by the managers of these lines as to whether the Government will renew their contracts or not. Some time ago, however, the Government intimated that the mail contract service would not be given to any line which would not make a Canadian port their terminus, or, rather, call at St. John, N.B., to load their freight. The manager of the Dominion Line agency states that if the renewal of their contract necessitates their ships calling at the port of St. John they do not want the contract. The Beaver Line will run to St. John in any case, in connection with the C. P. R., and it is expected that the contract will be offered this line in case it is not renewed with the present holders. So far, however, the manager of the line has not been communicated with regarding the matter. This winter there will be sailing from St. John a weekly service to Liverpool and to London, a ten-day one to Glasgow, and a fortnightly one to Aberdeen and Eastcoat, Scotland, as well as to Belfast and Dublin, and the C. P. R. reports that the outlook for exports through St. John are better this year than ever before, a large movement, which is expected to continue throughout the winter, having already commenced.

THREW HERSELF INTO NIAGARA.

Mrs. Elizabeth McRoberts of Buffalo Evidently Became Unbalanced in Mind Through Illness.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth McRoberts, 65 years of age, threw herself into the Niagara River, just above the Falls, this afternoon. Her body passed over the Falls a moment later. Mrs. McRoberts left her home in Buffalo at noon to-day, telling her son that she was going out of town on business. She evidently took a trolley car direct to the Falls, and shortly after her arrival threw herself over. She has been in ill-health for some time, and this probably unbalanced her mind.

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad Who Had been Dropsical From His Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Remedy That Never Failed.

McIntyre, Ont., Sept. 20.—The young son of Hugh Lamont, of this place, has been afflicted with dropsy since infancy. He was bloated and swollen all over. His parents were at their wits' end to find some cure for him when they read of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished he was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old, the pills will effect a cure of any kidney disease, or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.

Deceased leaves a son, Patrick, who resides out of Peterborough, a daughter, Mrs. Johnston, who has resided with her mother at the homestead, and a husband to mourn her loss. The late Mrs. Hickey has resided on Elm street for over forty years, and has been a resident of Peterborough over fifty years. "The New Wing."

The humorous farce comedy—"The New Wing," by Arthur H. Kennedy, will be produced in Peterborough for the first time at the Opera House, Monday evening, Sept. 27th, after a successful run of three hundred nights at the Strand Theatre, London. This comedy derives its name from "The New Wing" of a house being renovated. The vein of humour which runs through the play keeps the audience in a constant roar of laughter. New scenery has been especially painted by John Young, scenic artist at the Broadway Theatre, New York, and the play will be presented by an excellent company of comedians, each one especially engaged for their respective parts. There are several very clever specialties introduced in the play. Both Montreal and Ottawa press are very loud in their praise for both company and play.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Splendid Display of Live Stock.

OPENING CEREMONIES PERFORMED.

Bad Weather Spoils the Attendance - An Exhibit Worthy of Great Patronage—The Show Now in Full Swing.

The weather did it. That is prevented the Peterborough Central Exhibition from being the greatest and best exhibition of the series.

The entries made yesterday, and the large numbers of stock placed in the stables, in addition to those that were brought to the grounds to-day subsequently laid the foundation of a great show, but the unfortunate rain of last night, that continued well into the morning, decreased the entries by the thousands, and necessarily militated against the success of the exhibition.

The exhibit of live stock was, as stated elsewhere, the greatest in the history of the society, and the directors and officials were put to great straits to accommodate the host of animals that demanded space.

The attendance this morning, in spite of the weather, was large, and the visitors were well rewarded for their presence. A visit to the stock pens and poultry coops amply repaid the exertion conjoined with the various other attractions.

This afternoon the attendance was very large, as the weather had become fine.

THE OPENING CEREMONY.

At two o'clock the President and several prominent gentlemen ascended the platform, and Mr. Elliott, president, expressed the regret of the society that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would not be present to open the exhibition, being prevented by public business. However, local gentlemen had kindly consented to assist at the ceremony, and he had great pleasure in calling upon Mr. James Kendry, M.P.:

Mr. Kendry, after a few preliminary remarks, expressing his pleasure and interest in being present, congratulated the directors on the fact that the exhibition was one of the best ever held under the auspices of the society, the exhibition of stock being unusually excellent. Mr. Kendry concluded his brief remarks by reiterating the expression of the pleasure he felt by being able to assist the society in the laudable work of building up and helping the agricultural interests of the farming community. He hoped they would have a successful exhibition and that the visitors would have a pleasant visit on the grounds. (Cheers.)

MR. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P.,

in coming forward was received with very hearty applause. He very cordially expressed his high appreciation of the honour of being asked to assist in the opening ceremonies of the exhibition. The honour, he said, was only equalled by the pleasure in doing his share in promoting the success of the Exhibition. He referred to the embarassment he felt in being called upon to take the place of the distinguished gentlemen who had been expected to open the exhibition. Mr. Stratton then referred in general terms of eulogy to the great triumphs won by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a Canadian, for Canadians during his visit to England—a visit which had resulted in more closely uniting the bonds that connected this country with the Mother country, and inaugurated a new phase of our national existence, and introduceded a new era of prosperity for this great country, and advertised its immense resources to the world of Europe to an extent unparalleled in our history. He explained how Sir Wilfrid had promised nearly a year ago to open the exhibition—if his public duties would permit, but on his return he had found such a pressure of business awaiting him, that he found it simply impossible to visit Ontario for such a purpose. A bountiful harvest and advanced prices for all kinds of farm produce, had stimulated the pulse of business to a healty prosperity—and the best hope of future prosperity lay in the added prosperity of the farmer, for when the farmer was prosperous he gave the cue to all other forms of prosperity. Such exhibitions as the present were to be regarded as one great cause of the success of the farmer. As a cheese producing country Canada stood unrivalled in the world, the success of this industry, that meant so much to the farmer, was remarkable, and never so much as at the present time. The exports of cheese at this date was a quarter of a million boxes, or fifteen million pounds in excess of the export at the same date last year. Canada's cheese superiority was due to the intelligence and enterprise of the farmer, assisted by such exhibitions as the present and to the encouragement of both the Ontario and Dominion Governments. Referring to the magnitude of the industry, the speaker inquired what would have been the fate of the farmer the past few years but for the help the cheese industry brought. When the bottom fell out of grain raising, Peterborough stood at the head of the cheese districts of the province and her Cheese Board set the price for the province. The result was to be largely credited to agricultural exhibits which had created a rivalry in the breeding of good stock and had led to the condition of there being perhaps not a herd in the country, that had not been vastly improved through the result of agricultural exhibitions, till we now boast with justice of being the finest dairying district in the province, with the further boast that the farmers have been kept on their feet, by the dairying operations of the past ten or a dozen years. The farmers were urged to stand shoulder to shoulder in keeping up the standard, and he also urged upon the business men of the town the importance of co-operating with the farmers, for if it were not for the patronage of the farmers the business men of the town would have to shut up shop. The interests of both were so interlocked that what helped one helped the other, and vice versa. In conclusion Mr. Stratton congratulated the directors upon the promising success of the present exhibition and in their name declared the Central Exhibition of 1897 duly and formally opened.

PRESENTATION OF DIPLOMAS.

The president, Mr. Elliott, then announced that His Worship Mayor Yelland would present to Masters Percy Graham and Harold Lovekin, for acts of bravery in rescuing a playmate from drowning on August 2nd, 1897, the diplomas of the Royal Humane Society. The mayor said that he had been requested to present the diplomas to the lads in the most public place possible. In making the presentation Mayor Yelland said:—

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen. It is my pleasant duty at this time to present testimonials for bravery to two boys who are residents of our town, Percy Graham and Harold Lovekin. Courage is one of those high qualitities of character that everyone admires, and when bravery is displayed and life is risked in order to benefit another, it is right that such heroic conduct should be recognized. We have in Canada a society organized for this purpose, the Royal Canadian Humane Association, of which the Earl of Aberdeen, the Governor General of Canada, is Patron, and the Association has forwarded two testimonials inscribed on parchment to be presented to these young men. They are certainly entitled to this honour, for they risked their own lives—and nearly lost them—to rescue another. On August 2nd last Arthur Boucher, a boy nine years of age, and who was unable to swim, got into deep water below the Dickson Company's dam on the river, where the current is very strong. Percy Grsham, one of the brave boys here, sprang to the rescue and rescued the drowning lad, but the effort to bring him out of the water was too much for him, although he tried bravely, and they were about to be swallowed up in the foaming waters, when the second brave lad, Harold Lovekin, plunged in. He reached the struggling lads and the fight was now for three young lives. After a hard struggle they succeeded and reached the shore, and all were safe. In this act the two boys showed heroic courage, combined with promptitude in action, and by the exercise of these high qualities saved their young companion from death by drowning. We all recognize, we all applaud their bravery, and I am pleased to act for the Humane Association in thus publicly calling attention to their heroic conduct and in presenting them with these testimonials. Such boys as these will be brave men, and so long as Canada has such boys growing up to be her men, she has no cause to fear for the future.

Mayor Yelland then presented the diplomas amidst very hearty applause.

Speaking in reference to the Fair, he believed it would yet be a success. He thought that Peterborough could be as great an exhibition as Ottawa or Toronto, that is if all the interests concerned united. (Cheers.)

At the conclusion of the opening ceremonies the great baby show, under the auspices of Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, for those splendid prizes offered by the firm, took place, the details of which will be given hereafter. The speeding events and the judging also offered great attractions. Merry-go-rounds, fakirs, exhibits of machinery, etc., with the white tents of vendors of various fair ground commodities, with the moving crowd imparted a very animated appearance to the grounds.

THE INSIDE EXHIBITS.

The inside exhibit was to some extent differently arranged this year. On entering the eastern main doors the usual annual display of cut flowers that at other times graced the second floor appeared as the first and most attractive feature of the view. There was a large exhibit in these classes, the chief exhibitors being Mr. James Head and Mr. Guy Allen. A space of about 300 square feet was covered by a pyramidal staging which was a literal blaze of blooming flowers and potted plants of great variety, the entire exhibit being a very fine one, especially in consideration of the season being so far advanced.

The cheese and dairy products were well represented, cheese especially making a better showing than last year. The quantity was not only larger but the quality was excellent, and the judge said that it was extremely difficult to distinguish between the quality of the cheese which took second and third prizes respectively. There was no firkin butter shown but the other varieties were quite up to the high standard of quality.

In grain there was not as large a showing as last year, but the samples shown were excellent.

There was a brave showing of roots and vegetables, the unusual growth of the son expressing itself in a mammoth aggregation of roots and vegetables, many of them of enormous size. In fact the supply seemed to unduly crowd the alloted space to a degree that failed to give a correct impression of the extent of the exhibit. There was also a splendid showing of tomatoes of fine quality, and also an appetizing exhibit of home-made bread, honey, pickles, preserves, etc. Opposite this was a display of waterproof and leather belting on exhibition.

The compartment to the left of the entrance was devoted very largely to the fine arts, but a considerable portion of the exhibits in this class were hung on the second floor, an arrangement that added no little to the difficulties of judging by making easy comparison impossible.

This year is marked by an unusual activity in commercial exhibits.

Mr. H. S. McDonald has quite a prettily arranged trophy of the "Quick Cure" Remedy.

Gough Bros. occupy the same old stand with an elaborate display of ready-made clothing in charge of Mr. William Merrill.

Oak Hall had also a large display of their goods.

Grafton & Co also made a large display of their ready-made clothing.

Mr. F. Kutabash had a display of fancy goods, wall papers, etc.

There was a small display of fruit in sympathy with the prevailing scarcity of, especially, the apple crop. The quantity was far short of an apple exhibit, such as under normal conditions this district should produce. A small show of grapes was made, and Mr. Robert Fife exhibited quite a creditable collection of pears.

Mr. Edward Kloome had a large and well assorted collection of taxidermy, sea and other shells, etc.

In the upstairs department was also a considerable display of the exhibits in plain and ornamental penmanship, a flourishing exhibit of fancy penmanship by Mr. R. J. Hartley, pencil drawing, crayon work, and painting on china silk and bolting cloth, and a few of the large display of oil paintings made.

The domestic manufactures were very meagrely represented. This circumstance doubtless emphasizes the tendency of the age to depart from the primitive style of living, when almost every household was independent of outside assistance in supplying its domestic wants, and when a spinning wheel and loom were as necessary equipments for a family as a wash tub.

There was not a very elaborate display of ladies' fancy work. Some of it was exceedingly tasteful and artistic, while others were—well!—otherwise.

A feature of the fine art exhibit was the large number of exhibitors and the large number of pictures shown by many of them, some of the work was in both oils and water colours and were of unusual merit, and gave a decidedly artistic tone to the exhibition. Some of the water colours were both ambitious in scheme and creditably worked out.

Of course it is not practicable to review in detail the several exhibits. The exhibitors chiefly conspicuous: Mrs. J. R. Heard, was a large exhibitor in oils, Miss Ella Fraser, of Kingston, exhibited portraits, landscapes, animals, as well as painting on silk and satin. Miss Priscilla Mitchell had a comprehensive exhibit of oil subjects. Mrs. R. Hounsell exhibited in oils, pen and ink drawing and penmanship. Eva Bell-Smith, of Toronto, hung a portrait landscape, etc., in oils. Mrs. W. J. Cox showed paintings on satin, plush and bolting cloth. Other exhibitors were: Miss Flora C. Powell, Norwood, with a very large collection; Miss Julia Burns, Mrs. H. W. Morgan, Mrs. A. C. Wise, Jas. Moore, Miss Carrie E. Payne and Hollie VanEvery, Mr. C. D. Mathias and Miss Lilian Cassidy, with each a long list; Miss Annie Simons; Miss Lillie Davidson, Miss Stella Schneider and Mr. Geo. Schneider.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT.

The exhibits in the live stock class were of unusual interest, the number of entries being very large, and the show exceptionally large and excellent especially in horned cattle and poultry.

HORSES.

The display in this class was fully equal to that of last year—which means a great deal.

The principal exhibitors in the roadster class were Geo Cockburn, one year filly; R S Staples one-year filly; Peter Drummond, a two-year and one year filly; W J Tully, two year colt; S Matchett, brood mare with foal; Jas Baptie, stallion, "Almonte Champion," with five of his get; Chas Caldwell, two-year filly; S D Rightmyer, brood mare and foal; James Wood, two-year-old filly; Wm Dawson, brood mare and foal; G W Fitzgerald, brood mare, foal and colt of 1897; J W Whitfield, two-year colt; Geo E Elliott, one-year colt.

In the carriage class the following exhibits were well represented: Edward Macklin, three-year driving horse; George Cockburn, two-year filly, one-year filly and colt of '97; Peter Drummond, two two-year and two one-year fillies, and single carriage horse; W H Dawns, pair carriage horses; J Ball, three-year driving horse; R S Staples, one-year filly, three-year driving horse, two-year colt and single carriage horse; Robt Vance, single carriage horse; W J Tully, two-year colt, brood mare and foal and colt of 1897; G S Walton, single carriage horse; Dundas & Grandy, Shetland pony, under 14½; S Matchett, foal of 1897 and three-year driver; George Brown, pair carriage horses, pony under 14½ hands, and single carriage horse; Charles Caldwell, 2-year filly, 2 single drivers and pair of carriage horses; S. D. Rightmyer, brood mare and foal; Jas. Wood, 2-year colt; L M Westington, single carriage horse; G Walter Green, pair ponies under 14½; Henry Best, single carriage horse; Jos Foster, pair carriage horses; Jos A Barnard, pair of drivers and 3-year driver; F E Kline, single carriage horse; Jonathan Smith, driving horse and pony under 14½; L T Millburn, two single carriage horses; William Stewart, 1-year colt; John Bell, single carriage horse; John Haygarth, 3-year carriage horse; Dickson Hall, two single carriage horses; John R Kindred, two pair of drivers; Fred Clarke, carriage horses; C H Curtis, saddle horse; Levi S Bowles, single carriage horse; Jas E Cullen, single driver; Robt.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulholland have returned to town from Chemong. Mrs. Mulholland has since gone on a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Curran, of Toronto.

Rev. D. O. Crossley and Mrs. Crossley have returned home from the lakes. The weather was too severe for Mr. Crossley's rheumatism, but otherwise he improved during his few days holiday.

We regret, says the Lindsay Post, to learn of the removal from Omemee to Peterborough of Dr. T. J. Bradd, who has for several years been a highly valued resident of this county. Coming to Omemee from Campbellford, he soon, by his affable manner and exceptional success in the practice of his profession, won the confidence and esteem of all classes in the community, and many are the expressions of regret to be heard from representatives of all creeds and classes at his departure from among us. In social and public matters he always took a lively interest, being a member of the Omemee village council for some time, which honour he was lately forced to resign on account of increasing professional duties. Dr. Bradd has purchased a handsome home (where he will also have his office), at 305 Stewart street, Peterborough. We commend the Dr. to the good fellowship of the citizens of our neighbouring county town.

THE PETERBOROUGHS AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

MARKHAM DEFEATED BY EIGHT GOALS TO FOUR YESTERDAY.

It was the Most Exciting Game of the Season and was Entirely Free From Roughness—Peterborough Plays The Return Match in Markham Next Tuesday.

As the result of yesterday's game against the Markhom team still another scalp has been added to the Peterborough trophies, as the visiting team was defeated by the creditable score of eight goals to four, after the most exciting and closely contested match of the season. Both teams were on their mettle and evidently in the best possible shape and although the checking was sharp and close the referee did not have to even caution one player on the teams against roughness.

With the exception of the Tecumsehs the visiting team was the fastest of any that the Peterboroughs have run up against this season and the match was by long odds the cleanest and most scientific exposition of the national game seen here in years.

The spectators were kept wrought up to the top pitch of excitement all the time, as the brilliant combination work of both teams was liable to put either goal in imminent danger at any moment. In the first game the Markhams set a pace that was killing, and although the Peterboroughs secured the ball at odd intervals the play was nearly all around their flags and the defence had a hot time of it, but staved off the terrific attacks on goal time and again by their brilliant relief work In the second game Peterborough showed up a little better, but Markham again had things in the third. To have things all their own way, however, they had to make a great sacrifice, as the Peterboroughs staying power began to tell on the visitors, who were played to a standstill in the fourth game and were never really dangerous afterwards. The fact was that the Markham team practically killed themselves in the first half hour by endeavouring to play a game which no team could stand for any length of time without showing signs of exhaustion. As soon, therefore, as the visitors began to weaken the Peterboroughs set the pace and, as stated above, played the Markham boys to a standstill. The game was all in favour of the home team after this, although at times the visitors pulled themselves together and gave an exhibition of the marvellously fast combination work which, in the earlier part of the game, made it look very doubtful if the Peterborough's would be able to pile up anything like a good score against the visitors.

Mr. Thompson Beattie, of Toronto, was sent down to referee the game. and his work was highly satisfactory to both clubs and most creditable to himself. The teams lined up as follows:

Markham.		Peterborough.
Wilson	goal	Dobbin
Glover	point	Brown
Whiteoak	cover point	Main
Hamburg	1st defence	Glover
Wales	2nd defence	Burland
Pringle	3rd defence	McCabe
Querrie	centre	Galley
Scott	3rd home	Rubidge
A Snell	2nd home	Phelan
F S ell	1st home	King
Wilkinson	outside home	Lipsett
Beecher	inside home	McCabe
Querrie	field captain umpires	M Halpin
Mr Cross, Toronto		Mr Tobin, Toronto
W H Hall	timekeepers	C LeBrun

THE BALL WAS FACED

at about half past two o'clock and was taken directly in on the Peterborough flags, which had a close call several times before the defence worked the ball out, Brown relieving to Galley, who carried the ball into Lipsett, who made a close shot. Phelan almost scored also and this was the last chance the Peterboroughs had to tally in this game, as the visitors home field played a phenomenal game and succeeded in getting first blood by scoring in seven minutes.

The next game saw the ball again carried in on the Peterborough flags, but it was only for an instant, as the ball was passed down on the Markham flags with a rapidity which did not allow their defense men to cover up. McCabe passed to Phelan, who passed to Galley, the latter sending the sphere between the Markham goal's with one of his sizzling hot shots.—Time, 1 minute.

The score was now a tie, but Markham had decidedly the best of it in the third game, although at the start off Jack McCabe nearly scored for Peterborough. It took Markham four minutes to score, giving them the lead of one goal.

Honours were even at the beginning of the fourth game and Dobbin had to make a couple of the grandest stops of his life to save his flags. After the first onslaught Markham began to fag perceptibly and tried to block their goals. Peterborough seemed to have hard luck in shooting, making some very close shots on the goal. It seemed impossible to work the ball through the visitors' defence, but from a pass down the field by Glover to Jim McCabe, a fine piece of work resulted right in amongst the Markham sticks. Jack McCabe finally got a shot and scored, making the score 2—2. Time, 19 minutes.

The fifth game was a short, snappy one. Markham took the ball in on the Peterborough flags, but Dobbin stopped the shot and passed to Brown, who sent the ball down the field to Rubidge. The Markham defence men had the Peterborough home field well covered in an instant, but Percy didn't attempt to pass the ball, dashing instead right in on the flags. There was a grand scrimmage right in front of the goal, where he was stopped, but the ball was put through in one minute. Score 3—2 in favour of Peterborough.

The sixth game was all in Peterborough's favour, and in four minutes the boys added another to their score, Galley bringing the ball down the field to Phelan, who passed to King, the latter tallying. Score, 4—2.

It only took a minute for the Peterboroughs to make the score 5—2. Galley sent the ball to King from the face-off. King passed to Phelan, who passed to Rubidge. The ball, however, was scrimmaged past the goal, but Jack McCabe got it and with a crook of his stick sent it around the post in front again, when Phelan scored.

A SHARP ATTACK

was made on the Markham flags at the outset of the next game, but without result. Then the Peterborough defence had some work to do, Galley and Glover relieving nicely. A sharp rally of the Peterboroughs brought no less than eight Markham men in to block their goal. In the relief the ball was sent up into Peterborough territory and a side shot made on the flags by Markham. The umpire called it a game, but a number of spectators and club officials were so sure that no score was made that the game was protested. It counted, however, for the time being, and the score stood 5—3 Time, 11 minutes.

The ball was passed directly in from the face-off in the next game, and King stopped a wide shot of Lipsett's and swiped it through. Score, 6—3.

In nine minutes Peterborough increased its lead by another goal, which was scored by Jack McCabe on a pass from Jim McCabe.

Peterborough again pressed matters in the next game. Lipsett made a close shot on a pass from Phelan to Galley, Jim McCabe then put one through which the umpire didn't see, but Phelan brought the ball out from behind the flags and Galley put it through again. Time, 2 minutes. Score, 8—3.

In four minutes Markham scored, leaving a to play. No more tallying was done, and the match therefore resulted in Peterborough's favour by eight goals to four, which means that in order to win the series Markham will have to score five more goals than Peterborough in the return match in Markham on Tuesday next. This game will be a most interesting one to witness as the Markham team boasts of never being beaten on its own grounds. A special rate of one dollar has been arranged for the trip.

MINUTE AND A HALF

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Peterborough is very enthusiastic over the many successes of the lacrosse club this year, but the enthusiasm does not go as deep as the pocket books apparently. The attendance at yesterday's game was not what it should have been.

Dobbin's wonderful work in goal yesterday caused comment from even the officials. His blocking was something marvellous.

A. Snell played a fast game for the visitors on the home, but he didn't get much show when the boys found out that he was the star.

Jimmy McCabe played a clear headed game yesterday, laying well back on the defense when the visitors were fresh and playing away down on the home field when they commenced to fag.

It was no wonder that Markham fought hard against the suspending of their man Glover. He is a great defense player—almost as good as our own Roly.

Galley's shots on goal were something terrific yesterday, being sent in with the velocity of cannon balls.

Dot. Brown's relieving was one of the features of the match. The ball was put out of harm's way when he got it and it generally found its way into his stick when he went after it.

Phelan played a horse of a game and showed up far better than he has done at any time this year, which is saying a good deal. He was mixed up in all the combination work.

Mein played a streng, fast game and did some great work in relieving the flags.

Glover fed the home well from his position at second defense, but he had a hard man to check in Snell, who was the visitors' best man by far.

Billy Borland played his position well, putting up his steady reliable game and letting no man pass him with the ball.

Rubidge's playing was most brilliant, his catching and passing being wonderful to witness. He checked closer than ever yesterday and used his weight to great advantage.

Jack McCabe and Geordie Lipsett, at inside and outside home, made a great team, their dodging was a wonder to watch and they made things lively for the Markham defence every time the ball came their way.

Lionel King worked harder than any man on the team. He was here, there and everywhere, and did some great checking and shooting on the goal.

Mr. W. H. Hall, the manager of the Markhams, is one of York's county councillors, but still maintains his interest in the game. He acknowledged that his team was beaten, and badly beaten, but stated that he went home feeling better after a defeat than he ever did before, as the game was such a clean, gentlemanly one.

Everybody who saw the fine game the Markhams put up will want to see what Peterborough can do with them on their own grounds next Tuesday. An excursion rate of $1.00 has been procured.

Grangeville won from Wiarton yesterday by six goals to two.

A NOVEL TEST

Applied to One of the Peter Hamilton Coy's Binders in Osprey.

On Thursday last, on the farm of Mr. W. J. Adair, lot 48, concession 1, Osprey, a Peter Hamilton 6 ft. cut binder might have been seen undergoing a curious test. Mr. Adair first cut twice around a five-acre field of oats with his team and then hitched one horse to a road cart and tied the binder tongue to the axletree of the cart, and, with one man on the cart and one man on the binder, he cut five times around the field with the greatest ease to the horse. The oats were heavy and the land was light, not having been rolled this spring. The horse was a common general purpose animal. Mr. T. C. Lusty, Horning's Mills, is agent for the binder.—Shelburne Economist.

LUETGERT'S LAMENESS

Was Not Due to Accident Wholly—He Got Into a Scuffle With a Strong Man in Prison.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—It has come to light that Luetgert, the alleged wife-murderer, indulged in a fight last Wednesday afternoon with William Young, a prisoner confined in the same tier on the charge of robbery. The ex-sausage maker's lameness is not due to rheumatism, as was given out by himself and his guards, but the result of Young's hurling him backwards against the pavement of the jail corridor to save himself from Luetgert's big fists. The affair started in a friendly scuffle, but when Luetgert saw that his opponent was getting the better of him he lost his temper and began "rushing" his man. Young, however, who is quick and muscular, caught his opponent around the waist and literally hurled him backwards, almost 20 feet, against the tile pavement and a steel door. Luetgert had to be helped to his feet and almost carried to his cell. The jail physician says the fall wrenched one of the ligaments of the thigh, and it may be weeks before he fully recovers.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kiddeys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets CURE constipation and its attendant evils.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., for his "Medical Adviser." It is a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated.

HURDMAN MILLS BURNED.

A Blaze Which Was Dangerously Near to the Big Paper Mills of the Eddy Company at Hull.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—The lumber mills of the Hull Lumber Co., situated in close proximity to the E. B. Eddy paper mills, were burned to the ground to-night. The loss will be somewhere in the vicinity of $100,000; partly covered by insurance. The mills are known as Hurdman's old mills. They are now owned by a company, of which the principal owners are Buell, Orr, White, Hurdman & Avery. The exact amount of the insurance cannot be obtained to-night. The Ottawa fire brigade gave valuable assistance to the Hull brigade in confining the fire to the mills where it started. The cause of the fire is not known.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Philadelphia defeated Washington to-day in an interesting game. Taylor pitched superb ball. McJames was effective when men were on bases, but gave eight passes. Fourteen of the local men were left on bases. Dowd's base running was one of the features. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—McJames and Farrell; Taylor and Boyle.

At New York—The New Yorks took the first game of the closing series from the champions, because they were able to hit the ball when men were on bases. Both pitchers were hit hard, but Ruzie won his game by making a hit between third and short, bringing in Gleason. Kelly disputed a decision in the first innings and Hurst put him out of the game. The feature of the game was the batting of Tiernan. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
New York . . . . . 2 1 3 2 0 0 1 1 —	10	18	4
Baltimore . . . . . 0 0 0 5 2 0 0 0 2 —	9	17	2

BRITAIN'S ISOLATION.

The Cretan Question May Yet Prove a Very Difficult Problem for the Great Powers

London, Sept. 21.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily News says:

It is learned from a high source that Germany's want of alarm over the Franco-Russian alliance is thought to be due to an existing understanding between Russia, Germany, France and Austria about the Levant, which has been made with a view to future events leading up to changes in the Levant, and which deals with their several portions in the eventual division. Germany finds her satisfaction in security from attack. She will thus be at leisure to develop her internal resources, postponing any dispute with France. Efforts are making to induce Italy to join the league, which, it is asserted, does not look with displeasure upon the prolongation of the present situation, that leaves an opening for startling complications if considered advantageous to the four powers. So the settlement of the Cretan question will not be so quick and simple as predicted. It is asserted that Russia will propose that the Governor of Crete be a Turk.

VERY UNUSUAL HONORS

Showered Upon the House of Marlborough Over the Birth of an Heir.

London, Sept. 20.—Honors are pouring in upon the little son of the Duchess of Marlborough. Although not yet two days old, the Queen wired yesterday from Balmoral direct to the Duke of Marlborough at Spencer House, 27 St. James-place: "My warmest congratulations upon the birth of an heir. Victoria."

For the Queen to write a personal telegram of this kind, in the first place, is a very unusual occurrence, and an honor accorded only persons of the highest rank in the peerage. Her Majesty subsequently, through her secretary, asked to be informed as to the health of the Duchess and the infant.

In answer, the Duke replied the Duchess was doing well, and that the little Marquis of Blandford was strong, healthy and hardy.

This message had hardly been sent when a second telegram was received from the Prince of Wales in Copenhagen. The Prince sent congratulations Saturday, his message being among the first to arrive. Yesterday he telegraphed to the Duke of Marlborough, volunteering to stand as godfather to the boy when christened. The Duke telegraphed, accepting the offer with thanks for the high honor. The christening is to take place in the family chapel at Woodstock.

Attack on French Troops.

Paris, Sept. 20.—It is officially announced that the troops of Chief Samory, the African chieftain, whose territory adjoins the kingdom of Ashantee, surprised and routed, on Aug. 20, a French detachment of native troops, sent to occupy territory which Samory had offered to evacuate. The French lost two officers and 44 men killed.

Captain Lost Overboard.

London, Sept. 20.—The British steamer Incharran, which sailed from Baltimore Sept. 4, for Antwerp, in command of Captain McDonald, passed the Lizard to-day, displaying signals that her captain had been lost overboard.

Fearful Railway Collision.

Vienna, Sept. 20.—A despatch from Fiume says there was a collision yesterday evening near Kafosvars between an express train and a freight train carrying troops. Four train hands and six soldiers were killed, and thirty soldiers will probably die from injuries received during the accident. A considerable amount of rolling stock was wrecked.

Menelek Honors Bismarck.

Hamburg, Sept. 20.—Prince Bismarck has received the Grand Cross of the Star of Ethiopia from King Menelek of Abyssinia.

Entry of Italian Troops Into Rome.

Rome, Sept. 20.—The anniversary of the entry of the Italian troops into Rome (Sept. 20, 1870) was universally celebrated to-day throughout Italy. Floral wreaths were laid on the tomb of the late King Victor Emmanuel and on the site of the breach made in the wall, where the troops of General Cadorna entered the city. The day was celebrated as a national holiday, and congratulatory telegrams were received by King Humbert and the Mayor of Rome.

ATTACK ON ILDA ORME.

A Man Asked for Assistance, Got a Shilling and Then Fired a Shot.

London, Sept. 20.—Considerable comment has been caused in musical circles by what appears to be an attempt to assassinate Miss Ilda Orme, the well-known song writer, author of "A Lesson in Kissing," which Louise Beaudet has recently sung in the United States. Miss Orme, who is said to be an American, according to the story told, was entering her residence at 1 o'clock on Saturday morning last, when a man came up to her and asked for assistance. Miss Orme says she gave him a shilling and that then, without a word of explanation, the man drew a revolver and fired at her, the bullet traversing her right breast and setting her blouse on fire. Miss Orme's assailant fled and has not yet been arrested. The wound inflicted is not a dangerous one. Miss Orme says the man who fired at her was slim, dark and spoke with an American accent. When questioned as to the motive for the seemingly murderous assault, Miss Orme attributed it to a continuance of alleged persecutions to which, she says, she has been subjected for ten years past at the hands of "a millionaire Boston lawyer."

Miss Orme was in New York some six or seven months ago and made her headquarters at the Ditson establishment.

SURGEON'S KNIVES.

Failed to Remove the Disease From Hezekiah Vaughan's System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Which Have Never yet Failed, Cured Him in Short Order.

Sandwich, Sept. 13—Hezekiah Vaughan, of the township of Gosfield, has lately gone through a severe surgical operation at Harper's hospital, Detroit, for what different doctors diagnosed as liver complaint, kidney trouble and bladder complaint. Four surgeons cut away at him for 4½ hours, but when they got through, none of them could tell what was wrong and the patient was left as bad as ever. The benefits derived by a neighbour from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, induced Mr. Vaughan to try them. From the first he began to improve. His bowels soon became regular and the pains that afflicted him disappeared. Six boxes restored to his former vigor a man who had abandoned all hope of regaining sound health.

A NEW GREYHOUND.

North German Lloyds Have a Very Swift New Steamship.

Southampton, Sept. 20.—The new twin screw steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse of the North German Lloyd Line has arrived here from Bremen. She attained an average speed of 20.7 knots per hour with 68 revolutions of her engines per minute. The engines worked smoothly. Between the East Goodwin and the Dungeness Lights she made 25.1 knots per hour with 74 revolutions. Capt. Engelhart is confident that she will beat the record of the St. Paul during the first voyage. Her builder guaranteed a speed of 21 knots per hour on her maiden voyage at a minimum of 75 revolutions per minute. Only the slightest vibration was noticeable. The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse carries 735 passengers.

WHERE IS DAVID YOKOM?

Not Heard of Since July 26—Worked for the Toronto Railway Co.

Toronto, Sept. 21.

David Yokom is missing from his home at 330 George-street, and his wife and family are anxious as to his whereabouts. The missing man is a carpenter by trade, and left his home on July 3 with a man named Grafton to go to Stratford to work for the Grand Trunk Railway. Since July 26 Mr. Yokom has not been heard of by his family. They had a letter from him on that date saying he was going to Brussels and London. He was employed by the Toronto Railway Company for over twelve years and is temperate in habits and was highly thought of by his fellow-workmen. He is 49 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, dark, but turning grey, and walks with a limp, there being about an inch difference between the left and right leg. Any information as to his whereabouts will be thankfully received at his home.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Yoke Fellows.

Many women work too hard. There is no question about that. If they did not have Love for a yoke-fellow they could never endure the daily, hourly grind and drudgery of life. But they bear it cheerfully, sustained by loving thoughts of husband and children.

But when physical weakness or disease is added to a woman's burden it becomes altogether too heavy. No woman can be cheerful or hopeful who is dragged down by continual pain and physical wretchedness.

The special weaknesses peculiar to the feminine organism are comparatively easy to overcome if the earlier symptoms are given proper attention. But if allowed to go unchecked, they are liable to develop into serious, chronic complications.

Any woman afflicted with these delicate ailments ought to have the immediate aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a perfect and unfailing specific for all diseases of the feminine organs. It was devised for this one purpose, and accomplishes this purpose as no other medicine has ever done.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., where in conjunction with his staff of associate specialists, he has successfully treated many thousand cases of "female complaint."

No physician living has had a more extended opportunity to study this class of diseases in actual practice. No medicine ever invented has done for women what his "Favorite Prescription" has.

A 5-FOOT BIKE JUMP.

A MARVELLOUS BICYCLE ACCIDENT IN MONTREAL.

Two Tandems, With Their Racing Riders, Clear a Fence Five Feet High Like Old Hunters An Almost Incredible Occurrence.

Two tandems jumped a five-foot fence on the M.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday, says The Montreal Star.

It was the strangest and most marvellous bicycle accident ever heard of—so strange that only the testimony of the thousands of spectators present can make others who did not see it believe such a thing possible.

They reared like frightened horses and cleared the fence like old hunters. Like things possessed of life, they seemed to become frightened and unmanageable, and the riders say that though they realized what was going to happen they could not prevent it or stop the wheels.

Happily there is not a death to record, and it was a most remarkable thing that neither one of the four riders who started in the first heat of the tandem race was even dangerously hurt. The accident, which occurred at the south-east corner of the track, has been the topic of conversation ever since. The heat was a mile and the starters were Robertson and Drury and Provencher and Eaves. The latter pair had the pole and were leading when entering the backstretch on the final lap. Robertson and Drury went after them, and the speed attained by both was terrific. At the corner they were on even terms, and what was a pretty race was in the twinkling of an eye turned into one of the most peculiar accidents ever witnessed on a bicycle track. The wheels apparently became unmanageable at the turn, owing to the awful speed, a collision occurred, and all four riders and wheels went over the five-foot fence so quickly that it was hard to realize what had happened. It was just as if the ground had opened at the spot and swallowed them up. Robertson was the only one who required attention, the others only receiving slight injuries. A stretcher was carried across for Robertson and he was afterwards sent to the Western hospital, and from there proceeded to his home. Drury also went home, but Provencher and Eaves after putting in a new forward wheel, started in the final, and got second place. Robertson's wheel was not injured.

Drury, who occupied the rear seat, on the tandem steered by Robertson, said that the cause of it all was the lack of proper backing of the track. The accident itself he describes as follows:

I saw the fence coming towards me and I felt we would not stop, but I really don't know what happened between that moment and when I found myself on the benches at the other side of the fence.

TANDEMS JUMPING A FENCE.

According to Robertson, who was on the front of the tandem with Drury on the rear seat, the accident occurred in this way. When they reached the backstretch both were running close together, and at the 440 mark, about half way down the wheels ran abreast of each other. Robertson's pedal caught Provencher's wheel and ripped a spoke or two out of it. The wheels broke away without any other incident and made for the turn.

Both were now sparting, and were going at a clip of about 1.54. Provencher was inside, and when at the turn saw that he was too close to the edge of the track, and began to work out. Robertson was in the centre, and both wheels came together. A pedal on Provencher's wheel caught Robertson's front wheel. This of course locked the wheel, and prevented Robertson from steering around and both wheels made for the fence. The front wheels were lifted and ran this way, and struck the fence at an angle. This, with the momentum at which they were traveling, shot men and wheels over the fence. The riders are satisfied that the affair was purely accidental. Robertson's shoulderblade was splintered at the end, but he is not seriously injured and will soon be around all right. Drury was badly bruised, but the others escaped with scratches.

MENDING BROKEN TREES.

Peculiar Results of Half-Girdling With Wire Bands.

In going through an old orchard where the great gales of the fall of 1894 blew over many trees, cutting and splitting off half the tops of others, I was struck, says J. H. Hale, in The Connecticut Courant, with the amount of abuse a peach tree will stand and yet recover. In clearing up the wreckage some of the split trees were bolted together, others had wire bands put on, and still others had the broken half cut away entirely, the split trunks smoothed up with a drawing knife and the one-sided head shortened in to balance it a little better. Trees treated in the latter method, while having a scarred trunk, with bark only on one side, have full rounded-out heads, as good as though no harm had been done, while the wiring process has girdled many limbs and left pretty poor trees. The bolted trees look fairly well, but none are so good as those that were thoroughly pruned, with no attempt to save broken limbs. This experience covered about 1000 trees, and in any future breaking or splitting down I shall cut everything away, confident that however lopsided a tree may be two years' new growth will put it in better shape than by any other method. A peculiar result of half-girdling some trees with wire bands was that the fruit borne on them has been larger and of brighter color, ripening from ten days to two weeks earlier than the same varieties of trees without wire bands. This might be an advantage in some seasons with certain varieties, and if only a portion of a tree were girdled at one time, no serious harm would come of it.

Tree Attracting Lightning.

An isolated tree offers a most dangerous attraction to lightning. In woods the peril is diminished, because the electricity is scattered. Trees with roots deep in humid soil are more apt to be struck than those in drier spots. Trees in damp places are always conductors of electricity. Lightning prefers oaks and rarely touches beeches. Resistance to electrical discharges varies accordingly to the proportion of oily matter contained in the wood. The poplar possesses but little greasy substance and is a good conductor. It is dangerous to those who trust it for shelter, but if planted not nearer than ten metres from a dwelling proves to be a good lightning rod. If certain poplars are easily struck by electrical fluid, it is because their roots are in damp soil. All isolated trees should be avoided during a thunderstorm.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor.—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy. Address with stamp, WM. T. MULFORD, Agents' Supplies, P.O. Box 59, St. Henri, Que.

Wild Sport With an Earthquake.

A correspondent whose veracity has hitherto been above suspicion writes from Ha-Flong, in Assam, relating a story of the recent earthquake there, which is best given without further comment than the above testimonial. It is as follows:

"Two residents of Ha-Flong were out shooting rhinoceros forty-eight miles from the station. They had been following up the spoor of one of these pachyderms, and finally came upon it quietly browsing in a valley. The first sportsman, waiting his opportunity, took careful aim, and was on the point of firing when the quick-witted animal spotted him and charged. Just as the shikar pulled the trigger the earth began to tremble violently, and the bullet missed its mark.

"The marksman was thrown to the ground by the rocking of the earth crust, and the rhinoceros, wobbling about through the same cause, charged on its helpless victim. But Providence opened a yawning chasm between them, into which the pachyderm fell and was engulfed. At the time of the animal being swallowed up by the gigantic earth-crack, the sportsman's companion fired at the beast, but the oscillation made his aim so bad that he shot his already prostrate friend, and when the smoke cleared away, could scarcely believe his senses, which told him that the rhinoceros was defunct.

"However, sportsman No. 2 summoned some hill men, and improvising a dhooly, or stretcher, had his wounded companion carried into Ha-Flong, where he is at present being attended to by the resident surgeon, and brought slowly back to life by the nursing of his fiancee."—London Mail.

An Oddity.

"Funny thing," said the observer. "Call a young fellow a puppy or an old man a brute and see how mad they'll get. But call the young fellow a sad dog and the old man a gay old dog and you'll see 'em burst with pride."

Economy and strength are combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every bottle contains 100 doses and will average to last a month.

Pain in the Back.

Mr. M. P. Halpin, Brockville, Ont., makes a statement as follows: "For two years I suffered from kidney trouble, causing severe pain across my back, dizziness, headache, sleeplessness, etc. I had often to lean on the counter when serving a customer, so intense was the pain in my back. On taking Doan's Kidney Pills I improved from the very first, and now after using three boxes am all right; all my pains, aches and dizziness having disappeared, thanks to Doan's Pills."

The Metric System.

Metric standards of weights and measures have been adopted by twenty-one countries, Great Britain and the United States being the only prominent exceptions. Before another year Great Britain will, in all probability, have passed an act legalizing the system in the United Kingdom, and providing for the preparation of a table of equivalents between the metric and the imperial standards. This will leave the United States in a conspicuous minority among nations.

The British act, it should be noted, is merely permissive, and the choice between pounds and kilos remains free to every merchant; but even so, it is a concession to the metric enthusiast, in that it will lead to a more careful teaching of his system in the schools and to a wider use of it in dealings with other nations. The metric system has much to conquer before it becomes universal, but it is making rapid strides toward ultimate success. Its standards unquestionably facilitate the keeping of accounts, and give one a great deal in common with the rest of the world. With our decimal money system we have a good start made upon the metric gradations, and our arithmetic classes have always paid more attention to the French standards than corresponding classes in English schools.

It may be fifty, it may one hundred years before the metric system becomes the established method of adjusting weights and measures in all civilized nations. The change is gradually being effected, however, and not rapidly enough to entail confusion or sudden great cost. American scientists have long asked for a compulsory bill from Congress, and it is likely that we shall at least go as far as Parliament in this change before many more sessions are ended.—Boston Journal. Canada is about to begin education along metric lines.

THE DEAF HEAR.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE

Working Wonders in Toronto.

Gave MRS. BINDON her hearing when Specialists failed.

About 8 years ago, Mrs. Bindon, of 11 Maitland St., Toronto, was attacked with la Grippe, which affected her hearing to such an extent that she was completely deaf. It was a serious affliction and she tried many remedies and consulted a prominent specialist on ear diseases, but derived no benefit. By a happy circumstance she was led to use Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and before she had completed 3 boxes her hearing had partially returned.

She persisted in the application of the remedy, so confident was she of ultimate sure, and by the time 12 boxes had been used her hearing was completely restored. For 3 months now she has been free from deafness, and no emancipated sufferer was ever more delighted than Mrs Bindon. On Sunday she goes to church and enjoys the service, a thing she was unable to do before Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure gave her back her hearing.

SKIN HUMOR ON BABY

Head and Entire Body Covered. Itching Intense, Would Scratch Till Blood Came.

Had to Put Mittens on His Hands To Keep Him from Tearing His Skin.

One Application of CUTICURA Soothes Him to Sleep. Complete Cure.

When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin, yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton, and his little hands were thin like claws.

He was bad about eight months when we tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the day time for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time. I washed him with CUTICURA SOAP, and put on one application of CUTICURA, and he was so soothed that I put him in his cradle. You don't know how glad I felt he felt better. It took one box of CUTICURA, pretty near one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and about half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT to cure him. I think our little boy would have died only for CUTICURA REMEDIES, and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. Mrs. M. C. MAITLAND, Jasper, Ont.

CUTICURA REMEDIES have effected the most wonderful cures of torturing, disfiguring, humiliating skin and scalp humors of infants and children, as well as of adults of every age. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. They are the most speedy, economical, and infallible skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER D. & C. CORP., Props., Boston. "How to Cure Baby Humors," free.

HORNED CATTLE.

The exhibit of cattle was a magnificent one in all respect—far in excess of any other year. Indeed, though the stock pens had been enlarged, they were filled to overflowing, and the superintendent was compelled to utilise every available structure. Cattle were stabled under the grandstand, and the dining booth was converted into temporary stables. A feature of this exhibit was the unusual number of exhibitors from abroad: Wm Redmond, Millbrook, Durhams; Jas Rennie, Toronto, Durhams and grades; Hinman Bros., Grafton, Jerseys; Stewart & Son Chatham, Polled Angus, a new class to these grounds. The exhibit of Durhams is unusually large and excellent. Special interest was attached to the exhibit of Polled Angus. The only exhibit was made by Messrs Wm Stewart & Son, of Lucanville, near Sarnia, who showed aged, one year and two-year bulls, bull calf, four heifers and one heifer calf, and a herd of one bull and four females.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Thompson have returned to Billings, Montana, where they will take up farming. We regret to lose one of our best citizens.

Miss Clara Campbell, Keene, was in the village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunter, Norwood, were visiting friends in the village Tuesday last.

We are pleased to see Mrs. Wm. Slade and family home from the North Shore. We extend them a welcome on their return.

Who was it from the stone house struck "ile" in his own country? It's not Klondyke, either. It sounds like "elm."

When war is made upon a fox, it makes hot times, but when man and fox combine, what a terrible ravage—especially cutting corn.

We noticed in town a few days ago Mr. J. Rork and Miss May Eaton, of Norwood.

Corn seems to outrun everything in the matter of growth. Mr. J. Breckenridge produced a stalk which measured thirteen feet five inches. He said the corn averaged eleven feet high. Who can beat that?

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

INTENSE INDIGNATION.

People at St. George's Bay, Newfoundland, are Mad All Over Because Lobster Factories are Closed.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 21.—There is intense indignation in St. George's Bay over the action of the British warship in closing down the lobster factories of residents and confiscating the products. On Saturday the cruiser Pelican landed a body of men, who surrounded the factories, ejected the inmates and took on board all the packages of prepared lobsters that were ready for shipment. The residents are much incensed at this proceeding, a repetition of which is threatened all along the French shore. The excuse given by the marines is that the factories interfere with those of French fishermen. The people threaten to resist the marines and serious consequences are feared before many days elapse. The colonial government is powerless to interfere.

Listen to The Question:

"Are you the man that's got the advertisement on the first page of the EXAMINER?" Yes. "Well you've got the greatest budget in your ad that ever I read." Putting his finger to his thumb he runs over the following: "People's Grocery." "I like that name nothing stuck up about it." "323 George Street, why that's one of the best stands in town, near the market, on the way to the C. P.R. and G.T.R. Stations; you've made a good choice of Groceries, Fruit and Provisions, lots of good things to eat; I'll call on you, I will. Good bye." Another says: "Are you the man that sells the good 25c Japan Tea?" "yes I am" "Well do me up 3 lbs" And I did it up, and he paid me the money like a gentleman. We are right in the fruit season and have a large lot of Redpath's No. 1 Granulated Sugar, pure, 20 lbs for a dollar. A customer told us some of the others had raised their prices; we aim to keep them down, and are glad to say that our efforts are being appreciated. We have had to repeat our orders for Canned Goods again and again and have bought and expect another large delivery in October. The people want Vegetables and Fruit sound, fresh and good, and they buy from us as they see our delivery wagon bringing loads from our own gardens. We are getting ready a large quantity of home-made Hams and Bacon; also Pickles 10c per bottle. Upwards of 20 doz pints and quarts of home-made Preserves, pound of Fruit to pound of best Granulated Sugar. Full lines of all kinds Groceries and Provisions at lowest prices. A CYCLONE IN ITALY

Which Carried Death and Destruction With It.

OVER 40 KILLED AND 70 WOUNDED

More Than Fifty Lives Lost Through a Collision of Vessels—German Duke Drowned—The Military Operations in India—Nile Expedition Halted—Cable News.

Brindisi, Italy, Sept. 22.—A cyclone swept over Sava, Oria and Latiano, all in the Province of Lecco, yesterday evening. Forty persons were killed, 70 people were wounded, 20 houses were destroyed and telegraphic communication with the scene of the disaster was cut off.

Fearful Loss of Life.

Brindisi, Sept. 22.—At Oria, the railway depot was demolished and all the railway men engaged there were killed. Two chateaux and 30 houses were destroyed in a neighboring village, where 20 were killed and 24 injured.

At Mesagne, a province of Lecce, 15 were killed and 5 injured. Great tracts of country have been devastated by the hurricane.

THE INDIA CAMPAIGN.

Generals Blood and Elles Have Combined Their Forces—Treachery in Gen. Jeffreys' Camp.

Peshawur, Sept. 22.—A despatch from Lakarai says that the attack which the Haddah Mullah made at 9 o'clock on Monday evening on Camp Nawagai, where General Sir Bindon Blood is in command, was marked by several fierce rushes upon three sides of the British square simultaneously. The enemy was so determined that the bodies of tribesmen were found a few yards from the muzzles of the mountain guns.

The forces of General Blood and of General Elles have now been combined at Lakarai. General Blood will give General Elles one of his brigades and will take the other to support General Jeffreys, who is having further trouble with the Mahmunds.

Treachery of Afridis.

Simla, Sept. 22.—The brigade of General Jeffreys continues the task of punishing the rebellious tribes. Yesterday Umra ahn's village, Zogai, was chastised. General Jeffreys encountered but small opposition, though several Sepoys of the Afridi tribe deserted with rifles and ammunition. One Afridi killed a fellow-sentry and a Sikh deserted. Both took their rifles.

After the attack on General Sir Bindon Blood's camp, at Lakarai, last evening, the enemy left twenty dead upon the field and carried off the bodies of others who were killed.

MOST OF THEM PERISHED.

A Deplorable Calamity at Pfunze, Austria, Which Cost Over 50 Lives.

London, Sept. 22.—A despatch to The Daily News from Vienna says that the steamer Ika, with a crew of ten, and carrying 50 Austrian passengers, was entering the port at Fiume, on the River Fiumara, at 7 o'clock last evening (Tuesday), while the Bora was blowing hard, when she collided with the English steamer Tiria, which was leaving. The bows of the Ika were stove in and she sank in two minutes. Boats hastily put off and saved the captain and seven others, but most of the passengers perished. The cries of the drowning were most distressing. The casualty took place in full view of thousands, who crowded the piers in the greatest excitement and alarm.

German Duke Drowned.

Hamburg, Sept. 22.—Torpedo boat No. 26 has been capsized and sunk near the first lightship off Cuxhaven. Eight of her crew, including her commander, Duke Frederick William of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, were drowned. The Duke was born in 1871, held the rank of lieutenant in the German navy, and was a brother of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. A salvage steamer has gone to the scene of the disaster.

The Town in Mourning.

Schwerin, Sept. 22.—The mother of the Duke received the news of his death at 6 o'clock this evening at Castle Rabensteinfeld. The whole town has been thrown into deep mourning. The church bells were tolled and the performance at the Court Theatre was abandoned.

BANKERS UP IN ARMS.

The Governor of the Bank of England Has Some Trouble Ahead.

London, Sept. 22.—A meeting of the bankers of London, called to protest against the action of the Governor of the Bank of England, in relation to the silver reserve, was held at the clearing house to-day. There was a large attendance of representatives of powerful interests. Several of the prominent banks were not represented, but according to the statements of those who participated in the meeting, their absence was due to the fact that their heads were not in or near London at the present time.

A resolution, protesting against the Bank of England's proposed action, was adopted. This resolution will be embodied in a letter to the Governor of the Bank of England, and it will be presented to him to-morrow.

The bankers who were present at to-day's meeting were pledged to secrecy in regard to the proceedings. Mr. Robert Benson, who threatened at the recent meeting of the Bank of England to sell his bank stock if silver reserves were held, took a prominent part in the meeting to-day. This protest upon the part of the London bankers is unprecedented and is the only thing talked about at present in financial circles.

BURNED THE TREATY.

Athenians Made a Bonfire and Destroyed a Copy of the Peace Treaty.

Athens, Sept. 22.—With the exception of The Asty and The Akropolis, the newspapers are preaching a national crusade against the conditions of the peace treaty with Turkey.

Several of them publish interviews with members of the Legislative Assembly (the Boule). In a few instances the Deputies favor war, but the majority adopt a very reserved attitude.

A mass meeting was held this evening in Concord-square to denounce the terms of peace, and a copy of the treaty was gazed upon a bonfire and burned amid a great uproar.

It is reported here that the Count Muravieff, the Russian Foreign Minister, has told the Greek Minister at St. Petersburg that the European concert considered it had finished its mission and that any decision taken by Greece would be made at her own risk and peril. General Smolensky has been ordered to start for Volo immediately.

LONDON TAILORS HIT HARD.

Dingley Tariff Keeps Travelers from Having More Than Two Suits of Clothes.

London, Sept. 22.—London tailors have been hit hard by the Dingley tariff. Travelers find that the hundred dollar limit leaves room only for two cheap suits. Many orders have been countermanded since the new tariff came into operation, and the tailors are in despair at the loss of so much American trade. Some big houses have been accustomed in the past to send travelers with samples to take orders in America, but this business has now been killed.

It is the smaller London tailors who utter complaints about the Dingley tariff, and who are devising all sorts of schemes to evade its provisions.

Every American going back with light luggage is being implored to carry clothes for friends to the hundred dollar limit. One guest at the Hotel Cecil has distributed in this way $500 worth of clothes among half a dozen friends. Another scheme is to bring in enough cloth for a suit in the guise of a traveling rug. The London Tailors' Association will debate the Dingley bill at their next meeting.

Some Americans, before leaving, are giving away clothes bought early in the season. Enquiries are being made on every hand as to the enforcement of the Dingley law, ladies being especially interested about gloves.

Anglo-Egyptian Expedition Halted.

London, Sept. 22.—It is learned that no further advance will be made at present by the Anglo-Egyptian expedition up the Nile. It is recognized that an attack upon Khartoum would necessitate a strong backing of British troops, and owing to the troubles in India the War Office cannot send such a force to Egypt.

Indian Plague in Russia.

London, Sept. 23.—A despatch to The Daily News from Odessa says:

"There are sinister reports of the appearance of the Indian plague in Northern Caucasus during the last five days. The official telegrams give no details as to locality or victims, but a sanitary commission has left Tiflis for Northern Caucasus."

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

That is the Verdict of the Jury in the Case of Ephraim Conway, Tried at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 22.—The trial of Ephraim Conway for the murder of George Frost was continued this morning. Great numbers of people are in attendance and the town and vicinity have shown intense interest in the case.

Mr. Wallace Nesbitt made an eloquent plea for the prisoner and Mr. Grant replied forcibly for the Crown, after which Judge Meredith summed up and the case was given to the jury, who returned into court in less than an hour with a verdict of manslaughter. Sentence will be passed to-morrow.

Second Death at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 22.—A second death from yellow fever occurred here to-day, making eight in all. Three cases are under close investigation, and one of these is Mrs. A. T. Wimberley, wife of the Republican member of the National Committee. Among the cases reported yesterday were: Judge Lea, one of the secretaries of the Cotton Exchange, and R. F. Reynolds, freight agent of the Mississippi Valley Railroad. Forty cases are steadily improving and are considered out of danger. Chief O'Connor has placed another engine at the disposal of a special volunteer force, and the down-town streets, alleys and back yards are being thoroughly scrubbed.

LIFE AT DAWSON CITY

Living is Very Costly and Gambling Rampant.

MONEY TEN PER CENT. PER MONTH.

The Riches of the District Have Not Been Over Stated One Man Dug Out Fifty-Eight Thousand Dollars in Six Days Tons of Food Have Arrived There.

Chicago, Sept. 22. The Record of to-day prints a letter from W. D. Jones, dated Dawson City, Aug. 18:

Day by day the greatness of the strike in the Klondike gold fields grows on the miners here. As the summer development work and sluicing go on through the long days it becomes apparent that the richness of the claims scarcely has been realized by the most sanguine gold-seekers. The pitches are turning out better and better every day. This is true not only of the claims on El Dorado and Bonanza creeks, but of those on the minor streams of the district, which show many rich prospects. The Aladdin-like treasures of El Dorado have caused men to go over the range to look everywhere for new districts. From these prospectors rich strikes are reported, especially on Sulphur Creek. But not enough work has been done on the newly discovered claims to confirm absolutely the hopeful reports.

On El Dorado 3000 ounces of gold, or $58,000, was sluiced out in six days, with only one man shoveling on that particular claim, on account of the scarcity of water. This rich showing was on claim 30, owned by Alec McDonald and Frank Chappell. There are spots on bedrock here where the gold seems to lie as thick as the dirt. On No. 37, El Dorado, the largest nugget yet found was secured recently—a smooth, flat piece of gold, the size of one's hand and of the value of $383.25. Few of the claims on El Dorado are being worked as summer diggings, but where they are being worked, and where the water is not short, they are rich beyond measure. On Bonanza Creek, No. 36, above the point of discovery, will turn out from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, this estimate being made after a careful examination of the prospect holes and of the way the dirt is sluicing.

The prices of claims on Bonanza are still going up. Some claims that sold for $100 to $500 last fall are now valued by their owners at prices reaching into the hundreds of thousands. It takes a fortune to buy a claim anywhere on this creek. The influx of gold hunters is now so great that individual chances are growing less every day. With the rush that is bound to come next spring these chances in the Klondike district will be small indeed. Even now men who have been in this country for years have absolutely nothing of value in the way of gold dust or claims. They did not "hit it," as the miners say.

Wages are now $15 a day in the gulches, and $10 in Dawson City. Some men, who are working under contract, are making $25 or $30 a day in wages, paid in cash or gold dust. But these high prices are due, of course, to the present scarcity of labor. Next year, with the opening of navigation, they will fall without doubt, and the effort made last spring to cut miners' wages to $10 a day, will be repeated, next time successfully—probably the rate will be made $5 a day. Money is worth 10 per cent. a month here, and 100 per cent. until next spring—gilt-edged security being given along with these rates.

Dawson City is largely a city of tents as yet. The difficulties of getting title to building lots and the enormous prices asked for them when faulty or insufficient titles alone can be given—titles clearly liable to be upset—have prevented the building of substantial structures. So that with winter almost at hand few of the residents of Dawson City are prepared for it.

The dance halls are thronged every night and the games of faro, stud poker, roulette and craps are running full blast, the motto everywhere being "The game never closes." Most of the innumerable saloons have gambling house attachments. In spite of the large amount of gold in the hands of miners, gambling does not run very big. $5000 being the largest sum lost at play as yet by any one man, and $1500 being the largest sum lost on the turn of a card. There are so many men here who came, not because they were miners, but because of hard times in their lines of work outside, that there is not the amount of gambling that would be witnessed were more of the rich claim-holders old miners instead of new men, who "fell into" a good thing.

Restaurants are numerous now, and a fair meal—for this country—can be got for $1.50. Day board costs $25 a week. Lodging—where you can get it, though some combination lodging houses and saloons are going up—bring almost any price one chooses to ask for it. Up the gulch meals are $2 to $3 a day, and you have to take without question what they give you. Bread is 50 cents a loaf, three loaves for $1. The general run of supplies costs about 600 per cent. above outside prices, though on some things the price runs up to 2500 per cent. A door lock, costing at the rate of $1.50 a dozen outside, is sold here for $2. Cabins rent for $40 to $100 a month, according to location and size, and the cost of building a cabin is ordinarily about $700.

If the crowd comes that is expected this fall these prices will rise, because building is almost impossible after cold weather sets in, which it does here suddenly, like the snap of a wolf's jaw, and never lets go for eight months.

Food Reaches Dawson City.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 21.—Chris Fisher, one of the latest arrivals at Dawson City, says 400 tons of provisions arrived in the camp the morning of Aug. 18. Druggist Yorke A. Barrington is in receipt of the following letter from Fisher, his brother-in-law:

"Dawson City, N.W.T., Aug. 18, 1897.—My Dear Barrington,—This morning there were many smiling faces here, as a boat and scow came into Dawson City with at least 400 tons of provisions. For the last few days the people who had no supplies for the winter began to feel gloomy over the outlook, but this steamer's cargo cheered them. The trading company had agreed not to sell more than two sacks of flour and 10 pounds of sugar and other articles in proportion, to any one person, in order to enable all to secure something.

"Business is carried on altogether with gold dust, and it makes one's eyes open to see the gold, as most of the business houses keep it in glass tumblers, and every evening you can see from three to eight of these full of dust. The Berry Brothers, it is estimated, will clear from their claims in which they are interested about five tons of gold, and the gold that will run from 40 to 50 tons.—Chris Fisher."

YELLOW FEVER.

Steamer Just Arrived at New York from Colon With Two Cases of the Plague on Board.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Columbian Line steamer Finance, Captain Daly, arrived this morning from Colon, with 18 cabin and five second cabin passengers. There were two cases of yellow fever on board. The steamer will be detained until noon for a thorough disinfection, and the passengers will all be transferred to Hoffman Island for observation.

Blaze at Campbellford.

Campbellford, Sept. 22.—Late last night the Montreal boot and shoe house conducted by J. R. Walker of this place, was discovered to be on fire. The stock, which was insured for $2000 in the Northern, was badly damaged. The building was owned by Matthew Galvin, and was insured for $3000 in the Mercantile.

THE ENGLISH BACON TRADE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I returned home from my annual visit to the old country last week. Of course I was very much interested in the bacon trade, and was pleased to find that the Canadian bacon was steadily growing in favour with the better class of grocers and provision dealers, but they are more exacting as to the selection and quality of the sides. In my letters last year I explained how we had to make No. 1, 2 and 3 selections in shipping bacon to the English market. But I found this time that the Irish and Danish curers have increased the number of their selections to six or seven grades, and now the Canadian packers are following their example, so that instead of dividing our shipment into three grades we are dividing each shipment into six grades, each grade having a different value in that market, consequently it will be necessary for us to be more particular in grading the live hogs that we buy from the farmers.

Prices have been steady for lean bacon all summer with the exception of about two weeks at the Jubilee time, when the price dropped badly. The lean bacon soon recovered but fat bacon was almost unsaleable even at greatly reduced prices, and before I left Liverpool, on the 25th August, I know some bacon, No. 2 selection, sold at 5 cents per pound less than No. 1 selection, both sold the same day, netting a clean loss to the packer of $5 per hog. The reason for the difference in price was that the No. 1 sides were all of an even thickness of fat on the back which did not exceed 1⅛ inches in the fattest part of the side, but the No. 2 sides were from 1⅛ to 2¼ inches of fat on the back. They were the right size and weight, but there was rather too much fat, hence the loss to the shipper.

I would repeat what I have often said, that our meats will never obtain the highest price paid there until the farmers pay as much attention to raising of right kind of hogs as the packers have to do in curing the meats to suit the taste of the consumers in that country.

While I am not advocating any particular breed of hogs for that trade, I would certainly condemn thick-shouldered, heavy-backed hogs as being unsuitable for that market, and my proof for doing so is that we have lost thousands of dollars in the last three months on those heavy shouldered sides of bacon.

The hogs for that trade must have a thin neck, light shoulder and back, flat sides and well shaped ham. In my opinion the thoroughbred Tamworth is the model pig for the English bacon trade, although the improved Yorkshire is a splendid pig to cross with, and I would strongly advise the farmers whatever crosses they make with their hogs to always have the points above mentioned in view.

Don't feed corn to hogs. American bacon has been selling in England all this summer at about four cents per pound less than Canadian, and the only reason for the difference is that it was fed on corn.

All the Canadian packers have had an extra large quantity of soft sides this year. It is caused by the farmers feeding inferior food to their hogs and not giving them sufficient grain, namely, peas, oats or barley, that soft bacon is not only a direct loss to the packer but injures the reputation of Canadian bacon in England.

Yours truly,
GEO. MATTHEWS.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Gentlemen.—I wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has proved a wonderful remedy in my family. "THE LAND OF THE MAPLE."

Every musical person will remember the furore created in the early part of the year by this enormously popular song by H. H. Godfrey. It was sung by solo singers everywhere, by great choruses at festivals and concerts, and in thousands of homes it was hailed as the greatest Canadian song ever issued. It is tuneful and bright and so easy that the melody and the words can be learned in an hour. It is an especial favorite with the children. Every home should have a copy. The Mason & Risch Piano Co., Limited, (of 32 King street West, Toronto) are the publishers and with their customary enterprise they offer their beautifully illustrated book (80 illustrations) entitled Musical Toronto—Free—to any one sending them 25c. for the song. We know that Cod-liver Oil is a fat-forming food because takers of it gain rapidly in weight under its use and the whole body receives vital force. When prepared as in Scott's Emulsion, it is quickly and easily changed into the tissues of the body. As your doctor would say, "it is easily assimilated." Perhaps you are suffering from fat starvation. You take fat enough with your food, but it either isn't the right kind, or it isn't digested. You need fat prepared for you, as in Scott's Emulsion.

GRAIN STANDARDS.

Ontario Millers Still After the Mixers of Wheat.

THEY SAY IT IS AN INJUSTICE.

Executive Board at Winnipeg Will Again Ask the Government to Have the Matter Looked Into and Stopped —Heavy Sales of Wheat in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—A quarter of a million bushels of wheat were marketed in the province to-day. Two hundred cars were shipped east. The price ranged from 73 to 80 cents. The C. P. R. are getting five hundred additional cars.

The Grain Standards Board met this morning. M. McLaughlin of Toronto raised the old question of mixing inferior grades with No. 1 at Fort William. Last year the Board asked the Government for prohibition of mixing, or at least to appoint a commission to enquire into the method. No response or reply had the Government made, so he thought the Board should so fix the standards as to make mixing impossible. This caused a heated discussion. It was finally decided to inform the Government again, also to lay the matter before the members of Parliament and the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Great injustice was being done, it was claimed, to Ontario millers and farmers by dealers mixing wheat at Fort William.

Count Nelli Joff, who has been in the city for some days, representing himself as private secretary to Count Tolstoi, and as on a tour of inspection of Russian colonies, is said to be an American adventurer. His scheme did not net him anything here. He is suspected to be a colonization agent of the American Government, intending to spread dissension.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Jamieson Brought to the City—Bodies of His Companions Not Found—Corner Stone of St. Luke's Hospital Laid.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—W. R. Jamieson, who had such a narrow escape from drowning on Lake Deschenes on Sunday last, was able to come to the city to-day from Britannia. The hunt for the bodies of the victims, Holland and Venn, still continues, with very little hope of success. Two or three parties are engaged with grappling irons, but do not venture far out on the lake, as it is rough and dangerous to small craft of any kind. The shore all along the bay is being watched closely, in hopes that the bodies will be washed ashore.

Miss Lily Wright, youngest daughter of Mr. C. B. Wright of Hull, was united in marriage in St. James' Church, Hull, this afternoon, to Mr. George De Hertel Cunningham of Cunningham & Co., Sparks-street, Ottawa. Rev. Mr. Smith was the officiating clergyman. Miss Maude O'Brien, daughter of Judge O'Brien of L'Orignal, was bridesmaid, while Mr. George C. Wright, barrister of Hull, and brother of the bride, attended Mr. Cunningham.

About twenty-five members of the Undertakers' Association of Ontario met in the Board of Trade rooms this morning. Many of the members who were expected have not yet arrived. Dr. J. Ferguson of Toronto occupied the time this afternoon in giving a lecture on anatomy.

The cornerstone of the new St. Luke's Hospital was laid at noon to-day. Sir Wilfrid Laurier performed the interesting ceremony. There was a good attendance, notwithstanding the unpleasant weather. The proceedings were opened by Mr. J. R. Booth, who made a brief address referring to the necessities which called for the erection of the institution. Short addresses were delivered by Dr. Wright (chairman of the Medical Board), Mayor Bingham, Sir James Grant and Mr. Belcourt, M. P.

SAYS IT'S NOT BINDING.

Col. J. F. Evans of San Francisco Says Mr. McKenna's Ruling on Clause 22 Will Not Hold.

New York, Sept. 22.—A Washington despatch to The Sun says: Col. J. F. Evans of San Francisco, an expert in customs matters, said to-night that the decision of the Attorney-General on clause 22 of the Dingley Tariff Bill was not binding on the Treasury Department. It merely expressed the opinion of one branch of the Government, acting in an advisory capacity to another. He said the applicability of the discriminating duty would probably get into the courts through the action of some Collector of Customs in assessing it on foreign goods brought into the United States through Canada. This would compel the importer to appeal.

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad Who Had been Dropsical From His Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Remedy That Never Failed.

McIntyre, Ont., Sept. 20.—The young son of Hugh Lamont, of this place, has been afflicted with dropsy since infancy. He was bloated and swollen all over. His parents were at their wits' end to find some cure for him when they read of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished he was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old, the pills will effect a cure of any kidney disease, or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.
